Chicago, Nov. 4.—Fred Mitchell, ex-manager of the Cubs, left Chicago last night. This does not mean he is never coming back, for he probably will, as pilot of a club in either the National or American league. He has an offer from a club in each organization and most likely will accept one of them. Boston, in the American league, wants him to take Ed Barrow's place, and President William Baker of the Phillies would like to sign him to supplant "Gavvy" Cravath. As Mitchell has gone to Boston, it would not be surprising to learn before long that he had accepted one of the offers.

Evers Has Task Before Him.

Mitchell, in discussing the Cub team before he left, remarked that Manager Evers must do considerable rebuilding if he wanted to have a first-division team.

"Evers will have to do a lot of rebuilding to get a ball club together," said Mitchell. "He will have to get new men for first, second and third base. Hollocher is the only ball player on the field. I do not think Barber will ever make a first baseman. Terry is a fair second baseman, but not the kind to play regularly because his legs will not stand it. He is a good man to have around to sit on the bench. Deal is a clever fielder when the ball is batted straight at him or within easy reaching distance.

Flack Best of the Outfield.

"Flack is the best man Evers will have in the outfield. He ought to be greater this coming season than he was last, because he learned more baseball and played a smart game. Paskert has gone back considerably, while Robertson is too temperamental to be a star. Yet he may be of more service to the team with Charlie Herzog off the club.

"Benny Friberg might be developed into a star outfielder. I do not think he will ever make a second baseman. As he has the speed, is a good judge of drives and throws well, he ought to make a good fielder. If he does not come through next season I do not think he ever will.

Pitching Staff Good.

"The strength of Evers' club lies in the pitching staff. He has Grover Alexander, Jim Vaughn and George Tyler around whom to reconstruct his staff. If I were Evers I would use Vaughn as trading material. Evers could get a lot of good ball players for him, men who would make his team a championship contender. Tyler, I think, will pitch better ball next year.

"Bill Killefer is a great catcher. He knows how to handle men. Of course, he is not getting any younger and is no longer fast, but he is an old head, throws pretty well and is a tireless worker. Bob O'Farrell is the boy who ought to be developed. He can throw as well as any man in the game and is a heavy hitter. Evers does not have to worry about his catchers."

LEAGUE MAGNATES WILL MEET NOV. 8

New York, Nov. 4.—Invitations to attend the baseball meeting in Chicago, Nov. 8, were sent yesterday to President Ban Johnson of the American league, and to heads of the National and American league clubs by President John Heydler of the National league. Mr. Heydler was temporary chairman of the previous meeting, which approved the plan to place control of baseball in the hands of men not connected with the sport. At this meeting only American league clubs—New York, Chicago and Boston—were represented.

The purpose of the meeting, Mr. Heydler stated, is to appoint a drafting committee to meet with a committee selected by the National Association of Minor leagues. This joint committee is to prepare an agreement embodying such new organic provisions for the maintenance of the national game and to reorganize the government thereof as to assure the public that the sport is conducted in a proper manner.

Golfers Will Elect.

Members of the Northland Country club will hold their annual meeting at the clubrooms on Wednesday, Nov. 17, when officers will be elected and other business of importance will be transacted. Notice to all of the members has just been issued by Secretary J. L. Mullin.

BADGERS MAY STOP ILLINI

Wisconsin Football Eleven Is Picked to Turn the Trick.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Talk in football now consists largely as to which of three teams can stop Illinois. Chicago, Wisconsin and Ohio play Zuppke's team in turn. It is thought the luck of the game will make one of the three a winner. It will not be Ohio on her showing Saturday against the Maroons which she won 7 to 6. It is not likely to be Chicago, with her back field shot to pieces with injuries and an offense left which could scarcely gain a first down against Ohio. That leaves Wisconsin, which beat Illinois last year. Coach Richards of Wisconsin says he can repeat with the Badgers. He knows Zuppke and his system.

Hinkle, a Maroon forward passer of ability and a receiver, was injured in practice before the Ohio game. Cole, a forward passer and punter, was taken out with a badly bumped shoulder. Crisler, with bad legs, was taken out later in the game. This leaves Chicago's forward passing attack shattered, and Maroon punches at the line now look weak.

Coaches Study Reports of Game.

Coaches, be it known, pass many nights studying what the other fellow will do. After a perusal of newspaper reports of games, long discussions with scouts and assistant coaches, they come pretty close to knowing what the other man will spring in the game.

Ohio takes on Michigan Saturday at Columbus. She then takes a two weeks' rest for the Illinois game, Nov. 20, at Urbana.

"Nearly all of them take a two weeks' rest before our games," Zuppke said.

Michigan is to give Ohio a real battle. With the exception of Wieman, Yost's star tackle, who was hurt in the Illinois game, the Michigan squad is in shape for four days of hard preparation. The Michigan line played Illinois almost to a standstill. Yost thought Saturday Wieman would be back for the Ohio game. Michigan, therefore, is expected to play Ohio on even terms on the line. Yost saw the possibilities of the Columbus aerial attack, and will work this week on a defense for it. Chicago's defense on the short passing game of Ohio was superb, even the line men taking an active part in it.

Hard to Stop Workman.

The problem, then, is to stop the long passes of H. Workman. The coaches will have to impress on the secondary defense the remarkable distances which Workman throws the ball from far back of his own line. When an end or halfback is way down the field and clear, neither Chicago nor Wisconsin realized that top speed and running all the time only would bring a defending back near these men. Then there is the necessity of getting between the expected receiver of the ball and the goal line. The blocking of the pass must come from that side.

Wilce, planning cleverly, was almost defeated by his own strategy in the Maroon game. Stinchcomb has been widely heralded as the receiver of long passes. Wilce, to foil preparation for defense of this attack by his rivals, kept Stinchcomb out of nearly all the first quarter and when he did start, holding him to taking of short passes off and running to the side to take passes. He sent the two ends far up the field. The ends were in the clear, but were unable to get under Workman's high passes. They did not think they could go so far and slowed down to wait for them, which was a mistake.

How Ohio Beat Maroons.

Wilce put a young player named Cott in to replace Stinchcomb in the first quarter. Cott, carrying the ball high and in plain sight, bucked off his right tackle, was bumped and the new ball shot out of his arms, Palmer of Chicago picking it up for his run to the goal line.

When Stinchcomb did get in, he did not make any long runs from forward passes. Ohio was in a fair way to be beaten by its own planning when Clark's kick shot out to the side and Ohio, attacking through their right guard, found holes, and won from the twenty-five yard line. A forward pass assisted the march.

DENY RUMORS OF MILL ON MARCH 17

Dempsey Will Fight Carpentier Before Meeting Former Champion.

New York, Nov. 4.—Promoters of the Dempsey-Carpentier heavyweight championship bout denied here yesterday that this contest would be preceded by one between Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard. The return match between Dempsey and Willard is to take place on March 17, according to a statement made by Dempsey in Montreal.

It is known, however, that such a match has been in the making for some time and definite announcement is expected to follow the formal signing of the Dempsey-Carpentier contract tomorrow. Willard and many of his supporters have been clamoring for a return battle against Dempsey, but tentative arrangements made several months ago were sidetracked for the Dempsey and Carpentier match.

It is stated on good authority that the Dempsey and Carpentier contract will permit Carpentier to engage in fistic battles in Europe and Dempsey in America before their clash next summer. Neither can invade the puglisitic territory of the other prior to the championship fight.

A clause will provide that in case either Carpentier or Dempsey is defeated previously to their meeting in the ring, the contract which they are expected to sign Friday will become null and void.

SUPERIOR WILL TACKLE DULUTH

Professional Teams to Play for Head of the Lakes Title.

The Superior City football eleven, together with several thousand red-eyed fans, will troop into our Zenith City next Sunday, when the Badger team which Art Olson has built will take on the Duluth City eleven in the first of a series of games for the professional football championship of the Head of the Lakes.

It has been three years since Duluth and Superior have met on the pro grid and the coming engagement will be certain to arouse all of the old whoop and racket that marked the contests between these elevens before athletic relations were severed.

Superior is not coming here with any idea of losing and this will be sure to afford one of the most interesting and hardest fought battles of the season, which, by the way, has been an exceptionally grand one. It is probable that Dick Bradley, Walter Gilbert and Dewey Scanlon, all students at Valparaiso university, may be moved into the Superior lineup but nothing definite is being given out by the Badgers. Manager Art Olson of the Superior eleven stated this morning that he was in long distance conversation with Bradley last night but refused to divulge it.

"Just let the Duluth fans know that we are coming here to win and by such a margin that there will be no question as to which team is the better," said Olson this morning. "We know what Duluth has and we know we can turn them back. We may announce our line-up later in the week and then, again, we may not. You know we have Barling, former Minnesota star halfback; Eddie Cole, former quarter of the Duluth City team, and Hank Daugherty, former halfback of the Duluth team."

In view of the great strength which Superior is showing Coach Art Von of the local eleven, who is one of the greatest fullbacks in the country, may drag out his moleskin and headgear and hop on the grid.

Manager Joe Feakes of the local eleven is urging Von to get into the game and the latter is listening attentively. If Von does decide to come out he will be sure of a rousing hand when he gallops out onto the lot.

The Duluth team has been out for practise every evening this week and will be in grand condition for a hard contest.

KEENA'S FUNERAL AT ASHLAND ON FRIDAY

Ashland, Wis., Nov 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Frank Kenna, traveling salesman for F. A. Patrick & Co. of Duluth, will be held here Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Kenna and Lew Anderson of Ashland attempted to go across Sand lake near Yellow river, twenty miles from Spooner, Wis., about 4:30 Monday afternoon. The distance was about a mile, and the lake was so rough that the boat swamped. Kenna attempted to swim ashore, but sank within thirty feet of safety. Anderson clung to the boat and reached shore. He walked through a swamp three miles to his car and drove four miles to camp, where John H. Gardner, manager of the Armour Packing company, and James W. Good had remained. He reached camp so thoroughly chilled and exhausted that his companions had to work over him a long time to prevent serious consequences.

Kenna's body was found next day and brought to Ashland. He leaves a widow and several small children.

URGE NAMING FARMS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—A good name helps make a good farm in the opinion of the college of agriculture at the university, which has just prepared a booklet, prefaced by a statement from Dean H. L. Russel, which calls upon farmers to choose an appropriate and distinctive title for their homes.

The utility of a name in business, its effectiveness in advertising produce and in affording a means for distinguishing the farm both as a home and as a business is emphasized.

The supply of farm names in Wisconsin, the booklet points out, is unlimited. Besides family names the state has so much natural beauty with rivers, lakes, hills, trees and animal life that a suitable title can easily be selected, it says. Indian traditions, highways, portages and historical associations afford an exceptional store of names to be picked from.

Farm names may be registered in Wisconsin with the county register of deeds. This assures the farmer that his name will not be duplicated in the same county.

"KILLED IN ACTION" CLEARS UP MYSTERY

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Joseph A. La Pointe of Odanah, which has existed over two years, has been solved by the war department, notifying the father of the missing young man, William La Pointe, now of Bremerton, Wash., that his son was killed in action in France Aug 31, 1918.

Joe La Pointe enlisted in Ashland first buying $4,500 in Liberty bonds through Indian Agent Everest, and depositing his money through the Ashland Indian office, amounting now with interest to over $3,500. These amounts, together with $10,000 insurance, presumably goes to the father, who is a foreman in the Bremerton shipyards.

Joe La Pointe was 17 years old when he enlisted and was transferred to Company I of the One Hundred and Twenty-seventh infantry. He was reported wounded in action Aug. 31, 1918, and was later reported missing, but a long continued search proved unavailing until the war department located his grave at Juvigny, France, in the department of the Aisne. He was a Chippewa, belonging to the Bad River reservation.

Woman in Case Bailed.

Bessemer, Mich., Nov. 4.—Helen Radisson, the woman in the alleged murder near Ironwood, of Lee V. McClaran, St. Paul traveling man, by James Griller, Minneapolis, last summer and has since been held under bonds as a witness, has furnished $1,000 bonds and been released. The trial comes up here in circuit court Nov. 23.

PREVENTS SWINDLES.

Badger Blue Sky Commission Guards Public Against "Skin" Games.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Industrial expansion is fast drawing back to normal after a decided fall during the early summer months, G. S. Canright, secretary of the securities division of the blue sky commission, said. People of the state, he said, are investing money freely in both speculative ventures and in substantial securities.

Nearly fifty applications for authorization to issue stock as corporations were received during October, Mr. Canright said. Of these approximately 75 per cent were adjudged class A securities, while 25 per cent were classed in the B group as speculative.

Mr. Canright said that the commission had run across cases where a pure swindle scheme was to be placed before Wisconsin people, and people have shown themselves willing to invest in these "skin" games. Outside concerns, he stated, have been prevented from entering the state with their fraudulent concerns.

PHILIPP EXPECTED TO ACT ON REQUISITIONS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Governor Philipp is expected to act on a petition for requisitions for Federal prohibition agents alleged to have shot and killed a rum runner between Mercer and Hurley last month. The petition was presented last week, but he deferred acting till after election.

Badger Paroles Granted.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Fourteen paroles have been granted to prisoners at the state reformatory at Green Bay, M. J. Tappin, secretary of the state board of prison control, said today. Eight applications were deferred and eight denied. Of the thirty prisoners before the pardon board, eight had been convicted of burglary, eleven of larceny, five of forgery, three of assault and robbery, two of non-support and one of injury of a steam shovel, Mr. Tappins said.

NEED QUARTERS FOR BADGER COMMISSIONS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—The housing problem is a serious one for Wisconsin commissions, according to M. F. Blumenfeld, superintendent of property. When the legislature convenes in January, nine departments will be without their present quarters, he said.

Before the new $8,000,000 capitol building had been completed it was crowded by the increased number of state departments. At the present time the marketing commission, the child's welfare bureau, the blue sky commission, the division on social diseases, the state entomologist, the state fair board, the brokerage commission, the truck division of the state highway commission and the prohibition commission are in hearing rooms of the assembly and senate and will be required to move when the legislature meets.

There are two solutions to the present situation, Mr Blumenfeld said. One of them would call for more crowding in the present building, the other for new quarters outside the capitol. It is to the latter proposition that the secretary is devoting his attention.

The superintendent has been negotiating for an office building in Madison to be rented by the state, but as yet has not concluded an agreement on any property, he said.

Duluthian in Ironwood.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prescott and family have returned from a week's visit with friends and relatives at Duluth and Minneapolis. They were accompanied by Miss Jean Bucklin of Duluth, who will spend a few days here.

More Wisconsin Guards.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—A company of infantry is soon to be mustered in at Dodgeville, Adjt.-Gen. Orlando Holway said. John F. Hagan has been named as captain, with Glenn H. Pascoe as first lieutenant and Ole Larson second lieutenant. Prairie du Chien, Delavan, Merrill and Racine will soon have companies ready to muster in, the adjutant-general said.

Why a butter maker was needed to perfect Troco

Because the process of making is essentially the same. Dainty white coconut fat, appetizing and nutritious, replaces butter fat. What makes good butter flavor makes good Troco flavor.

Thus we employ A. E. Hoffman, a famous butter and milk expert, to supervise the making of Troco. He has spent 30 years making and judging butter and teaching butter making.

Scrupulous care and human skill

Mr. Hoffman has no secret process. Scrupulous care, beginning with the selection of materials and extending through every process, is the foundation of his great success.

No mechanical process can produce sweetness and delicate flavor. This depends on human skill. Mr. Hoffman's butter was famous for the wonderful flavor which he now puts into Troco.

We built a new plant

To give Mr. Hoffman proper facilities for his exacting work we built a new plant, up-to-the-minute in equipment and sanitation.

Here he can standardize production and insure the perfection of every pound.

Penick & Ford's
Brer Rabbit
Molasses

You can now have an old-time delicacy

For that was the secret of the tantalizing flavor that made famous the gingerbread of old-time Southern cooks. It was that flavor of home-made molasses. Then open kettles of juice from fresh-crushed sugar cane used to bubble over crackling bonfires—cane-crushing time with every one on the plantation watching their chance for a sly spoonful of that luscious molasses!

Today the famous old-time delicacy is yours again. Twenty-two years ago two Louisiana boys decided to restore that bygone Southern delicacy—genuine sugar cane molasses. Spurred on by delicious memories, they revived their plantation days and put up a molasses so fragrant, so full flavored, so sweet and pure that the first taste carries you back to childhood joys.

And they named it Brer Rabbit, in honor of the hero in the plantation stories of their childhood.

Today it is the most popular molasses in America. So successful have they been that Penick & Ford have become the largest packers of sugar cane products in the world.

One taste and you know the difference its flavor makes in your cooking! Try it in your gingerbread—that old-time flavor!

You can get Brer Rabbit at your grocer's—both the light molasses (gold label—for table use as well as for cooking) and the dark molasses (green label—a stronger flavor for cooking). Penick & Ford, Ltd., New Orleans.

WHEAT TAKES FRESH DROP

New Low Prices Set on Selling Pressure; Flaxseed Breaks Sharply.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 4.—Wheat market was still weak at the close on fresh offerings. December spring closed 5¾c off at $1.93¾, March 6½c off at $1.96¼ asked, December winter 5¾c off at $1.92¾ nominal, December durum 5¼c off at $1.97¾ and March 5½c off at $1.97 bid.

Rye closed 2½c off at $1.65½ for spot, December 2½c off at $1.57½ asked and May 1c off at $1.57½ asked. Oats closed ⅝c off at 50⅝c for spot and barley unchanged at 78@98c for spot.

Breaks extending to over 5c came about in the wheat market today as the result of renewed selling and light demand from any quarter. Eastern millers were reported to be holding back in view of a limited flour demand, with jobbers continuing their policy of buying only to cover their immediate requirements. December wheat stood 5c off at the noon hour at $1.94½, and March was down 5c at $1.97¼, after selling 1c lower. December durum broke 3½c at $1.99½, and March 4c at $1.99.

Rye was also on the down grade in the absence of any export demand and reported reselling by exporters at the seaboard. December rye broke 2½c at $1.57½ and May 1c at $1.57½.

Barley sold unchanged within a range of 78@98c. The few cars offered on the tables were picked up by elevator interests.

Receipts of all grains for the day were only 177 cars, including: Spring wheat, 5; durum, 74; oats, 5; rye, 57; barley, 11; flax, 13, and bonded spring wheat, 12 cars. Operators asserted that new business in Canadian wheat has fallen off to a minimum, only a few cars now going through to Minneapolis. That is due to the market at Winnipeg being about 5c out of line on the present basis of quotations. The needs of millers for spring wheat for the present are asserted to have been provided for.

Slump in Flaxseed.

Flaxseed market was again downward with crushers' demand lacking. Operators are declared, however, to be now feeling for the bottom and those who had been bearish are said to be growing cautious regarding making new commitments on that side. The trade is in the meantime awaiting signs of any picking up in the inquiry for linseed oil.

November flax closed 5c off at $2.65; December, 5c off at $2.68 asked, and May, 5½c off at $2.81½ bid.

At Winnipeg, November flax closed 1c off at $2.72, and December 1¼c off at $2.73¼ asked.

At Buenos Aires, flax opened at $2.04 for November.

At Buenos Aires wheat closed yesterday 1½c higher; corn 1c higher; oats ½c higher, and flax 3c up.

Total clearances—Wheat, 713,000 bu; corn, 104,000 bu; oats, none; flour, 2,000 barrels.

Logan & Bryan wired from Chicago: "Wheat opened with scattered commission house selling and a poor demand. Trade not particularly large as yet, but pressure is steadily increasing as the market weakens. Corn opened steady, but is meeting considerable commission house selling at around last night's close."

* * *

A Chicago wire said: "While our carlot receipts wheat are light, we are receiving quite a little Canadian wheat via boats, which, if continued, should give us a moderate stock, by the end of December. Careful investigation does not reveal any concentrated holdings of the December deliveries, although the scattered interest is quite large, and is subject to liquidation."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Assertions that country offerings of wheat were somewhat larger gave an advantage today to bears in the wheat market. It was contended also that wheat was still out of line with other grain and with commodities in general. Support was lacking. Initial prices, which ranged from ¼c to 2¾c lower, with December $2.04¾ to $2.06½ and March $1.96 to $1.97 were followed by a moderate further setback. Corn sagged with wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅞c lower, including December at 81¾c to 82¼c, the market continued easy.

Subsequently, apparent slowness of export demand led to increased weakness. The close was nervous, 3½c to 6¼c net lower, with December $2.00¾ to $2.01 and March $1.94¾ to $1.95.

Smallness of receipts tended later to rally the market somewhat. Prices closed steady, 1c net lower to ⅜c advance, with December 82⅜c to 82½c.

Oats reflected the weakness of other cereals, starting unchanged to ¾c lower, December 53⅞c to 54⅛c, and showing little power to rally.

Provisions, although dull, were firm. Large shipments had a bullish influence.

Wheat—No. 1 hard, $2.10. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 87½@89c; No. 2 yellow, 92@93c. Oats—No. 2 white, 54½@55¼c; No. 3 white, 53@53¾c.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—Continued weakness carried wheat futures to the levels on the crop today. Opening in wheat was 1¾@2½c under yesterday's close and the market continued to sag on later trading. Shortly before noon the December was down to $1.92¾, 7c under yesterday's close and 1¼c under the previous low established early last month. March broke from $2.02½ to $1.96. When the break failed to catch stop-loss orders in volume, pit sentiment shifted and enough buying developed from scalpers and commission houses to cause a sharp rally of 2½c. Local cash wheat receipts were not large, but milling demand was not so brisk, and even top grades were relatively weaker than futures. Winter wheat was relatively 1c lower and durum was easy, with bids 2@5c lower.

Wheat—Dark northern No. 1, $2.05¼@2.13½; No. 2, $2.00½@2.07¾; No. 3, $1.88@2.08½; No. 4, $1.81@2.01½; No. 5, $1.70@2.01½. Hard winter No. 1, $2.01⅝@2.08¾; No. 2, $2.04¾. Amber durum, No. 2, $2.04@2.11; No. 3, $2.01; No. 4, $1.92½@1.99. Mixed durum, No. 1, $2.07@2.08; No. 2, $2.03@2.05; No. 3, $2.00.

Flour—Unchanged to 20c lower. In carload lots family patents quoted at $10.90@11.50 a barrel in 98-pound cotton sacks. Shipments, 68,044 bbls. Bran, $32.00@33.00.

MODERATE DECLINES IN COPPER STOCKS

Moderate declines were the rule in quotations in mining stocks at New York today in sympathy with weakness in the steel issues. Anaconda sold around the close 62 cents off at $50.75; Butte & Superior 25 cents off at $15.50; Chino fractionally off at $25.75; Great Northern Ore 25 cents off at $33.50; Kennecott 50 cents off at $22.75; Inspiration 25 cents off at $42.50, and Utah 87 cents up at $60.87.

* * *

The United States Steel corporation is understood to have purchased a substantial lot of its common stock below $90 on the open market, on account of its profit-sharing plan for employes for 1921. It is expected that the corporation's stock subscriptions for 1921 will approximate 200,000 shares, which amount it will have to acquire before making its annual offer to its working force.

* * *

Freight loadings on the Atchison railroad last week were 31,164 cars, a decrease of 6 per cent from the same period last year. The road's total loadings for the year to the end of last week were 1,268,899 cars, an increase of 9.2 per cent.

* * *

Quotations in steel plates are reported to have been cut to 3 cents by one of the leading independents. The same company is also quoting a range of $3.00@3.25 for bars. Definite announcements regarding general reductions in steel quotations are expected to be made shortly.

* * *

The Baldwin cotton mills at Chester, S. C., have announced a reduction of 20 per cent in wages. This is the first big plant in the cotton industry to put a retrenchment policy into effect.

* * *

American Locomotive declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on common and 1¾ per cent on preferred, payable Dec. 31.

* * *

Paine, Webber & Co. wired from New York: "Bullish operations are expected in the railroad list, especially among the standard dividend payers and more particularly including stocks representing companies which are in a position to segregate nontransportation equities, like Southern Pacific. There is a discrimination against the industrial list as a whole."

* * *

Logan & Bryan wired Robinson-Macaulay company from New York: "The market is showing broadening tendencies and the domestic political developments of the week are having a cheering effect on the sentiment generally. The railroad stocks continue in excellent demand."

* * *

Union Pacific's September net operating increase is $767,390. Nine months' net operating decrease, $5,463,186.

New York, Nov. 4.—Copper steady; electrolytic, spot and fourth quarter, 14¾@15¼c. Iron nominally unchanged. Tin easy; spot, $39.00; futures, $40.25. Antimony, $6.25. Lead steadier; spot, $6.55. Zinc steady; East St. Louis spot, $6.75@7.00.

MARYLAND CHANGES ITS MEMBERS IN CONGRESS

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—Besides rolling up a majority of more than 50,000 for Harding, Tuesday, Maryland changed radically the personnel of its delegation in congress.

Ovington E. Weller, Republican, displaced John Walter Smith, Democrat, in the senate by a majority approximating 100,000. Of the five members of the house known to be elected four are Republicans. Alfred A. Blakeney defeating Carville D. Benson, Democratic incumbent, in the Second district; John Philip Hill winning over Representative Coady in the Third and Representatives Mudd and Zihlman were re-elected. T. Allen Goldsborough, Democrat, was elected in the First district over W. N. Andrews, Republican incumbent.

On the face of the unofficial returns, J. Charles Linthacum appears to have been re-elected from the Fourth district by a plurality of 545. His Republican opponent, W. O. Atwood, disputed the count, however, and it may require the official canvass to settle the question.

Ducks Hard to Get.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hundreds of duck hunters visited Lake Winnebigoshish the last few days and, although many report successful shooting, others contend that the ducks are out too far in the middle of the lake to wing them. Some hunters claim that many ducks have been lost when they fall into marshes and weeds after being brought down. Among Hibbing hunters who visited the lake recently were William Knudson of the city engineering force, Fred Klass, Chief of Police Henley of the Pickands-Mather forces, W. A. Rose and others.

RAIL STOCKS SHOW GAINS

Motors, Steels and Equipments Decline One to Five Points.

New York, Nov. 4.—Wide openings in Southern Pacific and Reading, dominant issues of the previous day, were features at the outset of today's stock market session. A block of 8,000 Southern Pacific changed hands at 114½ to 115¼, against yesterday's final price of 114½, while 4,000 Reading sold from 103 to 102⅝, the latter figure representing an overnight loss of a small fraction. Other active rails embracing the Pacific, granger, coal and cotton groups were higher by fractions to 1 point, excepting Canadian Pacific, which lost 1 point. Shippings and equipments improved, but Mexican Petroleum, Crucible Steel, International Paper and Sears-Roebuck denoted pressure.

Rails forged steadily ahead in the heavy trading, with the exception of Reading. Southern Pacific made a new high for the movement of 118⅛. Union Pacific and Great Northern gained 2 points each, Louisville & Nashville and Delaware & Hudson 2½ and other leading transportations 1 to 1½, while Jersey Central was conspicuous for a 21-point advance on relatively few transactions. Railway equipments strengthened with Mexican Petroleum but Royal Dutch, United Fruit, Marine preferred, American International, Crucible and Gulf States Steel were heavy. Profit-taking caused a reversal in rails before noon of 1 to 2 points. Call money was unchanged at 9 per cent and foreign exchange was lower, with a new minimum for the Italian rate.

The reaction assumed wider proportions at midday when prominent industrials, especially the independent steels, showed extreme losses of 2 to 4 points. Rails also continued to yield and heavier specialties included Industrial Alcohol and Hide & Leather preferred.

Motors and related specialties and also steels and equipments were freely sold in the final hour at extreme declines of 1 to 5 points, but rails, particularly Northern Pacific and Great Northern, made further gains. The closing was irregular.

VIRGINIA SCHOOLS IN FLOURISHING CONDITION

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Virginia schools were never in such a flourishing condition," declared an official of the local district, as he pointed to figures showing the present extent of the work of the local district. The present valuation of this school district is $41,000,000.

The enrollment is over 3,600 pupils, a marked increase over the preceding year. There are 170 teachers. The schools are housed in fourteen buildings.

All of these figures have been raised materially within the past two years. The school system has grown by leaps and bounds.

MAGNEY WINS IN RACE FOR JUDGESHIP

tion of a state representative from the Fifty-seventh district, where Representative Marcus B. Cullum was returned by a majority of 5,222 votes, an almost unheard-of margin in a race of this kind. About the next largest majority received was that rolled up by J. P. Johnson for clerk of district court over William B. Shaver of Virginia. Duluth, Mr. Johnson's home town, gave him more than 6,000 majority and with twenty-eight precincts missing in the county he has a total lead over his opponent of 4,509 votes.

In other legislative districts the battles were hot and interesting. Frank G. Scribner was given a fine vote in the Fifty-eighth, winning by 812 over his nearest opponent. George Lockhart, who was elected over R. E. Patterson by a plurality of 61; Charles Esse was a poor fourth. In the Fifty-ninth district, Representative William L. Bernard was re-elected, but is running five votes behind John Goodwin, six precincts being missing. In the Sixtieth, Representative R. W. Hitchcock was re-elected, with a leeway of almost 900 votes over Kleffman, who is also elected, Power running almost 700 behind him. In the Sixty-first district, Representative Charles T. Murphy, the battle-scarred veteran of many tonnage tax fights, was given a big vote, defeating his nearest opponent by 1,196 votes. A. J. Thomas was second man with 169 votes to spare over Larsen. Eight precincts are missing in this district.

County Commissioners.

In the county commissioner contests, Commissioners Alex Fraser, Walter A. Swanstrom and Joseph Becks were reelected, the first named being given a fine vote and winning by more than 800 majority over Schneider; Swanstrom winning in the Third by little more than a breath, and Commissioner Becks beating Former County Commissioner Charles Kauppi by a wide margin.

Amendment No. 1 carried in the city and county by fully 10 to 1, but word from St. Paul is to the effect that all amendments are probably defeated. Each amendment got a majority in the city and county, but in view of the fact that each had to have a majority of all votes cast, it is uncertain as yet as to how they stand.

Clerk of Court—

	City.	County.	Total.
Johnson	15,345	7,885	23,230
Shaver	8,934	9,787	18,721

PALMER'S ACT TO BE PROBED

Connection With Coal Case to Be Investigated by Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer was advised in a telegram from United States District Judge A. B. Anderson today that an investigation of the attorney general's connection with the case against 125 coal mine operators and miners would be made when the case is called for trial in the Federal court here on Nov. 8. Mr. Palmer was invited to be present on that date.

Judge Anderson assured the attorney general that the case of the coal miners and operators would be called on the date set, although to date only the Indiana operators and miners and those of Western Pennsylvania who voluntarily surrendered are in the jurisdiction of the Indiana district court.

Simms to Be Called.

No indication as to the scope or nature of the investigation to be made was given in the telegram, but it was believed Dan W. Simms, special assistant counsel for the government, would be called to explain an alleged proposal in regard to the evidence in the case said to have been made by Mr. Palmer and which resulted in Mr. Simms' withdrawal from the case. It was expected that United States District Attorney Van Nuys, Former District Attorney L. Ert Slack and department of justice agents would also be called.

The telegram said:

"Judge Anderson directs me to notify you that the case against the soft coal operators and miners, United States vs. Armstrong et al., will be called for trial in this court at the time set, next Monday, Nov. 8, at which time an investigation will be made in open court of certain matters involving your connections with the case. This notice is given so that you may be present if you so desire.

"NOBLE C. BUTLER,
"Clerk, United States District Court."

No Comment at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Attorney General Palmer was absent today and officials at the department would make no comment on the telegram which Judge Anderson at Indianapolis announced he had sent to Mr. Palmer. Robert T. Scott, assistant to the attorney general, said the telegram had not been received.

Vera Cruz, Nov. 4.—The garrison of the town of Coatepec, the capital of the state of Vera Cruz, has revolted as a result of announced plans by the Federal war department to dispose of the troops in opposition to the wishes of their commanding generals, Ricardo Morales and Alejandro Kurzain. The rebels have taken possession of nearly 100,000 pesos in the hands of the garrison paymaster, about 50,000 pesos of which was being sent to the business men of Coatepec. Three columns of government troops located in this city have been ordered to Coatepec to subdue the rebels.

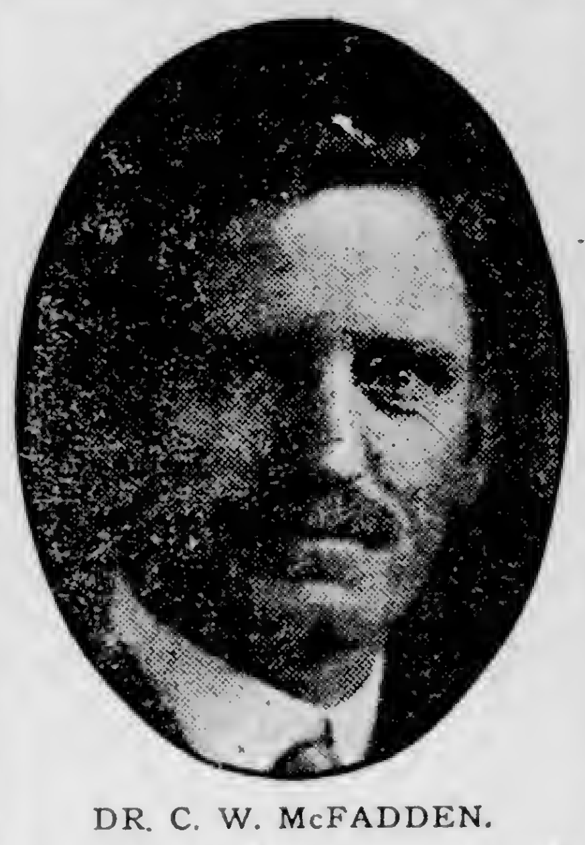
ADMISSION 50c

PIONEER DENTIST TO RETIRE; WILL GO WEST



DR. C. W. McFADDEN.

Dr. C. W. McFadden, who has practiced dentistry at the Head of the Lakes for the last thirty-two years, has given up his work in Duluth, and next week will leave with his family for Talent, Or., where they will take up their residence on a fruit ranch. Dr. McFadden has owned this ranch for some time and has been preparing it as a home for him and his family as soon as he was ready to retire from his profession.

The esteem in which Dr. McFadden is held by other members of his profession was shown recently when forty-four dentists of Duluth and Superior gave him a farewell banquet at the Spalding hotel and presented him with a loving cup suitably engraved. Speeches were made recalling many reminiscences of early days in Duluth and Dr. McFadden was praised for his excellent qualities as a man and a dentist.

Following is a list of those who tendered the banquet and presented the loving cup:

Drs. M. E. Ward, W. A. Kaake, W. W. Grasser, D. H. August, G. N. Sundquist, K. L. Rice, A. A. Deans, T. H. Northfield, Samuel Gross, Henry Johnston, D. F. Lippit, J. A. Maker, E. G. Peterson, J. F. McKenna, E. H. Goering, E. W. Bettenhausen, J. E. Simpson, W. E. Mentzer, Ray Goering, Henry A. Coons, F. H. Connor, R. F. Simme, M. J. Egan, R. W. Johnson, J. H. Hellyer, F. H. Burnett, M. Blullum, A. G. Fee, C. W. Benson, S. E. Catherall, L. J. Sykora, M. E. Helm, C. G. Storberg, E. J. Sundby, G. A. Wagner, H. A. Zibell, A. H. Zibell, N. E. Goussler, A. P. Whitson, F. H. Barnard, V. D. Irwin and W. S. Storer.

TWO CASES TRANSFERRED.

Inland Steel Company Defendant in Big Damage Actions.

Two suits, each claiming $380,000 damages, will be tried at the January term of Federal court here. Final papers were filed today with the clerk of the court. The cases were transferred last month from the district court at Brainerd.

Both suits are alike. Thomas Keating and Morris Haley of Brainerd are plaintiffs, each being in an action, and the Inland Steel company is the defendant in both.

The complaints charge that the plaintiffs owned land in Crow Wing county which they leased in 1908 to George H. Crosby of Duluth, who leased them in turn to the defendant company. The leases were properly terminated in 1919. Under the terms of the leases, and by later agreements between the plaintiffs and the defendants, the latter were to sink shafts and mine both merchantable and lean ore, the latter to be treated so as to become salable.

The plaintiffs charge that the defendants failed to treat 400,000 tons of low grade ore, causing a loss of $120,000; that negligence in the mining methods has ruined the mines, causing a loss of $250,000, and that the unwarranted removal of supports and tramways, has caused $10,000 more damages.

TAKES UP WORK FOR METHODISTS HERE

REV. A. H. McKEE.

Rev. A. H. McKee, one of the well-known pastors of Northern Minnesota, arrived in Duluth yesterday and will assume his duties as superintendent for the Duluth district of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. McKee was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dr. W. C. Hodgson, who held the position for several years.

Mr. McKee is well known in the Northwest, having held important charges at Fergus Falls and at Virginia. He was at Fergus Falls for six years and at Virginia for three years. He is staying temporarily at the McKay hotel.

DECLARES HUSBAND BRUTAL.

Mrs. Elsie Stuns Asks Divorce and Custody of Children.

Mrs. Elsie Stuns, aged 28, and the mother of four children, says her husband slapped her, struck her with his fists and then drove her from their home at the point of a knife, threatening to kill her, and that during February, 1919, he completely deserted her after having led the life of an habitual drunkard for more than a year previously.

These charges were filed this morning with the clerk of the district court in a proceeding for divorce, which Mrs. Stuns has started and in which she alleges "long and systematic cruel treatment dating back to February, 1917." She says her husband is an immoral person and unfit to have the custody of their children and prays the court to let them remain with her. She further asks for suitable alimony.

SEES ELIMINATION OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 4.—Parley P. Christensen, presidential nominee of the Farmer-Labor party, sees in the victory of Senator Harding the elimination of the Democratic party as a factor in national politics.

In a statement yesterday he said:

"Our vote is very satisfactory. The result means that the next fight will be between the Republican and the Farmer-Labor parties. The Democrats cannot come back. Organized labor also has learned its lesson. We cannot hope for relief in either of the old parties. In the next fight labor will be united with the farmers and other forward-looking people in the Farmer-Labor party. The vote for Harding is very largely a protest vote, a vote of disgust with conditions and especially against the Wilson administration. Our campaign has just commenced. Today we begin organization work for the congressional elections of 1922 looking to a complete rout of the old reactionary Republican party in 1924."

FORMER SERVICE MEN GUARD OCOEE STREETS

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 4.—Former service men patrolled the streets of Orlando, Ocoee and nearby towns throughout the night to prevent renewal of the race clash which is known to have resulted in the death at Ocoee Tuesday night of two white men and six negroes. Quiet prevailed early today and the authorities said they did not expect any further outbreak.

Deputy sheriffs who were called to Ocoee by the riot, which was the outgrowth of the election, said they believed the death toll would exceed eight. They said they were convinced the bodies of several negroes would be found in the ruins of twenty-five houses destroyed by fire.

The battle between citizens and negroes followed an attempt on the part of a negro to vote. He was denied the privilege by election officials on the ground that he had not paid his poll tax.

Later, it is reported, white citizens believed a crowd of negroes intended to attack them and shooting resulted.

EXPECT NULLIFICATION OF RECIPROCAL CLAUSE

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 4.—Editorial comment in the press of Canada reflects the view that the Republican election landslide in the United States is a forerunner to a decided change in tariff relations between the two countries.

In well informed quarters here the "probability" was discussed that the new congress at Washington would nullify the reciprocal clauses of the Underwood tariff law insofar as they relate to foodstuffs, thus "closing the way to free wheat, wheat products and potatoes both ways across the border."

AMERICAN MEMBER ON ALAND COMMISSION

Washington, Nov. 4.—The state department has accepted the invitation of the League of Nations council to appoint a member of the commission which is to decide the future status of the Aland islands, it was stated yesterday. Officials declared the commissioner would be in no sense a representative of the American government; that he would serve under the league council.

Both Sweden and Finland have claimed the Aland islands, a group in the Baltic sea, but they have decided to leave the question to settlement by the league.

WHAT INTERESTS YOU?

A Herald Want Advertiser asked each one of the people who made inquiry about his ad to tell just what it was that interested them the most. He had advertised a house for sale and had described the house fully in his ad.

These people named various things, but the advertiser was convinced that if he had left out any of these particulars he would not have gained those inquiries. He sold the place, and he says:

THE COST IS NOMINAL—RESULTS PHENOMENAL.

ROOT NOT IN HARDING'S CABINET IS FORECAST

Not in Particularly High Favor at Marion, Says Lawrence.

Root's Friendliness to Present League Not to Harding's Liking.

Senate Round Robin to Be Basis of New Foreign Policy.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—President-elect Harding will revert to the round robin, signed by the Republicans of the United States senate in March, 1919, as the basis of foreign policy in the new administration.

This plan which has been confidentially discussed during the campaign will be put into effect just as soon after inauguration as possible. It has the merit of affording a beginning in the inevitable process of reconciliation between the various factions in the senate.

No matter what the votes may have been on the peace treaty and Covenant the round robin is the single document that all the Republican senators, both irreconcilables and reservationists, have signed. Senator Borah may have remarked during the campaign that he was against all associations or alliances of any kind, but his name was signed to the round robin the text of which puts him on record as favoring some kind of a league of nations.

Root Not to Be Secretary.

Moreover, it may be a surprise to the world outside of Marion, Ohio, but it is an open secret here that Elihu Root will not be secretary of state in the next administration. Also it may be disclosed that Mr. Root is not in particularly high favor here, and that he will not be the minister extraordinary or high commissioner to deal with Europe, as so many people have supposed. There is not the intimacy between Senator Harding and Mr. Root which has been so often suggested as the basis for a Harding-Root team on foreign policy in the next Republican administration. This may be disappointing to a large number of people, but it is nevertheless true. It is known, for instance, that Mr. Root sent Senator Harding a cablegram from London, the friendliness of which to the present League of Nations was not to the liking of the then Republican candidate for the presidency.

Also there is a feeling here that Mr. Root didn't play the game during the campaign and that the part he took in the formation of the international court which has been created under the League of Nations was a direct recognition of a type of world organization which the Republican party was fighting.

Lean to "Irreconcilables."

There is no particular bitterness or hate against the people who made the present League of Nations, but one encounters strong convictions among the men who reflect Harding's viewpoint, convictions that lean more to the so-called "irreconcilables" like Johnson, Borah and McCormick than the pro-

RECRUITING IS SATISFACTORY

More Naval Vessels Soon Will Be Placed in Service.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Recruiting for the navy is progressing so satisfactorily that naval officials believe it soon will be possible to send to sea a large number of vessels now carried on paper as part of the fleets, but actually tied up at navy yards for lack of crews.

Recruits entering the service exceed 2,300 a week and the training stations are daily sending large numbers to the fleets after the usual four months training.

On Nov. 1 the navy was only 28,000 men short of the authorized strength of approximately 143,000 and it is believed the full strength will be reached before March 1.

As a result of the shortage of experienced men it became necessary last winter and spring to place many vessels out of commission or to lay them up with greatly reduced crews. Eighteen battleships are with the Atlantic and Pacific fleets on cruising duty, while four others have reduced crews. Thirteen of the older type are out of commission entirely.

Of the 243 modern destroyers only sixty-five are in full commission and of these twenty-five are in European waters or are outfitting for service abroad.

Of the remainder 130 are laid up with crews of thirty men aboard and the others are out of commission entirely.

Super-abundance of Destroyers.

It is explained there is no expectation of ever placing full crews aboard all the destroyers in time of peace, as the navy now has a super-abundance of this type of vessel. About 50 per cent of the destroyers eventually will be kept fully manned and on duty with the fleets and the others given only large enough crews to keep them ready for duty in time of emergency.

The naval reserve force, naval officers say, can be depended upon to provide trained crews for both destroyers and battleships in reserve when occasion demands.

No modern submarines are out of commission, according to naval officials, but thirty-six older type vessels are without full crews.

Of the fifty-five eagle boats on the naval list, thirty-one are fully manned and twenty-four are in reserve or loaned to the naval reserve force for training purposes, with twenty-six cruisers and gunboats in full commission and twenty-four in reduced commission or laid up.

The substantial increase in pay granted the navy by congress, together with the recent announcement of an extended cruise by the Atlantic and Pacific fleets this winter to ports in South America, Africa, Australia and New Zealand, have served to greatly stimulate enlistments, officials say.

AMERICAN MEMBER OF THE ALAND COMMISSION

ABRAM I. ELKUS.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Selection of Abram I. Elkus of New York, former ambassador to Turkey, as the American member of the commission which is to decide the future status of the Aland islands, was announced at the state department.

HOUSE LOSSES BY NONPARTY

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Hopes of the Nonpartisan league for gains in the legislature seem doomed to disappointment. Many setbacks for Townley candidates are reported in the early returns, and out of seventy-two members of the next house reported so far, only fourteen are listed as Nonpartisan league men. In the last house the league had twenty-six members. It may not have more than twenty members in the next house.

In the Forty-ninth district, Anoka and Isanti counties, early returns, mostly from Isanti county, indicated the election of Rev. Gustav Wahlund of Anoka, league candidate, who served in earlier legislatures as a Populist and as a Prohibitionist, over Ole Lagerson of Anoka, the present member. In the complete returns Anoka county came to the rescue and gave Lagerson a lead of better than two to one. The vote stands, according to latest returns, Lagerson, 3,134; Wahlund, 1,106.

League Loses Polk County.

Returns from Polk county, which the leaguers considered one of their strongholds, indicate the defeat of Arny Grundysen, prominent in the inner circles of the league, and the probable defeat of B. M. Bensen, the other league candidate, though the latter is running better than 100 votes ahead of Grundysen, and only twelve votes behind T. B. Landsverk, anti-leaguer. John T. Perry, the other anti-leaguer, is far ahead. The latest returns give the vote from sixty-one precincts: Perry, 4,112; Landsverk, 3,759; Bensen, 3,634; Grundysen, 3,501.

Lyon county, of which the leaguers had great hope, has turned them down hard. J. B. Gislason, present representative and anti-leaguer, defeated E. S. Reishus, former Populist senator, the league candidate, by a vote of 3,723 to 1,825 in thirty precincts.

In Nicollet county, where the league put up a particularly hard fight against Representative Oscar Swenson, the Townley candidate is apparently defeated and Swenson re-elected by a somewhat narrow margin of 273 votes.

In Sibley county Representative Fred Burderf, leaguer, apparently has won.

Bendixen Defeats Leaguer.

Representative C. M. Bendixen, author of the tonnage tax law passed by the legislature and vetoed by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, defeated his league opponent, John Hines, by 3,752 to 2,778. Representative A. J. Praxel, running at large in Brown and Red-

ONE OF TWO FAMOUS ALDERMEN TO LOSE

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Decision of Chicago's voters to have one alderman in each of fifty wards instead of two aldermen in each of thirty-five wards today brought to light the interesting case of "Bath House John" Coughlin and "Hinky Dink" Kenna who have bossed the First ward for more years than many voters can remember. Speculation was rife in political circles as to who would drop out in the next election. They are fast friends.

TO PROTEST PLAN OF MEXICAN GOVERNMENT

Mexico City, Nov. 5.—American, British and French mining companies in Coahuila state plan a protest to the Mexican government against the latter's decision to operate many mines in the state, owing to the inability of employers and striking workmen to reach an agreement ending the present strike. It is denied in official circles the government has intended to confiscate the mines, but it is asserted drastic measures are necessary to supply railroads and factories with fuel.

Blow for Gompers, Says Allen.

Topeka, Kans., Nov. 5.—"The victory in Kansas was the greatest blow the Gompers leadership ever received," said Governor Henry J. Allen, yesterday in discussing the election whereby he was re-elected by an apparently overwhelming plurality.

Wood Alcohol Kills Two.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—Two men died yesterday at Edgewood arsenal from drinking what is believed to have been wood alcohol in the second outbreak of wood alcohol poisoning at the arsenal within two months. In September nine men died from this cause.

FAIR TRADE WITH EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

British Policy Toward the United States, Says Ambassador Geddes.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—America and Great Britain must avoid national trade competition "organized by government and supported by political action," Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, declared today in an address at the Civic and Commerce luncheon here.

If the United States or Great Britain, he said, were to begin to organize areas of exclusive economic advantages there "would inevitably come a clash of interests that would at least strain the friendly relations between the countries."

Sir Auckland denied statements appearing in American newspapers that American ships had been placed at a disadvantage with British ships by British government action. He declared, however, "not in any sense as a threat, however veiled, but as a matter of interest" that if the British empire should adopt a law precisely similar to the American law limiting coastwise traffic to ships flying only its own flag, "there would be some far-reaching derangements in the business of non-British shipping."

Policy of Fair Trade.

"We are not thinking at present of adopting any such law," he added, "for our trade policy is based on the policy of 'fair trade and equal opportunity.'"

Speaking not only as the ambassador of England, but as the representative of all the British dominions and colonies, "of one quarter of the human race," Sir Auckland said he had no hesitation in asserting that he misrepresented no opinion of importance when he declared it was the wish of all the British people to live in peace and amity with the United States and "with all the nations of the earth."

Reads of Schemes.

"I sometimes read in your newspapers," he said, "of these subtle devilish schemes which the British government is preparing with the object of preventing your trade expansion. I have been a member of the British cabinet, I have been the minister of the crown responsible for the trade policy and activities of the government, and I assure you formally and without reservation that the principle which underlies British trade policy is expressed in the five words:

"'Fair trade and equal opportunity.'

Trust One Another.

"If we continue to trust one another, if we know as states we can trust one another, not to attempt to steal marches each upon the other, then I believe that the competition of our respective traders will add to and not subtract from the understanding of the one nation by the other.

"Let me declare without any possibility of misunderstanding the British government will welcome the co-operation of the government of the United States in dealing with the problems of the East and the West and that so far as trade is concerned it stands today by its old policy of fair trade and equal opportunity."

PREUS INCREASES HIS LEAD OVER SHIPSTEAD

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Returns from 2,957 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give for governor: Preus, 384,891; Hodgson, 75,665; Shipstead, 255,484. This is an increased plurality for Preus and his lead over Shipstead now is 129,407.

Stearns county complete (51 precincts) for president: Harding, 13,566; Cox, 1,676; W. W. Cox, 108; Debs, 320; Watkins, 106. This completes Stearns county returns.

O. J. Larson, Republican candidate for congress in the Eighth district, had a majority of 965 votes over Congressman W. L. Carss, Democrat, when 349 precincts out of 391 in the district had reported at noon today. The vote then stood: Larson, 30,847; Carss, 29,882.

JAPANESE TO PROTEST CALIFORNIA ACTION

Tokio, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—When confirmation has been received that the people of California have voted in favor of the proposed land law in that state, Japan will lodge a protest in Washington, pointing out the measure conflicts with Japanese treaty rights, according to the Yeruzu Choho, an independent organ, which quotes a foreign office official to this effect.

The Hochi Shimbun reports that M. Shidehara, Japanese ambassador in Washington, and Secretary of State Colby have reached an agreement by which Japan will stop immigration to the United States, in return for which America will accord Japanese now in America the same treatment as other foreigners.

Marquis Okuma, former premier, interviewed by the Koruzu Choho, declares that "only thoughtless people have talked of war between Japan and America over California."

If Japan fights with arguments of dignity and impartiality, he is quoted as saying, "Americans will act justly."

OPERATORS EXPECTED TO REPLY TO MINERS

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—The reply of the coal operators to the demands of the anthracite mine workers for changes in the award of the presidential commission was expected to be made here today at a meeting with representatives of the miners. At a conference with the operators here on Oct. 26, at which a reopening of the award was required, the mine workers' representatives presented their demands, which, they claimed, would eliminate alleged inequalities in the present agreement. They included a wage increase equal to the 27 per cent recently granted the bituminous miners, with a minimum day rate of $6 and an eight-hour day.

Under the anthracite commission's award the hard coal men were given an average increase of 17 per cent, with a minimum day rate of $4.20.

SENATOR BECKHAM LOSES IN KENTUCKY

New York, Nov. 5.—The last contest of Tuesday's election for United States senator—that of Kentucky—was decided late last night and resulted in the election of Richard P. Ernst, the Republican candidate, over Senator Beckham, Democrat.

CONGRESSWOMAN-ELECT WILL SERVE CHICKEN IN HONOR OF HER ELECTION

MISS ALICE ROBERTSON OF OKLAHOMA, ONLY FEMALE ELECTED TO HOUSE, IS FARMER AND CAFETERIA OWNER

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 5.—Miss Alice Robertson, farmer-cafeteria owner, and the only congresswoman-elect in the United States, sat in her little restaurant here last night planning the menu for the noon-day meal.

"I think I should celebrate my own election by preparing some extra fruit salad and fried chicken," she said, as she wrote out the bill of fare on her typewriter. Then she turned again to politics and shook hands with many who came to congratulate her on her victory over Congressman W. W. Hastings, Democrat, who has represented the Second congressional district since 1914.

"Miss Alice," known over the state as one of the most picturesque characters in Oklahoma, made the race for congress despite the fact that she was opposed to and worked actively against the woman suffrage amendment.

Thrust Vote Upon Them.

"The men have thrust the vote on us, now I'm going to see if they mean it," she said when she announced her candidacy for congress.

"I guess they did," she continued, when the figures telling of her election were brought to her.

"Miss Alice's" campaign here was similar to President-elect Harding's but instead of being conducted on her "front porch," it was conducted in her cafeteria.

Whenever a man or woman came into her cafeteria to eat, she sat down at the table and "talked it over."

She also ran "ads" in the daily papers proclaiming the day's menu, giving Biblical quotations and advancing political arguments. The "ads" rivaled even the news columns for the interest they attracted.

PRESIDENT WILSON PLACES WARSHIP AT HARDING'S DISPOSAL

Washington, Nov. 5.—By the Associated Press.) — President Wilson today directed Secretary Daniels to place a battleship at the disposal of President-elect Harding for his contemplated visit to the Panama canal zone.

The president also instructed Mr. Daniels to offer Mr. Harding the use of the presidential yacht Mayflower to convey him and his party to Hampton Roads to go aboard the battleship.

CLOSE RACE ON CONGRESSMAN

Present Returns Favor Reelection of Young in North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 5.—National interest in the North Dakota election today centered in the contest for congressman in the Second district. George M. Young of Valley City, candidate for reelection, is in a close race with Ole Olson of New Rockford, present returns favoring Young. With 649 precincts out of 739 reported, Young's vote is 30,261 against 28,012 for Olson.

The vote in the remaining ninety precincts which have not reported is scattered throughout the district and is liberally estimated at 3,850. Complete returns are not expected in this contest until late today.

Announcements by Sveinbjorn Johnson, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, made yesterday, admit the election of Dr. E. F. Ladd to the United States senate, J. H. Sinclair's victory in the Third congressional district and a victory for Harding by a much larger majority than that which will elect Governor Frazier.

Defeat of Baer Indicated.

The defeat of J. H. Baer, Nonpartisan candidate for re-election in the First congressional district, is indicated on the face of present returns. O. B. Burtness is leading Baer by 3,888 votes.

Although definite figures have not been established on the state ticket outside of governor, the Nonpartisan league expects to elect their several candidates with possibly one or two exceptions. The race between Miss Minnie Nielson and Miss Ruth Johnson for state superintendent of instruction is particularly close, as is the contest for secretary of state between Hall and Alfson. Hall is showing a tendency to run ahead of the head of his ticket.

The fate of the five initiated laws will not be determined until the official ballot is returned.

The several contests for seats in the legislature is causing great local interest. Both independents and Nonpartisans claim control of legislature by slight margins.

Election of Frazier Conceded.

Sveinbjorn Johnson, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, conceded the election of Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Republican, indorsed by the Nonpartisan league, over J. F. T. O'Connor, Democratic candidate for governor, on the face of almost complete returns.

In his announcement Mr. Johnson said:

"On the face of present returns, which are complete with the exception of precincts in the western part of the state which undoubtedly will give majorities to Mr. Frazier, it is quite clear that Mr. Frazier has been elected.

"Speaking for the independent voters of the state I feel we have won a considerable victory in the probable control of both branches of the legislature and also in the election of several state offices. Present returns indicate the election of Thomas Hall as secretary of state; John Steen as state treasurer, Miss Minnie Neilson as superintendent of public instruction.

"Although returns on the initiated laws are not complete, indications point to a victory for the independent voters. The laws are of such a nature that a far-reaching effect will be obtained with their passage."

Successor to MacSwiney.

Cork, Nov. 5.—Deputy Lord Mayor O'Callaghan has been elected lord mayor in succession to the late Terence MacSwiney.

WOMEN ASK FOR BETTER PROTECTION

Public Safety Department Scored and Changes Are Urged.

Women's Council Sets Forth Complaints in Resolution to Commission.

The public safety department and Commissioner W. F. Murnian received severe criticism at the hands of the Women's Council at its meeting this morning at the Duluth public library. The council in a resolution to Mayor T. W. Hugo and the city commissioners, demands that immediate action be taken to provide better safety conditions in the city.

Members of the Women's Council, which constitutes two women from each women's organization in the city, are asked to report back to their organization and have each member of that respective organization confer with their husbands relative to the question of who would make a good commissioner of public safety. This step is taken as indicating that a recall may be initiated providing that a change of commissioner of public safety is not decided on by the city council as a whole.

Grievances Set Forth.

The resolution, which the women indorsed unanimously, follows:

"The Woman's Council regards with concern the lax enforcement of law in our city. When burglary and bootlegging are common, when even the vault of the police department is robbed, when lynching takes place under the eyes of the safety commissioner, when citizens are obliged to organize a vigilance committee to protect their homes and families, it seems time for the most representative women's societies to ask you, sirs, the organized government of the city, if there is no help for these conditions.

"What is any government for, if not to protect life and property and preserve order; to whom can we look for relief but to our city commissioners—elected for these purposes?

"We ask you seriously to consider this, our protest and appeal."

Petition for Council.

The resolution will be presented to the city commisson at the earliest date after it has been indorsed by the Eighth District League of Women Voters, by the Republican and the Democratic Women's clubs of Duluth and by such other women's organizations as are interested in the safeguarding of civil rights within the city limits.

Women of the council agreed unanimously that some stand must be taken relative to the matters referred to in their resolution and declared they will not stop until something definite has been accomplished to assure the people of the city the protection rights which the council feels are theirs.

WOLVERINES ELECT WOMAN AS SHERIFF

Roscommon, Mich., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Jane Johnson, 65 years old, mother of three children and sheriff-elect of Roscommon county, today outlined the platform on which she will go into office next January.

"I can land a bad man, or a bad woman myself, if necessary," she said, "but as a matter of precaution I will appoint my husband deputy. In the intervals between searching for and caring for prisoners I will look after my children—two girls and a boy—and the domestic duties in the county jail."

Mrs. Johnson added that in case it should become necessary for her to arrest a bad man, he will know someone has been after him."

The sheriff-elect gained her experience from her husband, who has been sheriff for the past six years, and whom she married forty years ago.

THREE INDICTED IN BUILDING PROBE

New York, Nov. 5.—Bench warrants were issued today for the arrest of at least three persons indicted by the grand jury investigating the alleged building trust here. Names of those indicted were not made public.

While the first indictments in connection with the investigation were being returned to Judge Mulqueen in general sessions, the joint legislative committee quizzing witnesses in city hall regarding the "trust" was being informed that the whole limestone trade of the United States "was in the grip" of the National Association of Stonecutters.

This testimony was given out by Henry Hanlein, cut stone contractor, who admitted a code of practice existed after by-laws of the association were read to him. He admitted also that this code requires that all members of the national association and allied locals to submit copies of their bids to the recording secretary "to preclude cut-throat competition."

BEGINS PROBE OF ELECTION FRAUDS

New York, Nov. 5.—District Attorney Edward Swann today began formal investigation of alleged election frauds. As a result of the finding of twenty-six marked ballots yesterday in sewers of the Thirteenth election district of the Fourth assembly district, Mr. Swann summoned election officials of that district to be questioned.

Meanwhile street cleaners of that and other districts were directed to search sewers and other places for missing ballots.

Investigation of alleged fraud in Harlem also was begun. It was reported that in some districts more ballots were returned than there were registered voters. Other alleged irregularities also were reported.

SEND PHYSICIANS TO UNALASKA ISLAND

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Two coast guard vessels carrying physicians and medical supplies were en route today to the little community of Unalaska on the island of that name in the Aleutian group off the Alaskt peninsula, where, according to wireless advices to W. T. Lopp, chief of the Alaska division of the United States bureau of education, a serious epidemic of smallpox has appeared.

Bisbee Cases Dismissed.

Tombstone, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Judge Samuel L. Pattee yesterday dismissed the cases against all of the remaining defendants held in connection with the Bisbee deportation of all "agitators" among the copper miners. The action was taken on motion of County Attorney P. N. French.

HARDING HAS TOTAL OF 404 ELECTORAL VOTES

IS ELECTED GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF WISCONSIN

JOHN J. BLAINE.

BRIBE OFFER TO WITHDRAW

Candidate McOuat Says Nonparty Offered $50,000 to Democratic Fund.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After the polls closed Tuesday, R. A. McOuat, well-known attorney of this village, who ran for attorney general on the Democratic ticket, made public the astounding statement that in the heat of the late campaign he had been approached by Townley representatives who told him that if he would retire from the race in favor of Thomas Sullivan, Nonpartisan league candidate, the Nonpartisan league would pay $50,000 into the Democratic national committee fund and he would be given the position of assistant attorney general, with the privilege of naming each alternate assistant. He said he declined the offer, but did agree to retire in favor of some well-known Democratic lawyer who could defeat both Hilton and Sullivan. At the suggestion of party leaders Mr. McOuat said he did not make the matter public before election, as it might alienate support from worthy candidates, and that in case Sullivan was elected a contest might be instituted. With the closing of the polls he felt it was his duty to make the matter public.

McOuat's Statement.

Mr. McOuat's statement, in part, follows: "I was called to St. Paul on Oct. 1 for the express purpose of talking over the question of my withdrawal in favor of Mr. Sullivan in consideration of immediately receiving for the Democratic national committee $50,000 and support from all Nonpartisan league newspapers. My personal reward was to be, in the event of Mr. Sullivan's election, an appointment as his chief assistant, with the privilege of naming each alternate assistant. I rejected the proposition, but agreed to withdraw in favor of some prominent Democratic lawyer who could defeat both Sullivan and Hilton. I was assured that the Democratic party was united on my candidacy, and when I desired to issue a statement was told that it was not, in the judgment of party leaders, advisable to do so at this time. If Mr. Sullivan's friends have correctly represented him, then he has disqualified himself from being the next attorney general even if he received a majority vote. I have so much confidence in their representations made to me that proceedings will be instituted to disqualify him regardless of his vote.

"This matter was not published prior to election for the reason that it might alienate support from deserving candidates. By making it before the returns are completed, it cannot be said that I made it to injure a successful candidate. I can truthfully say that I have never met Sullivan unless it was casually at some time prior to 1918. I met Mr. Hilton on several occasions and have had some official correspondence with him, but nothing during the present campaign except his official campaign literature which I received as a member of the bar. I entered the fight for the attorney general's office solely at the request of the state Democratic central committee largely as a matter of party duty. My whole campaign has been conducted along partisan lines and for the purpose of stimulating interest in the Democratic party, and very naturally I have endeavored to win the election without regard to a campaign made by either of my opponents.

Has Nothing Personal.

"I have nothing personal against either Mr. Sullivan or Mr. Hilton. I am not trying to save the state of Minnesota from Socialism or from the Republican party if the voters desire either one, but it is important to the state of Minnesota to prevent anyone from holding the office of attorney general who is willing to pay $50,000 for the office, to throw the support of several publications to any candidate, to promise the appointment of several assistants to an opposing candidate in consideration of his withdrawal. If I am elected to the office of attorney general I will lay the matter before the proper authorities for immediate action. If Mr. Hilton is elected I will lay the facts before him, and if Mr. Sullivan is elected, contest proceedings will be commenced in the proper court. I hope I have made it clear that I have not talked directly with Mr. Sullivan, but I am confident that the men who submitted the proposition to me would not have done so unless upon the authority of Mr. Sullivan himself."

Attend Stevens Funeral.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—Many railroad executives attended funeral services here today for George W. Stevens, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway system. Every wheel on that railroad stopped for one minute at the time of the funeral as a mark of respect.

Republicans Will Have the Greatest Majority in House Ever Held.

Montana Is Last State to Get Into the Republican List.

New York, Nov. 5.—With the size of President-Elect Harding's electoral vote virtually settled at 404 out of a possible 531, and the complexion of the new senate set down as fifty-nine Republicans and thirty-seven Democrats, Republican leaders today awaited belated returns on three contests in three states to fix the exact size of the Republican house majority.

Exclusive of the seven undetermined seats in the lower house the Republicans have 289 members to 141 Democrats and two of other designations, a plurality of 150—the greatest ever held by any party in the house. The nearest approach to it was in the Fifty-second congress, when the Democrats had a lead of 148.

Republicans appeared to be assured of more than an even break on the three outstanding seats which would give them a record party margin in the house.

The seats still in doubt were the Fourth Maryland district, Fifth Missouri and First North Dakota.

Possible Democratic Upset.

A further possible Democratic upset appeared possible in the Fourth Tennessee district, where W. F. Clouse, Republican, was reported to have forged slightly ahead of Cordell Hull, earlier reported elected.

The senate majority was settled late last night when belated returns from the mountain regions of Kentucky gave the Republican candidate, Richard P. Ernst, victory over Senator Beckman, Democrat.

Montana's four electoral voters fell definitely into the Harding column when returns from 1,227 precincts out of the total 1,480 gave the Republican candidate a lead of 44,530. With North Dakota's five electoral votes counted last night when Democratic leaders admitted they had given up hope of carrying the state, the addition of Montana brought the Harding total up to the 404 mark.

Yesterday's count in Oklahoma assured the nation's new women voters one representative in the lower house—Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, a farmer and restaurant owner. Miss Robertson was an anti-suffragist prior to the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment and made the congressional race "to see if the men meant it" when they "thrust the vote on us."

Big Majority in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 5.—Additional returns showed that Senator Harding carried Wyoming by the largest majority in history on presidential elections in the state. Representative Frank W. Mondell, Republican floor leader in the house, received the largest majority ever accorded any candidate in the state on the face of returns.

Idaho Strong for G. O. P.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 5.—Late returns made doubly sure the election of a complete Republican ticket. Not one Democrat was elected to state office and none of the state candidates indorsed by the Nonpartisan league were successful. The majority of Frank R. Gooding over Senator John F. Nugent had passed 10,000, although breaks for Nugent in some counties had the effect of checking the Gooding increase.

Big Pluralities for Harding.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 5.—The election of Judge William Williamson of Oacoma, Republican, in the Third congressional district completes the overwhelming Republican victory in South Dakota. Every county so far reported has shown a plurality of 500 to 1,500 for Harding. In case the remaining counties show like results, he shall have carried South Dakota by more than 60,000, a figure which establishes a record here.

A feature of the election was the surprising strength shown by Nonpartisan league candidates, who ran far ahead of their Democratic opponents in many instances. One Democrat, candidate for a county office in Yankton county, is the only candidate not a

WITHDRAWS TO CRIMEA

Gen. Wrangel Successfully Removes Troops Before Soviet Advance.

Sebastopol, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik government of South Russia, has successfully withdrawn his troops to Crimea before the advance of soviet armies south of the Dnieper river. He is master of Perekop and also Salkova.

At Salkova, Gen. Wrangel has captured thousands of men belonging to the units of Gen. Budenny's cavalry. The spirit of his troops is good, but they are worn out by their long fight, which has lasted for five weeks, and are glad to be assured of a rest in Crimea.

Soviet forces are besieging the anti-Bolshevik trench system on the narrow neck of land leading from the Crimean peninsula to the mainland, but it is asserted only 10,000 of Gen. Wrangel's troops will be required to hold Perekop and Salkova.

Laconic Message From General.

Constantinople, Nov. 4.—Gen. Baron Wrangel, whose forces have been driven back into the Crimean peninsula from Russia proper by Bolshevik armies, has broken a silence of four days with a characteristically laconic message to Baroness Wrangel. His telegram said: "We are fighting hard, in full hope."

The baroness, who has spent many sleepless nights since the Bolshevik offensive began, said today:

"All I want is the truth; no matter how bad it is, I can stand it."

ROOT NOT IN HARDING'S CABINET IS FORECAST

Not in Particularly High Favor at Marion, Says Lawrence.

Root's Friendliness to Present League Not to Harding's Liking.

Senate Round Robin to Be Basis of New Foreign Policy.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—President-elect Harding will revert to the round robin, signed by the Republicans of the United States senate in March, 1919, as the basis of foreign policy in the new administration.

The plan which has been confidentially discussed during the campaign will be put into effect just as soon after inauguration as possible. It has the merit of affording a beginning in the inevitable process of reconciliation between the various factions in the senate.

No matter what the votes may have been on the peace treaty and Covenant the round robin is the single document that all the Republican senators, both irreconcilables and reservationists, have signed. Senator Borah may have remarked during the campaign that he was against all associations or alliances of any kind, but his name was signed to the round robin the text of which puts him on record as favoring some kind of a league of nations.

Root Not to Be Secretary.

Moreover it may be a surprise to the world outside of Marion, Ohio, but it is an open secret here that Elihu Root will not be secretary of state in the next administration. Also it may be disclosed that Mr. Root is not in particularly high favor here, and that he will not be the minister extraordinary or high commissioner to deal with Europe, as so many people have supposed. There is not the intimacy between Senator Harding and Mr. Root which has been so often suggested as the basis for a Harding-Root team on foreign policy in the next Republican administration. This may be disappointing to a large number of people, but it is nevertheless true. It is known, for instance, that Mr. Root sent Senator Harding a cablegram from London, the friendliness of which to the present League of Nations was not to the liking of the then Republican candidate for the presidency.

Also there is a feeling here that Mr. Root didn't play the game during the campaign and that the part he took in the formation of the international court which has been created under the League of Nations was a direct recognition of a type of world organization which the Republican party was fighting.

Lean to "Irreconcilables."

There is no particular bitterness or hate against the people who made the present League of Nations, but one encounters strong convictions among the men who reflect Harding's viewpoint, convictions that lean more to the so-called "irreconcilables" like Johnson, Borah and McCormick than the pro-

AMERICAN MEMBER OF THE ALAND COMMISSION

ABRAM I. ELKUS.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Selection of Abram I. Elkus of New York, former ambassador to Turkey, as the American member of the commission which is to decide the future status of the Aland islands, was announced at the state department.

HOUSE LOSSES BY NONPARTY

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Hopes of the Nonpartisan league for gains in the legislature seem doomed to disappointment. Many setbacks for Townley candidates are reported in the early returns, and out of seventy-two members of the next house reported so far, only fourteen are listed as Nonpartisan league men. In the last house the league had twenty-six members. It may not have more than twenty members in the next house.

In the Forty-ninth district, Anoka and Isanti counties, early returns, mostly from Isanti county, indicated the election of Rev. Gustav Wahlund of Anoka, league candidate, who served in earlier legislatures as a Populist and as a Prohibitionist, over Ole Lagerson of Anoka, the present member. In the complete returns Anoka county came to the rescue and gave Lagerson a lead of better than two to one. The vote stands, according to latest returns, Lagerson, 3,131; Wahlund, 1,106.

League Loses Polk County.

Returns from Polk county, which the leaguers considered one of their strongholds, indicate the defeat of Arny Grundysen, prominent in the inner circles of the league, and the probable defeat of B. M. Bensen, the other league candidate, though the latter is running better than 100 votes ahead of Grundysen, and only twelve votes behind T. B. Landsverk, anti-leaguer. John T. Perry, the other anti-leaguer, is far ahead. The latest returns give the vote from sixty-one precincts: Perry, 4,112; Landsverk, 3,759; Bensen, 3,634; Grundysen, 3,501.

Lyon county, of which the leaguers had great hope, has turned them down hard. J. B. Gislason, present representative and anti-leaguer, defeated E. S. Reishus, former Populist senator, the league candidate, by a vote of 3,723 to 1,825 in thirty precincts.

In Nicollet county, where the league put up a particularly hard fight against Representative Oscar Swenson, the Townley candidate is apparently defeated and Swenson re-elected by a somewhat narrow margin of 273 votes.

In Sibley county Representative Fred Burdorf, leaguer, apparently has won.

Bendixen Defeats Leaguer.

Representative C. M. Bendixen, author of the tonnage tax law passed by the legislature and vetoed by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, defeated his league opponent, John Hines, by 3,752 to 2,778. Representative A. J. Praxel, running at large in Brown and Red-

RECRUITING IS SATISFACTORY

More Naval Vessels Soon Will Be Placed in Service.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Recruiting for the navy is progressing so satisfactorily that naval officials believe it soon will be possible to send to sea a large number of vessels now carried on paper as part of the fleets, but actually tied up at navy yards for lack of crews.

Recruits entering the service exceed 2,300 a week and the training stations are daily sending large numbers to the fleets after the usual four months training.

On Nov. 1 the navy was only 28,000 men short of the authorized strength of approximately 143,000 and it is believed the full strength will be reached before March 1.

As a result of the shortage of experienced men it became necessary last winter and spring to place many vessels out of commission or to lay them up with greatly reduced crews. Eighteen battleships are with the Atlantic and Pacific fleets on cruising duty, while four others have reduced crews. Thirteen of the older type are out of commission entirely.

Of the 243 modern destroyers only sixty-five are in full commission and of these twenty-five are in European waters or are outfitting for service abroad.

Of the remainder 130 are laid up with crews of thirty men aboard and the others are out of commission entirely.

Super-abundance of Destroyers.

It is explained there is no expectation of ever placing full crews aboard all the destroyers in time of peace, as the navy now has a super-abundance of this type of vessel. About 50 per cent of the destroyers eventually will be kept fully manned and on duty with the fleets and the others given only large enough crews to keep them ready for duty in time of emergency.

The naval reserve force, naval officers say, can be depended upon to provide trained crews for both destroyers and battleships in reserve when occasion demands.

No modern submarines are out of commission, according to naval officials, but thirty-six older type vessels are without full crews.

Of the fifty-five eagle boats on the naval list, thirty-one are fully manned and twenty-four are in reserve or loaned to the naval reserve force for training purposes, with twenty-six cruisers and gunboats in full commission and twenty-four in reduced commission or laid up.

The substantial increase in pay granted the navy by congress, together with the recent announcement of an extended cruise by the Atlantic and Pacific fleets this winter to ports in South America, Africa, Australia and New Zealand, have served to greatly stimulate enlistments, officials say.

ONE OF TWO FAMOUS ALDERMEN TO LOSE

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Decision of Chicago's voters to have one alderman in each of fifty wards instead of two aldermen in each of thirty-five wards today brought to light the interesting case of "Bath House John" Coughlin and "Hinky Dink" Kenna who have bossed the First ward for more years than many voters can remember. Speculation was rife in political circles as to who would drop out in the next election. They are fast friends.

TO PROTEST PLAN OF MEXICAN GOVERNMENT

Mexico City, Nov. 5.—American, British and French mining companies in Coahuila state plan a protest to the Mexican government against the latter's decision to operate many mines in the state, owing to the inability of employers and striking workmen to reach an agreement ending the present strike. It is denied in official circles the government has intended to confiscate the mines, but it is asserted drastic measures are necessary to supply railroads and factories with fuel.

Blow for Gompers, Says Allen.

Topeka, Kans., Nov. 5.—"The victory in Kansas was the greatest blow the Gompers leadership ever received," said Governor Henry J. Allen, yesterday in discussing the election whereby he was re-elected by an apparently overwhelming plurality.

Wood Alcohol Kills Two.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—Two men died yesterday at Edgewood arsenal from drinking what is believed to have been wood alcohol in the second outbreak of wood alcohol poisoning at the arsenal within two months. In September nine men died from this cause.

FAIR TRADE WITH EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

British Policy Toward the United States, Says Ambassador Geddes.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—America and Great Britain must avoid national trade competition "organized by government and supported by political action," Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, declared today in an address at the Civic and Commerce luncheon here.

If the United States or Great Britain, he said, were to begin to organize areas of exclusive economic advantages there "would inevitably come a clash of interests that would at least strain the friendly relations between the countries."

Sir Auckland denied statements appearing in American newspapers that American ships had been placed at a disadvantage with British ships by British government action. He declared, however, "not in any sense as a threat, however veiled, but as a matter of interest" that if the British empire should adopt a law precisely similar to the American law limiting coastwise traffic to ships flying only its own flag, "there would be some far-reaching derangements in the business of non-British shipping."

Policy of Fair Trade.

"We are not thinking at present of adopting any such law," he added, "for our trade policy is based on the policy of 'fair trade and equal opportunity.'"

Speaking not only as the ambassador of England, but as the representative of all the British dominions and colonies, "of one quarter of the human race," Sir Auckland said he had no hesitation in asserting that he misrepresented no opinion of importance when he declared it was the wish of all the British people to live in peace and amity with the United States and "with all the nations of the earth."

Reads of Schemes.

"I sometimes read in your newspapers," he said, "of these subtle devilish schemes which the British government is preparing with the object of preventing your trade expansion. I have been a member of the British cabinet. I have been the minister of the crown responsible for the trade policy and activities of the government, and I assure you formally and without reservation that the principle which underlies British trade policy is expressed in the five words:

"'Fair trade and equal opportunity.'

Trust One Another.

"If we continue to trust one another, if we know as states we can trust one another, not to attempt to steal marches each upon the other, then I believe that the competition of our respective traders will add to and not subtract from the understanding of the one nation by the other.

"Let me declare without any possibility of misunderstanding the British government will welcome the co-operation of the government of the United States in dealing with the problems of the East and the West and that so far as trade is concerned it stands today by its old policy of fair trade and equal opportunity."

PREUS INCREASES HIS LEAD OVER SHIPSTEAD

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Returns from 2,957 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give for governor: Preus, 381,891; Hodgson, 75,665; Shipstead, 255,184. This is an increased plurality for Preus and his lead over Shipstead now is 129,407.

Stearns county complete (51 precincts) for president: Harding, 13,566; Cox, 1,676; W. W. Cox, 108; Debs, 320; Watkins, 106. This completes Stearns county returns.

O. J. Larson, Republican candidate for congress in the Eighth district, had a majority of 965 votes over Congressman W. L. Carss, Democrat, when 349 precincts out of 391 in the district had reported at noon today. The vote then stood: Larson, 30,817; Carss, 29,882.

JAPANESE TO PROTEST CALIFORNIA ACTION

Tokio, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—When confirmation has been received that the people of California have voted in favor of the proposed land law in that state, Japan will lodge a protest in Washington, pointing out the measure conflicts with Japanese treaty rights, according to the Yeruzu Choho, an independent organ, which quotes a foreign office official to this effect.

The Hochi Shimbun reports that M. Shidehara, Japanese ambassador in Washington, and Secretary of State Colby have reached an agreement by which Japan will stop immigration to the United States, in return for which America will accord Japanese now in America the same treatment as other foreigners.

Marquis Okuma, former premier, interviewed by the Koruzu Choho, declares that "only thoughtless people have talked of war between Japan and America over California."

If Japan fights with arguments of dignity and impartiality, he is quoted as saying, "Americans will act justly."

OPERATORS EXPECTED TO REPLY TO MINERS

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—The reply of the coal operators to the demands of the anthracite mine workers for changes in the award of the presidential commission was expected to be made here today at a meeting with representatives of the miners. At a conference with the operators here on Oct. 26, at which a reopening of the award was required, the mine workers' representatives presented their demands, which, they claimed, would eliminate alleged inequalities in the present agreement. They included a wage increase equal to the 27 per cent recently granted the bituminous miners, with a minimum day rate of $6 and an eight-hour day.

Under the anthracite commission's award the hard coal men were given an average increase of 17 per cent, with a minimum day rate of $4.20.

SENATOR BECKHAM LOSES IN KENTUCKY

New York, Nov. 5.—The last contest of Tuesday's election for United States senator—that of Kentucky—was decided late last night and resulted in the election of Richard P. Ernst, the Republican candidate, over Senator Beckham, Democrat.

CONGRESSWOMAN-ELECT WILL SERVE CHICKEN IN HONOR OF HER ELECTION

MISS ALICE ROBERTSON OF OKLAHOMA, ONLY FEMALE ELECTED TO HOUSE, IS FARMER AND CAFETERIA OWNER

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 5.—Miss Alice Robertson, farmer-cafeteria owner, and the only congresswoman-elect in the United States, sat in her little restaurant here last night planning the menu for the noon-day meal.

"I think I should celebrate my own election by preparing some extra fruit salad and fried chicken," she said, as she wrote out the bill of fare on her typewriter. Then she turned again to politics and shook hands with many who came to congratulate her on her victory over Congressman W. W. Hastings, Democrat, who has represented the Second congressional district since 1914.

"Miss Alice," known over the state as one of the most picturesque characters in Oklahoma, made the race for congress despite the fact that she was opposed to and worked actively against the woman suffrage amendment.

Thrust Vote Upon Them.

"The men have thrust the vote on us, now I'm going to see if they mean it," she said when she announced her candidacy for congress.

"I guess they did," she continued, when the figures telling of her election were brought to her.

"Miss Alice's" campaign here was similar to President-elect Harding's but instead of being conducted on her "front porch," it was conducted in her cafeteria.

Whenever a man or woman came into her cafeteria to eat, she sat down at the table and "talked it over."

She also ran "ads" in the daily papers proclaiming the day's menu, giving Biblical quotations and advancing political arguments. The "ads" rivaled even the news columns for the interest they attracted.

PRESIDENT WILSON PLACES WARSHIP AT HARDING'S DISPOSAL

Washington, Nov. 5.—By the Associated Press.) — President Wilson today directed Secretary Daniels to place a battleship at the disposal of President-elect Harding for his contemplated visit to the Panama canal zone.

The president also instructed Mr. Daniels to offer Mr. Harding the use of the presidential yacht Mayflower to convey him and his party to Hampton Roads to go aboard the battleship.

CLOSE RACE ON CONGRESSMAN

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 5.—National interest in the North Dakota election today centered in the contest for congressman in the Second district. George M. Young of Valley City, candidate for re-election, is in a close race with Ole Olson of New Rockford, present returns favoring Young. With 649 precincts out of 739 reported, Young's vote is 30,261 against 28,912 for Olson.

The vote in the remaining ninety precincts which have not reported is scattered throughout the district and is liberally estimated at 3,850. Complete returns are not expected in this contest until late today.

Announcements by Sveinbjorn Johnson, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, made yesterday, admit the election of Dr. E. F. Ladd to the United States senate, J. H. Sinclair's victory in the Third congressional district and a victory for Harding by a much larger majority than that which will elect Governor Frazier.

Defeat of Baer Indicated.

The defeat of J. H. Baer, Nonpartisan candidate for re-election in the First congressional district, is indicated on the face of present returns. O. B. Burtness is leading Baer by 3,888 votes.

Although definite figures have not been established on the state ticket outside of governor, the Nonpartisan league expects to elect their several candidates with possibly one or two exceptions. The race between Miss Minnie Nielson and Miss Ruth Johnson for state superintendent of instruction is particularly close, as is the contest for secretary of state between Hall and Alfson. Hall is showing a tendency to run ahead of the head of his ticket.

The fate of the five initiated laws will not be determined until the official ballot is returned.

The several contests for seats in the legislature is causing great local interest. Both independents and Nonpartisans claim control of legislature by slight margins.

Election of Frazier Conceded.

Sveinbjorn Johnson chairman of the state Democratic central committee, conceded the election of Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Republican, indorsed by the Nonpartisan league, over J. F. T. O'Connor, Democratic candidate for governor, on the face of almost complete returns.

In his announcement Mr. Johnson said:

"On the face of present returns, which are complete with the exception of precincts in the western part of the state which undoubtedly will give majorities to Mr. Frazier, it is quite clear that Mr. Frazier has been elected.

"Speaking for the independent voters of the state I feel we have won a considerable victory in the probable control of both branches of the legislature and also in the election of several state offices. Present returns indicate the election of Thomas Hall as secretary of state; John Steen as state treasurer, Miss Minnie Neilson as superintendent of public instruction.

"Although returns on the initiated laws are not complete, indications point to a victory for the independent voters. The laws are of such a nature that a far-reaching effect will be obtained with their passage."

WOMEN ASK FOR BETTER PROTECTION

Public Safety Department Scored and Changes Are Urged.

Women's Council Sets Forth Compiaints in Resolution to Commission.

The public safety department and Commissioner W. F. Murnian received severe criticism at the hands of the Women's Council at its meeting this morning at the Duluth public library. The council in a resolution to Mayor T. W. Hugo and the city commissioners, demands that immediate action be taken to provide better safety conditions in the city.

Members of the Women's Council, which constitutes two women from each women's organization in the city, are asked to report back to their organization and have each member of that respective organization confer with their husbands relative to the question of who would make a good commissioner of public safety. This step is taken as indicating that a recall may be initiated providing that a change of commissioner of public safety is not decided on by the city council as a whole.

Grievances Set Forth.

The resolution, which the women indorsed unanimously, follows:

"The Woman's Council regards with concern the lax enforcement of law in our city. When burglary and bootlegging are common, when even the vault of the police department is robbed, when lynching takes place under the eyes of the safety commissioner, when citizens are obliged to organize a vigilance committee to protect their homes and families, it seems time for the most representative women's societies to ask you, sirs, the organized government of the city, if there is no help for these conditions.

"What is any government for, if not to protect life and property and preserve order; to whom can we look for relief but to our city commissioners—elected for these purposes?

"We ask you seriously to consider this, our protest and appeal."

Petition for Council.

The resolution will be presented to the city commisson at the earliest date after it has been indorsed by the Eighth District League of Women Voters, by the Republican and the Democratic Women's clubs of Duluth and by such other women's organizations as are interested in the safeguarding of civil rights within the city limits.

Women of the council agreed unanimously that some stand must be taken relative to the matters referred to in their resolution and declared they will not stop until something definite has been accomplished to assure the people of the city the protection rights which the council feels are theirs.

WOLVERINES ELECT WOMAN AS SHERIFF

Roscommon, Mich., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Jane Johnson, 65 years old, mother of three children and sheriff-elect of Roscommon county, today outlined the platform on which she will go into office next January.

"I can land a bad man, or a bad woman myself, if necessary," she said, "but as a matter of precaution I will appoint my husband deputy. In the intervals between searching for and caring for prisoners I will look after my children—two girls and a boy—and the domestic duties in the county jail."

Mrs. Johnson added that in case it should become necessary for her to arrest a bad man, he will know someone has been after him."

The sheriff-elect gained her experience from her husband, who has been sheriff for the past six years, and whom she married forty years ago.

THREE INDICTED IN BUILDING PROBE

New York, Nov. 5.—Bench warrants were issued today for the arrest of at least three persons indicted by the grand jury investigating the alleged building trust here. Names of those indicted were not made public.

While the first indictments in connection with the investigation were being returned to Judge Mulqueen in general sessions, the joint legislative committee quizzing witnesses in city hall regarding the "trust" was being informed that the whole limestone trade of the United States "was in the grip" of the National Association of Stonecutters.

This testimony was given out by Henry Hanlein, cut stone contractor, who admitted a code of practice existed after by-laws of the association were read to him. He admitted also that this code requires that all members of the national association and allied locals to submit copies of their bids to the recording secretary "to preclude cut-throat competition."

BEGINS PROBE OF ELECTION FRAUDS

New York, Nov. 5.—District Attorney Edward Swann today began formal investigation of alleged election frauds. As a result of the finding of twenty-six marked ballots yesterday in sewers of the Thirteenth election district of the Fourth assembly district, Mr. Swann summoned election officials of that district to be questioned.

Meanwhile street cleaners of that and other districts were directed to search sewers and other places for missing ballots.

Investigation of alleged fraud in Harlem also was begun. It was reported that in some districts more ballots were returned than there were registered voters. Other alleged irregularities also were reported.

SEND PHYSICIANS TO UNALASKA ISLAND

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Two coast guard vessels carrying physicians and medical supplies were en route today to the little community of Unalaska on the island of that name in the Aleutian group off the Alaska peninsula, where, according to wireless advices to W. T. Lopp, chief of the Alaska division of the United States bureau of education, a serious epidemic of smallpox has appeared.

Bisbee Cases Dismissed.

Tombstone, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Judge Samuel L. Pattee yesterday dismissed the cases against all of the remaining defendants held in connection with the Bisbee deportation of all "agitators" among the copper miners. The action was taken on motion of County Attorney F. N. French.

HARDING HAS TOTAL OF 404 ELECTORAL VOTES

Republicans Will Have the Greatest Majority in House Ever Held.

New York, Nov. 5.—With the size of President-Elect Harding's electoral vote virtually settled at 404 out of a possible 531, and the complexion of the new senate set down as fifty-nine Republicans and thirty-seven Democrats, Republican leaders today awaited belated returns on three contests in three states to fix the exact size of the Republican house majority.

Exclusive of the seven undetermined seats in the lower house the Republicans have 289 members to 141 Democrats and two of other designations, a plurality of 150—the greatest ever held by any party in the house. The nearest approach to it was in the Fifty-second congress, when the Democrats had a lead of 148.

Republicans appeared to be assured of more than an even break on the three outstanding seats which would give them a record party margin in the house.

The seats still in doubt were the Fourth Maryland district, Fifth Missouri and First North Dakota.

Possible Democratic Upset.

A further possible Democratic upset appeared possible in the Fourth Tennessee district, where W. F. Clouse, Republican, was reported to have forged slightly ahead of Cordell Hull, earlier reported elected.

The senate majority was settled late last night when belated returns from the mountain regions of Kentucky gave the Republican candidate, Richard P. Ernst, victory over Senator Beckham, Democrat.

Montana's four electoral voters fell definitely into the Harding column when returns from 1,227 precincts out of the total 1,489 gave the Republican candidate a lead of 44,530. With North Dakota's five electoral votes counted last night when Democratic leaders admitted they had given up hope of carrying the state, the addition of Montana brought the Harding total up to the 404 mark.

Yesterday's count in Oklahoma assured the nation's new women voters one representative in the lower house—Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, a farmer and restaurant owner. Miss Robertson was an anti-suffragist prior to the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment and made the congressional race "to see if the men meant it" when they "thrust the vote on us."

Big Majority in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 5.—Additional returns showed that Senator Harding carried Wyoming by the largest majority in history on presidential elections in the state. Representative Frank W. Mondell, Republican floor leader in the house, received the largest majority ever accorded any candidate in the state on the face of returns.

Idaho Strong for G. O. P.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 5.—Late returns made doubly sure the election of a complete Republican ticket. Not one Democrat was elected to state office and none of the state candidates indorsed by the Nonpartisan league were successful. The majority of Frank R. Gooding over Senator John F. Nugent had passed 10,000, although breaks for Nugent in some counties had the effect of checking the Gooding increase.

Big Pluralities for Harding.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 5.—The election of Judge William Williamson of Oacoma, Republican, in the Third congressional district completes the overwhelming Republican victory in South Dakota. Every county so far reported has shown a plurality of 500 to 1,500 for Harding. In case the remaining counties show like results, he shall have carried South Dakota by more than 60,000, a figure which establishes a record here.

A feature of the election was the surprising strength shown by Nonpartisan league candidates, who ran far ahead of their Democratic opponents in many instances. One Democrat, candidate for a county office in Yankton county, is the only candidate got a

Candidate McOuat Says Nonparty Offered $50,000 to Democratic Fund.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After the polls closed Tuesday, R. A. McOuat, well-known attorney of this village, who ran for attorney general on the Democratic ticket, made public the astounding statement that in the heat of the late campaign he had been approached by Townley representatives who told him that if he would retire from the race in favor of Thomas Sullivan, Nonpartisan league candidate, the Nonpartisan league would pay $50,000 into the Democratic national committee fund and he would be given the position of assistant attorney general, with the privilege of naming every alternate assistant. He said he declined the offer, but did agree to retire in favor of some well-known Democratic lawyer who could defeat both Hilton and Sullivan. At the suggestion of party leaders Mr. McOuat said he did not make the matter public before election, as it might alienate support from worthy candidates, and that in case Sullivan was elected a contest might be instituted. With the closing of the polls he felt it was his duty to make the matter public.

McOuat's Statement.

Mr. McOuat's statement, in part, follows: "I was called to St. Paul on Oct. 1 for the express purpose of talking over the question of my withdrawal in favor of Mr. Sullivan in consideration of immediately receiving for the Democratic national committee $50,000 and support from all Nonpartisan league newspapers. My personal reward was to be, in the event of Mr. Sullivan's election, an appointment as his chief assistant, with the privilege of naming each alternate assistant. I rejected the proposition, but agreed to withdraw in favor of some prominent Democratic lawyer who could defeat both Sullivan and Hilton. I was assured that the Democratic party was united on my candidacy, and when I desired to issue a statement was told that it was not, in the judgment of party leaders, advisable to do so at this time. If Mr. Sullivan's friends have correctly represented him, then he has disqualified himself from being the next attorney general even if he received a majority vote. I have so much confidence in their representations made to me that proceedings will be instituted to disqualify him regardless of his vote.

"This matter was not published prior to election for the reason that it might alienate support from deserving candidates. By making it before the returns are completed, it cannot be said that I made it to injure a successful candidate. I can truthfully say that I have never met Sullivan unless it was casually at some time prior to 1918. I met Mr. Hilton on several occasions and have had some official correspondence with him, but nothing during the present campaign except his official campaign literature which I received as a member of the bar. I entered the fight for the attorney general's office solely at the request of the state Democratic central committee largely as a matter of party duty. My whole campaign has been conducted along partisan lines and for the purpose of stimulating interest in the Democratic party, and very naturally I have endeavored to win the election without regard to a campaign made by either of my opponents.

Has Nothing Personal.

"I have nothing personal against either Mr. Sullivan or Mr. Hilton. I am not trying to save the state of Minnesota from Socialism or from the Republican party if the voters desire either one, but it is important to the state of Minnesota to prevent anyone from holding the office of attorney general who is willing to pay $50,000 for the office, to throw the support of several publications to any candidate, to promise the appointment of several assistants to an opposing candidate in consideration of his withdrawal. If I am elected to the office of attorney general I will lay the matter before the proper authorities for immediate action. If Mr. Hilton is elected I will lay the facts before him, and if Mr. Sullivan is elected, contest proceedings will be commenced in the proper court. I hope I have made it clear that I have not talked directly with Mr. Sullivan, but I am confident that the men who submitted the proposition to me would not have done so unless upon the authority of Mr. Sullivan himself."

WITHDRAWS TO CRIMEA

Gen. Wrangel Successfully Removes Troops Before Soviet Advance.

Sebastopol, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik government of South Russia, has successfully withdrawn his troops to Crimea before the advance of soviet armies south of the Dnieper river. He is master of Perekop and also Salkova.

At Salkova, Gen. Wrangel has captured thousands of men belonging to the units of Gen. Budenny's cavalry. The spirit of his troops is good but they are worn out by their long fight, which has lasted for five weeks, and are glad to be assured of a rest in Crimea.

Soviet forces are besieging the anti-Bolshevik trench system on the narrow neck of land leading from the Crimean peninsula to the mainland, but it is asserted only 10,000 of Gen. Wrangel's troops will be required to hold Perekop and Salkova.

Laconic Message From General.

Constantinople, Nov. 4.—Gen. Baron Wrangel, whose forces have been driven back into the Crimean peninsula from Russia proper by Bolshevik armies, has broken a silence of four days with a characteristically laconic message to Baroness Wrangel. His telegram said: "We are fighting hard, in full hope."

The baroness, who has spent many sleepless nights since the Bolshevik offensive began, said today:

"All I want is the truth; no matter how bad it is, I can stand it."

THIRTEEN PRECINCTS STILL MISSING IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY; NO CHANGES EXPECTED

With thirteen precincts in St. Louis still missing, a total compilation of the vote here cannot yet be given, and it is likely that it will not now be available before the canvassing board makes its official tally. This will be a few days yet.

The precincts which have reported since yesterday have made no particular change in results and it is not expected that the thirteen still to be heard from will matter much on the outcome of the election, for no reversal is possible from the vote cast in any or all of them. MASTER PLUMBERS OPPOSE ORDINANCE

The plumbers ordinance, which was introduced at the last meeting of the city council by Commissioner J. A. Farrell, is meeting with considerable opposition from the master plumbers, according to reports received at the city hall this morning. Whether this opposition will become active at the next council meeting and a delegation of master plumbers appear to voice their protests, has not been intimated, although Commissioner Farrell believes this will happen.

The proposed ordinance provides for all plumbers to be licensed after passing an examination as to their qualifications and that no plumbing shall have the approval of the city inspector unless the work has been done by a licensed plumber.

At the time such an ordinance was proposed, the council appointed a committee of three, who with another committee of three were to draw up the ordinance. The city council appointed Commissioner J. A. Farrell, City Attorney John E. Samuelson and Charles Richards, city plumbing inspector. One master plumber and one journeyman plumber were appointed to represent the craft.

The ordinance, which was drawn up as a result of the conference, was submitted to the council last Monday and will have its first reading at the meeting Monday, it was announced today.

REAR ADMIRAL BEATTY GUEST OF DULUTHIANS

Now retired and enjoying civilian life to the full, Rear Admiral F. E. Beatty of Washington, D. C., and Mantorville, Minn., accompanied by Mrs. Beatty, is in the city, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Martin, 1222 East Second street. Mrs. Martin is their niece. They have been here for some days and will remain a few days longer. This is not their first visit to Duluth and they are quite well known here.

Admiral Beatty was born in Wisconsin, near Milwaukee, but when still an infant, was brought by his parents to Minnesota. They settled at Mantorville, where his father conducted a large farm, a property which the family still holds. The admiral's mother resides in St. Paul at present, and at several mileposts more than 90 is still of keen intellect although feeble physically. The admiral has been on a visit to her and will return there from Duluth.

He was appointed to the Annapolis naval academy in 1871 by Congressman Mark H. Dunnell of Owatonna, and since that distant time has served in all parts of the world and has had many thrilling experiences. His reminiscences of the early days in the navy are most entertaining and, in many instances, amusing. During the tour of the fleet of the globe some years ago, when Admiral "Bob" Evans commanded it around the Horn and as far up the Pacific coast as San Francisco, Admiral Beatty made the trip around the Horn, and at San Francisco was made a captain and was given command of the battleship Wisconsin, which command he retained during the rest of the trip. He was retired as rear admiral in 1915, but during the war was recalled to active service, commanding the district from Wilmington, N. C., to Jacksonville, Fla., with headquarters at Charleston, S. C.

SHORTAGE OF COAL ACUTE

Heavy Movement on Lakes Needed; Big Falling Off for Season.

A heavy movement of coal to the Head of the Lakes docks between now and the close of the lake navigation season will be necessary to take care of the requirements of the Northwest over the winter, according to the report of Lieut.-Col. Pope, engineer in charge of the United States engineers' office.

Receipts for the season to Oct. 31 were reported at 7,007,977 tons, as compared with 8,138,696 tons in 1919, and 9,859,738 tons up to the same period in 1918. Soft coal receipts were 5,683,776 tons, a decrease of 1,083,623 under the 1919 receipts. Hard coal receipts aggregated 1,324,199 tons, a falling off of 47,096 tons, as compared with the amount up to the same period last year.

What Is Needed.

To equal the number of tons of soft coal received during 1919, there will have to be received 1,396,062 tons during the balance of the season, or an average of 46,535 tons per day to Nov. 30, next.

To equal the number of tons of hard coal received during 1919, there will have to be received 471,058 tons during the balance of the season, or an average of 15,702 tons per day to Nov. 30.

GERMANY AND BULGARIA WOULD ENTER LEAGUE

Paris, Nov. 5.—Application for membership in the League of Nations will be made at the meeting of the assembly of the league in Geneva this month on behalf not only of Germany, but of Austria, according to information here. Bulgaria, it is learned, will make a direct application.

Premier Stambuliaski of Bulgaria, who is paying political visits to European capitals, will stop at Geneva to support Bulgaria's claim personally.

It is understood the applications for Germany and Austria will both be made by neutrals.

Underwear Only Clew.

New York, Nov. 5.—A piece of silk underwear discovered near the body of Leeds Vaughn Waters, 49 years old, wealthy son of the late Horace Waters, piano manufacturer, who was found murdered in a hotel room here yesterday, is the only clew police have with which to solve the murder mystery. The underwear bore the initials of "W. H. A." and detectives here traced it to a laundry in Fifty-ninth street, where it was recently cleaned.

CARSS THANKS HIS SUPPORTERS; WIRES LARSON FELICITATIONS

Admitting defeat, but happy in the realization that the support given him stands out with few, if any, equals in the face of the Republican landslide, Congressman William L. Carss today issued a statement of gratitude to his supporters, and wired, from Proctor, his congratulations to his successful opponent, Oscar J. Larson, congressman-elect.

"I wish to express my sincere thanks," said Mr. Carss, in his statement, "to the thousands of men and women who have so loyally supported me and the principles for which I stand, during the campaign just ended, and I assure all the people of the district that, regardless of the result of this election, I will deem it a great privilege and pleasure to serve them in any manner possible during the remainder of my term of office."

To Mr. Larson, who is out of the city today, Congressman Carss wired:

"I congratulate you on your election and hope your experience in congress will be as pleasant as mine has been."

IN MINNESOTA TO STUDY FORESTRY

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—"Forestry is the right hand of scouting. Minnesota foresters are to be congratulated on the fact that they are the first foresters outside of New York to recognize the great recreational field for forestry."

This was the comment made by Warren B. Bullock, director of forest extension at the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse, when he arrived for a two days' study of the methods being used in Minnesota, and to attend the scout conference at the Minnesota Educational convention.

"Foresters in New York," he said, "take the position that forestry should help make the nation's forests available for the sportsman, the camper, the tourist, the hunter, but most of all for the youth of the nation, as exemplified in the scout movement, and Minnesota's wonderful lake region offers a wonderful future for such work.

"Minnesota and New York almost simultaneously have been giving courses to train scout leaders in the lore of the out of doors. Minnesota university's short course at Itasca park last summer is a Western development of the same vision which led Teachers' college of Columbia university, the New York State College of Forestry and the Palisades Interstate Park commission to unite in a course for camp directors at the great Palisades park last year.

"As a result New York is deeply interested in the Minnesota work, and wishes to adopt for the East any ideas which we have not already adopted for our camp leaders' courses there."

WATER WORKS MEN OF STATE TO MEET

The Minnesota section of the American Water Works association will meet tomorrow at the Duluth Commercial club. The session will be called to order in the assembly rooms at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. This is the first meeting of the association in Duluth and will be not only for the members, but for engineers, the medical profession and citizens in general. Anyone interested in water supplies and water supply plants is invited.

There will be a morning session which will open at 10 o'clock and the afternoon will be devoted to a sightseeing trip throughout the city. In the evening there will be papers and discussions relative to water works matters in general. The Duluth water works plant will be discussed and especially the quality of water which is being furnished at the present time, and reports of bacteriologists and others who have made careful examinations will be made.

The medical profession is especially invited to attend the evening session and discuss this feature. The Minnesota section meets bi-annually, the national organization having its convention generally in June of each year.

Graham, who was sentenced in the supreme court earlier in the day to imprisonment for five to eight years for embezzlement of state funds while he was state auditor.

The governor in granting the pardon said:

"On account of the distinguished service of Mr. Graham to the state of Vermont and the suffering which he has endured, I feel that he has been punished enough and I have issued him a full pardon."

KEWPIES 49

Regularly .98

Tomorrow—just to make it all the more interesting to talk with the Dollies—the Kewpies will do the honors. They haven't any regular fuzzy hair, they haven't. The hair is painted right on them so it will never come out—no matter if they live to be a thousand years old.

You Know—Everybody Knows

It Takes Good Feet to Keep Ahead

The mind cannot pay attention to two things at once. A foot that pains you is jealous of attention. You can do nothing else efficiently while it aches.

For this reason many Duluth women have been glad to consult Dr. H. E. Cartwright this week. Feet are his specialty.

Tomorrow will be his last day in the Shoe Department. His advice is free, and it will pay you to follow it.

leaguers like Root or Taft. To be sure, most of the folks surrounding Harding from whom he has been taking advice are antileaguers and "bitter-enders." They make no secret of the fact that the overwhelming election returns are calmly pointed to by them as a vindication of the "irreconcilable" viewpoint. Senator Harding, however, has always insisted that his political opponents purposely misconstrued his position as one of opposition to any league or association whatsoever.

Perhaps this was because neither Senator Borah nor Senator Johnson, leaders of the irreconcilable group, spent much time arguing which kind of a league they would favor but condemning the present league. The Republican platform in Chicago, accepted by Borah and Johnson, favors "an international agreement" to accomplish the same general objects which the Democrats have claimed is the purpose of the Wilson Covenant. But more specifically than the Republican platform, the Harding policy is reflected in the following text of the famous round robin sent originally by the Republicans in the senate as a warning to President Wilson in the midst of the peace negotiations:

Text of the Round Robin.

"Whereas, a committee of the peace conference has proposed a constitution for a League of Nations and the proposal is now before the peace conference for its consideration, now therefore,

"Be it resolved by the senate of the United States in the discharge of its constitutional duty of advice in regard to treaties, that it is the sense of the senate that while it is their desire that the nations of the world should unite to promote peace and general disarmament, the constitution of the League of Nations in the form now proposed to the peace conference should not be accepted by the United States and,

"Be it resolved further, that it is the sense of the senate that the negotiations on the part of the United States should be directed to the utmost expedition of the urgent business of negotiating peace terms satisfactory to the United States and the nations associated in the war against the German government and the proposal for a league of nations to insure the permanent peace of the world should then be taken up for careful and serious consideration."

It is the last paragraph favoring "a league of nations to insure permanent peace" and the preceding paragraph expressing a desire "that the nations of the world should unite to promote peace and general disarmament," which affords President-elect Harding his promise for a new foreign policy. Senators Borah and Johnson cannot go back on their signatures to that document. They are committed to a general alliance or association or whatever name it may be called.

Treaty With Germany.

Unquestionably it will be President-elect Harding's purpose to negotiate a treaty with Germany covering the main points in the Versailles treaty which relate especially to the United States. As for the formation of a league of nations, it is genuinely hoped by the president-elect that the good in the present Covenant may be retained and that the bad, as he sees it, shall be removed by the common consent of all the nations now members of the league. Senator Harding particularly objects to Article X and Article XI and the clauses relating to international labor, as well as sundry other articles involving the use of economic blockade. Senator McCormick and others declare confidently that the European nations will gladly scrap the present league and agree to a revision and redrafting of the whole business.

Now, in considering this league question it is well to bear in mind, first, that the president-elect has an idea Europe is less interested in the present league than in America's co-operation in some kind of a world organization, and that just as Woodrow Wilson may have influenced the formation of the kind of a league he believed America wanted, so another American president has the moral power to put through his particular kind of program.

Some Kind of League.

Just what the League of Nations will look like when the negotiations between the next administration and the European powers are concluded is difficult to say. Some "irreconcilables" will be satisfied if they can eliminate Article X, which Mr. Wilson called the "heart of the Covenant." With that article gone and other articles substituted, they may be ready to call it "a new association" or "the Harding league" and push for ratification. The one thing certain thus far is that President-elect Harding considers himself committed to some kind of a league or association of nations. Beyond that no one can go, except to say that it is pretty well assured and understood in Marion that Elihu Root will not be the dominant figure in the next administration which public opinion around the world has been so ready to predict that he would be.

Republican who is known to have been elected anywhere in the state.

Returns from forty-two counties show that all amendments to the state Constitution and the two referred laws have carried.

Republican Majority Grows.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 5.—The Republican majority on president in Montana had grown to 44,530 votes. Harding on returns from 1,227 precincts out of the 1,482 in the state, had 95,257 votes and Cox had 50,727.

J. M. Dixon, Republican candidate for governor, had a lead of 34,333 over Wheeler, Democratic opponent.

In the First congressional district returns from 430 precincts out of 471 gave W. J. McCormick 37,377 votes and Burton Watson, Democrat, 27,307. In the Second district Carl Riddick, Republican incumbent, had 55,403 votes in 800 out of 1,011 precincts, and M. McCusker, Democrat, had 30,664.

Ashbrook Apparently Re-elected.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 5.—The only indicated change in results of Tuesday's election, was the apparent re-election of William A. Ashbrook, veteran Democratic congressman in the Seventeenth district.

Having conceded the election of D. M. Morgan, his Republican opponent, Ashbrook was claiming his own election by ten votes on complete unofficial returns. It will take the official count to decide the race.

Should Ashbrook finally win, he will be the only Democrat among Ohio's twenty-two representatives in the new congress.

wood counties, defeated his league opponent, B. C. Stahn of Brown county, 3,665 to 2,391.

F. A. Scherf, league member from Red Wing, has been defeated by W. C. Risse, a former soldier.

In Waseca county Representative George N. Goodspeed was re-elected over Andrew Ghrke, 3,128 to 1,411.

Parker Wins in First.

In the First district, composed of Houston and Fillmore counties, Former Speaker Ralph J. Parker, running at large, defeated his league opponent, Thomas Duxbury, 7,049 to 3,626. The seat from Houston county was contested by C. J. Swenson and L. L. Duxbury, both anti-leaguers, 2,499; Duxbury, 2,479.

In Fillmore county John A. Johnson and G. J. McMaster both are anti-leaguers.

In Lincoln county, Representative C. M. Gislason, leaguer, is reported as re-elected by the narrow margin of 1,780 votes to 1,610 for Walter W. Panneck, his anti-league opponent.

Candidates for Speaker.

Incidentally the election of representatives has let loose several prospective candidates for speaker. Oscar Swenson of Nicollet county, who has been an entry in the speakership race once or twice before, may try again this winter. Friends of C. M. Bendixen of Redwood county say he probably will be in the race again, and so will C. H. Warner of Aitkin, if he is returned, as he probably will be. W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, present speaker of the house, and W. I. Norton, also of Minneapolis, Nolan's campaign manager and his floor manager afterward two years ago, may enter the race. These are only a few of those who are said to contemplate entering.

AUTO THIEVES ORGANIZED

Many Cadillacs Stolen in This State; Police Report for Month.

An organized band of automobile thieves who are seeking Cadillac cars, is believed to have been working in Minnesota during the month of October, according to reports received from the police. Three cars of that make were stolen in Duluth in the last two weeks and double that number in the Twin Cities. None of these cars have been recovered.

The cars stolen in Duluth were those belonging to S. L. Yonce, which was taken on Oct. 23; W. A. Newcomb of the Spalding hotel, taken Oct. 28, and J. W. Miller, proprietor of Miller's cafeteria, which was taken from in front of the restaurant, 314 West Superior street, on Nov. 3.

Thirty-four cars were stolen during the month of October in this city, according to the monthly report prepared by Sergeant Oscar Olson of the police department. Of this number thirty were recovered within the month and two of the missing cars have been recovered since then. One of the cars recovered since Oct. 31 was a Hupmobile belonging to R. W. Grassi, city engineer of Eveleth, which was stolen from in front of the postoffice on Oct. 30. This car was located in Milwaukee, Wis., according to telegraphic advices received last night by the local police. Mr. Grassi arrived in Duluth this morning and will leave this evening for Milwaukee to get his car.

Sergeant Olson's report shows that during the month of October property to the value of $54,239.25 was lost or stolen in the city. The police recovered property to the value of $37,607. Since Jan. 1, the amount of property stolen or lost amounts to $189,314.76 of which the police have recovered $122,579.32.

There were forty-two petty thefts, seventy-eight grand larcenies and twelve burglaries reported. The city did not have a single holdup during the month. To date for this year there have been 295 petty thefts reported, 130 grand larcenies and eighteen burglaries of which the police have been given reports. The police recovered this year $5,135 worth of property for outside cities.

CITY TO RUSH NEW BUILDING

Work on Proposed Utilities Structure Will Begin at Once.

Ground is to be broken for the new public utilities building at 418 and 420 West First street within a day or two, according to the plans of the contractor. Material is being assembled and piled on the courthouse square for the concrete shells, and when once begun the work will be pushed with all possible speed. Contract for the construction of the building calls for its completion by May 1, 1921.

The building will be of concrete construction with four stories and a full basement. It will have every facility for handling all business connected with the water and light department of the city as well as room for the machine shop and the blacksmith shop, which are to be located in the basement with an entrance from the alley. The structure will be designed to accommodate the state laboratory and will make unnecessary a number of other locations which are now in use in different parts of the city, owing to lack of room in the present quarters.

IRONWOOD CHILDREN ALL BEING EXAMINED

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of isolating diphtheria germs among school children of Ironwood has been started by Dr. C. W. Olson, city health physician, and Miss Ora Mills, state bacteriologist, who will be here for about two weeks to assist the health officer in the campaign.

It is estimated there are 4,000 school children to examine and the work will be finished in two weeks. The first 250 children were examined at the Norrie school yesterday, where one diphtheria germ was found. A bigger percentage of the germs will be discovered, it is anticipated, when the examination of all children has been completed.

SUPPORT URGED FOR CENTRAL ELEVEN AT SATURDAY GAME

Central high school had the best football chapel meeting of the semester yesterday, Principal Leonard Young being the first speaker, told of football games of the past and urged the student body to be at the game tomorrow as the team needed their support.

Mr. Carey, Miss Isabella Hicken and Capt. "Billy" Anderson spoke to the students. Their speeches showed spirit and "pep," which was based mainly on the Superior game for Saturday.

The orchestra played a selection and received much applause. Two school songs were introduced by Mr. Bergwald, music director. The chapel period ended with yells for the school and the team.

The second regular meeting of the Duluth Central high school agriculture club was held yesterday. E. P. Gibson, county agricultural agent, and a former Central teacher, spoke about the activities of the old agricultural clubs and told many interesting things about agriculture.

Meetings will be held the first and third Tuesdays of each month in the Agriculture room. Mr. Mason, who is at the head of the agricultural work at Central, says that a strenuous membership campaign for the club will be put on soon.

DULUTH BOY RECEIVES LETTER FROM PRESIDENT

Bernard Silberstein Leads State in Sales of War Savings Stamps During 1918 Campaign.

A personal letter of congratulation was received from President Wilson today by Bernard Silberstein, aged 15, for making the highest record in Minnesota for sales of War Savings Stamps during the campaign of 1918.

Fifty-three boys, each a winner of a state or territory of the United States, have received such letters. Bernard's sales totaled $10,882. His nearest competitor in Duluth totaled $1,034.

Bernard is at present a junior in Central high school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Silberstein, 2323 East Third street.

Four Boy Scouts of the states in the Ninth Federal reserve district will receive letters of congratulation signed by Woodrow Wilson for sales of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps during the 1918 campaign, when the Boy Scouts of America sold more than $45,000,000 worth of these securities. The other Northwest boys to receive these letters from President Wilson are Ellis Dutton, Butte, Mont.; Gordon Reeder, Wahpeton, N. D., and Clarence Moran, Armour, S. D.

President's Letter.

President Wilson's letter, which was sent to fifty-three Boy Scouts of the states, territories and possessions of the United States, reads:

"My dear young friend: It gives me pleasure to tell you of my deep appreciation of the intelligent and conscientious manner in which you, as a member of the Boy Scouts of America, have secured subscriptions for Thrift and War Savings Stamps. You have won the distinction of having secured more such subscriptions during the 1918 War Savings campaign than any other scout in your state.

"You have exercised courage, courtesy, thought and untiring efforts and in so doing have set an example for all boys—an example that will surely aid in the growth of valuable qualities of mind and heart.

"I thank you in the name of the whole country and I wish to convey to your parents, your community and your Boy Scout organization my appreciation of the training that has developed in you such a fine spirit of wholesome and loyal citizenship. Cordially and sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

In extending his congratulations to the Boy Scouts, E. C. Kibbee, director of the government savings organization, says:

Kibbee's Congratulations.

"I am greatly pleased to be able to tell you that President Wilson today signed personal letters of congratulation and commendation to fifty-three Boy Scouts scattered throughout the states, territories and possessions of the United States. These letters were addressed to scouts who made the best record in the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps in their various states during the 1918 savings campaign.

"The president has never forgotten his agreement with the boys of America to give personal recognition for their services, and the letters are being sent at the earliest possible moment his duties and health would permit.

"The Boy Scouts of America can well be proud of the contribution in service that was made in the sale of savings stamps during 1918, and I am sure that the persons who purchased stamps appreciate the value of their investment and are glad that they had an opportunity to serve their government and to enjoy the satisfaction which comes to everyone who has taken steps to promote his own prosperity.

"On behalf of the savings division of the Ninth Federal reserve district I congratulate you upon the record you have made and wish to add our appreciation of the continued co-operation being extended by the Boy Scout organization in making permanent habits of personal thrift and investment which resulted from the systematic purchase of government savings stamps."

FIRST GERMAN VESSEL SINCE 1914 AT NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 5.—The first merchant ship flying the German flag to come here since July, 1914, arrived yesterday, marking the resumption of trade with Germany under the flag of that country. It was the Sophie Rikmers.

The Sophie Rikmers was retained by the Germans under armistice regulations which permitted Germany to keep vessels under construction and not 50 per cent completed when the war ended. The ship will take cargo here for the return voyage. Her crew and captain are Germans.

There is great variety in the embroideries from Czecho-Slovakia. A dominant note is the black and white embroideries which may be according to the original Moravian dress from which they are taken, either black on white or white on black.

We now see the influence of the picturesque dress of these countries in both tailored suits and dresses. These ideas are carried out clearly and definitely, so that there is no mistaking the source from which they come. So distinctive are they that they would be completely spoiled if combined with any other motif. This idea is emphasized in colorings as well as embroideries. Its influence appears in the use of bright red as a trimming on dark suits. Plentiful use is made, too, of the white and black embroideries of the Moravian and the brilliant red, white and black geometrical patterns of the southern Slavic people.

PRESENT DAY WRITERS TRIVIAL, STARTLING

John Cowper Powys Says Modern Work Is Transitory; Chicago, Not Boston, Center of American Letters and Art.

If there were in the audience at the First Methodist church last night who heard John Cowper Powys, M. A. celebrated lecturer and author, those who did not altogether agree with him in his choice of masters of the art of expression whether in American, English or French literature, it will be safe to say that not one dissenting voice will be raised in saying that he is without question the most individual, interesting and stimulating lecturer on literature and arts that it has been the privilege of Duluthians to listen to. Dr. Powys' lecture is the first in a series of three to be given under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

"The greatest literature," declared the speaker, "is that which springs from the depths of the master impulses of human nature, and this is the style of writing that will endure down through the ages."

Dr. Powys' philosophy is distinctively his own. Style, generally conceded to be the hope and despair of the average writer, received but little consideration from this compelling and thought-provoking speaker.

The audience chortled when Dr Powys challenged that Boston is slumbering on in Elizabethian atmosphere, and that Chicago is at present the center of American letters and art. It is from this center that Theodore Dreiser, a native of Indians, sprang and whose work is rated highest among American authors of present day, according to the speaker.

Laurels went to Thomas Hardy as the master of the art of making English literature, and in the Latin countries Gabriel d'Annunzio of Italy and Anatole France were regarded as the men of letters who will endure as have Shakespears, Browning and Tennyson.

The geratest criticism of the writers of the young school, whether in America or Europe, according to Dr. Powys, lies in the fact that they do not take things seriously, and devote their time and talent to discussions of marriage—whether trial, the real lasting brand, or any of the other standards—eugenics, hygenics, economics and other subjects of like nature, which are not conducive to producing works of durability in the field of literature.

One might conclude from the vigorous going over of present day methods of writing as summed up by the celebrated lecturer, that the three fundamental and underlying principles of all present day writers is:

First—Never discuss anything of importance.

Second—Be mildly startling.

Third—Be naive at all costs.

Dr. Noble S. Elderkin, recently arrived pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church, presented Dr. Powys.

CRASSWELLER TELLS OF BOARD'S FUNCTION

Members Should Learn Needs of Schools and Pupils, Declares Speaker.

That the public school system functions alike to the intellectual, physical and moral development of the youths intrusted to its care, and that the principal purpose of the board of education of city schools is to come in contact with and to know the need of the schools and children in the several districts and to direct its energy in bringing about such measures as are best adapted to the needs, was the theme of a talk made by Frank Crassweller, president of the board of education of the city schools, when he addressed members of the Federated Parents-Teachers' association at the library clubrooms yesterday afternoon.

The point stressed by the speaker was the fact that through the opportunity rooms, open air rooms, sight saving classes, vocational training and other classes designed to give particular help to special groups of students, the school system is qualified for a place in the first ranks of progressive organization or society. He urged the parents and others interested in school management to visit the schools and familiarize themselves with the work being done.

Announcement was made that a survey is under way in the city to determine the school population at the present time. It is hoped this will be a strong factor in determining the approximate school population in the five years' period subsequent to this. In districts where the need is greatest for additional school room portable schools have been supplied and equipped. An appropriation is under consideration for the erection of an annex or enlargement of the present buildings as seems wisest to the board.

Meetings

Aitkin Nursing Classes Formed

Aitkin, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—More than sixty Aitkin women have enrolled in the Red Cross classes in home nursing and care of the sick to start here Monday in the basement of the Congregational church with Mrs. Dorothy L. Steinke, a Red Cross nurse from Minneapolis, as instructor.

Mrs. Steinke has been engaged in this work in the county for several weeks and has instructed classes at Hill City, Lawler, Palisade and McGregor, and at every place the courses have been met with enthusiasm. At Palisade one woman living ten miles in the country drove in with a team four times a week and never missed one of the fifteen lessons.

WOMAN'S COUNCIL HEARS REPORTS AND INTERESTING ADDRESSES AND IDEAS

Committee members for the several departments were named and reports from several committees were heard, with interesting talks by Mrs. J. L. Washburn and Judge R. M. Funck, at the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's council, held at the library clubrooms this morning, presided over by Mrs. Alfred Jaques, recently elected president of the council. Mrs. Jaques will serve for three months, to be succeeded during the year by Mesdames C. F. Colman, F. J. O'Donnell and J. L. Washburn, to serve in the order given for terms of three months each.

Those who will serve on the several committees of the council in the ensuing year are:

Correctional Institutions—Chairman, Mrs. Fred Sermon, and Mrs. F. C. Colman.

Child Welfare—Chairman, Mrs. D. J. McLennan; Mrs. M. L. Hirschfield, Mrs. E. R. Landon, Mrs. Victor Gran.

Education—Chairman, Mrs. C. E Spring, and Mrs. J. A. Keyes.

Billboards—Chairman, Mrs. Frank Bloomenfield, and Mrs. W. H. McCarter.

Membership—Chairman, Mrs. Harriet Carey, Mrs. C. R. Keyes and Mrs. Alice Warren.

Better Films—Mrs. L. A. Larsen.

Legislation—Chairman, Mrs. Myra Germand; Miss Ella Roe and Mrs. H. H Phelps.

Sanitation—Chairman, Mrs. O. W. Rowe; Mrs. M. R. Baldwin.

Child Welfare Reports.

In her report of the department of child welfare, Mrs. D. J. McLennan, chairman, emphasized the growing demand for the school lunch. At the Salter and Stowe schools the council has been called upon for the necessary equipment to maintain the school lunch counter. Members of the Mothers' clubs or other societies in the neighborhood of the schools named, will attend to the serving and other details. In Central high school girls of the Zenith board will attend to the serving of hot chocolate, the equipment to be furnished by the council.

Mrs. Fred Sermon, chairman of the committee on correctional institutions, laid special stress on the very urgent need of something other than the present system of committing women under arrest to the county jail, illustrating the point with observations drawn from her visits to persons committed to that institution. She advocated a cottage system where groups of women or girls can be committed and where the evil influences from persons charged with crime, but who are from the different walks of life, will not be permitted the association of others of different standing.

In his brief talk Judge R. M. Funck commented similarly to Mrs. Sermon, and declared that the cottage plan is the most comprehensive and without the shadow of a doubt the best plan of caring for groups of persons committed to the state for care.

As committee member on the board for the state school for delinquent girls at Sauk Center, Mrs. J. L. Washburn reported that, as a result of her recent visit to that institution she is perfectly satisfied that this organization is doing a big work in caring for unfortunate girls and young women, and that aside for the big social service it is doing for the country, it is performing another very needed duty, in that it gives occupation to inmates in which they receive remuneration for services, thereby putting them upon their own resources, making each responsible for her own upkeep and care, and further that it develops a stronger and better character in those whose home training has not been equal to that necessary in making the best kinds of girls.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

CAN TWO WOMEN RUN A HOME TOGETHER?

"I wish you would write your views upon the subject of whether or not two women can run a home together and both be entirely satisfied with the arrangement," writes a reader of this column. "I am trying to make a big decision in my life—trying to make up my mind to take a little cottage jointly with a sister-in-law who, like me, has been left alone in the world. I like her extremely—but would I continue to like her if we did our housekeeping together, day in and day out? I know so many cases of conflicting tastes and an unconscious struggle for authority where two women are doing their housework together—such cases are all about us, we see them every day. It makes one fear to take a step like this. What would you do? It would be a financial convenience to us both and that is our main reason for considering it. Neither one of us can afford a home on her individual income."

This is an age-old problem. It is one of those questions which must be answered by that aggravating retort, "Yes and no." For the answer to it depends wholly upon the individuals concerned. Hardly two cases can be found that are exactly similar.

Any woman who has ever tried to run a house with another woman—no matter how dear that other woman is to her, no matter how close the relation—knows this, that because no two human minds think quite alike, there must be at least a little friction; that all the fun goes out of a task when one has to do a thing another person's way; and, thirdly, that it wounds one's pride just the least mite to have to change one's own way of doing things and "knuckle under" to another person's.

So if the reader-friend who wrote the above letter hoped that I would reply optimistically and say that the step she is contemplating would be all sunshine and no shadow, I fear she will be disappointed when she reads this. Yet perhaps the remainder of my chat may give her heart. For I have said all I am going to say against the arrangement. The rest is going to be—for the arrangement! That is, for the arrangement when financial conditions make it necessary for two women to "join forces" in order to have a home.

The saddest word in the English language is "homeless." And in order to have a home a woman should be willing to put up with a few minor unpleasantnesses. I believe that when two women enter into a joint home agreement they should say frankly to each other: "Yes, we know there may be little battles of will. It is quite possible that one or the other will have to give in over many questions. But let us try to be as fair as possible and take turns in giving in. And we'll consider our little periods of friction a part of the price we must pay for our home!"

Only by facing the facts squarely and calling spades spades, can two women run a home together and yet remain friends. There must be concessions on both sides. And these things must be talked out and decided upon—not locked up in the heart, to glimmer through in vengeful looks and chilly silences.

But "a little bird has told me" that there are women who are big enough of soul and religious enough and human and kindly enough to get along without any friction at all, in the joint running of their home. And do you know, I am wondering if all women couldn't become like this if they wanted to?

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turns. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

AT THE THEATERS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Victor Moore-Emma Littlefield and company; other acts.
NEW GRAND—Quaker Village Follies; other features.

NEW GRAND—Manager Chester Sutton of the New Grand has a vaudeville and picture bill that is bound to be popular at that playhouse during the week-end. Pretty girls, tuneful music and wholesome comedy in proportions make up the program and the large audiences of yesterday were well pleased.

"The Quaker Village Follies" is a musical comedy offering with much to please and entertain. Girls are not so numerous as in a Winter Garden show but those in the act are pretty and talented and add much to the brightness of the revue. There is something doing every minute and the fun comes fast and furious. It is a good act.

Whether it is John McCormick, Chauncey Olcott or any other Irish tenor, a Celtic singer always pleases. There is a breeziness, lilt and blarney that cheers and warms the heart. So it is with Eugene Emmett, the Irish minstrel. He adds a touch to the bill that brings joy.

Paul and Pauline entertain on the rings and do many original stunts that one does not see every day. Fun is combined with athletics and the whole turn is amusing and clever.

Chic and Tiny Harvey have a surprise, which cannot be divulged, but it can be said that the surprise is worth waiting for.

The picture bill is up to the usual standard with another episode of "Hidden Dangers," cartoons, news and clever comedy.

ORPHEUM—Francis Yates and Gus Reed in "Double Crossing" accomplish a bit of deceit, but you like them all the more for it. The deceit is—well, wait and find out for yourself for there is a genuine surprise which would be spoiled if it were told.

Francis Yates has specialized in petticoats for some time. In appearance he makes an exceedingly attractive woman, but he does not wear the attire for this purpose. It is only to enhance the comedy of the act for he is in reality a travesty impersonator. He and Mr. Reed make "Double Crossing" sixteen minutes of lively entertainment. Both men have good voices and both men have a splendid idea of comedy. The little act is perfectly constructed and runs with absolute smoothness.

PHOTOPLAYS

NEW GARRICK—Pauline Frederick in "Madame X."
STRAND—"Humoresque," with Alma Rubens.
ZELDA—Shirley Mason in "Merely Mary Ann."
NEW LYRIC—Emma Dunn in "Old Lady 31."

STRAND—Gaston Glass, who plays the leading role in "Humoresque," at the Strand theater this week, has the distinction of being the godson of Sarah Berndardt. Glass was born in Paris and made his debut on the French stage at the age of 5. Later he was engaged by Mme. Bernhardt for her repertoire comedy and appeared with the distinguished tragedienne in "Cleopatra," "Camille" and "Jeanne d'Arc." In this capacity Glass first visited America and remained in this country upon the conclusion of the Bernhardt company's tour.

During the war Glass was an aviator with the famous Guynemer French flying circus, was wounded, and received several decorations for gallantry. He returned to his adopted country and upon the advice of John Emerson, the producer, embarked upon a motion picture career, one of his first engagements being opposite Marguerite Clark.

In "Humoresque," Glass has the role of the hero, a Ghetto lad who becomes a genius of the violin. Alma Rubens is the leading woman and Vera Gordon and Dore Davidson are also in the cast.

ZELDA—Shirley Mason leaves town tonight. "Merely Mary Ann," her latest and best picture, closes its run at the Zelda theater after this evening's performance. It is a Fox production based upon Israel Zangwill's popular novel and stage play. Large audiences have been the rule during the engagement. Nothing pretier and daintier has been seen here this season than Miss Mason in the role of Mary Ann, the little "maid-of-all-work." This new Fox star has become a great popular favorite. She is supported by an exceptional cast, with Casson Ferguson as leading man. Coming tomorrow will be Alice Joyce in "The Vice of Fools."

Queen of Song Coming.

Tetrazzini is an artist by the grace of God. It is hard to refrain from the use of superlatives in reviewing her work. The Music News of Chicago paid Tetrazzini the following compliments:

"Mme. Tetrazzini appeared for her first number in the Caro Nome from 'Rigoletto' and again, as at the concert a few weeks ago, immediately captured the affections and the judgment of her audience. She is absolutely unaffected as to vocal method, singing as freely and easily as a bird, and in her readings she displayed an unfailing good taste which endears her to the critically inclined no less than to the more emotional of her hearers. She is sui generis, and Chicago hopes for many other opportunities to hear her lovely art."

Special Treat for Sousa.

Louis H. Christie, who played in Sousa's band nine years, will have his Morgan Park boys' band at the luncheon and will give the march king a musical treat. Mr. Christie has provided a quartet arrangements for "Let the Rest of the World Go By," which will be played by four of his boys. The band will escort Sousa to the Armory after the luncheon.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

A TERRIBLE FIGHT.

When Tinker Bob had seen the action of Mr. Rat and Mr. Loggerhead, he was ready to return to the palace, for he knew that Jerry the Jay would soon be back to tell, and also that Maj. Pole Cat would soon arrive. Said he to Red Fox, whose hair had been standing straight up ever since he had climbed into the magic basket, "Now, you can go your way and I will return to the palace. But if you hear anything, be sure to come and tell me at once, for I will want to know."

It was a great relief to Red Fox to know that he didn't have to ride again in the wonderful basket, for he was frightened almost to death. He ran away at once so that the king would not have a chance to change his mind. Then Tinker Bob tapped the stone of knowledge and the beautiful creature of his desire was at his side at once, and he was off again.

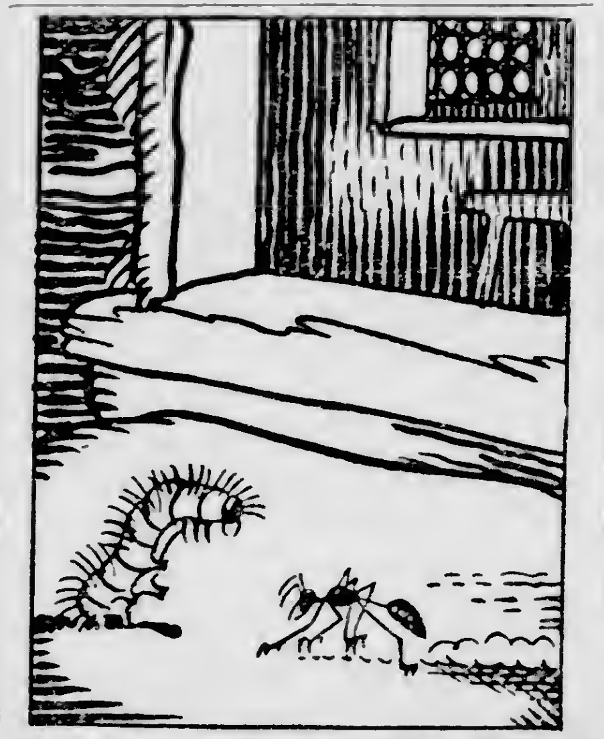
Tinker Bob examined the basket more carefully this time than ever before. He was thinking about how he and Lady Duck were going to take the trip to the Southland. The thought came to him that there was no cover over the basket and if it started to storm they would get wet and cold. So said he to the creature: "What if it rains on our journey to the land of the South? What can we do?"

The beautiful creature smiled, and said: "Don't worry about such little things as that, for we will travel between raindrops and if they come too fast we will go ahead of them so they cannot catch us."

Tinker Bob could not understand how it would be possible to do such a thing as that, but he knew also that it was not wise to question this wonderful creature too closely. "I am so glad we will not get wet," said he.

Suddenly they came upon the scene of a terrible fight and it was at the doorstep of the king's palace. Tinker Bob climbed from the basket in a great hurry, thinking that someone was being hurt. But when he saw that it was a very even match he stood by and watched.

It seems that Mr. Red Ant was trying to keep Mr. Caterpillar from climbing the king's steps. You see, Tinker Bob had given all caterpillars permission to build their winter home on the side of his palace. And red ant was jealous.



He Rushed at Mr. Caterpillar With All His Force.

He rushed at Mr. Caterpillar with all his force. Then Mr. Caterpillar, raising on his hind feet, would swing his body with all the strength he possessed, and send red ant rolling. But back red ant came again and again, till Mr. Caterpillar became very angry. So he waited till red ant came very close and then with all his force he swung his body and sent Mr. Ant off the steps and sprawling on the ground. And when he came to, he couldn't find his way back. And Mr. Caterpillar went on his way rejoicing.

BURNS TO DEATH IN LONELY HOME

Gilbert, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Fred Barret, deputy county coroner, expects to conduct an inquest today into the death of Otto Lindholm, aged 42, bachelor, who burned to death in his cabin on a clearing about two and half miles south of here yesterday morning.

Lindholm, who was well known here having worked at various occupations about town, had been in the employ of Otto Mann clearing land the past three months and lived alone in a cabin near his work. Much smoke was seen by neighbors in the vicinity of the cabin about 8 a. m. and later in the day a neighbor investigated, his suspicions that the place might have been burned being verified. In the ruins of the shack the body badly burned, the hands and feet being gone, was found. As far as known there is no suspicion of foul play the shack having apparently caught fire while he was preparing his morning meal. It is possible he may have been seized with a fainting spell during the excitement of trying to quench the fire, fallen to the floor and perished. Nothing is known about his relatives.

NEW SOUTH HIBBING SCHOOL GETTING ON

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Completion of all concrete work on the new Cobb-Cook grade school building in the Ansley addition, South Hibbing, is announced by Henry Watne, contractor, and all construction work and the installation of all plumbing, heating and electrical fixtures will be completed by next spring. The building will be occupied at the opening of the fall semester of school in September, 1921.

Concrete slabs were poured during the last few weeks in order to complete this work before freezing weather. All of the stairs of the building are of concrete and the entire building is fireproof.

Interior work will continue during the winter, according to Mr. Watne.

The Cobb-Cook school, a twelve-room building, is being constructed at an approximate cost of $350,000. The contract for installation of plumbing and heating is in the hands of the A. C. Schirmer company and all electrical work is being done by the Coyne Electric company.

Work on the South Agnew dry house being constructed by Henry Watne for the Interstate Iron company at the South Agnew mine is almost completed. The building is stuccoed and has concrete flooring and tiling. It will be the most modern and sanitary dry house on the range. Individual showers and baths for mine workers will be afforded. Cost of construction of the building is estimated at $30,000.

VIRGINIANS OFF FOR GAME WITH BEMIDJI

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school team left today for Bemidji to meet the Bemidji high school eleven tomorrow. On account of the distance, it was necessary to leave earlier than usual. This is the first out-of-town game of the season and is expected to be hard-fought from start to finish.

Warning against overconfidence was expressed in Coach A. K. Jackson's talk at the meeting. Coach Jackson stated that his team will not have a walkaway and recalled the recent defeat of Detroit by Bemidji by the score of 72 to 0.

Frank Kishel of the team and Alice Feldt of the faculty were also speakers. The junior high school sang a new football song.

HIBBING LIBRARY ROOMS POPULAR

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is stated that so far this year the public rooms of the public library have been patronized by 72,152 people, including, of course, the numerous public gatherings held therein, being used as a meeting place by a majority of the church, business, educational and a large share of the social organizations of the village. During the year 1920 meetings have been held in these rooms, and they are in constant demand, almost daily one or more meetings being held here.

A schedule of the time for meetings is kept by the library staff and requests for use have to be made beforehand. The largest number of people attending meetings held here was reported during the first week of September, when several thousand persons visited a large exhibit of canvasses by American artists. Ten pictures were purchased from this exhibit.

As a large number of the organization who hold their meetings in the library serve refreshments, and as the equipment of necessary tables, linen, dishes and silverware were inadequate this year, 200 more have been added this year.

These social rooms are used for meetings of range organizations as well as local.

HIBBING SERVICE MEN TO VIRGINIA AFFAIR

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many Hibbing soldiers will attend the Armistice day celebration in Virginia local civic organizations having taken no steps to properly observe the day. Many will go over to see the Virginia-Hibbing football game and attend the barbecue. The Soldiers and Sailors' club is arranging a box match for the night of Nov. 11 at the Armory and if that materializes, a large crowd will attend.

Cobb-Williams post is notified that furniture owned by the village and stored in the city hall will be available for the post clubrooms.

The village hall clubrooms will be ready within a few weeks. Painters have completed their work and the furniture can be moved in.

POLICE WOMAN IS URGED FOR HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—As soon as Mayor Power can return from Duluth where he is engaged in legal business, the village council will meet and dispose of the request of local women that a police woman be appointed for this village, Virginia and Chisholm already having such officer.

Women advocating the appointment stress the number of runaway girls coming to the range as one reason why a police woman with experience is necessary to keep young girls from falling into bad company.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Luster at Once.

Common garden sage, brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.

PARTLY CLOUDY; TEMPERATURE UNCHANGED

PARTLY CLOUDY

Coal users owe a debt of gratitude to the weatherman, if he is responsible for the moderate weather so far this fall. Temperatures around 32 deg. at this time of the year are a blessing to the consumer and a bugbear to the coal dealer, but the consumer doesn't kick. This morning the sun rose at 6:57 o'clock and will set at 4:46 o'clock tonight, giving nine hours and forty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in East Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon and Nevada. Temperatures have risen over most of the Southern states. Rain or snow fell during Thursday or last night in East Canada, the Lake Superior region, Upper Alberta and West Oregon. The barometer is low over extreme East Canada and South Utah, and high over the Lower Ohio valley and North Pacific districts. The highest wind velocity at Duluth Thursday was at the rate of forty-two miles per hour from the west at 10:45 a. m.

General Forecasts.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength.) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial."—Advertisement.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan of Peabody, Kan., one of the most prominent stock dealers in the Middle West.

"It has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awfully run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to see me."

Tanlac is sold in Duluth at the W. A. Abbett drug stores under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also the leading druggist in every town throughout the Northwest. Wm. Isaacson, Gowan; Geo. W. Swanson, Culver; Floodwood Merc. Co., Floodwood; Wilfrid Longtin, Grand Lake, P. O. Saginaw; Fairbanks Store Co., Fairbanks; George Lestic store, McKinley.—Advertisement.

LABOR GAINS IN CONGRESS

Gompers Declares Fifty Hostile Representatives Are Defeated.

Washington, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today in his first statement on the outcome of Tuesday's election that "every forward looking man and woman must feel some deep regret because of the great plunge towards reaction."

"But Democracy will right itself at the proper time," said Mr. Gompers, "and meanwhile the actual tabulation of results in congress, the law making body, shows a definite and specific gain for all that makes for progress and responds to the needs of our time."

He asserted that every man in the house whose "record of service was perfect has been re-elected" and added that the new congress would show an increased number of men who hold union cards."

Policy Justified.

The nonpartisan political policy of the labor federation, Mr. Gompers continued, "is more completely justified than ever and the futility of separate party action more convincingly demonstrated."

Referring to the congressional elections, Mr. Gompers said incomplete checking already "showed that fifty congressmen who were inconsiderate and hostile have been defeated."

"This is one of the most impressive features of the entire election," said he. "Fifty time servers have been beaten.

"Against these fifty the working people have elected from fifty-five to sixty men whose records show fair and considerate service.

"This represents a clear gain for integrity in government."

Mr. Gompers claimed the election to congress of at least fifteen union men and said it was probable that the final counting would show "more than twenty, possibly twenty-five."

Will Serve as Reminder.

"The nonpartisan campaign of the American Federation of Labor," he continued, "was primarily and most effectively a campaign in congressional districts. Its results were gained in the primaries and in the election. These results will serve as a constant reminder to all servants of special privilege and the ever present and always impressive fact will be before the new congress that fifty of the unfaithful and the hostile were defeated by the organized workers of our republic.

"A notable American has said: 'I would rather be right than be president.' To be engaged in a righteous cause to fight for freedom, justice, for peace and human brotherhood, is of greater concern to the human family than is a passing success. The labor movement of America recognized the tremendous struggle of the masses of people in all history to obtain the right, and the setbacks they have often had to endure and the sacrifices we have had to make, decade by decade, cycle by cycle, in the march and the trend of the cause of freedom of America, forward, onward and upward.

"Shortly the news of the men who have been fair and just and who have been re-elected and those who have been unfair and antagonistic and defeated will be published by the American Federation of Labor."

BOLD HOLDUP ENDS SUPERIOR POKER PARTY

Diamonds and watches valued at thousands of dollars and about $2,500 in cash was the haul made by two unmasked bandits who held up and robbed about thirty-five men who are said to have been playing the great American game of poker in the Abrahams pool room, Tower avenue and Broadway, Superior. The robbery took place shortly before midnight and it was a half hour later before a policeman who was standing on the corner, not thirty-five feet from the entrance to the place, it was said, was notified that a hold-up had taken place.

The two men, one holding one .45 caliber Colt and the other holding two guns, entered the back room of the pool hall and demanded of every one present to throw up their hands. The order was obeyed and the victims were told to face the wall. The men were searched twice, first for cash and then for other valuables. After getting everything of value, the men were told to stand that way and not move. It was fully fifteen minutes before any of the victims mustered up courage enough to get out of the room and report the hold up. The police were given a description of the men but so far the police have got no trace of the bandits.

SPOONER'S POO BAH HAS QUIT TO DO LOGGING

Spooner, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anton Netland, who has been village marshal, chief of the fire department, street commissioner and holding down other jobs for the village, resigned this week to devote the winter to logging operations.

At the meeting of the fire department on Monday evening his resignation was accepted and George Ericson recommended to the council for the appointment as chief.

Takes Baudette Bay Soundings.

Spooner, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. F. Duggan of the United States engineering department spent a day here, taking soundings of Beaudette bay. He was the engineer in charge of the dredging work which was done by the government at the mouth of the Baudette river, and took the soundings to learn if the channel dredged is serving its purpose. It was found that everything was in good shape. While here, he put in an automatic gauge to measure the water levels at that place.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

GRAND JURY MAY REPORT SATURDAY

The St. Louis county grand jury, which has been in session since Wednesday noon, is still at work with prospects of finishing up by tomorrow morning or, at the latest, tomorrow evening. Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, who is in charge of the jury, said this morning that he was reasonably certain that the jury would be able to make its final report by tomorrow evening if not earlier in the day.

"Grand jury wages of $3 a day does not appeal to the average man in these days of high costs and I notice that several of the members of the present jury are becoming more and more anxious each day they serve," said Mr. Forbes this morning. "One man on the jury is losing $17.50 every day he is serving the county. I have been expecting some of these high-salaried jurors to develop serious cases of nerves. Time was when a grand jury job at $3 a day was really worth while. Those days are gone."

MAIL FOR EAST WILL LEAVE HALF HOUR EARLIER ON SUNDAY

Mails for Chicago and Eastern points will have to get into the Duluth postoffice earlier after next Sunday. This is made necessary by a change in the schedule of the Chicago train of the Omaha railroad, which now leaves Duluth at 6:05 p. m., but which on Sunday will change to a leaving time of 5:35 p. m.

Mails to make connection with this train, which is the last to leave for Chicago, will have to reach the postoffice by 4:50 p. m. Mail for this train has been received up to this time as late as 5:15 p. m.

SUES AUTO OWNER FOR PERSONAL DAMAGES

James H. McPhail, a local mechanical draftsman, has begun a personal injury action in district court against Russell G. Briggs in which he seeks to recover $20,000.

McPhail states in his complaint that Briggs, recklessly driving an automobile, drove onto the aerial bridge and struck another car with sufficient force to send it against his leg, crushing the latter against one of the automatic posts on the bridge and injuring it so seriously that amputation was necessary.

McPhail asks for actual damages of $18,000, special damages of $450 for the loss of wages and $1,600 for physician fees and hospital care.

BRITAIN EXPECTED TO RECOGNIZE MEXICO

London, Nov. 5.—British recognition of Mexico is expected to follow recognition by the United States, according to Miguel Covarrubias, former Mexican minister at London, and now in England on a mission for his government. Senor Covarrubias takes the view that the statement by Secretary of State Colby on the Mexican question and the legalizing by the Mexican congress last week of Gen. Obregon's election to the presidency are leading up to full recognition of Mexico by the United States and Great Britain. Senor Covarrubias is planning to reopen the Mexican legation here, which has been closed since 1915.

ARNSTEIN ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Washington, Nov. 5.—Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein entered a plea of "not guilty" when arraigned today before Justice Gould of the District of Columbia supreme court on an indictment charging him and others with conspiring to bring stolen securities into the district from New York. Arnstein reserved the right to withdraw his plea within a week and to make such other motions as he might decide upon.

David Sullivan and Wilen W. Easterday, Washington brokers indicted with Arnstein, were arraigned and also entered pleas of "not guilty."

HARDING'S PLURALITY IN ILLINOIS 793,827

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Senator Harding's plurality over Cox for president with 308 precincts still out in the entire state today had increased to 793,827.

Len Small's plurality over Lewis for governor has passed the 460,000 mark. In the senatorial race William B. McKinley was leading Peter A. Waller by 662,395.

MARSHALL THROUGH TALKING POLITICS

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 5.—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall would make no comment here today on the suggestion of William Jennings Bryan that President Wilson resign immediately.

"I am through talking politics, for a while at least," he said.

CAN YOU AFFORD IT?

Key System News announces the result of an exhaustive study of the cost of operating automobiles in the East Bay cities of California. Carefully kept records of over 300 cars showed the following average:

Present cost per mile for maintenance and operation of an automobile, 7.1 cents.

This does not include anything for overhead, depreciation or replacing the automobile when it is worn out.

At that rate, if you live in Woodland, Lester Park or West Duluth, it costs you about 70 cents per round trip downtown in your automobile. Going by street car would save you 60 cents per trip.

By using the street cars to and from town on week days, if you make only one trip a day, you can save $3.60 each week to add to what you can afford to spend on week-end pleasure trips with your automobile.

GOVERNMENT CLOSES CASE

Liquor Trial in U. S. Court Certain to Be Prolonged.

With its net of evidence against eleven conspirators in, the government rested today in its prosecution of the liquor conspiracy case in United States court.

Forty-three witnesses to be called by the defense insure the continuance of the trial through the middle of next week, so Judge Page Morris today ordered a postponement of the Fergus Falls term of court from next Tuesday until Friday, Nov. 12.

Each witness called by United States Attorney Alfred Jaques has only added corroborative details to the story of Fred Longfield, taxidriver, who turned state's evidence. The government's case rests largely on the lengthy confession of Longfield.

On the stand this morning James Field, another taxidriver for the White Taxicab company, told of meeting Longfield and Henry Hill, one of the defendants, coming from the range with a cab full of whisky. Longfield gave him a drink. Then John B. Clark and Joseph Teddy, two other of the defendants, drove up in another car, the witness testified. He did not know the contents of the latter car.

Alleged Threat Made.

Several weeks later Clark and Teddy again drove up the Vermilion road, where Field was now working for the county.

"You don't know me, do you?" Clark demanded, according to the witness.

"Certainly, I do," Field responded.

"No, you don't. I'm a Duluth lawyer, and you never saw me before. Longfield has confessed. The best then for you is to keep your mouth shut," was Clark's answer as related on the stand.

Field then came to Duluth in August and voluntarily told what he knew to Harris Bennett, collector of customs, and C. W. Salter, special agent of the treasury department.

Albert Julin, vice president of the White Taxicab company, corroborated Longfield's story of having telephoned from Eveleth for a taxicab to haul whisky. Julin sent the cab with Adam Warner, a driver. He testified that the company had been paid $50 for the trip, but he did not know who paid the money.

Warren E. Greene, county attorney; Ljubo Bogicevich, Duluth lawyer, and Eli Ratkovich testified to having been at Ratkovich's house when Chief of Police John Murphy, Deputy Marshal Bradley, both defendants here, are alleged to have driven past with a load of liquor. They were afraid to turn in and store the whisky until Greene and Ratkovich had gone, it was previously testified.

Six Overt Acts.

The prosecution case, as completed, charges the commission of six overt acts as follows:

April 25—Longfield, Bradley and Murphy went up together to obtain liquor at Eveleth. The latter two went home first and Longfield later came to Duluth with thirteen cases obtained from Mitchell.

May 1—Longfield and Hill obtained nineteen cases from Mitchell and twelve cases from other parties.

May 9—Bradley, Murphy, Longfield and Earl R. Eckard, police department mechanic, proceeded to Eveleth for whisky, but failed to obtain any.

May—16—Longfield and Joseph R. Teddy obtained twenty-four cases from Mitchell at Eveleth.

Other defendants involved are William Cahill, proprietor of the Park hotel at Eveleth, who is alleged to have arranged for the purchase of the liquor; Buck McKay, who is said to have transported it from Virginia to Eveleth; and John Clayton and Joseph Trudell, railway employes, who are charged with having aided in smuggling it from Canada.

Attorney Angers Court.

Cross-examination of Longfield this morning by Attorney Victor L. Power angered Judge Morris. The court charged the attorney with unnecessary repetition and with endeavoring to put words in the mouth of the witness that the latter had never uttered.

"I take exception to the court's remarks," Mr. Power retorted.

"In all my experience on the bench I have never seen such methods of cross-examination. Take exception to that, why don't you?"

"I do take exception to that and to the court's suggestion that this cross-examination is improper."

"I'd say it's improper."

"I take exception to that, too."

How both John B. Clark and William Cahill were involved in the title of an automobile purchased by Longfield was described by three witnesses yesterday afternoon. Russell O. Mills, salesman of the Johnson Motor & Tire company, told of having sold the car to Longfield, who said he intended to use it as a taxicab. Charles H. Johnson of the same company identified records of the sale. Deputy Register of Deeds S. L. Pierce testified that the records in his office show the automobile had been placed in the name of Cahill and that it had later been transferred to Clark. Longfield testified on the stand that Clark had paid $1,300 cash on the purchase price of $1,800. He asserted the car was to be used only to haul whisky from Eveleth.

William W. Wells, cashier of the First National bank, produced records showing amounts of checks written by Clark during April and May. One of the checks was for $400 which Longfield claimed was the amount Clark had given him in order to "start business." Other checks were for $1,350, $1,300, $1,920, $1,500, $3,000 and $1,000.

John F. McKenna, local manager of the Northwestern Telephone company, produced records showing calls made by Clark from range towns to Duluth. E. B. Ryan, Jr., claim agent of the Oliver Iron Mining company, testified that Clark had been on the range as many as three times a week in his capacity as claim agent for the Oliver Iron Mining company. He was unable to recognize signatures alleged to have been made by Clark. L. E. Johnson, cashier of an Eveleth bank, testified that he had cashed checks alleged to have been exchanged in the whisky deals.

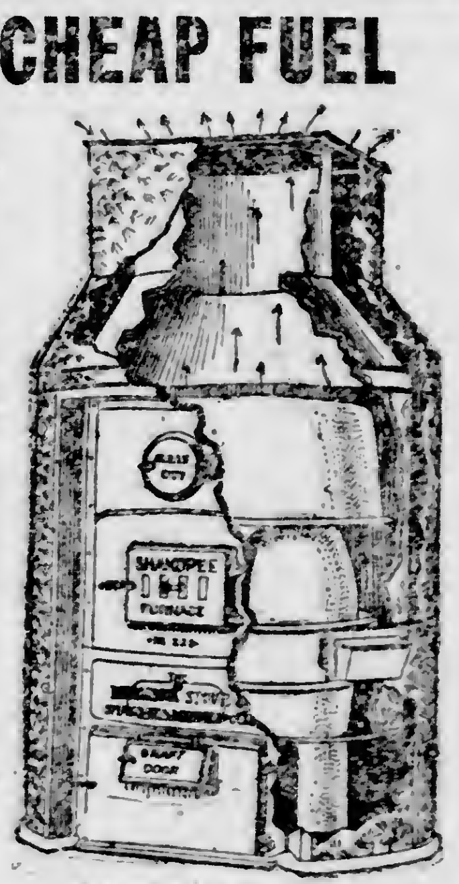
WARM ROOMS—COOL CELLARS—CHEAP FUEL



WARM ROOMS The Shakopee Pipeless Furnace forces moist, warm air into the farthest corner of every room in a one or two-story home and at the same time draws the cold air from the same corner back to the furnace register through doorways, transoms, open staircases or ceiling registers. Heated air expands and rises. Cold air contracts and descends. These are the never-failing laws of gravitation. The circulation is perfect. There should not be more than two or three degrees difference of temperature in a home that is heated the "Shakopee" way.

COOL CELLARS The total absence of hot-air pipes in the cellar and the triple lining which separates the firepot from the outer casing gives you a cool cellar that many need for storage purposes. Remember, also, if you please, that it costs just as much to heat a cellar as any other room of equal size. Sliding doors are furnished at the base of the furnace so that warm air may be let into the cellar if so desired.

CHEAP FUEL Hard or soft coal, coke or wood may be satisfactorily used as fuel in the "Shakopee." Hard coal is very high-priced. BURN SOFT COAL. That's the solution. Six tons of soft coal will produce as much heat as five tons of hard coal. The cash saving on that amount is about $25.00. Think this over. And the furnace, installed in your home, costs but a little more than a good base burner.

GET PROMISES; COAL COMES SOON, MAYBE

The second mass meeting of citizens of West Duluth to discuss the fuel situation will be held this evening at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms. According to members of the committee appointed Monday evening at the special meeting at which a committee was appointed to push an investigation of the coal supply, a speedy settlement of the situation is expected.

Fuel dealers of West Duluth said this morning that so far they had received no coal but had promises. One stated that the companies announced that cars for West Duluth dealers were now being loaded on the local docks and would reach the dealers not later than Monday. One of the dealers said he had been promised 100 tons delivery and another 200 tons, but had unfilled orders for several times that amount.

W. H. Groverman, chairman of the Northwest Dock Operators' association, announced last night that the coal supply situation would be adjusted by shipments direct from the docks to the dealers. He gave this information to the committee of five representing the West Duluth residents who held the Monday night protest meeting.

The committee will make its report this evening. An open meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club will be held to which every interested citizen of West Duluth is invited to attend.

Dealers claim that unless there is speedy action on the part of the coal dock companies to load coal on cars for West Duluth dealers many residents in that end of the city will go without coal during the greater part of winter. Only for the exceptional mild weather conditions, the dealers say, there would be suffering now.

TWO SOCIETIES TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Norden lodge, No. 20, Swedish-Finnish Benevolent society, and the Ljustralen lodge, No. 37, Swedish-Finnish Temperance association, will meet tomorrow night at the West Duluth Cocmercial club rooms to form one big organization from the two lodges. The union of these two lodges will be in conformance with the decision of the joint national conventions of the two orders at Waukegan, Ill., last summer. The new association will be known as the Order of Runeberg in honor of Sweden's greatest poet.

The program will include talks by Rev. A. Schugren, pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church; G. G. Frost, former officer of the temperance association, who will give a history of that society since its organization in 1904 up to the present time; and William Holm, former president of the benevolent association, who will give its history from the time of its organization in 1912. Other numbers will include an address by John A. Forsman; vocal solo, Rev. Carl Silversten, pastor of Bethel Lutheran church; piano solo, Miss Edna Hendrickson; duet, Miss Bertha Dorland and Miss Emma Nyman; reading, Victor Backman, and vocal solo, Herman Paven.

Arranging Entertainment.

The Zenith lodge No. 1027, Royal Neighbors, at a meeting Wednesday night in Dormedy hall, North Central avenue, decided to hold a bazar and oyster supper on Nov. 17 and elected a committee to make the necessary arrangements. The members of the committee are: Mrs. Jennie Lutzka, chairman; Mrs. Henry R. Hill, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Clara Dalter, Mrs. Josephine Wick, Mrs. George Murray, Mrs. W. Mathews, Mrs. N. Armstrong and Mrs. Cors Nantz.

PROHIBITION PERMITS LOCAL PATROL CHANGES

Prohibition has worked a great many changes in every phase of life and, besides lightening the duties of the patrolman, it has changed his whole course in life, according to Lieut. Barber, in charge of the West Duluth station.

They are changing the beats in West Duluth. It is no longer necessary for the patrolman to leave the business blocks of his beat to make a trip to some outlying saloon every hour. Consequently the present beats, which were mapped out with a view to taking in these outlying places, are to be changed and a closer watch kept at the more important places.

NEW CONFIRMATION CLASS HOLDS BIG MEETING

There will be a meeting tomorrow at 1 p. m. of the confirmation class, which was organized a week ago by Rev. C. J. Silfversten who recently took charge of Bethel Lutheran church, Fifty-third avenue west and Ramsey street. Mr. Silfversten came here from Rhinelander, Wis., where he was secretary of the Superior conference of his church and organized this class immediately upon his arrival. Thirty attended the first meeting of this class last week. It is expected that several more will be in attendance at tomorrow's meeting.

The Luther League of the Bethel Lutheran church gave a social and a Halloween party at the church last night. Sixty people were present at this party last night. May Norrlund was in charge of arrangements.

Glibota Case Transferred.

The trial of Matt Glibota, which was set for 2:30 p. m. today in the West Duluth division of municipal court, has been transferred to the downtown court. Glibota was arrested on the charge of blindpigging. The cases of Ivan Glibota and Louis Fjadisch, who were arrested at the same time on similar charges, were to be tried before Judge Lanners this afternoon.

WHEAT PRICES AT NEW LOWS

Market Breaks on Selling and Absence of Export Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 5.—Wheat was again easy around the close. December spring closed ⅜c off at $1.90⅝ asked; March, 3c off at $1.93¼ asked; December winter, 3⅜c off at $1.89⅝ nominally. December durum, 1⅜c off at $1.96 asked and March 2c off at $1.95½ asked. Rye closed ¾c off at $1.64¾ for spot; December ¾c off at $1.56¾ asked; May ½c off at $1.57 asked. Oats closed ⅝c off at 50c for spot and barley unchanged at 78-98c for spot.

New low levels on the crop were set for wheat prices in today's market. Absence of export in the face of cheaper Australian offerings and limited interest being shown by Eastern millers, were bearish factors. An English cable stated that there is no chance of buying by Great Britain and France in this county until prices come down to the level of Australian wheat. It is estimated that Australian wheat is being freely offered at equal to $2.18, while American winter or Manitoba wheat costs fully $2.28.

With a rush of selling at the opening the price of December wheat was carried down 3c to $1.90¾, from which it recovered on buying attributed largely to covering operations to $1.92¾ at the noon hour. March broke 3¼c to $1.93 and then rallied 2⅜c. December durum broke 2c to $1.97¾ and later made a full recovery. December durum broke 2c to $1.95½ and then recovered [illegible]. It was noted that specialists in [illegible]. It was noted that specialists in the durum market took a hand at the spots and some of that grain was taken for Eastern shipment.

The rye market moved more orderly. After selling off 1c to $1.56¼ December recovered ¾c. The May future was ½c off at $1.57. Barley sold unchanged within a range of 78@98c for spot.

There was on track here for the day [illegible] cars of all grains, including: Spring wheat, 14 cars; durum, 123; oats, 7; [illegible], barley, 10; flax, 15, and bonded spring, 31.

Breaks in Flaxseed.

No support from any quarter was apparent in flaxseed and with fresh selling pressure, quotations broke sharply. The news from Argentina was bearish with a heavy movement of seed in this country reported. In the meantime stocks of flax are piling up in elevators here and Eastern crushers are not showing any disposition to take any tonnage of it.

November flax closed 6c off at $2.59 bid, December 7c off at $2.61 bid, May 7c off at $2.74½ bid.

At Winnipeg, November flax closed 7c off at $2.64¼ bid and December at $2.64¼ bid. At Buenos Aires flax opened at $2.06.

A Chicago wire said: "Overnight developments disclose no change in the grain situation. The diminishing export demand, combined with the pressure of Canadian wheat and the fact that receipts at United States primary points are being maintained at a good pace, suggests an increasing bearish situation which is apt to find prompt reflections in a lower range of prices."

* * *

Logan & Bryan wired from Chicago: "Plate wheat was quoted a few days ago at 113s and 6d in London. On the basis of today's quotations of $1.85 for February, plus the export tax and f. o. b. charge, makes wheat f. o. b. at Buenos Aires about $2.10 per bushel, and freight from the Argentine is about 45 cents per bushel, making the price of the Argentine wheat $2.55 on the other side. Argentine export duty is $6.27 in gold per ton in bags and $5.65 per ton of 2,204 pounds in bulk. On the basis of today's prices, American wheat figures out at about $2.53 on the other side, or about the same price as the Argentine and, according to the private cables last night, only 10c over Australian."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Fresh setbacks in the price of wheat took place today, influenced more or less by big breaks in foreign exchange; for the most part, commission houses were on the selling side, and there was no aggressive support. The fact that receipts were light at all points tended somewhat, however, to check radical bearish sentiment. Opening prices, which ranged from 1c to 2⅛c lower, with December $1.98⅜ to $1.99½ and March $1.93 to $1.93¾, were followed by a slight rally and then by a new downturn.

Subsequently indications of export business led to upturns, but not of a lasting sort. The close was unsettled, 1⅛c to 2⅜c net lower, with December, $1.98 to $1.98¼, and March, $1.93 to $1.93⅛.

Corn developed a little strength, with shipping business and smallness of arrivals furnishing the stimulus. After opening ⅛c lower to ¼c higher, including December at 82¼c to 82⅜c, the market continued to harden.

Selling of May and buying of December was a feature. The close was nervous, ⅛c net lower to ⅞c advance, with December 83⅛c to 83¼c.

Oats were swayed by wheat rather than corn, starting unchanged to ½c lower, May 58⅝c to 58⅞c and showing but slight power to rally.

Provisions tended downward notwithstanding higher quotations on hogs. Buyers were scarce.

"PAYING BRINDELL" FIGURED PART OF COST

New York, Nov. 5.—The joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust" was told today that Robert P. Brindell, president of the building trades council and central figure in the inquiry, was one "who thinks he is king" and who has been "riding on a high horse and browbeating" contractors and house wreckers.

A. A. Volk, head of a large demolition firm, gave this characterization of Brindell. He told the committee Brindell had demanded $25,000 to guarantee no interruptions in the construction of the Gotham National bank's twenty-two-story building on Broadway and that when he told Mr. Brindell the tribute seemed high, the "king" asked if it wasn't a twenty-two-story building and said he figured on about $1,000 a floor.

In conversation Brindell had spoken of $10,000 paid him by two firms and also stated "eight jobs are going to be stopped today," Mr. Volk testified.

Paying Brindell was always included in his estimates, Mr. Volk said. "We figured it as costs," he said.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Rails Forfeit Much of Advance in Final Hour of Trading.

New York, Nov. 5.—Further extensive accumulation of rails and equally heavy selling of shippings and oils created irregular conditions at the opening of today's stock market. Northern Pacific was the most conspicuous feature on an exchange of 4,000 shares at 95 to 94½, soon rallying to 95½, an extreme gain of 1¼ points. Advances of 1@1½ points were made by Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Chicago Northwestern and Chesapeake & Ohio. Atlantic Gulf opened at a 3-point decline, this soon being extended to 4½ points, and American International fell 2 points. Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch, Crucible Steel, Utah Copper and Virginia-Carolina Chemical were among the other heavy to weak issues.

Gains in investment rails marked the first hours of the market today, but a reaction of 1 to 2 points set in later when shippings, oils, motors, steels, equipments and various specialties developed weakness. Atlantic Gulf lost 5½ points, Mexican Petroleum fell 2¼; Harvester 3; Virginia-Carolina Chemical 3¾; Crucible Steel 2, and American Woolen 2. Irregular rallies set in before noon on buying of Reading, Norfolk & Western, St. Paul common and preferred, and Rock Island, but Texas and Pacific was heavy. Call money opened and was freely offered over the week-end at 9 per cent. French and Italian exchange rates were extremely weak.

Conflicting movements of the forenoon continued during the mid-session. Standard rails held or strengthened their gains, especially Reading and Canadian Pacific, but shippings, Motors, Metals, and specialties registered further recessions. United Fruit, Pierce Arrow, Bosch Magneto and International Agricultural preferred were particularly heavy.

Crucible Steel and Associated Oil weakened in the last hour and rails also forfeited much of their advance. The close was heavy.

Liberty bonds: 3½s, $94.86; first 4s, $89.80; second 4s, $88.42; first 4¼s, $90.10; second 4¼s, $88.40; third 4¼s, $90.46; fourth 4¼s, $90.56; fourth 4¼s, $88.74; Victory 3¾s, $96.22; Victory 4¾s, $96.28.

Paine, Webber & Co. wired from New York: "Gossip is that Northern Pacific may segregate its large land holdings. It is reported that Pierce-Arrow is in the market to borrow some additional funds. Some traders think it would not be a bad idea to switch from Southern Pacific to Atchison as the latter is believed to have very big oil land interests. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh fourth week of October earnings were $810,854; increase, $264,333. The Dow Jones forecast of a Southern Pacific distribution of an oil stock earning about $3 a share might indicate that this new stock would be worth in the market about $20 a share which would leave Southern Pacific as a railroad stock "ex" oil lands at around $95."

LORD JOICEY.

One of those vitally interested in the great English coal strike is Lord Joicey, popularly known in England as "Old King Coal," owing to the fact that he is the largest coal producer in the United Kingdom. Lord Joicey owns a big proportion of the mines in the north of England and in Wales.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 CARRIES IN STATE

The good roads amendment (Amendment No. 1) was carried decisively, according to reports from St. Paul today. From returns from all over the state it is evident that the count in its favor is 421,669. The total vote in the state will hardly exceed 730,000, it is declared, and the vote in this case to carry an amendment must be merely more than one-half the total vote cast in the state.

Duluth gave the amendment the largest vote in favor of the amendment of any city in the state, according to the number of votes cast. The city and county together cast a majority for the amendment of more than ten to one.

May Ask Recount.

Newark, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Unless official returns from the Seventeenth congressional district make a big change Congressman W. A. Ashbrook, Democrat, probably will ask for a recount. Complete returns give D. M. Morgan, Republican, a lead of 110, though Morgan claims his election by 141 votes.

LARSON'S LEAD HEAVILY CUT

Canvassing Board Finds Errors; Carss 604 Behind.

Correct returns from the city of Duluth as officially canvassed cut down the lead of Oscar J. Larson, Republican candidate for congress, over William L. Carss, Democrat, so that now Carss is only 604 votes behind. Carss' only hope to overcome this lead rests on the returns from thirty-four precincts in Koochiching county and a few scattering precincts in St. Louis and Itasca counties. Further changes may also be made in the count when the official figures are available.

So far as received the returns show the following standings:

	Larson.	Carss.
City of Duluth (complete)	13,097	12,870
St. Louis county (13 precincts missing)	10,503	9,664

BARNES-KING MINE CLOSED

North Moccasin to Be Worked by Leasers in Future.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Moccasin mine of the Barnes-King Development company has been closed down owing to the low grade ore and the inability of the company to operate the property at a profit. However, the company has made arrangements with leasers to take hold of the mine under conditions which are favorable and the mine is in operation. Previous to the company delivering the lease over, a cleanup was made, resulting in $3,761.68 in bullion being secured. The Shannon, according to the report of the company for September, was operated during the month and $19,979.96 in bullion realized, which with the cleanup in the North Moccasin brings the total bullion production for the month of September up to $23,684.04. The Pegan-Gloster was not operated during the month.

In regard to the Kansas-Montana Oil & Gas company property, which has been secured by the Barnes-King company, the report states that efforts are being made at the oil well near Winifred to set the eight-inch casing in order to proceed with the hole, with the assurance that there will be no trouble from water coming up.

Inspects Mine Operations.

L. P. Jenssen, superintendent of the Pyrites Mining company of Central Norway, has been in the city for several days looking over the mining operations in this district for the purpose of studying the latest and up-to-date methods of mining as conducted by the Anaconda company. He visited Anaconda and Great Falls during the time here and inspected the big Washoe smelter and the plants of the company in Great Falls. Mr. Jenssen declared, before leaving for Utah and other mining centers, that mining as conducted in this district, was a revelation to him. He said that before returning to Norway he proposed to purchase a quantity of machinery similar to that in use by the Anaconda company, which he said would undoubtedly go a long way towards increasing the mining facilities in this country.

Operating to Capacity.

The zinc plant of the Anaconda company at Great Falls is operating to full capacity at the present time with ore from the Emma mine and ore purchased from the Elm Orlu (a Clark property) and from the Butte & Superior. The condition of the zinc market has not up to the present time caused any let up in the operations of the Anaconda company.

Rich Vein Opened.

The Bell Boy mine in the Marysville district near Helena and operated by the Philadelphia Mining company, recently opened a four-inch vein which goes $77,909.70 to the ton, there being $77,066.80 in gold and $842 in silver. The average for the vein runs between $4,529.10 and $5,112.10, according to two assays taken from each side of the vein. The strike was in a drift on the 160-foot level. Besides the rich vein there is a body of ore from four to seven feet wide of good milling ore.

Butte & Superior.

The Butte & Superior company has somewhat curtailed its output for the present, due to market conditions. For the third quarter of the year the company produced 437,777 ounces of silver as compared with 373,000 ounces in the second quarter. In the same period the company produced approximately 3,000,000 pounds more zinc than in the second quarter of the year.

One Hundred Investment Bargains in Railroad Bonds

In a circular prepared by one of the greatest bond authorities in this country, which we have just had printed, the bond situation is not only thoroughly covered, but there is a list of one hundred bargains in high grade railroad bonds yielding as high as

Ten Per Cent

Among this list are many unusual investment opportunities, and inasmuch as underlying factors are now favorable to rising bond prices, a selection of these bonds would unquestionably result in excellent market profits, in addition to an attractive income return.

The circular will be sent without obligation, together with a booklet describing a convenient method of purchasing the bonds.

GREENE SENDS MAGNEY CONGRATULATIONS

County Attorney Warren E. Greene has sent a congratulatory letter to C. R. Magney felicitating him upon his success in being elected to serve as a judge on the district court bench and wishing him every success in his new calling.

Mr. Greene and Mr. Magney, among others, put up a hard fight for the office, Mr. Magney winning out with considerable to spare.

"I made the best fight of which I was capable, but I see now where I made a mistake of conducting the campaign single-handed instead of through a committee," said Mr. Greene. "My friends were certainly loyal and did great work in my behalf and for this I wish to thank them most sincerely."

WHAT INTERESTS YOU?

A Herald Want Advertiser asked each one of the people who made inquiry about his ad to tell just what it was that interested them the most. He had advertised a house for sale and had described the house fully in his ad.

These people named various things, but the advertiser was convinced that if he had left out any of these particulars he would not have gained those inquiries. He sold the place, and he says:

STATE AID TO THE SCHOOLS

Changes to Be Recommended to Next State Legislature.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4.—Legislation revising the Minnesota statutes relating to the distribution of state aid to the state's public schools was recommended in an address today by James M. McConnell, commissioner of education, at the fifty-seventh annual convention of the Minnesota Education association here today.

A widespread recognition of the need for an entire revision of the laws relating to the distribution of state aid, Mr. McConnell said, led the legislature to lay on the state board of education, in creating it, the obligation to take up the matter and report recommended revisions at the next sessions. A committee within the department was appointed to study the question in Minnesota and other states.

The state's fundamental concern, according to Mr. McConnell, is to place within reach of every child the best school possible, that there may be equality of opportunity for all children. To accomplish this end, the commissioner asserted, it is necessary that the state should give help to districts which have small taxable valuation and large school obligations.

Superior Standards.

Mr. McConnell also asserted that the state should stimulate progress toward superior standards of school activity and achievement, found only in the best schools, and should likewise encourage desirable new undertakings.

Special state aid funds, the report of the special committee of the board of education recommends, Mr. McConnell said, shall be secured by a 2-mill tax levy, instead of the biennial legislative appropriation and that $5,000,000 from the current school fund, which accrues from the state 1-mill tax, be distributed as special state aid, the balance to be apportioned with the endowment fund as now. The sum raised by the 2-mill tax would not differ greatly from that now appropriated, but the amount under this system would grow with the increasing taxable valuation and would presumably keep pace with the larger needs of the schools of the state.

It is also provided in the proposed legislation for a reclassification of school, so that the elementary school and the junior and senior high school, where established, shall be recognized for state aid as separate units.

Transportation Aid.

A provision is also made for transportation aid to consolidated schools in full of their expenditures under the rules of the state board to an amount not exceeding $4,000.

Other provisions announced as being proposed in the proposed state aid program enumerated by Mr. Connell are:

That tuition paid by the state to the high school districts for nonresident students shall be $5 per month.

Aid shall be given in larger amounts than at present to districts with an unusually high tax rate, or which have insufficient valuation to maintain a school.

Aid shall be given for agricultural, general industrial training, home training, commercial training and classes for defective speech on the basis of the number of teachers employed.

Aid for teacher training in high schools shall be granted in lump sum, limited to $225,000.

Aid shall be given to any school district for maintaining evening schools; also that evening school pupils shall draw apportionment for the district on the same basis as day pupils. A revision of the whole evening school law along more liberal lines is proposed, with a view of also securing Federal as well as state aid.

New Legislation.

The foregoing changes, Mr. McConnell said, confine themselves to amendment of the present provisions of the law, but considerable new legislation is proposed which would materially change the present system.

Among the more important changes advocated by the committee which completed investigations, are:

That aid shall be given for maintaining classes in part time education for employed children. This measure, to be known as compulsory part-time education, aims, among other things, to stop loafing. It provides that all children between the ages of 14 and 18 years of age must be either employed, and if employed, must attend this part-time school. The proposed law provides that any district having more than fifteen children between the ages of 14 and 18, who do not attend school, must establish part-time schools or classes, and all children between these ages must attend the full or part-time classes.

That aid shall be given to counties which employ helping teachers or supervisors to assist the teachers in the rural schools.

Aid shall also be given to county libraries for the employment of school librarians and likewise to school districts for the same purpose. Minnesota has made the library a definite part of its system of public education, Mr. McConnell said.

Commissioner McConnell also recommended that a census law be enacted to expedite the administration of the compulsory education law. This would facilitate the work of obtaining information of the whereabouts of the children affected by this measure.

LITTLE CHANGE IN LUMBER MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 5.—"The lumber market has shown very little change this week," says the American Lumberman, "and it is becoming increasingly evident that the end of the declining market in softwoods has been reached. Prices on some grades, boosted abnormally high by the shortage last spring, are still somewhat out of line and a leveling process, whereby these prices will settle down to the natural spread between prices asked for the different grades, is to be expected.

"While a careful study reveals that retailers have not increased buying to any extent, there is to be noted greater interest in the market on the part of buyers and a larger volume of inquiries. Retailers almost universally have followed the policy of letting their stocks run down. While there has not been a keen retail demand, a good deal of lumber and other building material has been sold and as a result stocks are getting considerably below normal.

"One of the factors which disarranged the lumber market early in the year was the abnormal trend that buying took at the end of 1919. Normally retail lumbermen are accustomed to make their heavy purchases after Jan. 1, but instead of beginning in January, 1920, buying began in October and November of 1919. This buying carried the lumber market over the period when prices are generally at low ebb and consequently the usual winter slump in business was not felt. This year, however, it is an unmistakable fact that buyers have reverted to their old policy and will not purchase heavily for their anticipated wants until the winter is well started, and consequently the market is in a more normal condition.

"Reports continue to come in from different sections of the country telling of the reduction in prices of lumber by retail lumbermen. One large retail concern has set aside a surplus and, in order to stimulate the demand and assist in building homes, it will sell lumber at a loss, using the reserve fund to take care of the losses."

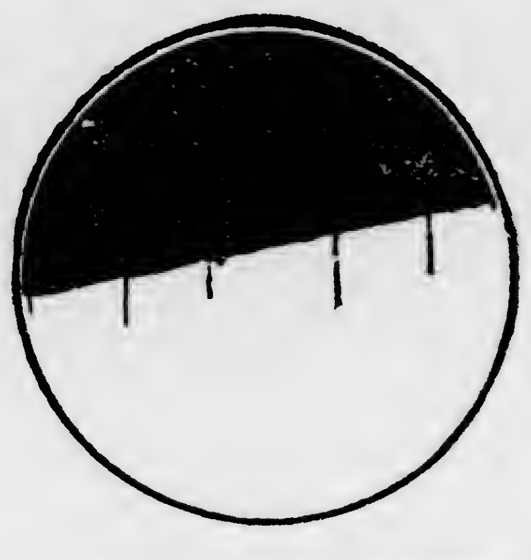
Seen under a powerful magnifying glass an unstropped razor blade looks like a saw edge



Stropping keeps the tiny teeth of the blade in perfect alignment—provides a smooth, keen edge for every shave

A safety razor and stropping device combined in one

YOUR own particular shaving difficulty—doesn't it really revert to a dulling razor blade?

That annoying pull when the razor fails to cut cleanly—the painful scraping that often results when you bear down too hard—the bother and expense of putting in a new blade every so often —all these troubles can be traced directly to a razor blade that has lost its first keen edge.

No shaving edge can keep its original keenness for more than a few shaves—not without stropping.

Look at a razor edge under a microscope and you will see hundreds of tiny saw teeth. More than 1500 of these teeth have been counted on an ordinary safety razor blade. Shaving bends these saw teeth out of line, makes them irregular. These irregular teeth catch in the beard, pull the tiny hair follicles and scrape the skin. That's what usually makes shaving so unpleasant, so annoying.

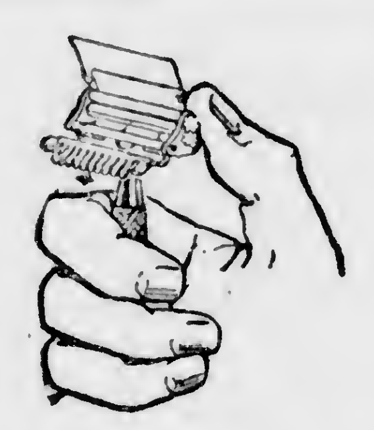
You don't need to put up with the discomfort of fast dulling blades—nor with the bother and expense of putting in a blade every so often. You can insure a fresh, keen edge for every shave if you use the AutoStrop Razor.

A new, sharp, shaving edge every day

Built right into the frame of the AutoStrop Razor is a remarkable self-stropping device—simple and efficient—which renews the fine, keen edge of the AutoStrop blade day after day.

You don't have to take the razor apart nor even remove the blade. Just slip the strop through the razor head, and move the razor back and forth along the strop. In 10 seconds you have a new, sharp, shaving edge. 500 cool, comfortable shaves are guaranteed from every dozen AutoStrop blades.

Don't put up any longer with the pull and scrape of unstropped blades. Begin tomorrow to get the comfort of a "new," sharp, shaving edge every morning. Ask your dealer about the AutoStrop Razor trial plan.



Like the leaf of a book

The AutoStrop Razor blade opens for cleaning like the leaf of a book. To clean, simply rinse and dry. No parts to unscrew—nothing to take apart and reassemble. The same lever that releases the blade adjusts it for close or medium shaving.

You can shave in 3 minutes

In 10 seconds you can renew the fine, keen edge of the AutoStrop Razor blade. It takes less than half a minute to dry the razor after using. With the AutoStrop Razor you can get a complete shave —cool and comfortable—all in 3 minutes' time.

Standard set consists of silver-plated, self-stropping razor selected leather strop twelve blades
all in a neat leather case

On razors, strops, blades, etc., hereafter manufactured by us we shall apply the trade mark "Valet" in addition to the trade mark "AutoStrop" as an additional indication that they are the genuine products of the AutoStrop Safety Razor Co., New York.

PRESIDENT'S SPECIAL FLAG

Not Seen Frequently and Not Raised Over White House.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Most folk know of some of the perquisites that will accrue to the next president of the United States, such as a band which is at his disposal—the Marine band—and the White House conservatories which provide the first lady of the land with flowers, but it is not so generally known that one of the honors bestowed upon the chief executive is a special flag.

This flag is not seen frequently. It does not float over the White House. Its use is reserved, for the most part, for occasions when the president appears in his ex-officio function as commander-in-chief of the army and the navy.

The president's flag consists of the coat-of-arms as they appear on the president's seal, against a blue background, and flanked by four stars. Its history and use are described in the monograph on "Flags of the World" of the National Geographic society as follows:

Use of the Flag.

"When the president visits a vessel of the United States, the president's flag is broken at the main the moment he reaches the deck and is kept flying as long as he is on board. If the vessel can do so, a national salute of twenty-one guns is fired as soon as possible after his arrival on board. Upon departure, another salute of twenty-one guns is fired, the president's flag being lowered with the last gun of the salute.

"When the president is embarked in a boat he usually directs that his flag be displayed from the staff in the bow of his barge. When he passes in a boat flying his flag, vessels of the navy parade the full guard, four ruffles are given on the drum, four flourishes are sounded on the bugle, the national anthem is played by the band, and officers and men salute. When the president is embarked in a ship flying his flag, all saluting ships, on meeting her at sea or elsewhere, and all naval batteries, fire a national salute on passing.

Navy and Army Designs.

"Previous to the present order there were two designs displayed on flags and on colors to be used in the presence of the commander-in-chief of the army and the navy. The navy design was of an earlier date than that of the army, and consisted of the coat-of-arms of the United States, as shown in the great seal, upon a blue ground. This happened to be almost identical with the infantry colors. The president's colors were designed to be distinctive from the infantry colors, and consisted of a blue ground with a large crimson star, outlined heavily with white. Within the star was to be seen the coat-of-arms of the United States, and outside the star within its angles were powdered small stars to the number of the states in the union.

"The double display of flags and colors at the Grand Army review in 1915 caused considerable comment, and as a result the suggestion was made to the president that the navy flag might fittingly be made distinctive from the infantry colors by the addition of four stars—one in each corner. The flags of an admiral and of a general bear four stars, as a sign of command. The president approved of the idea, but directed that the coat-of-arms, as shown on the president's seal, be used upon the president's personal flag and colors."

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

LARGEST MONTH'S FREIGHT MOVEMENT

Chicago, Nov. 5.—"Statistics compiled by the bureau of railway economics disclose the fact," says the Railway Age, "that in August the railways moved more freight, not only than in August of any previous year, but more than in any previous month in any year in history. This seems a conclusive answer to charges which have been made by W. G. McAdoo and others that the railways have been inefficiently operated since they were returned to private control, and that they can be operated with maximum efficiency only under unified government control. The number of tons of freight moved one mile in August was 42,706,000,000. The nearest approach to this ever made before was in August, 1918, when the number of tons moved one mile was 40,776,000,000.

"The detailed figures regarding the way in which this record-breaking achievement was accomplished are very interesting and significant in view of the efforts the railways have been making for some months to increase the efficiency of operation. The average miles each freight car was moved daily in August was 27.4. This was the greatest mileage ever attained in any month except in May, June and July, 1917, under private operation. In other words, in none of the twenty-six months of government operation was this record for car movement ever equaled. The average tons handled in each loaded car in August, 1920, was 29.8, a record exceeded only in the months of July, August and September, 1918, when shippers, for patriotic reasons, were giving the railways the highest degree of co-operation.

"The best test of the efficiency with which the country's freight cars as a whole are being utilized is the average number of tons of freight moved one mile daily with each car. This figure is arrived at by combining the average number of miles each car is moved daily with the average tons handled in each loaded car. The average number of tons moved one mile daily with each car in August, 1920, was 526. This record has been surpassed only in August and September, 1918, when the average load per car was the highest ever reached, and in June, 1917, under private operation, when the average miles per car per day was almost the highest ever reached. The average number of tons moved one mile daily with each car in August, 1918, was 534; in September, 1918, 535, and in June, 1917, 542.

WATERWAYS MEET AT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—To agitate for the revival of navigation on the Mississippi river from Minneapolis and St. Paul to New Orleans, making waterway transportation available for all intermediate points, is the fundamental purpose of the convention of the Upper Mississippi Waterways association, which will be held here Nov. 16 and 17 at the Curtis hotel.

Governors of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, and the mayors, city councils and commercial organizations in these states have been invited to attend the conference.

In calling the convention, W. P. Trickett, president of the association, stated it is most desirable that the chief executive of each of the states in the valley meet in conference and lend weight of their presence in solving the problem of restoring dependable traffic on the Upper Mississippi.

Immediate action toward securing the establishment of tows and barge lines on the Mississippi operating through to New Orleans will be urged upon the delegates by L. B. Boswell, commissioner, Quincy Freight bureau, Quincy, Ill., and member executive committee of the association.

Upon the following two factors will determine whether the upper river cities can rehabilitate the upper Mississippi, according to Mr. Boswell:

1. The navigability of the Mississippi river.

2. The establishment at all of the principal shipping centers of modernly equipped freight handling terminals.

Officials of the association hold the following facts as favorable for the restoration of traffic on the upper river:

(a) The present high level of railroad freight rates and the general inefficiency of the railroad transportation system.

(b) Boats, barges and other equipment can be provided for one-fifth of the cost of equal-carrying capacity of railroad rolling stock and terminals.

(c) The agricultural, industrial, commercial and mining resources of the valley have outgrown the capacity of the railroads to handle it.

Officers of the association are: W. P. Trickett, Minneapolis, president; A. P. Ebi, Moline, Ill., and Herman Mueller, St. Paul, vice presidents, and Sydney J. Roy, Hannibal, Mo., secretary.

SHORTAGE OF MILK IN PARIS IS PREDICTED

Paris, Nov. 5.—Shortage of milk is predicted by newspapers as likely to become more acute this winter than last. The police have announced that recognition of priority cards for children and the aged and ill, will be more strictly enforced and fraudulent practices prosecuted.

Milk prices jumped the day after restrictions on its use by hotels and restaurants were removed and milk dealers became more arbitrary in their accustomed attitude of selling milk only to those who bought freely of other more profitable supplies.

TO DISCUSS HIGH COST OF LIVING

New York, Nov. 5.—Speakers of national reputation will discuss high cost of living problems at the twenty-first annual meeting of the National Consumers' league to be held at Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, on Nov. 17 and 18, according to an announcement made by the league's national headquarters, 44 East Twenty-third street, New York.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war; Victor Murdock, chairman of the Federal trade commission; Mrs. Agnes Dennison Warbasse, educational secretary of the Co-operative League of America; Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, chairman of the committee on food supply and demand of the National League of Women Voters, and Mrs. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumers' league, are among the speakers listed to address representatives of consumers' leagues from all over the country. Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York has been invited to preside at a conference of minimum wage commission officials on Nov. 17.

Subjects announced for discussion include whether prices can be lowered without lower wages; the relations of the consumer and the government to producers and the packers; municipal food markets and the elimination of waste in food handling; the textile industry and shoddy; what the worker and consumer expect of industry and how far these expectations are, and can, be realized; and practical problems in fixing minimum wages related to the cost of living.

WOMEN HORSESHOE PITCHERS PRACTICE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—Women horseshoe pitchers of Minneapolis are not to be outdone by their competitors of the opposite sex, even though the latter are said to be more experienced in the art of throwing "ringers." The keenest of rivalry is being displayed between the masculine horheshoe throwers and those of the fairer sex.

Following the organization of the first Women's Horseshoe club in the country recently, plans for the installation of indoor courts were made, that the women may not have their "eyes and aim" dulled by the winter. The inclosed playing grounds have been completed, and on each Saturday members of the local women's club can be found practicing horseshoe slinging.

The new club has affiliated with the Minneapolis Horseshoe Pitchers' association, which was composed entirely of men, and representation is divided equally between both clubs in the joint organization.

Mrs. Thomas Heenan, president of the women's horseshoe group, said she had been informed indirectly that the men are becoming a "bit dubious" over their superiority as horseshoe throwers and are planning to hold winter practice in indoor courts also.

The women's national tournament will be held in connection with the men's tournament here next fall, it is announced.

CLIMAX OF LIVESTOCK SHOWS IN DECEMBER

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Now that the state fair circuit has been completed and the livestock shows of lesser magnitude announced for the current season have terminated with success in every instance, the industry is preparing for the greatest event of the year—the International Livestock exposition at Chicago during the first week of December. After such a successful display season of domestic animal life in every section of the United States, magnitude and interest are assured at this event.

The livestock industry is now recuperating after the stress of war period depletion all over the world, the international character of the Chicago event giving it trans-Atlantic and antipodean importance. An unusually large representation is promised by Great Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Argentina, Australia and other countries—all potential markets for pure-bred cattle, hogs and sheep produced in the United States. Feeding problems will be elucidated and the new feature inaugurated last year under the auspices of the Chicago Board of Trade—a grain and hay exhibit—will be on a vastly greater scale. All the breeds will be represented in the arena, the entire aggregation constituting the greatest assemblage of pure bred livestock ever assembled for competitive purposes.

Novelties have been provided for the evening entertainment, which has always been a popular feature of the exposition.

Six Dinosaurs Unearthed.

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 5.—Another lot of big bones from the Red Deer fossil beds has been shipped east, representing the discoveries made during the past summer by a geological party sent out by the Ontario Royal museum. Six dinosaurs were dug up by the party headed by Prof. Sternberg.

TAKES MINE FOR WAGES AND REALIZES $75.000

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 5.—Another romance has been added to the history of British Columbia silver mining. To get a mine in payment of a wage claim and then realize $75,000 on it is the experience of a Spanish miner. A few years ago Pedro Salina bought a mine at a sheriff's sale. He bought it in lieu of $3.75 wages due him for working there. He and a brother carried on work and after some years uncovered high-grade silver that netted them $8,000 in three days. All told they took out 300 tons that produced an average of $150 a ton. Pedro has now sold the property to a group of Vancouver men for $75,000. He intends to find another British Columbia mine next year.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ-destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

PROSPERITY FOR MEXICO

Mexico is on the verge of one of the greatest eras of prosperity the country has ever seen, and with the advent of the new administration, Dec. 1, wonderful progress will be seen in the next decade, was the assertion of Edward L. Smead of Mexico City, who is in Duluth visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Underhill, 2021 East Fourth street. Mr. Smead is a nephew of Mr. Underhill.

Mr. Smead has been in Mexico for the last twelve years. He is conversant with political conditions there and is regarded as in a position to forecast the future of the country. One of the greatest benefits to the country was the change in administration from the Carranza regime, Mr. Smead declared. The present administration and the incoming one are in accord and are interested in the development of the country. Progress will be the watchword from now on and foreign capital will be welcomed, he said.

Many Business Openings.

Mr. Smead described the conditions as regards the mineral and oil fields and declared these properties would see an unparalleled advance in development. Satisfactory adjustment of the oil leases and holdings will be made with the new administration, which will be satisfactory to all concerned, and will remove the handicap that has existed in the promotion of these industries. Mexicans, while having a hereditary dislike for Americans, have a wholesome respect for their business ability and will not discourage American capital coming in, he said. At the present time several New York banks have representatives in Mexico City looking over possible openings for banks.

Mr. Smead was in Mexico City during the recent revolution and has some interesting stories of that period. He is engaged in the land promotion business and is connected with the Mexico City banking corporation.

MENAGERIE COLLECTED BY PRINCE OF WALES

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press.) — The Prince of Wales collected a varied menagerie in the course of his trip to the United States and British dominions. The pride of his collection when he reached Bermuda on his way back to London was an ugly little customer about eight inches long, part lizard and part toad and called "Horace."

In Australia whence he came, they call him "mountain devil," though he and his family live on a hot, dry plain. The strange thing about him is that he never drinks. His family have dwelt so long in their arid land that nature has enabled them to absorb dew through their pores. Some of the newspaper men aboard the Renown expressed the fear that when Horace encountered a London fog he would absorb so much moisture that he would drown.

Other components of the royal menagerie were about 500 canary birds, an equal number of parrots, four laughing jackasses and a small kangaroo. Most of them were destined to become residents of the London Zoological gardens.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state supreme court this morning handed down the following decisions:

MURRAY COUNTY.

Jury Was Justified.

V. I. Miller, appellant, vs. Pete Clark, respondent—

The court's instructions, to which no exceptions are taken, and the evidence justified the jury in finding for defendant on the two counter-claims submitted in an amount sufficient to wipe out the claim of plaintiff and awarding the verdict given in favor of defendant.

The agreement out of which the counter-claims arose cannot be held void for want of consideration.

The lease obligated the tenant to pay cash rent of $3 per acre for the hay and pasture land on the farm. The court correctly held that no cash rent was payable upon the acreage in a slough so covered with water that neither hay nor pasturage could grow thereon.

No abuse of discretion is shown in allowing an amendment to the answer during the trial.

No ruling on the admission or exclusion of evidence calls for a reversal of the order appealed from.

Affirmed. HOLT, J.

CHIPPEWA COUNTY.

Appeal Vacates Order.

A. E. Klef, as county attorney of Chippewa county, appellant, vs. C. E. Mills, et al., respondents—

An appeal from the allowance of a claim by a county board vacates the order of allowance, and the issue is for trial de novo on the merits, with the burden of proof on the claimant.

On appeal to this court from a judgment in favor of the claimant, if there is no settled case, judgment will not be ordered against the claimant for want of a reply.

It is competent for a county board, in entering into a contract, to insert stipulations not required by statute, in order to secure the object for which the contract is made, if such stipulations are not contrary to public policy and are not made without fraud and impose no impediment to competitive bidding.

Reversed. HALLAM, J.

MARSHALL COUNTY.

Not Completely Indefinite.

Frank Seigne, appellant, vs. Warren Auto company, a corporation, respondent—

In an oral contract to convey real estate the agreement to pay the grantor a certain amount "at such time as the grantee might elect" is not so indefinite and uncertain as to avoid specific performance.

In an action wherein it is sought to compel specific performance of an oral contract for the conveyance of real estate, held that the findings of the trial court showed a sufficient part performance to take it out of the statute of frauds.

Affirmed. QUINN, J.

MARTIN COUNTY.

Indictment Insufficient.

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Harry W. Hartung, appellant—

Indictment considered and held not sufficient to charge a violation of section 3, chapter 463, general laws of 1917.

Reversed and remanded. QUINN, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.

Verdict Not Excessive.

Whether defendant was guilty of negligence and whether plaintiffs were guilty of contributory negligence were both questions for the jury under the evidence.

Facts tending to show interest bias, or motive on the part of a witness may be elicited on cross-examination as bearing on the weight to be given his testimony, although such examination may necessarily disclose that the defendant in a personal injury action is protected by insurance.

The rulings and charge were without error, and the verdicts are not excessive.

Affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

WRIGHT COUNTY.

Decision Is Affirmed.

The International Harvester company, a corporation, appellant, vs. Paul R. Malzohn, respondent—

The rule, that proof of a contemporaneous oral agreement is not admissible to contradict or vary the terms of a written contract, does not apply where the contract itself is oral and the written instrument is given merely in part performance of it.

In such cases the rights of the parties rest on the oral contract, and while the written agreement may not be disputed as to the matters covered by it, the other terms of the contract may be proven by parol.

Where an agent makes an unauthorized contract, the principal must accept or reject it as a whole; he cannot enforce the provisions beneficial to himself and repudiate those beneficial to the other party.

Where one party to a contract refuses to perform the substantial part of the contract, the other party may rescind it. TAYLOR, C.

Affirmed.

FREEBORN COUNTY.

No Reversible Error.

David Swedberg, respondent, vs. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, appellant—

A consideration of the record in this cause leads to the conclusion that the issues of negligence and contributory negligence, as well as the issue of proximate cause, were on the facts disclosed by the evidence, questions of fact and properly submitted to the jury. The verdict is supported by sufficient competent evidence, and the record presents no reversible error.

Order affirmed. PER CURIAM.

TURKEYS IN GOOD SUPPLY

Holdings in All Lines of Poultry Heavier Than Estimated.

Supplies of turkeys and other poultry for the Thanksgiving day trade will be ample, in the opinion of Duluth dealers. Turkeys have been coming in more freely this week, and advices from over the country are to the effect that holdings of everything in the poultry line by fanciers over this district are larger than had been estimated until recently. Dealers have been busy lately in arranging for shipments and they assert that they have been able to contract for about the average supplies of medium and light-weight turkeys. Heavy turkeys are being found difficult to obtain, owing to unfavorable weather conditions for raising poultry early in the season. Live turkeys are being quoted wholesale at 30 cents a pound and dressed at 38 cents.

Butter Higher.

The butter market is strong, quotations being up 2 cents, with creamery quoted wholesale at 54@58 cents a pound. The market is strong at both Chicago and New York. Demand is reported to be increasing and receipts from the creameries show a seasonable falling off. Should there not be a renewal of butter importations from Argentina and Australia, higher prices are predicted for it in the near future.

Quotations in eggs are unchanged, with fresh at 60@63 cents a dozen wholesale and storage 53@56 cents. Fresh eggs are scarce and they are already being sold by some retailers at as high as $1 a dozen, the figure commanded during the period of greatest stringency last winter.

Oranges Soaring.

Quotations in oranges are soaring, their market being up $2.00@4.00 a case today. That is attributed to the limited supplies of California fruit remaining to take care of the trade until the new season's crop comes in.

New York state barrel apples still hold the boards in the fruits list. Large shipments have been received by the commission houses during the last few days, and prices remain on the low basis recently announced. Householders have been buying apples in barrel lots more freely recently and it is expected that the distribution of that fruit will be heavier during the next month than in several years back.

Shipments of late Colorado pears were received here this week and they are being offered at a reasonable price basis.

Grenstuffs Scarcer.

Quotations in greenstuffs have been marked up with the home-grown products off the market. California vegetables are being received in fair quantities.

Such heavy vegetables as cabbage, onions, and potatoes are being quoted at the lowest basis in several years, according to dealers. That is as a result of a rush of growers who are not equipped with storage facilities to market their crops before freezing weather sets in.

PRESIDENT PRAISES WORK OF BOY SCOUTS

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson yesterday signed letters of commendation to fifty-three boy scouts who made the best records during 1918 in the sale of War Savings stamps. The scout organizations sold more than $45,000,000 worth of the securities during their campaign, and were promised a personal acknowledgement from the president.

"It gives me pleasure to tell you of my deep appreciation of the intelligent and conscientious manner in which you, as a member of the Boy Scouts of America, have secured subscriptions for Thrift and War Savings Stamps," the president's letter said, addressed to each of the lads.

"You have won the distinction of having secured more subscriptions during the 1918 War Savings campaign than any other scout in your state."

G. Schuyler Tarbell of Ithaca, N. Y., who sold $77,215 in stamps, was first in the scout contest.

PRESIDENT HONORED BY WASHINGTONIANS

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson made his first public appearance last night in more than a year when he was lifted in his wheel chair to the east portico of the White House while hundreds of Washington League of Nations adherents gathered on the White House lawn to do him honor.

The crowd of men, women and children, bearing state banners and the national flag, under the leadership of John F. Costello, Democratic national committeeman for the District of Columbia, assembled at Democratic national headquarters at 8 p. m. and marched to the White House, where the gates were open to the public for the first time since the beginning of the war.

Break Into Applause.

As the president was lifted in his wheel chair up to the steps from the interior of the White House leading to the east portico, the crowd on the terrace below broke into applause and joined in th esinging of "America."

Mrs. Wilson and members of the family stood about the president while the crowd sang. With an overcoat buttoned closely about him and a soft hat shading his face, the president sat silent watching the throng below. There was more cheering as the song ended.

A soloist sang "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginny," and the crowd picked up the chorus. The president's face relaxed and he turned his head to speak to Mrs. Wilson beside his chair. As the song ended amid renewed cheers, a large bouquet of flowers was laid upon the balustrade by him. Mr. Wilson raised his hat and held it aloft as attendants rolled his chair back toward the door. The crowd sent up cheers for the league and for the president and as Mrs. Wilson waved a final greeting from the doorway, sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Co-Operation Profitable.

Regina, Sask., Nov. 5.—According to the annual report of the co-operation and markets commissioner of the provincial department of agriculture, the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator company, Ltd., operated 308 elevators during 1919, and handled 21,841,556 bushels of grain. The company made a profit of $193,599, declared an 8 per cent dividend to its shareholders and transferred $36,446 to the reserve.

Oil Strike in Alberta.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 5.—Confirmation of rumors has arrived of a heavy oil strike at Fort Norman on the Mackenzie river in Northern Alberta. A gusher was struck on Aug. 25 at a depth of 800 feet, the force of the flow blowing a column of oil 15 feet above the top of the derrick and scattering over the river 200 yards away. Prior to the strike, the well was producing from ten to thirteen barrels a day. It has now been capped and it is estimated that it may be capable of producing from 1,000 to 1,500 barrels per day.

ENFORCEMENT OF BLOCKADE

League of Nations Assembly to Consider Important Question.

New York, Nov. 5.—One of the important questions to be considered by the assembly of the League of Nations at its first meeting, beginning Nov. 15 at Geneva, will be the preparations required to enable the league to use, if necessity arises, the weapon of international economic and financial blockade contemplated in Article XVI of the Covenant.

A memorandum by Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary general, now being distributed to the members of the league, and received here by the League to Enforce peace, shows that the question will come before the assembly on the recommendation of the league council in the form of a proposal to appoint a body to be known as the international blockade commission. The secretary general suggests that this commission consists of representatives nominated by the countries entitled to permanent membership in the council, with the addition of representatives of four other members of the league selected by the assembly, for the purpose of studying the problem and settling the general plan of action, the organization of the more permanent machinery required and the principles on which it should work.

Important to America.

This question is of peculiar interest to the United States, because one of the first problems such a commission would consider promises to be the method of rendering a blockade effective against states which are not members of the league. In a report adopted by the council of the league at the San Sebastian meeting in August, M. Tittoni, the Italian representative, stated: "It should be clear that the states members of the League of Nations who declare the blockade have the right to render it effective against all states, including those who are not members of the league, but they have not the right to force the states who do not form part of the league to declare the blockade themselves."

Article XVI provides that, should any member of the league resort to war in disregard of its covenants, all the other members shall "undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations * * * and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state whether a member of the league or not," and that the members shall mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures taken under this article.

Is Specific Duty.

"The use of this weapon," says the secretary general, "is in certain circumstances a specific duty imposed by Article XVI. This duty cannot be effectively carried out without great loss of time and efficiency unless there has been considerable previous preparation before the time at which action is required.

"Situations might well arise in which the knowledge that the weapon is ready for use would have a very salutary effect. Many people think that the league is founded more upon good intentions than upon a cool consideration of the stern realities of international trouble. It is, therefore, desirable on general grounds that while the first meetings of the council and the assembly should give the world the positive hope of removing misunderstanding and promoting international co-operation, they should also show quite clearly that the members of the league as a whole are determined, if necessity arises, to enforce their will by effective action on any particular country which in the circumstances contemplated by the Covenant defies the general verdict of the world."

Important Difference.

The memorandum calls attention to one important difference between the two forms of pressure (economic and military) which the league may use, as follows: "Where a member of the league resorts to war in disregard of specified covenants, all other members of the league are by the Covenant itself specifically obliged to apply the economic weapon. They are not similarly obliged to use their military or naval forces. In the latter case, the article (16) only provides that it shall be the duty of the council in such cases to recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military or naval forces they shall severally contribute."

The secretary-general is of the opinion that the article clearly contemplates that, so far as possible, "the responsibility for enforcing economic pressure shall be decentralized, i. e., a primary responsibility rests upon each government to take action so far as its own nationals and own national machinery are concerned, arrangements being made by each of them separately and not by a single international authority."

At the same time, he concludes that a central co-ordinating authority will be required if the weapon of economic pressure is to be efficiently used.

MANY FOREST RANGERS ARE NEEDED AT ONCE

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The United States forest service has needs for 2,500 forest rangers at once.

The United States board of vocational education has been asked to supply for this service as many partially disabled soldiers as are fitted for this rigorous out-of-door work, particularly those who, having been gassed, need outdoor air if they are to regain their strength.

The New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse has been asked by the vocational education board to assist in training large numbers of these men, both in secondary and collegiate courses.

The trustees of the college have authorized courses for these men, both at the college at Syracuse and at the ranger school at Wanakena, a school giving secondary forestry education, but this assistance to the soldier is contingent upon the approval of the state legislature of a building program to house the men in the woods at Wanakena.

CABLES ESSENTIAL TO OUR FOREIGN TRADE

New York, Nov. 5.—Lack of an adequate cable system is a handicap to this country's foreign trade which must be removed if we are to maintain our position in the commercial world, the National Bank of Commerce in New York declares.

In the November issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly, the bank shows that at present American exporters are dependent for communication on commercial rivals abroad, more than half the existing cables being controlled by Great Britain alone. The spending of thousands of millions of dollars on our merchant marine and other trade organizations under such conditions, it holds, is a doubtful prospect.

A TOO WIDELY OPEN GATE.

While the country has been thinking mainly of the campaign, and if of immigration at all of that relatively minor factor of it involved in the California referendum on anti-Japanese legislation, at the Eastern portals of the nation immigrants are pouring in at a rate limited only by the capacity of the vessels that bring them.

And that is something to think about, and to think very deeply and carefully about. It is something, too, that congress should take up at the earliest possible moment for effective and constructive action.

The nation has had lessons enough, surely, in the gravity of the problem of unassimilated immigration—of partakers of the nation's hospitality who have abused it by promoting destructive radicalism and, almost as evil, of letting the interests of the home land, instead of the interests of America, influence their political action. This, in time of war, has been proved dangerous. In time of peace it entails bitterness and threatens destructive dissensions.

The fact is that much as the Californians may be agitated about the Japanese, the general problem of immigration is infinitely more complex and threatening.

Restrictions upon immigration now are entirely inadequate. They should be made adequate at once, and then rigidly enforced. The new flood of immigration comes at a time when unemployment is beginning to appear, and to bear a falling labor market with imported labor is shortsighted.

Moreover, America must be far more careful hereafter than it has been in the past about the character and quality of its immigration. There are many who believe that virtually all immigration should be suspended until the immigrants already here have been assimilated and Americanized; but that means a long time, and in the meantime who is to do the work which native born Americans have pretty generally ceased to do?

Reports are that the character of the present immigration is fairly high. There are many immigrants of races and conditions that experience has shown are readily assimilated; but there are many others of which that is not true. And the first post-war immigration was likely to be of the better type: those thrifty ones who even in war times have industriously acquired a stake to start them in the new world. The second flood will not be so high in character; and there are many in this movement that are by no means desirable. It is true that American consuls abroad are supposed to investigate them carefully, but with the facilities they have a thorough job is impossible. Congress might well spend some money making the numbers and facilities of the consuls abroad great enough to cope with the problem at that end.

And, even if congress does not bar immigrants for a period, it must make the screen finer than it is; for America, with its recent disagreeable experiences with the results of indiscriminate immigration surely has a right to choose whom it shall receive and whom it shall deny.

A STRANGE FANCY.

Looking over the newspapers published before election day, we see repeated references to what they called "doubtful states."

What could they possibly have meant by that?

◆

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK.

Children's Book Week, which is an annual and nation-wide effort to direct more constructive attention to children's reading, takes place this year the week of November 15. It is a reminder to all of us—or ought to be—that we do not give half the attention to what the children are reading that we ought to give.

Character, which is largely molded in childhood, is made up of what the children read to a greater extent than many realize. Upon their impressionable minds, plastic in that age and infinitely sensitive to every passing impression, reading engraves, for good or for ill, lessons that last.

Beware, therefore, lest by ill directed reading, impressions making for disaster are engraved on the mind of your child. And the number of homes in which the reading of the children is not directed at all is nothing short of appalling.

What is your child reading? Do you know? Do you care? Will this make you care: the certainty that that reading, whatever it may be, is sowing seeds of good or evil for a crop that never fails?

> —Marcus Aurelius.

Booksellers, librarians, Boy Scouts, women's clubs and educators are co-operating in the work of bringing this subject to the attention of the people. Parents, if they are wise, will co-operate too, and if they never have done it before should now take serious thought of what their children are reading and of what that reading means to their minds and future lives.

One motto of Children's Book Week is "More books in the home." That is a good motto, but there is a better one: "Better books in the home."

Let's hope that, without relaxing the praiseworthy effort to put MORE books in the homes, the campaign will give due attention to the greater need of BETTER books in the homes.

THE TONNAGE TAX BUGABOO.

There is a political superstition out in the state that no man stands a chance of being elected who does not clamor for a tonnage tax to enrich the rest of the commonwealth at the expense of the people who dwell in the mining districts.

The tonnage tax had all but died a natural death when Townley moved into the state, flushed with his victory in North Dakota, and chose it as his biggest vote-getting issue.

Dr. Shipstead, Townley's candidate for governor, made it his leading issue. He was overwhelmingly beaten.

The Democratic candidate for governor made the tonnage tax his leading issue, also. He was still more overwhelmingly beaten.

Mr. Preus, the Republican candidate, has never been an advocate of the tonnage tax. The platform on which he was nominated declared, it is true, in favor of "a fair and equitable tonnage tax"; this because of that superstition that it was political suicide not to be for the tonnage tax. Mr. Preus indorsed the platform, this included, when he accepted the nomination of the mass convention.

Yet throughout the campaign his opponents made every possible effort to picture him as an enemy of the tonnage tax and as "the steel trust candidate."

And he was overwhelmingly elected!

What remains, then, of the presumption that the people of the state are so ignorant and unfair as to demand that every candidate be for the tonnage tax on pain of defeat? Nothing whatever.

THUS BE IT EVER.

The voters of Michigan Tuesday did a needed job handsomely when they overwhelmingly defeated the proposed constitutional amendment which would have made parochial schools unlawful.

This measure was conceived in bigotry, and deserved an even greater defeat than it got, though it got one that was positive enough to make it unlikely that the attempt will soon be renewed.

Every attempt to bend people arbitrarily by law to the will of others in religious matters should be stamped upon. If Catholics and Lutherans want to give their children religious instruction in school they should be permitted to do so; and perhaps if the rest of us were more prone to follow their example we would be able to produce a less godless generation.

The state properly controls education. There would be no injustice if the state required definite educational standards in parochial schools without interfering with religious instruction, since future citizens are being trained in those schools; but that is an entirely different matter from the Michigan project to put parochial schools under the ban of a law born of pinhead bigotry.

Michigan gave the right answer to this attempt, and so long as America is America that will always be the answer to such attempts to inject the poison of sectarian hate in the veins of the body politic.

Royal Accomplishments

Manchester Guardian: When Charles V. abdicated his throne and retired to the monastery of St. Juste, he amused himself by trying to learn watchmaking. After some time he remarked one day: "What an egregious fool must I have been to have squandered so much blood and treasure in an absurd attempt to make men think alike, when I can not even make a few watches keep time together." The tale seems singularly to the point in view of the ex-kaiser's reported attempt to master the art of the tailor, for it is unlikely that he will establish a new fame in that sphere. Other princes have made or played with similar amusements. King Edward used to say that if he were dethroned he could still make a living as a cobbler. His brother, the duke of Saxe-Coburg, aimed a little higher, for he could have obtained a position in a theater orchestra among at least the second violins. Queen Victoria could have designed Christmas cards, sentiment and all. Frederick, prince of Wales, would have been in great request for cracker mottoes. Charles II might have made a competence in a chemical laboratory and Peter the Great in a carpenter's shop. Napoleon would have been an accomplished leader-writer of the "big drum" type. Frederick the Great an admirable stockkeeper to a penurious firm. Prince Henry of Prussia might have flourished as a commercial traveler and George III as a farmer.

The Servant Problem

From the Thrift Magazine.

Just as the United States has swung into the high tide of prosperity, and every woman wants to spend her money, have everything fine, sit back in her rocking chair, chew gum and embroider, and let the "hired girl," cook, wash dishes, and do the work, the said "hired girl" goes on one grand strike, and ends up by leaving the mistress of the house to do her own family work and washing. The newspapers are full of every other kind of a strike, but as yet have given few head lines to the servant strike.

It has been going on for eight or ten years. Without forming a union the domestic servants have been walking out on their employers. These girls and women have been absorbed into the industrial life of the factory, hotel, and department store.

As a sample of the satisfaction and stability of the servant market today, the New York intelligence agencies stated that fourteen days is the average length of time their applicants remained in a home. The 1910 census figures showed that there were in the United States nearly 2,000,000 women in domestic service, that of the 20,000,000 homes over 1,500,000 employed some kind of domestic help. No doubt the census figures for 1920 will show a startling change in ten years. Many things have helped to bring about the present state of affairs, one is that the domestic has been looked down upon, she has been in a class by herself. The stenographer is proud of her work. The salesgirl in the big department store, the teacher, the factory worker, all are proud of their skill, and carry the dignity, and self-respect that goes with efficient workmanship.

Now the "hired girl" and arbitrary cook may seem impudent; ofttimes this comes from ignorance and inefficiency.

No work is more honorable, or carries greater responsibility than house work. Preparing food is one of the great factors in making the home livable and happy.

There must be a solution to the problem. One thing necessary is specialized education. Not only the girl who is to do the work should be taught the science of cooking, and housekeeping, but the housewife herself must be taught the same science, thus putting the whole business on the practical basis. The millionaire may be able to hire a butler, a chef, a retinue of servants, but there is nothing permanent in his organization. The homemaker of moderate income is helpless, because he cannot pay these princely wages.

Domestic service must be remade into a profession. It must become a business, and American women must gain a knowledge and mastery of making a home.

A French View of the American Woman

Abbe Ernest Dimnet in Harper's Magazine: American women are far and away the prettiest, youthfulest and smartest (clothes and brains) women on earth. They can also be the sensiblest, kindest and helpfulest, the hardest-worked—no, I mean the hardest working—and they have no rivals for charitable enterprise. They have a wonderful capacity for being excellent housekeepers, even though they may seem not to keep their houses more than a few minutes in the morning, before flying away, and an hour or two in the evening when they drop exhausted on a sofa. They are good mothers, good daughters and good sisters, and their husbands, who ought to know, proclaim to the whole world, to the earth and to the stars, to the believing and the unbelieving, that they are incomparable wives. I am ready to testify that they are invaluable friends. But somehow the American woman has faults from which French women are free, and the latter frequently criticize her, to the disgust of the uncompromising American man.

Everybody in America is agreed that Britishers are to be avoided as husbands—I record what I have often heard. Why is it that the said Britishers used, in past generations, to become—and even now still become—excellent New England husbands the moment they were transplanted in the uxorious American soil? Because there were, and still are, more men than women among emigrants, and economic laws concerning the scarcity or abundance of goods apply in every case. In England and France, and generally in all old countries, there is a providential excess of women, and men choose.

A Frenchman marries when he needs help; an American marries when he can afford it.

Rebuked the PokerPlayers

Jefferson Winter in Saturday Evening Post: Joseph Jefferson detested all forms of gambling, and the game of poker in particular. All of his sons and most of the other members of his theatrical company, including me, liked it much and played it often, especially when traveling from city to city on railroad trains.

If Jefferson took a fancy to stroll through the company car, as frequently he did, his advent would elicit the warning, "Duck, duck! Here comes father!" And we would attempt to conceal our cards and chips, sometimes with success, but more often not, as the old gentleman was quick of eye and well acquainted with our ways. When he detected us flagrante delicto, Jefferson would once in a while walk by us without uttering a word, but with a glance of satirical contempt most eloquently expressive. As a rule, however, he would pause and in accents of cutting sarcasm address us in terms that substantially did not vary.

"Oh, don't stop! Please don't stop on my account," he would say. "I like to see young gentlemen enjoying themselves in such a nice, friendly way. All friends, aren't you? That's what you pretend to be. But it's all pretense! Who ever heard of friends sitting down together to try to take each other's money away? And at such a game—a game the essence of which is to deceive and mislead your adversaries. Delightful, isn't it? I wonder you don't try waiting for each other up dark alleys and do it with clubs. But go on, go on! Don't let my prejudices interfere with your friendly enjoyment!"

Victory

We're feeling well and hearty, and peace is in our souls; the Farmer-Labor party has triumphed at the polls; and Parley, standard bearer, will fill the White House chair, and bring a reign of terror to traitors everywhere. The Wall Street barons hissed him, hissed Parley, safe and sane, the plutocrats dismissed him with snorts of high disdain, and all the hosts of treason said they would knock him cold; but oh, there were no fleas on our standard bearer bold. He came from Salt Lake City, the home of Brigham Young, and he was wise and witty and had a fluent tongue. The farmer left his barley, in manner circumspect, to vote for good old Parley, our president-elect. And Peter, Mike and Charley, the toilers, plied their feet, to vote for good old Parley, who takes the Woodrow seat. Oh, some were sure that Harding would harvest Wilson's socks, and some made claims regarding my old friend Jimmie Cox. And some grew sore and snarley, defending Warr'n or Jim, but I stood up for Parley, and now rejoice with him. Old parties are disjointed and driven from the map, and I will be appointed to some fat public snap.

Great Is Truth, and Strong Above All Things

I Esdras, iii, 4 (From the Apocrytha)

It came to pass in the reign of King Darius that three young men of the king's bodyguard spake one to another, saying, Let us each write a sentence concerning that which is strongest: and he whose sentence shall seem wiser than the others, unto him shall the king give great gifts, and great honors in token of victory. So they wrote every man his sentence. The first wrote, Wine is the strongest. The second wrote, The king is strongest. The third wrote, Women are strongest: but above all things Truth beareth away the victory. Then they took their writings and delivered them unto the king, and so he read them. And he said unto the young men, Declare unto us your mind concerning the things ye have written.

Then began the first, who had spoken of the strength of wine, and said:

O sirs, how exceeding strong is wine! It causeth all men to err that drink it; it maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherless child to be all one; of the bondman and of the freeman, of the poor man and of the rich; it turneth also every thought into jollity and mirth, so that a man remembereth neither sorrow nor debt, and when they are in their cups, they forget their love both to friends and brethren, and a little after draw their swords. O sirs, is not wine the strongest, seeing that it enforceth to do thus?

Then the second, who had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say:

O sirs, do not men excel in strength, that bear rule over sea and land, and all things in them? But yet is the king stronger; for he is their lord, and hath dominion over them; and in whatsoever he commandeth them they obey him. If he bid them make war one against the other, they do it; and if he send them out against the enemy, they go, and overcome mountains, walls and towers. They slay and are slain, and transgress not the king's commandment; if they get the victory, they bring all to the king. O sirs, how should not the king be strongest, seeing that in such sort he is obeyed?

Then the third, who had spoken of women and of Truth, began to speak:

O sirs, is not the king great, and men are many and wine is strong? Who is it then that ruleth them, or hath the lordship over them? Are they not women? Women have borne the king and all the people that bear rule by sea and land. Even of them came they; and they nourished them that planted the vineyards, whence cometh the wine. Yea, a man leaveth his own father and his own country and cleaveth unto his wife. By this also must ye know that women have dominion over you; do ye not labor and toil, and give all to women? Yea, a man taketh his sword, and faceth danger and darkness for his love. O sirs, how can it be but women should be strong, seeing they do thus?

Yet, O sirs, is there a stronger than women? Great is the earth, high is the heaven, swift is the sun in his course, for he compasseth the heavens round about, and fetcheth his course again to his own place in one day. Is not the Maker of these things great? All the earth calleth upon Truth, and the heaven blesseth her; for with her is no unrighteous thing. Wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked; and they shall pass away. But as for Truth, she abideth, and is strong forever; she liveth and conquereth forevermore. With her there is no accepting of persons or rewards; but she doeth the things that are just, and refraineth from all unrighteous and wicked things; and all men do well like of her works. Neither in her judgment is any unrighteousness; and she is the strength, and the kingdom and the power and the majesty of all ages. Blessed be the God of Truth!

And all the people then shouted, and said, Great is Truth, and strong above all things! And the king said unto him, Ask what thou wilt, and we will give it thee; for thou art indeed found wisest of all.

Something in Your Eye?

Floyd W. Parsons in the Saturday Evening Post: Though many people have become expert in the art of removing irritating particles from the eyes of others, a few words on this subject will not be out of place. In removing a foreign particle from the eye ask the patient to look down and then take hold of the eyelash with thumb and forefinger of the left hand and pull the eyelid downward and slightly away from the eyeball. Next evert, or turn back, the eyelid by placing midway between the eyelashes and eyeball the tip of the thumb of the right hand and make the same movement that would be required to turn back the edge of a coat sleeve.

If the particle is located on the interior of the upper lid it may be removed with a clean handkerchief or a piece of clean cotton placed on the end of a toothpick or match. If the irritating substance is not on the upper lid try to find it in the same manner on the lower lid and remove it in the same way. When the particle is embedded in the cornea, or covering of the eyeball, it is best to consult a physician or eye specialist. After removing the particle from the eye it is advisable to irrigate the delicate member with boric acid.

Under no circumstances should anyone touch the eye with a handkerchief or other agent that has been moistened with saliva or with the tip of the tongue.

In treating the eyes with some kind of liquid medicine one should take care never to invert the dropper after the solution has been drawn into the glass tube. If the dropper is held with the rubber end downward and the fluid permitted to run into the rubber and then back into the glass the solution will very likely contain particles of powder that have washed off the rubber bulb, and these may irritate the eyes. Always hold up the rubber end of the dropper. The fluid should never be dropped directly on the eyeball unless the physician has so advised. The proper practice is to draw down the lower lid and place the drops on the exposed inner surface of the lid. One or two drops are always sufficient and it is only waste to use more.

Recreation

Manchester Guardian: Viscount Grey has been giving us a peep at one of the most delightful of subjects—the recreations of great men. He himself, with his bird life, his roses, his fishing, and his tennis, has been singularly fortunate. We like to hear of Robert Walpole managing so that the house of commons did not sit on Saturdays in order that he might be sure of his hunting, of Chatham playing cricket at Stowe (with what ritual he must have played!) and of Charles Fox playing without any ritual at all, declining finally to trap-ball when running had become impossible. Palmerston loved shooting and could walk much younger men off their legs. He played billiards rather badly, but loved to win. Derby played everything and became, while playing, racing man, hunting man, shooting man, till those who saw him at play wondered whether this could be the fiery statesman—surely the best way of taking recreation, and notably different from that of Disraeli, to whom the dressing the part was most of the business.

Yet Dizzy, when not posing, had his recreations and declared that trees and books were the great joys of his life. He loved to plant—Gladstone loved to fell; and he would never have interrupted political conversation, like Gladstone, with Homeric disquisitions. Forster loved whist and played it very badly; Lord Salisbury dabbled in chemistry; Mr. Balfour has music, golf, lawn tennis. Lloyd George fishes and golfs for the benefit of the photographers and walks the Welsh hills for his own benefit.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

When the Doctors Disagree

I am pleased to report progress in the campaign to depopularize catching cold.

In the past year I have encountered the word "cold," used as the name of a disease, just once in scientific medical literature of the day, although the term is of course carelessly and vaguely employed by some doctors who contribute what are known as squibs to medical publications of low status. The one instance referred to was a contribution by a Boston physician on the treatment and prophylaxis of perennial hay fever by determining the identity of the protein to which the patient is sensitized and administering minute quantities of that protein subcutaneously in gradually increasing doses to establish some degree of immunity. He wrote: "Recurring head colds are frequently coincident with the foregoing sensitizations. ....This type of head cold is probably not due to an infection, but rather a result of sensitization which renders the nasal mucous membrane easily irritable." So you see he did not mean what you mean when you say you have a cold in the head, if you know what I mean. In fact, he did not mean anything. He said "head cold" without thinking seriously of what he was trying to say.

It does not matter who the doctor may be, if he speaks of a "cold" or of "catching cold" or "taking cold" he does not know just what he is talking about. That is why he takes refuge in the use of such a meaningless or indefinite term. Have you ever noticed that when we don't know anything much about a subject we use a lot of vague terms in referring to it? Take occultism. Turn a "psychic" loose and he will make the dictionary groan, yet when he has finished you can't make any sense out of what he has been saying.

No two physicians mean precisely the same thing when they speak of a "cold" or even when they speak of a "head cold." Here's this Boston doctor, a specialist in his field and an authority on the subject of hay fever prophylaxis and treatment, referring to a sensitization of the nasal mucous membrane to certain bacterial proteins as "head cold." Nothing cold about it, except the dear old delusion. Why didn't he say rhinitis or coryza—he was addressing his remarks to medical readers only, and most medical readers nowadays know what rhinitis or coryza means. New England conservatism.

As a general rule, the only occasion when a doctor makes use of the term "cold" or the delusion "catching cold" is when he is up a tree and feels that he simply must keep the patient, family or friends dangling or quiet their curiosity until such time as he may venture to offer an actual diagnosis.

Therefore, there is still plenty of room for the doctors to disagree about this catching cold delusion.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Mitral Insufficiency.

What is mitral insufficiency? Does it effect the circulation or the nervous system? Has it anything to do with a leakage of the heart? (Mrs. I. M. C.)

Answer: The mitral valve is the valve between the two cavities of the left side of the heart. Mitral insufficiency is a term sometimes applied to the back leakage which occurs with each heart beat if that valve is distorted by disease or incompetent by reason of stretching or dilation of the orifice.

Nits.

What is good for taking nits from the hair? (A. M.)

Answer: Draw strands of hair through a cloth wet each time with hot vinegar.

The Dear Old Neighbors.

I am a girl 14 years old in high school and for a long time I have wanted a bicycle to ride back and forth on, when the weather permits, but mother thinks it should be harmful, because I am somewhat round shouldered and have very weak ankles. The dear old neighbors have warned her that bicycle riding is very bad for girls. Won't you please express your opinion about this. Mother always cites you as her authority in all things hygienic. (H. F.)

Answer: Bicycle riding is fine for all girls, and particularly good for girls with weak ankles and round shoulders and such like shortcomings of physical education.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Our Father God, I pray for the consecration of common toil. With shame I confess that our toil often mars our worship. Give unto me and all men the spirit which hallows labour and converts it into a refining ministry of Thy grace.

My Father in heaven, help me to toil to the heights today. Forgive my lapses and my forgetfulness. Give strength and firmness to my steps, and help me to move upwards to the highest realms of the sanctified life.

Almighty God, I pray that the day may remind me anew of the power of the resurrection. May its saving energy lift me into heights of life which I have never yet scaled! May I make great progress today in climbing the heavenly hill! Let all the pilgrims on the heavenly road have a closer walk with God.—J. H. Jowett.

Threshing Day

There's a humming, humming, humming on the hill,
  Like a nest of bumble bees amid the hay,
There's a humming on the hill like the droning of a mill,
  For the thresher crew is threshing there today.

    Wheat, wheat, wheat,
    Is the chorus they repeat;
    They are beating out the wheat,
    Like the pattering of sleet—
    The cheat from the wheat,
    In the heat and flying chaff,
    While the dusty toilers laugh
    In a labor that is sweet,
    For the glory of their labor is the wheat.

There's a yellow ant hill rising toward the sun,
And the ant-like wagons loaded turn and run,
And they feed each tangled bundle
To the spiky roaring spindle,
Till the final cart loads dwindle and are done.

    Wheat, wheat, wheat,
    That the multitudes may eat,
    They are beating out the wheat
    From the chaff and from the cheat,
    In the seething summer heat,
    Friend and neighbor
    Trading labor in the wheat.

The Ayes Have It

Life: During the recess period several teachers became engaged in a heated argument over that old theme, "Man vs. Woman."

"Well, anyway," concluded the dyspeptic male teacher of Latin, "women are more finicky than men."

"Recite an instance, please," put in the dainty little teacher of domestic science.

"That's nothing, compared with what a man will do," she came back quickly. "If a man loses a quarter in a card game, he'll spend $10 trying to win it back."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Breezy Comments on Current Topics by State's Live Newspapers.

Now for Harmony

Hibbing Tribune: With the election over and the will of the majority of the people made plain, it should be possible to go forward with constructive plans for the arrangement of peace and the adjustment of national and internal affairs.

The period of reconstruction would have been difficult in any case. It has been sadly complicated by the intrusion of a presidential campaign. But now that the way is clear, government and citizens alike can proceed to the unraveling of the tangled threads of the nation's business.

Optimism the Word

Fairmont Sentinel: Don't worry about old Minnesota. A state with her resources cannot be ruined or materially injured by any set of men whom her people elect to office.

Even the Names Sound Alike

Baudette Region: The Bolshevik leaders in Russia wear their hair long, rave at everything and teach free love. In this country they wear their hair short. The only difference is in the style of haircuts.

Inadequate Police One Reason

Mankato Free Press: Crime continues to run rampant in the large cities. Frequently the bandits residing therein come into the country and tap a till, rob a store, get away with their loot and are lost in the underworld of the big towns. Is there no remedy for the increase in law violations?

Everybody Agrees About This

St. Cloud Journal Press: The important task that confronts the United States is to give the farmers a square deal, and to make conditions so favorable to the food producers that there may be a real turning back to the farms. With over half the people living in cities, it will be to the advantage of all that agriculture be made a more profitable occupation.

Let's Go

Winnebago City Enterprise: The American people have adopted a new slogan—"Let's Go!" And there is danger in that slogan—danger if the present mania for spending and the mad whirl of pleasure away from the traditions of our forefathers. Wall Street Men Handsomest

New York Evening Sun: "In what part of New York will you find the city's best looking men?"

The inquirer did not say "women," because she was a woman herself and she took it for granted that feminine beauty is about equal over Manhattan.

"Riverside drive?" ventured the person being questioned.

"No."

"Fifth avenue?"

"Certainly not."

"You never will guess in the world," she finally burst out, "for it is Wall street and vicinity. Just where you would expect only steely eyes, grim visaged magnates, you will find New York's handsomest men."

"Why?"

"Oh, that's easy. Because to Wall street and environs goes the cream of American manhood—college bloods, star athletes as well as brain athletes come here to carve out a career.

"Of course Broadway has its bright spots of masculine beauty," she went on. "But the average Broadway man is jaded. The Wall street man is fresh and clean cut."

URGES KINDNESS TO MOTHERS-IN-LAW

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been interested in reading of the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law, in all their trouble. I wish to say I have had two mothers-in-law and I have a daughter-in-law. I am a grandmother and a mother-in-law, and I [illegible] all to keep their temper and give in to the older folks. Why we will get old some day and be a mother-in-law too, but believe me, there are just as many disagreeable daughters-in-law as there are mothers-in-law and when they go singing and talking over the phone to their friends, it is often done to annoy the mother-in-law.

I have never had any trouble with my mothers-in-law. They always loved me as though I was their own daughter, and I loved them in return, and a great deal of this trouble is caused through bad temper on the young woman's side, and they are too proud to be told anything from the older women.

Now, be kind to your husband's mother. If you really love your husband you surely love his mother. Why, I wouldn't hurt my mother-in-law's feelings under any consideration. She is old and the old saying is, "once a man, twice a child." Now, consider this, and use kind words instead of pouting and taunting them in your [illegible] way of tossing your head and making snappy remarks, so they can [illegible] you. Take my advice and be kind to your mother-in-law and she certainly will be kind to you in return. Now I am a woman over 50 years of age and I have seen many mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law and the majority to blame are the daughters-in-law. They are too snippy and saucy, and think they know it all, and no one else knows anything. Remember you'll be old yourselves some day and then your hateful remarks will come back to taunt you. Kind words never die.

PLUMBING LICENSES OPPOSED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The writer recently read in the columns of the Open Court a letter written by some person of sound judgment, regarding the ordinance proposing the licensing of plumbers, which was just recently introduced before the city council.

This is a matter of vital concern to our city, not only as it affects the plumbing itself, but on account of the unfavorable effect it would have on every phase of building construction.

The idea is wrong in principle. Of course, no one can take issue with the avowed purpose of the measure—the securing of better guarantees that jobs having to do with sanitation will be done properly—but we need no further legislation to guard our welfare in this direction. The present building code requires: Firstly, the taking out of permits for proposed work, and secondly, inspection of the work by the building inspector.

The truth of the matter is that there is far more behind this proposed ordinance than the arguments advanced for it. If it passed it would be class legislation pure and simple—benefit to the few who wish to corral the business and stifle competition, and detriment to all other citizens.

Duluth can afford to have no further obstacles to building construction added to those which already beset her path. The writer feels that this is a matter which should have wide publicity and editorial comment.

The proposed measure is a distinct menace to our progress.

WOULD CUT MISCHIEF FROM HALLOWEEN FUN

To the Editor of The Herald:

Now that the election is over we might turn to other useful things. I have in mind an old custom among our younger folks of doing mischiefs and pranks the last days of October annually. The placing of iron pipes across the rails of the car track at Woodland by small boys, nearly causing a disastrous accident, shows how far this custom of "fun" indulged in by the younger set might lead to. Has not the time come when some united movement should be started to abolish that old idea that boys and girls at a certain time of the year shall have "fun" by doing mischiefs? And even the practice of soaping windows, often with wax that can hardly be cleaned off, is a thing that should not be tolerated.

Was there not a note in the papers a few days ago that West Duluth business men had a petition to the council that the soaping of windows in business districts should be stopped? Some years ago the custom of shooting fire crackers on the Fourth of July was abandoned and nobody was worse for it. The young folks do not miss that "fun" and they are better off.

We are living in a progressive age; why should not old, pernicious customs be discarded for more practical enjoyment by young America? Let Halloween be celebrated in a more intelligent manner by the young people and I am sure it will be more fun and better satisfaction to them than to indulge in prankishness and in mischief. Let's hear from others on this subject.

THE SAME OLD NEED.

What does the world need? Poet, dreamer, sage
Toy with the question, filling page on page;
Pulpit and forum thunder day by day
Pointing men's thoughts to many an untried way;
The air is full of clamors and great cries;
And over all confusions and despairs,
Above grave doubts and vainly futile prayers,
God's voice breaks tenderly just as of old:
"Till time shall end and all the worlds turn cold
This is man's only need, to walk each day
With loving heart along the human way,
Clasping all hands, and reading in each face
The call of friend and neighbor; by God's grace
Bearing the common burden, free from doubt,
Finding life good, with all of fear cast out,
And asking nothing save the common good
That flows from out the joy of brotherhood.
And in the glory of the sunlit sod
Reading the message of the love of God."

MOTHERS-IN-LAW—NAGGY AND OTHERWISE

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been reading a great deal lately in Open Court of abused daughters-in-law. I do not live in the same house with my mother-in-law, but she lives only a block from our home. We get along very nicely when we meet. I respect her as much as I do my own mother, because she is my husband's mother. Even if she ever lives in the same house with me I know positively that I will still be on good terms with her; I know that she would attend to her own affairs and I would attend to mine.

But to the abused daughters-in-law I wish to ask them where their pride is, any way, to whimper and whine and complain, because their mothers-in-law scold them and won't let them talk on the phone or laugh or sing during the day.

If I had a naggy mother-in-law like that, I certainly would show her that I could sing and telephone all I felt like, and could go out during the day time or evening as often as I pleased. I would go and see my own mother as often as I wished, and my mother would come to see me as often as she wanted to. There isn't a husband or a mother-in-law in existence who would keep me from my mother, no matter how they would bark or nag. The man who lets his father or mother persuade him to scold or abuse his wife or tell him and coax him to leave his wife and family is an idiot to listen to such foolishness. If a man loves a girl well enough to marry her and to spend his whole life living with her, why should he stick to his parents and abuse his wife after they are married? That kind of an imitation of a man should stay single and be mamma's boy forever.

Every wife should do her duty to her family, her husband, and the in-laws, but she should never forget her mother or father, just because of some foolish whim or jealousy of her husband or the mother-in-law.

And to those daughters-in-law who find living with their mothers-in-law so awful, and who have to take a lot of insults, just show a little "pep" and let them know who really is the "captain of the ship." Sing and yell all you feel like, and laugh all you please, put your furniture where you want it, and when your husband comes home, and "mother-in-law" has tattled of your bad behavior, put a good size piece of cotton batting in both ears and let them both go to it. "You should worry."

Ans.: No. Unless you are going to Sweden it will be necessary to have your passport amended to include your wife. If a visit to Sweden is planned a separate passport for the wife will be required. Take up the matter at the clerk of the United States court's office in the Federal building.

A. L., Duluth: Will you please tell me what Harding's nationality is?

Ans.: American on both sides. One of his ancestors was a captain in the Revolutionary war.

M. C., Hibbing, Minn.: To settle an argument please inform me through your Open Court: Is Senator Harding a divorced man? If so, how many times? Is Governor Cox a divorced man? If so, how many times?

Ans.: These questions have been answered several times. Mr. Harding has not been divorced and Mr. Cox was divorced by his first wife in 1911.

M. B., Park Falls, Wis.: To settle an argument, is a man that is born and lived all his life in the U. S. A. a citizen, providing his father has never become a citizen?

Ans.: Yes, his birth in the United States makes him a citizen regardless of whether his father was or not.

Let the Buyer Beware!

The Buyer—man, young man or boy—should use caution in buying clothing today!

If "he" buys his Suit, Overcoat—including pelt-lined Coats, Mackinaws, Raincoats or Topcoats at The Big Duluth "he" may be assured that they are the best.

All of Our Clothing Prices Are Reduced

Take it from us, clothing that is lower in price than The Big Duluth's clothes ought to be lower, for they're inferior to our quality. Clothes that are higher in price ought not to be higher, for they cannot be conceivably finer.

Our low prices are barometers of clothing values. If you are going to buy a Suit or Overcoat you ought not to PAY MORE than we ask and you cannot afford to pay less and then get Quality Clothing.

POPULATION IS WEALTHY

Washington, Nov. 5.—Economic conditions in Cuba at present, compelling measures such as President Menocal's moratorium decree, are in sharp contrast to those described in the following communication to the National Geographic society by William Joseph Showalter, who visited the island during the crest of its prosperity wave:

"Almost every person who visits Cuba on pleasure bent lands in Havana, and comparatively few get more than twenty miles away from that city's central park.

"If New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington were consolidated, the resulting metropolis would bear about the same relation to the United States that Havana bears to Cuba. The capital city is the home of more people than are embraced in the combined populations of all the other cities and towns of the republic that have more than 4,000 inhabitants. Its closest rival is Santiago, but that city has only one-tenth as many people.

"As half the country's urban population is centered in Havana, so also is half of its shipping. The city normally handles a greater foreign tonnage than any other port in the Western hemisphere except New York.

Big Profits in Sugar.

"Most of Cuba's wealthy families have Havana homes. During the past four years the net profits of the sugar business have probably exceeded the gross returns of any other four-year period in the history of the island.

"The result is that perhaps no other city in the whole world has proportionately as large a wealthy population as Havana.

"Out of these conditions grew a situation where dollars were even cheaper than they are now in the United States. Tens of thousands of acres of land were laid out in residence sites, and the Vedado district, the Riverside drive and the Sheridan road of Havana, was extended until it reached farther from the Prado than Riverside drive from New York's City Hall square or Sheridan road from Chicago's Loop.

"There are no advertising signs on these lots. But as one motors along one sees nestling close to the ground inconspicuous little boards, about a foot long, and half a foot wide, bearing the legend in Spanish 'Sold to Mr. So and So.' And Mr. So and So is usually some Cuban who made a fortune out of sugar down in the provinces and came up to the capital for the social season. If not that, he is probably an American who likes to be reasonably near the country clubs, and prefers to live where the cocktail has not lost its legal status. The price of the lots was from $1 to $3 a square foot, or from $43,000 to $130,000 per acre.

Transients Hit by High Prices.

"If high prices hit those to whom Havana is home, it was, of course, natural that they should strike the transient even more forcibly. Hotels everywhere are always the advance guard in the price climb, and those in Cuba have been no exception.

"There is only one hotel in Havana that gives anything like the American standard of service, and its rates during the past season were $25 a day for an outside room with bath, without meals. It purposed to cater only to those to whom prices are no object, but that sort of patronage failed to develop in sufficient volume to maintain a full house.

"The other hotels charged rates of from $6 to $12 for accommodations far from as good as one gets at from $3 to $6 in New York. The result was that many people who came to spend a week or ten days moved up their return dates considerably, and the tourist population changed on the average every four days.

"The disappointments of the past season promise for the coming season a saner adjustment between rates and service.

"According to figures furnished the writer by the Cuban department of agriculture much land produces twenty-two bags of sugar to the acre. This, at 15 cents a pound, brings a gross return of more than $1,000 an acre.

"These conditions brought about the unprecedented boom in sugar lands. One sugar estate, which was bought some three years ago for $3,000,000, sold last January for $9,500,000. Another, which was valued at about $6,000,000 a few years ago, changed hands at $15,000,000."

SONG IN THE NIGHT.

Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph: "I was in a bad predicament this morning," said one husband to another.

"How was that?"

"Why, I came home late, and my wife heard me and said, 'John, what time is it?' and I said, Only 12, my dear,' and just then that cuckoo clock of ours sang out three times."

"What did you do?"

"Why, I just had to stand there and cuckoo nine hours more."

LOWER PRICES FOR CLOTHES

Manufacturer Advises Customers to Wait Before Giving Spring Orders.

Though clothing and woolen goods prices have been reduced substantially further cuts are predicted by some authorities for next spring's trade.

The general attitude of clothing manufacturers is illustrated in the recent issuing of a circular by one of the large Chicago concerns advising its customers to wait before putting in their orders for spring delivery.

Manufacturers have received their samples of spring cloths from the mills, but they are reported to be in no hurry to place orders as they are waiting to see what encouragement they can obtain from retailers. The retail trade is asserted to have been affected by the warm weather prevailing this fall, and by the number of clearances and cut-price sales that have been in progress in the different cities over the country.

Business Better in East.

The Eastern woolen mills are reported to be finding business improved, though it is admitted that the number of idle looms is larger than it should be at this season. Gradual improvement is, however, looked for now that the disturbing influence of the presidential elections is out of the way. At the first auction sale of wool in several months, held in Boston last week the coarser grades that had been dragging, were disposed of, with carpet manufacturers the buyers. At a recent wool sale at Sydney, Australia, good prices were realized for fine merinos, the buyers being principally Americans. Looking the situation over, it is thought that low prices have been set in the woolen market, though no advances are looked for until the large stocks now in hand have been marketed and distributed through manufacturers.

WILL FOSTER WORLD TRADE

Long-Term Credits Provided Through Investment Abroad.

New York, Nov. 5.—A great step toward fostering America's world trade through foreign investment is foreseen by the Guaranty Trust company of New York in the recent authorization by the American Bankers' association of the organization of a $100,000,000 foreign trade financing corporation under the Edge law. The company's semi-monthly survey of international trade, "American Goods and Foreign Markets," says, in part:

The foreign credit situation has reached a point where loans to foreign countries are no longer adequate to meet the needs of the growing foreign trade of the United States. The Edge law corporation, as authorized by the American Bankers' association, will not make loans, but will provide a source of long-term credits through investment abroad.

Nation's Greatest Asset.

That foreign investment probably is a nation's greatest asset in the maintenance of a strong position in world trade is evidenced by the position of Great Britain. Although her foreign investments were diminished by about five billion dollars as a result of the war, she still has approximately fifteen billions invested in foreign countries, and, through her powerful trade organizations, is striving fearlessly to regain the ground lost during the war. Her investments are so judiciously and widely scattered throughout the world that the slogan, "The sun never sets on the British empire," might be as appropriately applied to her foreign investments.

The United States—second nation of the world in foreign investments—is a creditor by a total of about eleven billion dollars invested abroad. This amount, as compared with that of British capital invested abroad, is inconsistent with the potential volume of foreign trade of the United States and must be augmented through an increase in the foreign trade financing power of the country, if we are to compete successfully with other nations in disposing of our enormous surplus stocks. On the other hand, of course, we must accept goods from our debtors because that is the only means by which they can pay their obligations to us. And we must use these goods as a basis for granting loans to other countries so that new markets may be built up for our products.

Surplus This Year.

The surplus of the United States this year will include about 8,000,000 bales of cotton, 300,000,000 bushels of wheat, $750,000,000 worth of semi-manufactured raw materials and finished manufactured products, and about $250,000,000 worth of packing house products. European countries are in the market for the major part of this surplus, but payment in gold before the goods are shipped cannot be made in any significant amount. The natural commercial course for the United States to follow under the circumstances is the course which Great Britain has so profitably taken through the years of her foreign trade development—the investment of capital in foreign countries through foreign trade financing corporations.

The General Export corporation organized under the Edge law, authorized by the American Bankers' association, probably will be established early in 1921 with an initial capitalization of $100,000,000. Its capital will be distributed as widely as possible throughout the United States, so that all localities may receive the benefit of its operation.

With a capital of $100,000,000, the power of this corporation for benefiting the foreign trade of the United States will be almost unlimited. Under the provisions of the Edge law, a corporation organized in accordance with its specifications may issue debenture bonds for sale in the United States and the extension of credits abroad up to ten times the amount of its capitalization. The maximum possible financing power of the corporation just authorized will therefore be $1,000,000,000, an amount equal to more than 9 per cent of this country's total foreign investments today.

DANGEROUS GAME.

Detroit News: The mountain lion of California is the only wild animal that has increased its numbers while civilization advanced into its own country. It combines the cunning agility of the cat, the ferocity of the tiger and the strength of the lion, and while some score are killed every year in Southern California, and thousands roam the hills, so sly are they that men who have lived in the heart of the lion territory for years have never seen one.

The mountain lion of California is the puma of South America and the cougar of Central America. Although it has the coloring of the Asiatic lion, it is merely a big cat with claws like razors, and a terrible ferocity that makes it a dangerous game for the most skilled of hunters. Its ravages on cattle and sheep are enormous. It sleeps by day and prowls by night, sneaking up on its victim with noiseless movements.

Ralston Porridge
—Full of Taste

That wonderful flavor, which makes Ralston porridge the delight of every child and grown-up, is just the flavor that nature meant it to have.

For Ralston is wheat—as nature made it—with none of its wonderful qualities or flavor taken out.

The sweet nut-like kernel of the berry, which gives Ralston its color, also gives it its deliciously different flavor.

It is good—and it is nourishing. For besides the flavor, nature put into the whole wheat berry, all the food elements necessary to the development of the child's body—and grown-ups too.

Serve Ralston to the whole family. There is something in it for each one, and all of them will like the taste.

Try it first as porridge—for tomorrow's breakfast.

LEAGUE DEAD, HARDING SAYS

Refers to Covenant as "Now Deceased" in Speech at Marion.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 5.—In his first speech as president-elect, Warren G. Harding declared at an election celebration of home folks here last night that the Versailles League of Nations was "now deceased," although the new administration intended to see that the nation played its part in a new international association founded on peace and justice.

Mr. Harding also told his friends and neighbors, who gathered around the front porch in a cheering concourse rivaling the greatest crowd of the campaign, that he had come through the fight "without an apology or a regret" and that he would rather not have the presidency than to win it "by speaking ill or uttering a lie."

The celebration, in which many from other Ohio cities joined, was characterized by all the carnival features of an old-time political rally. So great was the gathering that the streets were jammed for a block away and only a small part of those present could hear the speech. In a parade past the Harding residence there were many special features, one man leading a donkey on whose sides was painted "Jimmie didn't treat me right," while another group carried a dummy corpse silhouetted against a red fire background and labeled "The League of Nations."

It was from the latter tableau that the president-elect took the cue for the leading thought of his speech. His reference to it started a laugh, and then he said:

Fails to See Sorrow.

"I didn't see as much sorrow in your faces as I had apprehended. It is not that you or I question the desire of America to play its part, it's not that we question the high ideals of those who were responsible for the Versailles Covenant. You just did not want a surrender of the United States of America, you wanted America to go on under American ideals. That's why you didn't care for the league, which is now deceased.

"America is playing a great part now. America is healing the heart of the world tonight as no other nation. But there is more to do. There is a new world relationship, and when the next administration comes into power we're going to play our part. We're going to ask for nations associated together in justice, but it shall be an association which surrenders nothing of American freedom."

The president-elect touched on no other issues of the campaign but thanked the crowd for its tribute and asked that he go to Washington "with your good wishes and your confidence and prayers."

"It's a solemn responsibility," he said, "and when I am through I want to be able to come back and be one of you again the same as I am now. I like to stand before you and tell you I don't come with a single apology or regret. Before I'd become president by speaking ill or uttering a lie, I'd spurn the office."

He added that he always had liked "the Marion spirit of boosting" and that he was "going down to Washington as a booster for the United States of America."

Outside Delegations Present.

The Marion Civic association was the moving spirit in the jollification but there were many present from other Ohio cities, including large delegations from Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

D. R. Crysinger, a former Democratic nominee for congress, but a supporter of Mr. Harding through the campaign, is president of the Civic association and acted as the spokesman of the serenaders.

The dozen girl stenographers and clerks attached to Harding headquarters headed the parade which formed in the business section and marched to the Harding residence. The Harding Marching club, the Harding Women's club of Marion, and many other organizations of this and other cities, were in the line.

President-elect and Mrs. Harding first reviewed the parade as it passed their home and then personally greeted the marchers as they broke ranks and assembled on the lawn. They both expressed particular pleasure at the work of the Civic association, which has busied itself during the summer extending courtesies to delegations.

Vacation Trip.

Detailed arrangements for the vacation trip, announced yesterday, show that those who will go along with the president-elect and his wife include Senators Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Hale of Maine and Elkins of West Virginia; Edward H. McLean, Washington publisher; Harry M. Daugherty, the Harding pre-convention manager; George B. Christian, Jr., Mr. Harding's secretary; Dr. C. E. Sawyer, his family physician; Judson C. Welliver, publicity director at Harding headquarters; also Malcolmb Jennings, attached to the headquarters. The wives of several of these will accompany them, and two stenographers, a secret service guard and a dozen newspapermen will complete the party.

The trip will be made on a special train, which will leave here Saturday morning and will go to Point Isabel, Texas, by way of St. Louis and San Antonio. There will be a short layover at San Antonio Sunday night, where the senator will be joined by F. E. Scobey and R. B. Creager, prominent Texas Republicans, whose guest he will be during the twelve-day stay at Point Isabel. The train will reach Brownsville Monday morning and the party will travel the remainder of the distance, twenty miles, by motor.

Some difficulty has been encountered in arranging a suitable schedule for the president-elect's proposed trip from Point Isabel to the canal zone. It was said that details of the voyage were in abeyance pending further advices from steamship companies. There are no regular sailings between the points where the senator had hoped to sail.

Oil in Ontario.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 5.—Events of the past few days indicate the possibility of this section of Ontario becoming an important oil-producing center. Discoveries have been made which are very promising and options on over 1,000 acres of land have been secured by a large corporation interested in oil development. Wells in the district have been renderd unfit for drinking purposes from a distinct flavor of oil, and on further drilling in one of these, gas was encountered.

HILTON GIVES WOMEN CREDIT

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—In commenting upon the result of the election Attorney General Hilton said today:

"I certainly am most gratified over the magnificent plurality I have received. I do not take this victory as a personal tribute to myself, although for the last few weeks I have conducted an active campaign. I trust that part at least of my support was due to the fact that the people generally approved of the manner in which I have conducted the office of attorney general. The very satisfactory outcome is due almost entirely to the loyal hard-working and efficient support given to me by my friends and the supporters of sound government. The hearty co-operation of all candidates on the Republican state ticket—those with and those without serious opposition—was gratifying to me. They figured that I was in danger of being defeated, and I was three weeks ago, and most valiantly they supported me. The Republican party never had more effective state and county organizations than during this campaign.

"I took occasion in public addresses to always congratulate the state on having added to the electorate the large body of intelligent women voters that for the first time were given the right of suffrage. I was confident of that statement when I made it, and the result of the election proves it beyond all question. The sweeping Republican victory in Minnesota is attributable in a very great measure to the manner in which women rose to the occasion and worked and voted for the principles so necessary to the preservation of the constitutional rights of the church and the sanctity of the home and family."

Caribou in Droves.

JEWISH SPEAKERS START CAMPAIGN

New York, Nov. 5.—With a letter of encouragement from President Wilson to spur their endeavors, 160 nationally prominent Jews, yesterday started a tour of the entire country, to bring the message of regenerated Judaism to all American Jewry. The tourists make up a "flying squadron" of speakers who will officially open the campaign of the Union of American Hebrew congregations for $3,500,000 to carry out a ten-year extension program. President Wilson's letter to the Union, of which J. Walter Freiberg of Cincinnati is chairman, was made public today and is as follows:

"Your letter of Oct. 22 affords me a most welcome opportunity to express my very deep interest in the movement which is being pushed forward by the Union of American Hebrew congregations to set forth the spiritual needs of Israel and to appeal for a stronger and more active Judaism, and also to raise money for a ten-year extension program. I sincerely hope that the efforts the Union is making will be crowned with complete success.

"WOODROW WILSON."

The "flying squadron," which is headed by Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, Congressman Julius Kahn of San Francisco, and Mortimer L. Schiff of New York, includes leaders in every field of activity—bankers, business men, social workers, philanthropists, rabbis and well known laymen. Mankny Strauss, chairman of the advisory committee of the campaign, with Dr. Nathan Krass heads the New York delegation. The squadron will address meetings in 200 of the largest cities of the country.

U. S. HOMES WASTE BILLIONS IN SMOKE

New York, Nov. 5.—Billions of dollars are vanishing annually in smoke as a result of fuel waste in American homes, according to Joseph E. Pogue, industrial economist of this city, and formerly scientist in charge of the investigation of energy resources for the Smithsonian institution. Mr. Pogue's declaration is contained in a statement by the committee on information and service of the fuel section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, now conducting from its national headquarters in this city a country-wide inquiry into fuel conditions.

W. N. Polakov is chairman of the committee which, in addition to Mr. Pogue, includes F. G. Tryon, statistician of the United States geological survey; E. A. Lucey, C. C. Phelps, Floyd W. Parsons and Charles E. Lucke, professor of mechanical engineering at Columbia university, who was prominent in planning warfare against the U-boats. The work of the committee will not be confined merely to the mechanical aspects of the energy problem but will include also the relationship of its technique to the social and economic problems involved.

BIG INCREASE IN FRENCH TAXES

New York, Nov. 5.—The following statement regarding French taxation returns has been received by cable:

Official figures of receipts for September from indirect taxes, revenues and monoplies show an increase of 117,641,800 francs over receipts for September, 1919, the largest increase in tax collections during any month this year. Total collections from these sources in September were 1,694,553,100 francs. In September, 1919, the total was 672,000,000. Last month's figures include receipts for only five days' operation of the new business turnover tax which produced in this brief period 299,086,500 francs. Deducting this special tax the remainder is still 85,108,100 francs, or 12 per cent in excess of budget estimates, and 23 per cent in excess of receipts in September, 1919.

Official comparative figures of receipts from the same sources in the first nine months of this year show an increase of 2,916,437,400 francs over receipts in the corresponding period of 1919. The total for the 1920 period is 8,471,300,700 francs; for the 1919 period 5,554,863,300. This year's figures also show actual receipts for nine months of 1,854,774,500 francs more than the budget estimates of revenues from above sources. Comparison for the entire period would be still more favorable if the business turnover tax had been operating for the whole month of September.

DANGER IN HORSEHAIR SHAVING BRUSHES

Washington, Nov. 5.—Surgeon-General Cumming of the United States public health service has just issued a fresh warning against the use of horsehair shaving brushes, to which not a few cases of anthrax have been traced.

He says: "The public health service has made every effort possible under existing laws and regulations to prevent the occurence of anthrax due to infected shaving brushes, but in spite of its efforts anthrax cases occur and will continue to occur unless the public ceases to buy and use horse-hair brushes for shaving."

PROMOTE THRIFT, PROTECT SAVINGS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—An organization to promote thrift and to protect savings has been incorporated here as an outgrowth of the wartime conservation campaigns and the recent Ponzi high-finance fiasco. It will be known as the Association for the Promotion and Protection of Savings and will combine with the encouragement of safe investment an educational program to combat quick-rich schemes.

At the head of the association is Alfred L. Aiken, former governor of the Federal reserve bank in this city. Those associated with him include leaders in the thrift, Liberty Loan and other campaigns of recent years. The association will co-operate with the work of the savings division of the treasury department, but its activities will be distinct from any government branch.

The educational department will be vate, parochial, normal and vocational schools and the latter working with women's organizations, fraternal bodies, the army and navy, the churches and professions.

The business department will be divided into industrial and commercial, agriculture and banking sections. The industrial and commercial section will divided into school and home economic sections, the former covering education in thrift in colleges, public, private work with labor unions, associated industries, the wholesale and retail trades, Americanization committee and the Young Men's Christian association industrial secretaries. The agricultural section will be concerned with the granges and farm bureaus and the banking section will have its work with the savings, national, trust company and co-operative banks, insurance and investment banking concerns and trust companies.

Tax Problems That the New Administration Must Face

Of vital concern to every one of us, because indissolubly linked with the high cost of living, is the problem of tax revision that confronts the new administration at Washington. "There is no question that Federal taxation is a burning issue the country over," declares the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind. Rep.), which adds that "if the country is to be saved from the inequalities of the present taxation, which is both sectional and too arbitrary in its class distinctions, it must be through the combined common sense of both parties, and not through any doctrinaire adherence to partisan systems."

During the fiscal year 1920 Federal taxes amounted to $5,408,075,468, an increase of a billion and a half over 1919. And since the cost of running the Government next year will be at least $4,000,000,000, according to the estimates of Secretary of the Treasury Houston, the problem for the present is to devise a better, not a smaller, tax.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, November 6th, presents the many suggestions offered to meet this acute situation, including the list of the articles upon which new taxation is contemplated. It also shows the criticisms for and against the various measures proposed.

SOUTH DAKOTA PAIR ESCAPE FROM JAIL

Huron, S. D., Nov. 5.—In a daring jail delivery in Beadle county, John Horton and Mike Makline, prisoners in the county jail, overpowered the sheriff last night and escaped. The sheriff was injured but not seriously.

Horton was serving a term for carrying concealed weapons and Makline had recently been adjudged insane. A posse is searching for the two men.

MANY VISITORS AT BADGER STATEHOUSE

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—The capitol policeman who sits under the huge dome with his chair tilted against a Grecian marble post isn't interested in statistics, he explains. The number of people who pass through the corridors of the building on an average day and glance up to marvel at the architecture, have never interested him enough to induce him to keep figures on them.

"About everybody in town goes through once a day," he said, "but then during the month about everybody in the state comes to take a look, but I never kept any figures," he said.

"In the summer this place attracts them because it is cool and in the winter they come to get warm. It's a fine building all right."

MINOT DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Police Say Man Killed His Wife and Then Himself.

Minot, N. D., Nov. 5.—Patrick Dowling and his wife, Edna, were shot and killed here last evening. The tragedy occurred in a rooming house with no witnesses. According to police, who were called, Dowling first killed his wife and then committed suicide.

The landlady of the hotel and other roomers were away at the time. The shots were heard by a boy outside, and the police were notified. The couple were dead when the officers arrived. Domstic troubles are believed by the police to have prompted the shooting.

ST. PAUL GIRL, HELD CAPTIVE, IS RELEASED

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Held captive in an abandoned church here by a man who is said to have lured her into the building, a 14-year-old girl was rescued by the police late yesterday after her alleged captor had fled.

A suspect was arrested and is being held by the police charged with attempted assault.

GEDDES SPEAKS TO GOPHER EDUCATORS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Improved education would aid greatly in making future wars impossible and the schoolroom is the hope of peace, declared Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, who spoke here last night before the annual convention of the Minnesota Education association.

"An ambassador's duty is to promote the cause of peace," said Sir Auckland. "I have participated in two wars and I have no desire to see another or for my children to see one. I do not want to see war or hear talk of war between any nations, and I know that though you have no more power over the course of your country's immediate international actions than is possessed by 100,000,000 of your fellow private citizens, you and your companions in the teaching profession have an almost absolute control over the mental bias of the citizens of the future. That knowledge emboldens me to say that if you are understandingly faithful to your trust there will be new hope for mankind and the peace of the world.

"I do not suggest that even perfection in national education would end war, but I firmly believe that improved education would make impossible useless war waged by misunderstandings and misconceptions, or of false issues and animosities based on ignorance."

The schoolroom also may be a big factor as a steadying influence to calm unrest, Sir Auckland said.

Sir Auckland speaks in Minneapolis today.

LOW WATER TO CLOSE ESCANABA PAPER PLANT

Escanaba, Mich., Nov. 5.—The Escanaba Paper company, one of the largest in the Northwest, will close completely Saturday, due to shortage of waterpower, caused by lack of water in nearby streams. During the past month the plant has been running half capacity.

WEAR GAS MASKS FIGHTING RAPIDS FIRE

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 5.—Gas masks worn by World war veterans in the late war came in handy when the local firemen were called on to fight a fire in the county jail caused by defective wiring, an hour's fighting being required to subdue the blaze. The fire started in the entrance to the basement, where the smoke was so dense that it was difficult for the firemen to enter, and some of the overseas gas masks owned by former service men were brought into use. After being equipped with these, it was but a short time until the fire was put out.

The fire worked its way up between the partitions until it broke out in the living rooms of Sheriff and Mrs. Carson. A considerable amount of damage was done by smoke and water to the furniture and bedding in the sheriff's apartments.

The prisoners in the jail were taken to the office of the sheriff in the courthouse. No damage was done to the cell part of the jail, and the prisoners were all returned to their cells before noon.

BADGER KILLED HUNTING

Ladysmith, Wis., Nov. 5.—The canvas gloves Joseph Mclak, 35, farmer, living near Hawkins, wore were mistaken by his hunting companion, Joseph Heubeck, for a bird and he shot and killed him, the latter said in reporting the shooting, expressing his deepest sorrow as the two were friends. After an investigation Heubeck was released. The dead man leaves a wife and six children.

BIG DEPOSIT GAIN IN GOPHER STATE BANKS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Deposits in the 1,193 state banks, savings banks and trust companies in Minnesota increased $45,203,797.77 in the past year, F. E. Pearson, superintendent of banks, announced last night.

The present deposits in Minnesota banks under state supervision total $462,725,644.41, as compared to $427,521,846.64 in 1919.

The totals announced by Mr. Pearson are taken from figures compiled this week, showing the condition of the banks as disclosed by the reports under the call for state banks on Oct. 6, 1920. Compared with the reports of June 30, 1920, at which time the deposits were $470,981,784.83—the highest in the history of the state—the present report shows a decrease of only 1 7-10 per cent, which Mr. Pearson considered a small decrease, as large sums are used for the movement and financing of crops.

"The trend of commodity prices is clearly downward and as long as that condition continues the volume of bank deposits likely will decrease," Mr. Pearson said.

"It is therefore imperative that bankers redouble their efforts to liquidate loans and insist upon payments, not only sufficient to keep pace with the gradual decline in deposits but to take up outstanding bills payable and rediscounts."

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, carpenter, 671 G Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Now Is The Time To Buy Cranberries For Preserving

Then you can enjoy the delicious tart flavor of this health-giving fruit every day in the year.

Try these recipes:

Cranberry Jelly

Cook until soft the desired quantity of cranberries with 1½ pints of water for each two quarts of berries. Strain the juice through a jelly bag.

Measure the juice and heat it to the boiling point. Add one cup of sugar for every two cups of juice; stir until the sugar is dissolved; boil briskly for five minutes; skim, and pour into glass tumblers, porcelain or crockery molds.

Cranberry Sauce

One quart cranberries, two cups boiling water, 1½ to 2 cups sugar. Boil sugar and water together for five minutes; skim; add the cranberries and boil without stirring (five minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins are broken. Remove from the fire when the popping stops.

Cranberry Butter

Three pints cranberries, ½ cup water, 2 cups sugar.

Cook the cranberries and water until the skins of the fruit are broken; then press through a sieve, and cook this pulp until it becomes quite thick; add the sugar and cook for ½ hour over a very gentle fire, stirring constantly. When slightly cool turn into jars, and cover closely.

This makes a delicious and healthful spread on hot biscuits, bread, buttered toasts, or cake.

It is a marvelous portrayal of the human body at its best. One beholds in its composite detail a true symbol of strength. It presents a figure of striking appearance in its erect carriage, clear skin, sparkling eyes, strong limbs, steady nerves and firm muscles; fairly vibrating in animation—keen, alert, fresh, and spirited; with an air of unbounded confidence and a face radiant in color and illuminated with a glow of hope and cheerfulness.

Could Nature have taken you for her model? Suppose you study yourself in the mirror of the present and compare your looks, your feelings and your condition with the general characteristics of this picture of the human body in perfect working order, all parts of which are sound, well organized and disposed, performing their functions freely, naturally.

If you fail in any single point of resemblance, you are not the picture of health. It's imperative, then, that you look to a means to rebuild your strength, energy and vigor—to bring your body up to a normal state of efficiency in all of its parts.

GOPHERS HOPE FOR VICTORY

Minnesota Football Eleven Will Battle Hard Against Wisconsin.

Interest in Contest Not as Keen as in Former Years.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—The Wisconsin football team left for Minneapolis today feeling confident of victory over the Gopher eleven in tomorrow's game. This annual struggle between two traditional rivals is not drawing as keen a student interest as contests of previous years because of Minnesota's hopeless position in the conference race after three consecutive defeats.

Coach Richards and the Cardinal team are not over-confident of victory despite the apparently favoring odds. Minnesota in the past demonstrated her ability to come back for a heart-breaking victory when Wisconsin is to be reckoned with. She is known to be anxious for at least one victory on the home field, with the game tomorrow furnishing the greatest hope.

Wisconsin Cautious.

Wisconsin is taking no chances. Last week the coaches put the team through a light practice to keep the men in condition and spent most of the time preparing to meet the famous Minnesota shift which Coach Richards has been successful in breaking up in previous years.

This week the team was given harder workouts with the second team scrimmaging with Gopher plays. After five weeks of preparation and with one week of needed rest, the whole team with the exception of the ends, is ready for the contest. Capt. "Red" Weston at end will be out of the game unless an emergency arises in which he will be needed. Tebell, the other wing man, is out for the rest of the season, it is thought.

Sundt a Great Plunger.

Sundt fullback; Holmes, halfback, and Elliott halfback, who were temporarily disabled as the result of minor injuries received at Ohio, are in top shape, it is said. Sundt is a powerful line plunger and a kicker equal to any in the conference. His loss in the Ohio game was responsible, it is claimed, for much of the ground loss, inasmuch as the Badgers were left without any power in punting. Without Capt. Weston the Badgers are somewhat handicapped. His ability as a judge of opponents' play on the defensive is recognized throughout the conference and last year his offensive playing, especially in the forward passing game, made him the choice of many for a position on the All-Western team. A serious injury to his knee will keep him out until the Illinois game, the coach says.

Knapp and Nelson will replace Weston and Tebell. Nelson is heavy and rangy and is not especially cut out for the end position. Knapp, who last year was captain of the basket ball team, is a good field man, but has had little experience. Although a senior, this is his first year at football.

Line in Perfect Shape.

The line is in perfect shape as far as condition goes, the coach said. On the defensive he feels that it is a "stone wall." Its offensive strength has been improved during the past week, he says. During the Ohio game the forward wall seemed unable to open holes for the attack, but is said to be in better condition than Minnesota. J. J. Liskovec, guard for two years on the La Crosse normal school team, is a recent addition to the first squad. He was ineligible last season as it was his first in the university, and has only been practicing for the past three weeks. His ability on the defense and his weight are factors that will probably place him in the remaining games.

Badger Hopes Dimmed.

There is no longer any thought of a championship around the school here, students say. Ohio's victory over Chicago and the defeat of Minnesota by Illinois dimmed any hope of the Badgers. Eight years of waiting for a championship team have not brought it to pass, students say, and the chances of next year are now being counted.

Victory in all remaining games is confidently looked for, students say, feeling that their team can beat Minnesota. Illinois comes to play before what is expected to be a record home-coming crowd and Badger teams seldom have lost on such occasions. They are also claiming that the Badgers will defeat Chicago in the final contest. Coach Richards has declared and the students feel that the team this year is the most powerful since 1912. The backfield on offense is a consistent ground gainer. Barr at quarter is exceptionally able at forward passing and the team could do better at this method of attack if their ends were in condition. Elliott is outstanding on end runs, while Sundt, in kicking and line plunging, is rated with the best, in the opinion of the coaches.

MARINES TO PLAY ST. PAUL KNIGHTS

Referee for Big Grid Game Is Chosen by Lot.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—Conrad Ekhlund will referee Sunday's tilt at Nicollet park between the Marines of Minneapolis and the Knights of Columbus of St. Paul. Ed Shave will umpire and Henry Lund will act as head linesman.

These three men were agreed upon in a new and unheard of method in football. The managers of the opposing elevens argued, talked and fought for hours last night over the most suitable men to handle the game. They couldn't agree. Then Manager Dunn broached a scheme that broke the deadlock.

The managers agreed to put the names of fifteen competent officials in a hat. The three men, who would act as officials, were then drawn from the hat. A flip of a coin then decided that Ekhlund would referee with Shave and Lund in the other officiating roles.

The Knights of Columbus team strengthened its lineup last night when it added Frank Ward, former star St. Thomas halfback, to the team. The plunging backfield man will play against the Marines Sunday.

READY TO SIGN FIGHT CONTRACT

New York, Nov. 5.—Final details of the contract governing the proposed world's heavyweight boxing championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier will be signed late today. Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, were expected to arrive from Canada during the day.

Carpentier and his manager, Francois Deschamps, plan to sail for France tomorrow.

CLYDE BOWLERS OPEN SCHEDULE

Straightaway and Steel Plant Teams Also Go on Drives.

The Clyde Iron works, live institution that it always has been, from making castings to swatting a five-ounce pill over a centerfield fence, has placed a league on the blowing paths of Duluth and like everything else that the Clyde launches, great things can be expected from it.

The Clyde league got its baptism last evening at the Gray alleys when four teams hoped on the drives, the Skidders defeating the Universals and the Loaders taking the Deckers into camp. The scores made by the various players were only fair, but since this was the opening competition low counts were not unlooked for.

The six teams in the Straightaway league had a busy evening on the Grand alleys, Proctor taking a three-game defeat from the Elcoras, the Guthmanns winning the odd game from the El Productos and the Grand five taking every one of three games from the Kenney-Anker team.

Out at Morgan Park, four teams of the Steel Plant league got action last evening when the Masons won three in a row from the Tall Cedars and the Police took the odd game from the Electricians.

The scores in all three leagues follow:

The greatest and most spirited contest of the local high school football season will be played tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park when the Superior Central and Duluth Central elevens will clash in their big annual game which for many years has been the outstanding feature of school athletics at the Head of the Lakes. Tomorrow's game will be started at 2:30 sharp.

The lineup of the two elevens which was given out this morning shows that both schools will go into battle with their strongest forces and this gives nice assurance of a fast, hard-played game. Officials for the contest were also named this morning and they will include Ney of Iowa, Rutledge of Ames and Koby of Lawrence.

The Superior team is coming over with several hundred student fans who will be sure to make things howl all afternoon, that is, providing the Badgers are showing anything like winning form. The visitors will occupy the southwest side of the gridiron while the local rooters will line up on the opposite side of the field.

In spite of the fact that the Duluth Central team has not been up to the standard of previous years it is generally believed by the fans on this side of the pond that the local eleven will be able to defeat Superior. The latter team, from all reports, relies on Hancock, the big fullback, to make all the gains. When he is stopped Superior stands still. So it is up to the local team to stop Hancock.

YALE NOT TO ROW COLUMBIA ON HARLEM

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 5.—There is not the slightest chance that Yale will row Columbia on the Harlem river next spring, as was announced in New York last week, it was learned on excellent Yale authority today. If Columbia is to row Yale next spring it will be on the Housatonic river above Derby. Columbia probably will be invited to send a crew there, as was the case last spring, when Columbia was defeated.

A new boathouse will be built this winter and spring on the Housatonic course for Yale, which means that from now on it will be the Blues' home course. The Housatonic has the advantage for spectators of having a railroad along the back on one side and a fine automobile road on the other. The rowing conditions there are usually ideal.

CLONIE TAIT WILL MEET LLEW EDWARDS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—An international fistic championship will be contested one week from tonight at the Kenwood armory. Mike Collins today announced he had completed arrangements for a ten-round match between Clonie Tait and Llew Edwards for that date, the men to weigh 135 pounds at 3.

Edwards has made one appearance in the Twin Cities and with it made a splendid impression. He fought Johnny Noye in Minneapolis last September and completely vanquished the hard-hitting lefthander.

Edwards showed sufficient class upon that occasion to convince all local fans that he comes pretty near being as good a lightweight as there is in the universe. He is a rugged, tough chap with plenty of action every minute of every round.

BARELEGGED RUNNERS MAKE COEDS STARE

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—Running five miles a day in order to keep in condition for cross-country running has its drawbacks in the eyes of the average student, who finds a hasty walk up the university hill to an 8 o'clock class overexerting, but the team is saying that the life isn't all grim work.

Two sympathetic coeds noticed the bare-legged runners trotting over the hill recently and were immediately attracted.

"Hazing may be all right and freshmen probably deserve it," the men heard one of the girls say as they were drawing near. "But," she said as they paused, "this thing of making the poor fellows run up the hill on a cold day like this with nothing on but their underwear is going too far. Something should be done about it."

JACKSON MAY MEET LEONARD

Win Over Fitzsimmons Boosts Eastern Boy's Pugilistic Stock.

New York, Nov. 5.—By his dramatic defeat of Eddie Fitzsimmons, Willie Jackson looms up as the most formidable of Benny Leonard's challengers.

Jackson, in the first place, is a great hitter. It is his greatest asset, though it must be said he has improved immeasurably in the last year or two. Time was when he simply set and poised his deadly right for a pot shot at any white spot that came within line of fire. He was a bit awkward, too, but all this has been left behind him.

He whipped Fitzsimmons in masterly fashion, taking his time and making sure that when he put the crusher on Fitz, Fitz stayed put. There is this in Eddie's favor, he was forced to make 135 pounds one hour before the fight or lose a forfeit of $2,500. Better had he counted on losing that forfeit and come in at a weight that suited him best.

He was not at his best, as his own words to Dan Morgan at the end of the first round indicated.

"Dan," he said, "I must give the people a run, but I'm not there. I'm not there. I'll go as far as I can but I'm so weak I can't punch."

And his fighting indicated all that. Fitz can hit. There is no question about that. A man who can flour Lew Tendler can hit some, and that is one of Eddie's proud boasts.

Jackson Good Waiter.

Jackson simply waited until the southpaw had fought himself out to the last ounce. When he floored Fitz in the eighth and then again in the tenth it was only a question of grit and endurance so far as Fitz was concerned. With only four or five seconds for the tenth round to go, Jackson brought him down on the lower rope, where he hung head downward out of the ring. The bell rang as he lay there like a dead stag. Dan Morgan and his helpers rushed the fallen lefthander to his corner but he was so far gone that Dan stepped into the center of the ring and said that it was all over so far as Fitzsimmons was concerned.

Now comes up the old, old argument about the round Willie won in. Fitz was in no condition to answer the bell for the eleventh round, which did not ring. It is claimed by some that he lost in the eleventh. It is identical with the situation in Toledo. Willard sat in his chair and "resigned" in the rest period following the third round. He had finished the third round, but the authorities ruled, as did the referee, that Dempsey had ascended the throne in the third round. That being the case, why not a knockout to Jackson's credit in the tenth.

Knockout No Surprise.

Jackson's victory by way of a knockout did not come as a surprise to those closely associated with him. Willie told every friend he could reach that Fitz was a mark for him. He figured exactly how he was going to win with a punch when the time came. He bet on himself, getting 5 to 1 for his money.

Doc Bagley, Jackson's manager, cleaned up a comfortable sum betting on his man. He was confident that Fitz could not withstand the Harlem boy's punches, and so it turned out.

Gans and Nelson at Goldfield was the only lightweight bout that ever outdrew the contest between Jackson and Fitz. When it is taken into consideration that Fitz was practically an unknown to New York followers of the sport, his ability to pack the Garden with Jackson was most surprising.

HARVARD SET FOR PRINCETON CLASH

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5.—Harvard's football eleven today put the finishing touches to its preparations for the annual game with Princeton tomorrow. The day's schedule called for a light drill after which came the usual parade before the undergraduate body.

Beginning with 1877 Princeton and Harvard have met twenty-two times on the gridiron, the Tigers capturing twelve, the Crimson eight and two being ties. Last year the score was 10 to 10.

BOXING FANS SEEKING HELP OF CLUB WOMEN

The veterans' association plans to present a bill to the legislature providing for a state commission to supervise all professional sports.

Governor Lowden and other state and municipal officials have been invited to attend the exhibition, which will include three six-round boxing matches and one wrestling exhibition.

GOPHERS LOOK GOOD TO COP

Minnesota Is Stronger Now Than at Any Time This Fall.

BY EDWARD G. WALKER.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—One of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a football game on Northrop field is expected to see Minnesota and Wisconsin clash in the twenty-ninth annual struggle Saturday. Dr. L. J. Cooke, director of athletics, announced today that only a few seats are left in the south and north stands. He predicts that more than 20,000 will see the contest, if fair weather prevails.

Gophers Have Edge.

Minnesota has a decided edge in previous settos with the Badgers with sixteen victories and two games a tie. Minnesota has scored a total of 447 points against Wisconsin's 255. The Gophers have been whitewashed eight times, the Badgers seven times. "Doc" Williams during his regime as Gopher coach has chalked up eleven victories, lost five and tied two.

The brand of football displayed against Illinois last Saturday gives the Gophers a good fighting chance against any combination in the conference. The team has developed slowly but every start finds them more powerful. Wisconsin is coming to Minneapolis with one of the strongest aggregations in the conference, but the Badgers will be given a game from start to finish.

Reports from the Badger camp are that several stars will be missing from the lineup, but Minnesota is preparing to meet the regular first string lineup. Minnesota is crippled and much depends on the next two days. Just who will start has not been decided. The line is expected to be about the same that faced Illinois with the exception of left end. There are many candidates for the wing position and the lucky one will probably not be known until after tonight's practice. Gus Ekberg is booked to start at Ed Ruben's position at fullback. Ruben was hurt in the second scrimmage last week at Urbana.

Clements, injured in the Illinois clash, is not mending as rapidly as expected, and McClintock has been playing center with Fred Lyle at guard in place of Festus Tierney, also on the hospital list.

The team was given a hard workout last night, lasting until 7. After working on new plays the varsity was sent against the "Frosh." The record of games between Minnesota and Wisconsin:

1890—Minnesota 63, Wisconsin 0.
1891—Minnesota 26, Wisconsin 12.

GAY TIMES FOR LOCAL CURLERS

D. C. C. Will Feature Dancing, Skating and Hockey Next Winter.

Duluth Curling club members are planning on a winter of real sociability this coming season when it is intended to feature dancing on the main floor, downstairs, at least one evening a week, introduce a novelty and speed skating program that will be certain to arouse a heap of interest, have ice carnivals and feature regular weekly hockey games in which some of the best septets in the country will contest.

With all of this grand and glorious amusement to offer the club will open a campaign next Monday to sign up exactly 350 new members which will bring the roster up to the limit of 800. At one time the club membership showed 900 names, but it was found then that the number was too burdensome and for that reason a limit has been placed at 800. It is expected that the 350 new members sought will be enrolled in one week or less.

The officers of the club will hold a meeting next Monday noon at the Commercial club when plans for the campaign drive will be formally drafted. Immediately after this meeting the solicitors will go forth in search of new members.

With the initiation fee reduced from $72.50 to $18 the new members will have things pretty soft from what they were in former years. President Herman Matzke of the club will head the campaign committee, assisted by H. H. Daughters and "Mandy" Tondel. During the campaign offices will be maintained at 601 Sellwood building.

HARDING WILL REVIVE PANAMA TOLLS DISPUTE

May Reach Understanding on the Question of Naval Armament.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—President-elect Harding has a special purpose in wanting to visit the Panama canal. The full significance of the trip will not become apparent until March 4. But the truth is Mr. Harding is in earnest about reviving the Panama canal tolls controversy. He wants to see American ships exempted from the payment of tolls and will press for that exemption when he is inaugurated.

President Wilson found himself confronted with the same question when he took office in March, 1913. The Democratic platform, written at Baltimore in July, 1912, had gone on record in support of the action of the Democratic congress in voting to exempt American ships from the payment of tolls. But Great Britain insisted that this piece of legislation was in effect a discrimination against British ships and a plain violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. That contention between England and the United States was made as direct result of a surrender of certain rights England had to another inter-oceanic canal in Nicaragua and the understanding was that, if Britain relinquished her rights, America would not discriminate against her.

Authorities Differ.

There has been much debate as to whether the treaty actually promised that America would not discriminate against Great Britain as between foreign nations other than the United States, or whether the promise not to discriminate included American shipping. Some international lawyers argued that of course America, as the owner and builder of the canal, had the right to do as she pleased about tolls and that the discrimination did not apply with respect to our own ships. Other authorities argued to the contrary. Senator Lodge and Elihu Root, who also was in the senate at the time, made eloquent speeches saying the law ought to be repealed.

Indeed, President Wilson found Republican as well as Democratic support in both houses of congress when he declared that America could not afford to take advantage of other nations by insisting upon a selfish interpretation of an ambiguous article in any treaty. He also hinted at large and vital questions of diplomacy when he said that the law ought to be repealed and friendship with Great Britain maintained on account of "matters of far nearer and more delicate concern."

What Was Meant?

Just what Mr. Wilson meant by the foregoing phrase was never publicly explained, though it is commonly supposed in Washington that the president was playing for Britain's friendship because of the delicate relationship between Japan and the United States over the California alien land law. The world doesn't know how close America and Japan came to war that year, and the friendship of Great Britain with her powerful navy was deemed extremely important to the United States, especially in view of the Anglo-Japanese offensive and defensive alliance. Similarly England had an anti-Japanese problem to meet in her own Canadian and Australian dominions, and the wisest diplomacy of the moment seemed to be a firm hand of friendship and a pooling of interests between America and Great Britain. The Irish-American and German-American societies fought President Wilson on the issue and rallied all their friends in congress, but Mr. Wilson won out and that part of the Panama canal act exempting United States vessels from the payment of tolls was repealed.

Change of Circumstances.

Circumstances have changed to some extent since 1913. In the election which has just closed millions of Americans of Irish descent flocked to the Harding standard. Aside from the fact, however, that the new president's position has pleased those in our population who are opposed to everything British, the determination to revive the controversy does not have its origin in that quarter. Somebody of influence urged the revival of the matter when the Republican platform was written at Chicago last June. Here is the pledge in that platform:

"We recommend that all ships engaged in coastwise trade and all vessels of the American merchant marine shall pass through the Panama canal without payment of tolls."

Moreover, the speech of acceptance of Senator Harding in Marion last July contained the following paragraph:

"I like that recommittal of thoughts of America first which pledges the Panama canal, an American creation, to the free use of American shipping. It will add to the American reawakening."

Doesn't Senator Harding realize, it will promptly be asked, that the relations between Japan and the United States over the California situation are still strained and that the importance of an Anglo-American understanding is as great as ever?

What Harding Proposes.

The answer is that the president-elect expects to negotiate the whole question in a friendly manner with Great Britain. For instance, it might be advantageous to England to have a definite understanding with the United States on the question of naval armament. With Germany helpless, the American navy alone stands as a possible competitor. England needs every cent of her budget for things other than naval armament and she would, it is argued, save a great deal if she were assured concerning the American naval building program. This is just an idea which the president-elect is said to be considering as a sort of quid pro quo in the settlement of the Panama canal tolls question.

Also there are questions of tolls in the Suez and other British waterways which could be adjusted in a general discussion of the whole subject.

Senator Harding has been impressed with the necessity of securing advantages for the American merchant marine, and the visit to the Panama canal is the beginning of a thorough study of the entire subject by the next president of the United States. What Great Britain will do or say about it is quite another question.

EUGENE M. TRAVIS.

SHIMMYING BY ESKIMOS

Jazz Dances to the Music of Walrus-Hide Tomtoms.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 6.—They are shimmying in the Arctic. Jazz dances to the music of walrus-hide tomtoms, fishgut rattles and pipes made of the fin-bone of a whale are all the go among the Eskimos of Coronation gulf.

This is the news brought down from the igloo villages by Sergeant Tom Jarvis of the Royal Northwest Mounted police who has arrived here over the Peace River branch of the Canadian Pacific railway.

"The Eskimos," said Sergeant Jarvis, "are crazy about jazz. Everybody's dancing. Doddering old people with faces as wrinkled as a frost-bitten crabapple as well as the tiniest kids are doing the shimmy, tickle-toe, fox-trot and one-step. They have built a big igloo of ice blocks as a dance hall and it's crowded every evening. The unbroken Arctic night this winter will be one long jazz ball on Coronation gulf.

Music Fierce, But It's Jazz.

"The music is fierce, but it's jazz and it's a curious sight to see the fur-clad crowd milling about the floor in walrus-hide boots in the smoke of blubber flares. All the maidens chew plug tobacco and while they are whirling in the dizzy mazes of the tango they stick their guids above their ears to be enjoyed again later. But I'm here to tell you that Eskimo girls are sure-enough pretty with their red cheeks and black eyes and hair so glossy with bear's grease that you can see yourself in it. And say, their ballroom dresses of the skins of caribou, wolf, squirrel and hair seal tricked off with mosaics of odd design, beads and needlework are as swell as anything in the way of furs I ever saw on a woman in a white man's country.

"Between dances they take a swig of whale oil instead of the punch or wine of polite society or refresh themselves with some such dainty reflection as blubber or a hunk of raw walrus meat."

ROADS PLAN BIG FINANCING STEP

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 6.—The Burlington railroad soon will declare a stock dividend of $60,000,000 of which the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads will each receive $30,000,000. The Burlington also will sell $80,000,000 worth of bonds of which the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads will each receive the benefit of $40,000,000.

These facts became know yesterday in St. Paul when it was learned that an application has already been prepared and will be submitted at once to the interstate commerce commission.

One of the largest pieces of railroad financing ever known in this country will be carried out at the same time and will aggregate for the Burlington alone $510,000,000, it was said.

In a measure the whole arrangement amounts to a distribution of the huge Burlington surplus to help finance the $215,000,000 worth of Burlington bonds, owned jointly by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern.

IS AGAIN ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 6.—Although released once before for lack of evidence implicating him with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, a school teacher, on a lonely mountain trail near here Sept. 7, Dr. H. C. Winnes, a state veterinarian, has been arrested and again charged with slaying the girl.

County authorities, however, have refused to divulge the new turn in their investigation which caused the arrest of Dr. Winnes.

James Robinson, a negro, also is held in connection with the murder, having been arrested yesterday as he was released from the state penitentiary at Frankfort after serving two years for robbery. The negro was with a convict roadworking crew which was in the mountains about the time the girl is supposed to have been beaten to death. He has been questioned previously.

Ontario Minister Held.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 6.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, pastor of the Sandwich Methodist church, and a special liquor license inspector, is detained in the Sandwich jail following the shooting to death early today of Beverly Trumble, proprietor of an inn known as Chappell house. The shooting occurred during a raid upon the inn.

Clare, Ill., Wiped Out.

Sycamore, Ill., Nov. 6.—The village of Clare, nine miles west of here, was obliterated by fire last night. The total loss is estimated at $70,000.

ARREST OF N. Y. COMPTROLLER IS ORDERED

State Said to Have Overpaid $140,000 on Purchase of Bonds.

New York, Nov. 6.—State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis today was ordered held for the grand jury in a decision handed down by Chief Justice Kernochan of General sessions, who has presided at the John Doe inquiry conducted into alleged irregularities in the comptroller's office.

Justice Kernochan based his finding on a sale of $2,013,000 worth of New York city bonds to the state at 89½ when the market price was 82 and interest. The sale was made by William S. Fanshawe & Co. for Albert L. Judson, dealer, and the state was declared to have overpaid $140,000 on the purchase.

The justice directed the district attorney's office to prepare papers on which he would issue a warrant for the arrest of the comptroller.

Judson was not ordered held by Justice Kernochan, who asked the district attorney to submit a brief on Judson's refusal to sign a waiver of immunity when testifying.

COOLNESS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND FRANCE FINALLY DISSIPATED

Paris, Nov. 6.—Coolness between the British and French governments over their divergent views relative to German reparations was dissipated by a note from the British government delivered at the French foreign office by the Earl of Derby, British ambassador, last night. Premier Leygues and the ambassador will meet tonight to complete the agreement.

It is said at the French foreign office that France now approves, not only of a Brussels conference of Allied and German experts, but also an advisory meeting at Geneva of Allied representatives, which she formerly opposed. There is a possibility that Germans will participate in this meeting.

Will Draw Up Basis.

It is understood that the Geneva meeting, whether attended by the Allied premiers or not, will draw up a basis for action by the reparations commission. The decision of the commission, according to this understanding, will then be submitted to a conference of the premiers for final action.

It is considered probable, it was added, that the German minister of finance will attend the Geneva meeting.

FOR PROTECTION OF AMERICA'S FORESTS

Chicago, Nov. 6.—How the American newspaper publishers, the national lumber manufacturers, the National Association of Wood Using Industries have joined with the American Paper and Pulp association in a program for the protection of America's forests will be told when the convention of the parent organization of the paper industry in the United States will be held at Chicago, Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

Rapid developments have taken place with the paper shortage, since early spring, when the American Paper and Pulp association at a meeting in New York city was the first national organization of manufacturers using wood to definitely formulate a forest policy for the nation. On Oct. 15, at New York, representatives of the great associations named above met for a conference on a national policy on which all could agree, and it is understood that the steps then taken will not be opposed by the Federal forest service.

"LAYMEN'S SUNDAY" FOR UNITARIANS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—In 300 Unitarian churches across the United States and Canada Nov. 14—Armistice Sunday by presidential proclamation—300 Unitarian ministers will occupy front pew seats and, instead of preaching, will listen to a layman from the congregation conduct the morning service.

This "Laymen's Sunday" will be the culmination of a series of six sermons on Unitarian Christianity, a part of the program adopted by the Unitarian religious and educational campaign committee under the leadership of Former President William H. Taft. This forward movement, with its intensive period, Nov. 11-21, and a national Thanksgiving service the Sunday following the Pilgrim Thanksgiving day, is three-fold in its purpose. It is to unify Unitarians, to spread the message of Unitarian Christianity and counteract the irreligious tendency of the day, and to raise a fund to extend the work of the denomination through increasing ministerial salaries and establishing churches in areas where hundreds of Unitarians are without a place of worship.

CHICAGO MASHER SHOOTS CHOIR GIRL

Chicago, Nov. 6.—A neighborhood posse formed early today to search for two "mashers" who shot and wounded Miss Grace Phillips, 17 years old, a choir girl, last night. Miss Phillips, in company with two other girls of the Emmanuel Baptist church choir, was returning home from practice, humming hymns, when two young men acosted them.

"How'd you like to be my little girl?" one said to Miss Phillips.

The girls passed, frightened, and missed a kick aimed by one "masher," who fell.

"For that I've got something for you," he called. "You'd better look, too."

The girls cast a terrified glance back and Miss Phillips received a bullet wound in her leg. Her sister and other companion dragged her to safety in a doorway, amid a volley of shots. Neighbors appeared and the men fled.

On Armistice Day.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—Governor Philipp in a proclamation to the people of Wisconsin, calls upon them to devote as much of their time as possible on Nov. 11 to a recognition of the services of those who served in the last war.

FIVE LAWS SUCCESSFUL

Initiated Measures, Opposed by Nonpartisans, Win in North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 6.—Totals on Tuesday's election in North Dakota available today show the five initiated laws, supported by the Independents and opposed by the Nonpartisans, carried with good majorities in every case.

With returns ranging from 1,116 to 1,469 precincts reported out of 2,091 the law providing that public funds may be handled through any bank and not necessarily through the state bank seemed most popular with a majority of 14,847; next was the law providing that state bank loans be made only to resident farmers of the state, with 10,694 majority. The law returning various powers to the superintendent of instruction, 9,592; the law providing for the regular examination of the state bank, 9,085, and the law providing that legal notices may be published in any local paper rather than necessarily in the official county paper, with 7,351.

On the race for governor the figures remained unchanged, no additional precincts having reported to the 1,930 which gave Frazier a lead of 108,509 to O'Connor's 107,101.

For superintendent of public instruction, another so-called nonpolitical race, Miss Minnie Nielson, backed by the Independents, had 79,023, and Miss Ruth Johnson, supported by the Nonpartisan league, had 70,979.

LEGION TO HELP SICK VETERANS

New York, Nov. 6.—Work has been started by the 9,700 posts of the American Legion in this country on a census of all veterans of the World war who are still inmates of government and private hospitals. The census is the first step of the legion in a campaign to make life more worth living for the sick and disabled.

A card will be made out for every man in hospital, giving information on his name, home address and organizations with which he served. The data will be obtained by committees from all legion posts and the cards filed at national headquarters in Indianapolis. The index will be accessible to anyone wishing to locate a sick or wounded man.

Under the legion plan, every man in hospital will be visited at least once a week. Outings and entertainments will be organized, delicacies and reading matter will be supplied and every man will be made to feel that a personal interest is being taken in his case. The spirit of the plan is to humanize hospitalization work. Every one in the community will be asked to help but the legion will lead the way.

There are still more than 20,000 disabled and sick veterans confined in about 1,200 government and private hospitals.

FLOUR PRICES TAKE ANOTHER TUMBLE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Flour prices dropped here today, quotations for family patents declining to a level not in effect since January, 1918. The reduction at one mill was 75 cents, which made its price today $10.75 per barrel, while another flouring concern's quotation declined 20 cents to a new low price of $10.40. The slump is attributed to the weak wheat market by millers here.

Ricci to Be Ambassador.

Rome, Nov. 5.—Appointment of Roland Ricci as Italian ambassador to the United States, which was recently reported by newspapers here, has been officially confirmed.

HARDING ON VACATION TO LAST MONTH

Special Train With President-Elect and Party Leaves for South.

To Spend Twelve Days in Texas Near the Mexican Border.

On Board President-elect Harding's Special Train, Nov. 6.—Starting for a month's vacation trip to Southern Texas and Panama, President-elect Harding today laid aside the last cares of the presidential campaign for an interim of real rest and recreation before he takes up seriously the responsibilities of his coming administration. Although his mind already is at work upon the preliminary details of his first administration policy, a plan for a new association of nations, Mr. Harding does not propose to let the task interfere with his outing. He has asked several leading statesmen to prepare their views on the subjet for him, but his first conference to receive advice will not take place until after he returns to Marion, about Dec. 6.

The special train carrying Senator and Mrs. Harding and their party left Marion at 7:30 this morning, bound for Point Isabel, near the southern tip of the Texas coast, where the president-elect will spend twelve days hunting and fishing. After that he is to make an ocean voyage to the canal zone, and then back to a port on the middle Atlantic coast. He will speak in Bedford, Va., on Dec. 5, and will go immediately from there to Marion.

Six Miles From Mexico.

Making the trip south by way of St. Louis and San Antonio, the senator's train will reach Brownsville, Tex., Monday morning and the party will motor from there to Point Isabel, twenty miles away. Point Isabel is only six miles distant from the Mexican boundary and from the southermost tip of continental United States.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harding on the trip were Harry M. Daugherty, manager of the Harding pre-convention campaign; Senators Frelinghuysen of New Jersey; Hale of Maine, and Elkins of West Virginia, and Edward B. McLean, the Washington publisher. His secretary, George B. Christian, Jr., and his family physician, Dr. C. E. Sawyer and a group of secret service men and newspaper men also were on the special train.

The secret service detail, assigned to Mr. Harding as soon as he was elected to the presidency, was in charge of Miles McCahill, formerly of the White House staff at Washington. James Sloan, a former secret service man, who has acted as the senator's unofficial bodyguard during the campaign, will be retained in that capacity in co-operation with the guard detailed officially by secret service headquarters.

NO INTENTION OF PARDONING DEBS

Washington, Nov. 6.—President Wilson is understood to have no intention of pardoning Eugene V. Debs, who is serving a ten-year sentence in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta for violation of the espionage act.

The position taken by the president, according to those who profess to know his views, is that executive clemency in such a case would set a bad precedent and would encourage others to oppose the government in the event of another war.

RAIN, SNOW, GENERALLY FAIR, IN TURN NEXT WEEK

Washington, Nov. 6.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are:

Region Great Lakes—Rains and possibly local snows at beginning of week followed by generally fair and moderately cold.

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys—Generally fair and cold first part of week and fair and moderating temperature thereafter.

INDICTMENT FOR BACKER

New York Millionaire Contractor Is Charged With Perjury.

New York, Nov. 6.—George Backer, millionaire contractor, alleged to have been a "go-between" in "building trust" activities now under investigation by the state, today was formally arraigned on an indictment charging perjury.

While it was reported that Backer was one of three defendants named in indictments returned yesterday by the additional grand jury, definite announcement was lacking both as to the names of those indicted and charges preferred.

Need More Help.

New York, Nov. 6.—The investigation of charges of graft and extortion in the alleged "building trades trust" here has assumed such far-reaching proportions that Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Lockwood joint legislative committee, announced today that a large organization would have to be employed to run down the ramifications of the "trust." There was no session of the committee today, adjournment having been taken until next Thursday to allow lawyers and accountants time to examine the flood of evidence flowing into the committee.

George Backer, millionaire, alleged "go between" among contractors and laborers, who was reported indicted yesterday by the additional grand jury, was ordered to appear for arraignment in court today and furnish bail for $25,000. The jury returned three indictments but the names of all those indicted were not made public. Bench warrants for their arrest have been issued by Judge Mulqueen of the general sessions court.

IS ELECTED REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR OF MICHIGAN

A. J. GROESBECK.

LARSON LEAD NEAR 1,000

With only eleven small precincts still to be heard from in the Eighth congressional district, and, it is said, little more than 200 votes involved, Oscar J. Larson's lead over Congressman William L. Carss, for national representative, is 993. This is regarded as virtually complete, for even should the congressman receive every vote cast in the missing precincts, he could not possibly overcome the lead. It is expected that the majority of the congressman-elect will be in the neighborhood of 300.

The total vote of the district on this office, so far as learned from the county auditors of the six counties included in the district is: Larson, 33,102; Carss, 32,109.

In the district judgeships, the complete vote of the four counties comprising the district has been received and shows Judge Cant leader by a wide margin over the others in the list. Judge Fesler is almost 4,000 behind, but takes second place, as was expected. Former Mayor C. R. Magney is third man with a margin of 7,178 votes over County Attorney Warren E. Greene, who, in turn, leads Hans B. Haroldson but virtually 9,000.

The complete vote for congressman is as follows:

	Larson.	Carss.
St. Louis county complete	24,811	23,404
Carlton county	2,688	2,025
*Koochiching county	1,108	1,646
Itasca county	3,463	3,133
Cook county complete	143	289
Lake county complete	889	1,612
	33,102	32,409

Larson's majority, 993.

One precinct with about 20 votes missing.

The complete vote on the judgeship follows:

	St. Louis.	Carlton.	Lake.	Cook.	Total.
Cant	35,037	3,290	1,849	470	40,646
Fesler	31,835	2,872	1,667	437	36,831

Funck	7,314	631	286	56	8,287

PIPE SMOKING IS ON INCREASE BY LONDON WOMEN

London, Nov. 6.—Pipe smoking seems to be on the increase among London women, and fashionable cigar stores display dainty small briars, some set with precious stones. It is said there is a growing demand for these.

At one West London theater where smoking is permitted two smartly-dressed women were seen the other evening in a box puffing at their jeweled pipes, and soon an old Irishwoman in the gallery followed suit. Hers was a clay "cutty."

In a first-class railroad car between Horsham and London, a quarrel arose the other day between a number of nonsmoking women and another woman who refused to put out her cigarette at her sister travelers' behest. It ended in one of the anti-smokers seizing the offending cigarette, gold mounted tortoise shell holder and all, and flinging it out of the window.

"Two guineas costs will meet the case," said the magistrate.

WAGE ADVANCE RESTS WITH COAL OPERATORS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6.—The fate of the demands of the anthracite mine workers for wage increases equal to those recently granted the bituminous miners rested with the operators today, when representatives of the hard coal diggers and the mine owners resumed their conference here this morning.

Before going into session, the operators declined to discuss their plans and would not indicate their probable attitude toward the miners' demands for a 13 per cent increase for contract miners, a $6 minium day labor rate, and a universal eight-hour day throughout the anthracite region.

Thomas Kennedy of Hazelton, Pa., chairman of the miners' committee, said the miners had completed their arguments and "it is now up to the operators."

Exonerates Baseball Magnates.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The special grand jury investigating baseball this morning returned its final report in which it stated that "while evidence has been found that some games were thrown by players, the practice was not general and the leaders in organized baseball may be relied upon to keep the game above suspicion."

FALLING SNOW RETARDS BOLSHEVIK MOVEMENTS

Soviet Armies Unable to Bring Up Their Cannon and Supply Trains.

American Mission in South Russia Falls Into Hands of Russ.

Sebastopol, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Snow has been falling over the Tauridian plains, north of the slender isthmus connecting Crimea to the mainland of Russia, and it has tended to render highways impassable, thus retarding the movement of Bolshevik cannon and supply trains being brought up from the Dnieper river to force a passage south of Perekop. Soviet cavalry and infantry made rapid advances during the past week against Gen. Baron Wrangel's anti-Bolshevik army, and drove it back to the Crimean peninsula.

Cuts Around Flank.

Gen. Wrangel, who has been engaged in a life and death struggle against the enemy, did not seriously oppose the onrush of the Bolsheviki, but daringly cut around one flank and fell upon their line of communications near Salkovo. In this fight many thousands of prisoners were taken by the Wrangel forces.

Since the passing of the first panic, during which excited people and speculators paid enormous prices for accommodations on board of Black sea ships, this city has quieted down.

Rear Admiral Sanblin, former commander-in-chief of the Russian Black sea fleet, and in charge of naval units loyal to Gen. Wrangel, is dead at Yalta, following an operation. He succeeded Admiral Kredoff as head of the anti-Bolshevik naval service.

American Mission Taken.

London, Nov. 6.—An American mission in South Russia has fallen into the hands of the soviet forces, according to the Moscow newspaper Pravda, as quoted in a wireless dispatch today from the soviet capital. The mission, says the newspaper, was headed by Gen. Morel.

The Pravda reported the incident in recording details of the Bolshevik attack upon the forces of Gen. Baron Wrangel. The paragraph concerning the mission reads:

"At Alexievka station, which was taken without a shot, an American mission fell into our hands at the head of which was Gen. Morel, who had the task of combatting bandits in the White army."

Budenny Had Eight Divisions.

Sebastopol, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eight divisions of infantry and Gen. Budenny's cavalry made up the soviet army, the attack of which broke the strength of Baron Wrangel's forces in Taurida. These troops, advancing from Nikopol on Oct. 31, attacked both wings of the anti-Bolshevik army.

Ten thousand of Gen. Budenny's men swept southward as far as Salkovo where Gen. Wrangel's counter-attack resulted in their surrender. Five columns of superior soviet forces, however, continued to advance in all directions along the 200-mile front, and Gen. Wrangel was forced to retreat. He was successful in withdrawing his men, horses and supplies into the Crimean peninsula.

G. O. P. ASSURED OF 291 IN THE HOUSE

New York, Nov. 6.—Results of last Tuesday's election in two of the nation's 435 congressional districts remained undetermined today as the fifth day of tabulating the Republican party's tremendous sweep was begun.

The missing districts were the Twenty-third, New York, and Fifth Missouri, in both of which the vote for representatives apparently will be close.

The Republicans, with 291 members in the house of representatives already assured to 138 Democratic, one Socialist, one independent, one independent Prohibitionist and one independent Republican, were claiming success in both of the undetermined districts. They also were predicting upsets in the Fourth and Eighth districts of Tennessee, which had been placed earlier in the Democratic column.

Victories in all four of these districts would give the Republicans a total of 295 seats, and would cut the Democratic total to 136, while the best possible results for the Democrats would give them a total of only 140 to 291 for the Republicans.

WILL ASK PHILIPP TO ACT IN BOOZE MURDER

Hurley, Wis., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—District Attorney Marion Freid of Iron county leaves tonight for Madison to lay before Governor E. L. Philipps all the affidavits and testimony taken since the fatal shooting of John M. Chiapusio, saloon keeper here, by Federal agents operating under the direction of Leo J. Grove, one of the six prohibition agents named by a coroner's jury as being responsible for the man's death.

Some interesting developments with regard to the operation of the Federal men in and about Hurley are foreshadowed if Governor Philipps cooperates with the district attorney and issues requisition for the accused.

WOULD KNOW WHETHER TO SUPPORT WRANGEL.

Constantinople, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—French and British representatives here have asked their governments if their warships in Black sea waters should support Gen. Wrangel at Perekop and Salkova, where the soviet forces are pressing upon the Crimean peninsula. Meanwhile, fresh supplies of rifles and cartridges are being hurried to Sebastopol.

D'Annunzio Occupies Promontory.

Triest, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian insurgent commander at Fiume, has occupied the promontory of San Marco, south of Buccari, with 500 troops as a protest against the alleged firing by Serbian coast guards on the Italian steamer Issoria, from Buccari D'Annunzio's troops are now facing the Jugo-Slav frontier.

HARDING WILL REVIVE PANAMA TOLLS DISPUTE

May Reach Understanding on the Question of Naval Armament.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—President-elect Harding has a special purpose in wanting to visit the Panama canal. The full significance of the trip will not become evident until March 4. But the truth is Mr. Harding is in earnest about reopening the Panama canal tolls controversy. He wants to see American ships exempted from the payment of tolls and will press for that exemption when he is inaugurated.

President Wilson found himself confronted with the same question when he took office in March, 1913. The Democratic platform, written at Baltimore in July, 1912, had gone on record in support of the action of the Democratic congress in voting to exempt American ships from the payment of tolls. But Great Britain insisted that this piece of legislation was in effect discrimination against British ships and a plain violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. That compact between England and the United States was made as direct result of a surrender of certain rights England had to another inter-oceanic canal in Nicaragua and the understanding was that if Britain relinquished her rights, America would not discriminate against her.

Authorities Differ.

There has been much debate as to whether the treaty actually promised that America would not discriminate against Great Britain as between foreign nations other than the United States, or whether the promise not to discriminate included American shipping. Some international lawyers argued that of course America, as the owner and builder of the canal, had the right to do as she pleased about tolls and that the discrimination did not apply with respect to our own ships. Other authorities argued to the contrary. Senator Lodge and Elihu Root, who also was in the senate at the time, made eloquent speeches saying the law ought to be repealed.

Indeed, President Wilson found Republican as well as Democratic support in both houses of congress when he declared that America could not afford to take advantage of other nations by insisting upon a selfish interpretation of an ambiguous article in the treaty. He also hinted at large and vital questions of diplomacy when he said that the law ought to be repealed and friendship with Great Britain maintained on account of "matters of far nearer and more delicate concern."

What Was Meant?

Just what Mr. Wilson meant by the foregoing phrase was never publicly explained, though it is commonly supposed in Washington that the president was playing for Britain's friendship because of the delicate relationship between Japan and the United States over the California alien land law. The world doesn't know how close America and Japan came to war that year and the friendship of Great Britain with her powerful navy was deemed extremely important to the United States, especially in view of the Anglo-Japanese offensive and defensive alliance. Similarly England had an anti-Japanese problem to meet in her own Canadian and Australian dominions and the wisest diplomacy of the moment seemed to be a firm hand of friendship and a pooling of interests between America and Great Britain.

Irish-American and German-American societies fought President Wilson on the issue and rallied all their friends in congress, but Mr. Wilson won out and that part of the Panama canal act exempting United States vessels from the payment of tolls was repealed.

Change of Circumstances.

Circumstances have changed to some extent since 1913. In the election which has just closed millions of Americans of Irish descent flocked to the Harding standard. Aside from the fact, however, that the new president's position has pleased those in our population who are opposed to everything British, the determination to reopen the controversy does not have its origin in that quarter. Somebody of influence urged the revival of the matter when the Republican platform was written at Chicago last June. Here is the pledge in that platform:

"We recommend that all ships engaged in coastwise trade and all vessels of the American merchant marine shall pass through the Panama canal without payment of tolls."

Moreover, the speech of acceptance of Senator Harding in Marion last July contained the following paragraph:

"I like that recommittal of thoughts of America first which pledges the Panama canal, an American creation, to the free use of American shipping. It will add to the American reawakening."

Doesn't Senator Harding realize, it will promptly be asked, that the relations between Japan and the United States over the California situation are still strained and that the importance of an Anglo-American understanding is as great as ever?

What Harding Proposes.

The answer is that the president-elect expects to negotiate the whole question in a friendly manner with Great Britain. For instance, it might be advantageous to England to have a definite understanding with the United States on the question of naval armament. With Germany helpless, the American navy alone stands as a possible competitor. England needs every cent of her budget for things other than naval armament and she would, it is argued, save a great deal if she were assured concerning the American naval building program. This is just an idea which the president-elect is said to be considering as a sort of quid pro quo in the settlement of the Panama canal tolls question.

Also there are questions of tolls in the Suez and other British waterways which could be adjusted in a general discussion of the whole subject.

Senator Harding has been impressed with the necessity of securing advantages for the American merchant marine, and the visit to the Panama canal is the beginning of a thorough study of the entire subject by the next president of the United States. What Great Britain will do or say about it is quite another question.

IMPLICATED IN BIG BOND DEAL IN NEW YORK STATE

EUGENE M. TRAVIS.

SHIMMYING BY ESKIMOS

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 6.—They are shimmying in the Arctic. Jazz dances to the music of walrus-hide tomtoms, fishgut rattles and pipes made of the fin-bone of a whale are all the go among the Eskimos of Coronation gulf.

This is the news brought down from the igloo villages by Sergeant Tom Jarvis of the Royal Northwest Mounted police who has arrived here over the Peace River branch of the Canadian Pacific railway.

"The Eskimos," said Sergeant Jarvis, "are crazy about jazz. Everybody's dancing. Doddering old people with faces as wrinkled as a frost-bitten crabapple as well as the tiniest kids are doing the shimmy, tickle-toe, fox-trot and one-step. They have built a big igloo of ice blocks as a dance hall and it's crowded every evening. The unbroken Arctic night this winter will be one long jazz ball on Coronation gulf.

Music Fierce, But It's Jazz.

"The music is fierce, but it's jazz and it's a curious sight to see the fur-clad crowd milling about the floor in walrus-hide boots in the smoke of blubber flares. All the maidens chew plug tobacco and while they are whirling in the dizzy mazes of the tango they stick their guids above their ears to be enjoyed again later. But I'm here to tell you that Eskimo girls are sure-enough pretty with their red cheeks and black eyes and hair so glossy with bear's grease that you can see yourself in it. And say, their ballroom dresses of the skins of caribou, wolf, squirrel and hair seal tricked off with mosaics of odd design, beads and needlework are as swell as anything in the way of furs I ever saw on a woman in a white man's country.

"Between dances they take a swig of whale oil instead of the punch or wine of polite society or refresh themselves with some such dainty reflection as blubber or a hunk of raw walrus meat."

ROADS PLAN BIG FINANCING STEP

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 6.—The Burlington railroad soon will declare a stock dividend of $60,000,000 of which the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads will each receive $30,000,000. The Burlington also will sell $80,000,000 worth of bonds of which the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads will each receive the benefit of $10,000,000.

These facts became know yesterday in St. Paul when it was learned that an application has already been prepared and will be submitted at once to the interstate commerce commission.

One of the largest pieces of railroad financing ever known in this country will be carried out at the same time and will aggregate for the Burlington alone $510,000,000, it was said.

In a measure the whole arrangement amounts to a distribution of the huge Burlington surplus to help finance the $215,000,000 worth of Burlington bonds, owned jointly by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern.

IS AGAIN ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 6.—Although released once before for lack of evidence implicating him with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, a school teacher, on a lonely mountain trail near here Sept. 7, Dr. H. C. Winnes, a state veterinarian, has been arrested and again charged with slaying the girl.

County authorities, however, have refused to divulge the new turn in their investigation which caused the arrest of Dr. Winnes.

James Robinson, a negro, also is held in connection with the murder, having been arrested yesterday as he was released from the state penitentiary at Frankfort after serving two years for robbery. The negro was with a convict roadworking crew which was in the mountains about the time the girl is supposed to have been beaten to death. He has been questioned previously.

Ontario Minister Held.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 6.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, pastor of the Sandwich Methodist church, and a special liquor license inspector, is detained in the Sandwich jail following the shooting to death early today of Beverly Trumble, proprietor of an inn known as Chappell house. The shooting occurred during a raid upon the inn.

ARREST OF N. Y. COMPTROLLER IS ORDERED

State Said to Have Overpaid $140,000 on Purchase of Bonds.

New York, Nov. 6.—State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis today was ordered held for the grand jury in a decision handed down by Chief Justice Kernochan of General sessions, who has presided at the John Doe inquiry conducted into alleged irregularities in the comptroller's office.

Justice Kernochan based his finding on a sale of $2,013,000 worth of New York city bonds to the state at 89½ when the market price was 82 and interest. The sale was made by William S. Fanshawe & Co. for Albert L. Judson, dealer, and the state was declared to have overpaid $140,000 on the purchase.

The justice directed the district attorney's office to prepare papers on which he would issue a warrant for the arrest of the comptroller.

Judson was not ordered held by Justice Kernochan, who asked the district attorney to submit a brief on Judson's refusal to sign a waiver of immunity when testifying.

COOLNESS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND FRANCE FINALLY DISSIPATED

Paris, Nov. 6.—Coolness between the British and French governments over their divergent views relative to German reparations was dissipated by a note from the British government delivered at the French foreign office by the Earl of Derby, British ambassador, last night. Premier Leygues and the ambassador will meet tonight to complete the agreement.

It is said at the French foreign office that France now approves, not only of a Brussels conference of Allied and German experts, but also an advisory meeting at Geneva of Allied representatives, which she formerly opposed. There is a possibility that Germans will participate in this meeting.

Will Draw Up Basis.

It is understood that the Geneva meeting, whether attended by the Allied premiers or not, will draw up a basis for action by the reparations commission. The decision of the commission, according to this understanding, will then be submitted to a conference of the premiers for final action.

It is considered probable, it was added, that the German minister of finance will attend the Geneva meeting.

FOR PROTECTION OF AMERICA'S FORESTS

Chicago, Nov. 6.—How the American newspaper publishers, the national lumber manufacturers, the National Association of Wood Using Industries have joined with the American Paper and Pulp association in a program for the protection of America's forests will be told when the convention of the parent organization of the paper industry in the United States will be held at Chicago, Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

Rapid developments have taken place with the paper shortage, since early spring, when the American Paper and Pulp association at a meeting in New York city was the first national organization of manufacturers using wood to definitely formulate a forest policy for the nation. On Oct. 15, at New York, representatives of the great associations named above met for a conference on a national policy on which all could agree, and it is understood that the steps then taken will not be opposed by the Federal forest service.

"LAYMEN'S SUNDAY" FOR UNITARIANS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—In 300 Unitarian churches across the United States and Canada Nov. 14—Armistice Sunday by presidential proclamation—300 Unitarian ministers will occupy front pew seats and, instead of preaching, will listen to a layman from the congregation conduct the morning service.

This "Laymen's Sunday" will be the culmination of a series of six sermons on Unitarian Christianity, a part of the program adopted by the Unitarian religious and educational campaign committee under the leadership of Former President William H. Taft. This forward movement, with its intensive period, Nov. 11-21, and a national Thanksgiving service the Sunday following the Pilgrim Thanksgiving day, is three-fold in its purpose. It is to unify Unitarians, to spread the message of Unitarian Christianity and counteract the irreligious tendency of the day, and to raise a fund to extend the work of the denomination through increasing ministerial salaries and establishing churches in areas where hundreds of Unitarians are without a place of worship.

CHICAGO MASHER SHOOTS CHOIR GIRL

Chicago, Nov. 6.—A neighborhood posse formed early today to search for two "mashers" who shot and wounded Miss Grace Phillips, 17 years old, a choir girl, last night. Miss Phillips, in company with two other girls of the Emmanuel Baptist church choir, was returning home from practice, humming hymns, when two young men acosted them.

"How'd you like to be my little girl?" one said to Miss Phillips.

The girls passed, frightened, and missed a kick aimed by one "masher," who fell.

"For that I've got something for you," he called. "You'd better look, too."

The girls cast a terrified glance back and Miss Phillips received a bullet wound in her leg. Her sister and other companion dragged her to safety in a doorway, amid a volley of shots. Neighbors appeared and the men fled.

On Armistice Day.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—Governor Philipp in a proclamation to the people of Wisconsin, calls upon them to devote as much of their time as possible on Nov. 11 to a recognition of the services of those who served in the last war.

The law returning various powers to the superintendent of instruction, 9,592; the law providing for the regular examination of the state bank, 9,085, and the law providing that legal notices may be published in any local paper rather than necessarily in the official county paper, with 7,351.

LEGION TO HELP SICK VETERANS

New York, Nov. 6.—Work has been started by the 9,700 posts of the American Legion in this country on a census of all veterans of the World war who are still inmates of government and private hospitals. The census is the first step of the legion in a campaign to make life more worth living for the sick and disabled.

A card will be made out for every man in hospital, giving information on his name, home address and organizations with which he served. The data will be obtained by committees from all legion posts and the cards filed at national headquarters in Indianapolis. The index will be accessible to anyone wishing to locate a sick or wounded man.

Under the legion plan, every man in hospital will be visited at least once a week. Outings and entertainments will be organized, delicacies and reading matter will be supplied and every man will be made to feel that a personal interest is being taken in his case. The spirit of the plan is to humanize hospitalization work. Every one in the community will be asked to help but the legion will lead the way.

There are still more than 20,000 disabled and sick veterans confined in about 1,200 government and private hospitals.

FLOUR PRICES TAKE ANOTHER TUMBLE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Flour prices dropped here today, quotations for family patents declining to a level not in effect since January, 1918. The reduction at one mill was 75 cents, which made its price today $10.75 per barrel, while another flouring concern's quotation declined 20 cents to a new low price of $10.40. The slump is attributed to the weak wheat market by millers here.

Ricci to Be Ambassador.

Rome, Nov. 5.—Appointment of Roland Ricci as Italian ambassador to the United States, which was recently reported by newspapers here, has been officially confirmed.

HARDING ON VACATION TO LAST MONTH

Special Train With President-Elect and Party Leaves for South.

To Spend Twelve Days in Texas Near the Mexican Border.

On Board President-elect Harding's Special Train, Nov. 6.—Starting for a month's vacation trip to Southern Texas and Panama, President-elect Harding today laid aside the last cares of the presidential campaign for an interim of real rest and recreation before he takes up seriously the responsibilities of his coming administration. Although his mind already is at work upon the preliminary details of his first administration policy, a plan for a new association of nations, Mr. Harding does not propose to let the task interfere with his outing. He has asked several leading statesmen to prepare their views on the subject for him, but his first conference to receive advice will not take place until after he returns to Marion, about Dec. 6.

The special train carrying Senator and Mrs. Harding and their party left Marion at 7:30 this morning, bound for Point Isabel, near the southern tip of the Texas coast, where the president-elect will spend twelve days hunting and fishing. After that he is to make an ocean voyage to the canal zone, and then back to a port on the middle Atlantic coast. He will speak in Bedford, Va., on Dec. 5, and will go immediately from there to Marion.

Six Miles From Mexico.

Making the trip south by way of St. Louis and San Antonio, the senator's train will reach Brownsville, Tex., Monday morning and the party will motor from there to Point Isabel, twenty miles away. Point Isabel is only six miles distant from the Mexican boundary and from the southermost tip of continental United States.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harding on the trip were Harry M. Daugherty, manager of the Harding pre-convention campaign; Senators Frelinghuysen of New Jersey; Hale of Maine, and Elkins of West Virginia, and Edward B. McLean, the Washington publisher. His secretary, George B. Christian, Jr., and his family physician, Dr. C. E. Sawyer and a group of secret service men and newspaper men also were on the special train.

The secret service detail, assigned to Mr. Harding as soon as he was elected to the presidency, was in charge of Miles McCahill, formerly of the White House staff at Washington. James Sloan, a former secret service man, who has acted as the senator's unofficial bodyguard during the campaign, will be retained in that capacity in co-operation with the guard detailed officially by secret service headquarters.

NO INTENTION OF PARDONING DEBS

Washington, Nov. 6.—President Wilson is understood to have no intention of pardoning Eugene V. Debs, who is serving a ten-year sentence in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta for violation of the espionage act.

The position taken by the president, according to those who profess to know his views, is that executive clemency in such a case would set a bad precedent and would encourage others to oppose the government in the event of another war.

RAIN, SNOW, GENERALLY FAIR, IN TURN NEXT WEEK

Washington, Nov. 6.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are:

Region Great Lakes—Rains and possibly local snows at beginning of week followed by generally fair and moderately cold.

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys—Generally fair and cold first part of week and fair and moderating temperature thereafter.

INDICTMENT FOR BACKER

New York, Nov. 6.—George Backer, millionaire contractor, alleged to have been a "go-between" in "building trust" activities now under investigation by the state, today was formally arraigned on an indictment charging perjury.

While it was reported that Backer was one of three defendants named in indictments returned yesterday by the additional grand jury, definite announcement was lacking both as to the names of those indicted and charges preferred.

Need More Help.

New York, Nov. 6.—The investigation of charges of graft and extortion in the alleged "building trades trust" here has assumed such far-reaching proportions that Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Lockwood joint legislative committee, announced today that a large organization would have to be employed to run down the ramifications of the "trust." There was no session of the committee today, adjournment having been taken until next Thursday to allow lawyers and accountants time to examine the flood of evidence flowing into the committee.

George Backer, millionaire, alleged "go between" among contractors and laborers, who was reported indicted yesterday by the additional grand jury, was ordered to appear for arraignment in court today and furnish bail for $25,000. The jury returned three indictments but the names of all those indicted were not made public. Bench warrants for their arrest have been issued by Judge Mulqueen of the general sessions court.

IS ELECTED REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR OF MICHIGAN

A. J. GROESBECK.

LARSON LEAD NEAR 1,000

With only eleven small precincts still to be heard from in the Eighth congressional district, and, it is said, little more than 200 votes involved, Oscar J. Larson's lead over Congressman William L. Carss, for national representative, is 993. This is regarded as virtually complete, for even should the congressman receive every vote cast in the missing precincts, he could not possibly overcome the lead. It is expected that the majority of the congressman-elect will be in the neighborhood of 300.

The total vote of the district on this office, so far as learned from the county auditors of the six counties included in the district is: Larson, 33,102; Carss, 32,109.

In the district judgeships, the complete vote of the four counties comprising the district has been received and shows Judge Cant leader by a wide margin over the others in the list. Judge Fesler is almost 4,000 behind, but takes second place, as was expected. Former Mayor C. R. Magney is third man with a margin of 7,178 votes over County Attorney Warren E. Greene, who, in turn, leads Hans B. Haroldson but virtually 9,000.

The complete vote for congressman is as follows:

	Larson.	Carss.
St. Louis county complete	24,811	23,404
Carlton county	2,688	2,025
*Koochiching county	1,108	1,646

Cook county complete	143	289
Lake county complete	889	1,612
	33,102	32,409

Larson's majority, 993.

*Ten small precincts missing, less than 200 votes involved.

One precinct with about 20 votes missing.

The complete vote on the judgeship follows:

	St. Louis.	Carlton.	Lake.	Cook.	Total.

PIPE SMOKING IS ON INCREASE BY LONDON WOMEN

London, Nov. 6.—Pipe smoking seems to be on the increase among London women, and fashionable cigar stores display dainty small briars, some set with precious stones. It is said there is a growing demand for these.

At one West London theater where smoking is permitted two smartly-dressed women were seen the other evening in a box puffing at their jeweled pipes, and soon an old Irishwoman in the gallery followed suit. Hers was a clay "cutty."

In a first-class railroad car between Horsham and London, a quarrel arose the other day between a number of nonsmoking women and another woman who refused to put out her cigarette at her sister travelers' behest. It ended in one of the anti-smokers seizing the offending cigarette, gold mounted tortoise shell holder and all, and flinging it out of the window.

"Two guineas costs will meet the case," said the magistrate.

WAGE ADVANCE RESTS WITH COAL OPERATORS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6.—The fate of the demands of the anthracite mine workers for wage increases equal to those recently granted the bituminous miners rested with the operators today, when representatives of the hard coal diggers and the mine owners resumed their conference here this morning.

Before going into session, the operators declined to discuss their plans and would not indicate their probable attitude toward the miners' demands for a 13 per cent increase for contract miners, a $6 minium day labor rate, and a universal eight-hour day throughout the anthracite region.

Thomas Kennedy of Hazelton, Pa., chairman of the miners' committee, said the miners had completed their arguments and "it is now up to the operators."

Exonerates Baseball Magnates.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The special grand jury investigating baseball this morning returned its final report in which it stated that "while evidence has been found that some games were thrown by players, the practice was not general and the leaders in organized baseball may be relied upon to keep the game above suspicion."

FALLING SNOW RETARDS BOLSHEVIK MOVEMENTS

Soviet Armies Unable to Bring Up Their Cannon and Supply Trains.

Sebastopol, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Snow has been falling over the Tauridian plains, north of the slender isthmus connecting Crimea to the mainland of Russia, and it has tended to render highways impassable, thus retarding the movement of Bolshevik cannon and supply trains being brought up from the Dnieper river to force a passage south of Perekop. Soviet cavalry and infantry made rapid advances during the past week against Gen. Baron Wrangel's anti-Bolshevik army, and drove it back to the Crimean peninsula.

Cuts Around Flank.

Gen. Wrangel, who has been engaged in a life and death struggle against the enemy, did not seriously oppose the onrush of the Bolsheviki, but daringly cut around one flank and fell upon their line of communications near Salkovo. In this fight many thousands of prisoners were taken by the Wrangel forces.

Since the passing of the first panic, during which excited people and speculators paid enormous prices for accommodations on board of Black sea ships, this city has quieted down.

Rear Admiral Sanblin, former commander-in-chief of the Russian Black sea fleet, and in charge of naval units loyal to Gen. Wrangel, is dead at Yalta, following an operation. He succeeded Admiral Kredoff as head of the anti-Bolshevik naval service.

American Mission Taken.

London, Nov. 6.—An American mission in South Russia has fallen into the hands of the soviet forces, according to the Moscow newspaper Pravda, as quoted in a wireless dispatch today from the soviet capital. The mission, says the newspaper, was headed by Gen. Morel.

The Pravda reported the incident in recording details of the Bolshevik attack upon the forces of Gen. Baron Wrangel. The paragraph concerning the mission reads:

"At Alexievka station, which was taken without a shot, an American mission fell into our hands at the head of which was Gen. Morel, who had the task of combatting bandits in the White army."

Budenny Had Eight Divisions.

Sebastopol, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eight divisions of infantry and Gen. Budenny's cavalry made up the soviet army, the attack of which broke the strength of Baron Wrangel's forces in Taurida. These troops, advancing from Nikopol on Oct. 31, attacked both wings of the anti-Bolshevik army.

Ten thousand of Gen. Budenny's men swept southward as far as Salkovo where Gen. Wrangel's counter-attack resulted in their surrender. Five columns of superior soviet forces, however, continued to advance in all directions along the 200-mile front, and Gen. Wrangel was forced to retreat. He was successful in withdrawing his men, horses and supplies into the Crimean peninsula.

G. O. P. ASSURED OF 291 IN THE HOUSE

New York, Nov. 6.—Results of last Tuesday's election in two of the nation's 435 congressional districts remained undetermined today as the fifth day of tabulating the Republican party's tremendous sweep was begun.

The missing districts were the Twenty-third, New York, and Fifth Missouri, in both of which the vote for representatives apparently will be close.

The Republicans, with 291 members in the house of representatives already assured to 138 Democratic, one Socialist, one independent, one independent Prohibitionist and one independent Republican, were claiming success in both of the undetermined districts. They also were predicting upsets in the Fourth and Eighth districts of Tennessee, which had been placed earlier in the Democratic column.

Victories in all four of these districts would give the Republicans a total of 295 seats, and would cut the Democratic total to 136, while the best possible results for the Democrats would give them a total of only 140 to 291 for the Republicans.

WILL ASK PHILIPP TO ACT IN BOOZE MURDER

Hurley, Wis., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—District Attorney Marion Freid of Iron county leaves tonight for Madison to lay before Governor E. L. Philipps all the affidavits and testimony taken since the fatal shooting of John M. Chiapusio, saloon keeper here, by Federal agents operating under the direction of Leo J. Grove, one of the six prohibition agents named by a coroner's jury as being responsible for the man's death.

Some interesting developments with regard to the operation of the Federal men in and about Hurley are foreshadowed if Governor Philipps co-operates with the district attorney and issues requisition for the accused.

WOULD KNOW WHETHER TO SUPPORT WRANGEL.

Constantinople, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—French and British representatives here have asked their governments if their warships in Black sea waters should support Gen. Wrangel at Perekop and Salkova, where the soviet forces are pressing upon the Crimean peninsula. Meanwhile, fresh supplies of rifles and cartridges are being hurried to Sebastopol.

D'Annunzio Occupies Promontory.

Triest, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian insurgent commander at Fiume, has occupied the promontory of San Marco, south of Buccari, with 500 troops as a protest against the alleged firing by Serbian coast guards on the Italian steamer Issoria, from Buccari. D'Annunzio's troops are now facing the Jugo-Slav frontier.

BARNES MAKES SUGGESTIONS

Wheat Expert Addresses Marketing Committee of Farm Federation.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Julius H. Barnes, former director general of the United States Grain corporation, yesterday appeared before the marketing committee of seventeen of the American Farm Bureau federation, offering opinions and suggestions on the subject of grain marketing, and outlining major influences on price fluctuations on trading exchanges in a formal statement touching upon every phase of grain marketing, after which he expressed a willingness to answer questions from members of the committee.

Mr. Barnes said that it was his conviction that the present system of grain marketing through open exchanges, by maintaining a highly competitive market at all times, worked to the advantage of both producer and consumer, and that future trading was beneficial in that it furnished insurance for traders against destructive losses on commitments which would be taken in wider margins of profits without exchange hedging.

He urged the development of a better understanding of "the grain exchanges and co-operation with them in developing their full service and eliminating their defects and abuses," and commended the committee for its temper to "lay aside prejudice and previous conceptions to learn the truth about basic facts on sound marketing."

Recent Declines.

Touching upon recent declines in wheat prices, which some agricultural interests of the country have claimed are unwarranted by the existing supply and demand, Mr. Barnes said that the wheat producer had "escaped the full effect of deflation," because of the "cushion" found in future trading. He cited figures tending to show that the decline in wheat from the peak post-war price to the current level has been only 18 per cent as against a decline of 68 per cent in potatoes, for which there is no exchange market. Similar comparisons reveal declines of 55 per cent in cotton, 47 per cent in beans and 46 per cent in barley, the statement said. Indications that the deflation is worldwide in character and not confined to American farm products alone, Mr. Barnes said, was found in the fact that imported farm commodities, such as sugar and coffee, fell off from 61 to 66 per cent during the same period.

In answer to a question from a committee member as to whether it would be feasible for producers to market their own crops, Mr. Barnes said the present system maintained a lower trade toll between producer and consumer than would be possible in any system which eliminated hedging, and that in his opinion any organization of farmers for price fixing would not be decreed just by the American public.

Co-operative Efforts.

Particular emphasis was given the statement that co-operative efforts of producers in local territories to eliminate unfair practices where monopolies existed were not to be confused with a nation-wide marketing system which would itself constitute a monopoly. The former, Mr. Barnes declared, is sound in economic principle, and will succeed, while the latter is not sound in that it seeks to establish market influences other than the fundamental laws of supply and demand.

Questioned as to why co-operative selling organizations were not permitted to hold memberships in grain exchanges, Mr. Barnes said that while he was not familiar with the rules of all exchanges, his personal opinion was that to permit co-operative agencies to hold membership would be unfair to commission houses and other interests which have established and maintained the marketing system thus far. Huge investments in the marketing business by private firms would be jeopardized by the swing of business to the co-operative concerns, from which profits would revert to farmers, he said.

Constructive Suggestions.

First among constructive suggestions submitted by Mr. Barnes was that "exact and accurate information on all phases that affect marketing and price, both national and worldwide, verified and indorsed by organizations in whose judgment the producer has confidence," be given farmers to aid them in determining values. Efforts to improve transportation facilities and increase domestic consumption were also mentioned as means by which market conditions might be made more favorable for the producer.

The disorganization of European finances is to some degree responsible for the light export demand, and this in turn is due to the "impossible atmosphere created for private business by the world political situation," Mr. Barnes declared, adding that he believed that had the United States contributed its efforts to the readjustment of world affairs "long ago," American business would not be undergoing the "strain which it is now experiencing."

Reports Flatly Denied.

Reports that Mr. Barnes is to head a $60,000,000 corporation for exporting grain were flatly denied before the committee.

Mr. Barnes said that after the discontinuance of the grain corporation he merely returned to the business in which he has been engaged for twenty-five years prior to the war, and that "he had no ambitions for expansion."

Mr. Barnes described the injection of government into business as "most undesirable and only justified when our producers have been deprived of the usual protection of free competition." It was certain that Great Britain will dissolve its governmental grain agencies in the near future, he said, after which normal trading judgment, the weighing of influence of supply and demand, would again dominate the grain markets of the world.

American System Superior.

Concluding his statement with a plea that "the study of grain exchanges be approached without any preconceived opinions or convictions," Mr. Barnes said he believed the American marketing system superior to any in the world, and that no other method approaches it in point of the protection offered the producer and consumer alike.

"Speculation does not create fluctuating prices," he declared, "but a fluctuating market attracts speculation; and this in turn produces a reduced marketing cost."

Questioned as to the earnings of the United States Grain corporation, Mr. Barnes said that profits from three years' operation totaled approximately $50,000,000, which amount little more than covered actual interest charges on funds advanced by the United States treasury for operation.

The falling off in domestic demand, and not the importation of Canadian wheat was largely responsible for the recent depression of wheat prices, Mr. Barnes declared, saying that during the first four months of the current crop year preceding Nov. 1, the mill consumption of American wheat had been 50,000,000 bushels less than during the same period last year.

"This falling off in mill consumption indicates the temper of our people, and the contractions in current demand which that indicates cannot help but have a price effect," he said.

BECAME ALMOST INSANE; FOLLOWED FRIEND'S ADVICE

MRS. IDA LEMBERG.

"I had a queer nervous disease for more than a year, and took nearly all forms of treatment for it. I took much medicine; for a while nearly all I ate or drank was medicine. But I seemed to grow worse—I BECAME ALMOST INSANE.

Some friends advised me to go to Dr. Wentworth, but I was skeptical—I did not see how he could cure anyone without medicine. Finally, I decided to try him. At first I became a little better, but still could not sleep well. But I grew steadily better, and after two months under his care, I became well and my nervousness disappeared. I had been feeling well for some time, when last November I became sick again, this time with Erysipelas. I felt very badly and looked worse, so after consideration decided to call on Doctor Wentworth again. He told me I would be well again in six days, and sure enough—at the end of six days I was strong and feeling as well as ever.

It would be wise for people who are not well, (and especially those who have tried other methods) to interview Dr. Wentworth. I know he will relieve them.

MRS. IDA LEMBERG.
222 West Third Street,
Duluth, Minnesota.

It is not necessary to say more. Mrs. Lemberg's letter speaks for itself. She is one of many people made well and happy by Dr. Wentworth's modern methods of treatment. He is eager to help YOU, and if you will call at his office will be pleased to show you how.

COUNTIES SHARE IN FOREST RECEIPTS

Denver, Colo., Nov. 6.—Seventy-six counties in Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Michigan and Minnesota will share in the distribution of $213,632 derived from national forest business in the Rocky mountain district of the United States forest service during the fiscal year 1920. This amount is 25 per cent of the total receipts received from timber sales, grazing, waterpower, special uses, etc., which by act of congress goes to swell the road and school funds of the counties in which the national forests are located. The total amount turned over to the several states from this source in 1919 was $197,074. Minnesota this year will get $6,268, divided among six counties.

Norwegian Lutherans to Meet.

Perley, Minn., Nov. 6.—The fall meeting of Moorhead circuit of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America will take place in Nora church here Nov. 9 to 11. Rev. O. J. Lutnes is pastor. Rev. L. J. Floren will preach the opening sermon.

PROCTOR FOREST OF THE TALL CEDARS

Reading, Pa., Nov. 6.—Supreme Tall Cedar William A. Wurts, the national head of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon, a side order of the Masonic fraternity, has been gratified to learn of the steps being taken S. F. Spurbeck of Proctor. being taken by S. F. Spurbeck of that village, to organize a local forest of the order in Proctor.

Efforts have been tentatively made heretofore to establish a local branch of this modern fun-making organization, but it remained for Mr. Spurbeck to bring the new forest into existence under his energetic direction.

The supreme forest is now arranging to send a delegation of its officers to Proctor to attend the institution of this new forest, and nearby forests are being urged to send large delegations to the opening.

District Representative V. D. Irvin of Duluth, Minn., is co-operating with Mr Spurbeck in plans for the institution.

PRACTICALLY every car in operation has Weed Tire Chains—in the garage. Even the novice knows there are times when he cannot drive safely without them. The trouble comes in making drivers think to always carry them in their cars and think to put them on the tires "at the first drop of rain."

Give your Weed Tire Chains a chance to perform their mission. Don't leave them in the garage. Carry them with you and put them on the tires before the elements whip the streets into black deadly skidways.

TO CONSIDER COMPLAINTS

Mayor Says the Charges Against Safety Department Are Exaggerated.

The charge that lawlessness is rampant in Duluth and that, in order to put a stop to vice conditions, Mayor T. W. Hugo would take it upon himself to order a cleanup, is entirely without foundation, declared the mayor today. That the city is not lawless and that it is much more free of crime than average cities of its size, he also asserts, and he is firmly convinced that Commissioner W. F. Murnian, in charge of the safety division, is doing all within his power to enforce the laws in Duluth, handicapped as he is with lack of funds and sufficient men.

No Friction, Says Mayor.

Mayor Hugo expressed himself in no uncertain terms against the intimation that there was friction with the safety department. This department, he said, is doing what it can to enforce the law and Mr. Murnian is doing all he can to protect the city. The mayor said he had no intention of assuming any of the authority or duties of Mr. Murnian's department.

Charges of vice and lawlessness in the city were made in resolutions adopted by the Woman's council at a meeting yesterday morning, in which the present safety department and the police department came in for considerable criticism. These resolutions were to have been submitted to Mayor Hugo and the city council, but had not been received by the mayor this morning. The resolution of the Woman's council was published in The Herald yesterday.

Will Consider Complaints.

Mayor Hugo, in commenting on the criticism of the Women's Council, said many of the charges in the published report of the resolution were correct and that these would be considered at the next meeting of the city council, if they were received by that time. As to why these things exist is a matter for argument, he said. He believed the lax conditions mentioned were not permitted willfully.

He called attention to the shortage of policemen and to the handicap under which the city is placed in trying to enforce the laws. He said that the city has only about one-third the number of men it should have, but could not employ more owing to lack of funds. He was sure that Mr. Murnian was doing the best he could to enforce law and order, he repeated.

Commissioner W. F. Murnian, in charge of the department of safety, who is responsible for the conditions in the police department, declared the conditions in Duluth had been grossly exaggerated and that the city was unusually free from crime, even with a small police force. He welcomes an investigation of the department and offers at any time to meet with a committee of the Women's Council or any other organization to discuss the situation.

Commissioner Murnian dictated the following statement in reply to the criticism of the police department:

"Assuming that the newspaper text of the resolution is correct, the charge is made that there is lax enforcement of the law in the city, and specifically complaint is made that 'burglary and bootlegging are common,' the vault of the police department was robbed, 'lynching takes place under the eyes of the safety commissioner' and 'citizens are obliged to organize a vigilance committee to protect their homes and families.'

"Burglary is not common in Duluth and the city has been unusually free from major crime—that is professional crime. The burglaries that have been reported are the work of amateurs and boys, and there has been no case in which any considerable amount of property was taken. The amount of petty thievery has not been unusual—more publicity has been given to what has occurred, that is all.

"Bootlegging is not common. Just the contrary is true. Representatives of the Federal government engaged in the enforcement of the Volstead act, coming to Duluth from other places, say that the liquor laws are more rigidly enforced in Duluth than in any other large city in the West.

Passes Up Lynching.

"The matter of the lynching in June has been gone over time after time. To go into that subject again would be useless. In fact all of the charges made by the Woman's council in addition to those I have mentioned are referable to one fact—lack of money for the police department and consequent deterioration in the force.

"The police department has been going down for six years—since wartime wages began to attract men from the department, and wartime prices began to break down the morale of those who remained. Good men left the department and good men could not be obtained to take their places. The rising costs forced the city to curtail expenditures and the police force had to be refused such proportions that adequate police protection could not be afforded to all parts of the city.

"With some additional revenue available after the first of the year, we will be able to add about eight men to the force. The prospect of increased wages is now attracting to the force a better grade of men. We have taken on some men lately who measure up to the standards maintained before the war. The deterioration that has been going on for six years cannot be remedied in a day, especially when we haven't the money for more men and better wages. I think credit is due the veteran members of the police force who have remained loyal through the trying times the department has experienced. With the loyal, experienced men as a nucleus, we can rebuild the department to something like adequate size and efficiency, but we cannot do it until the additional revenues are available after Jan. 1.

Unfortunate Occurrences.

"The department was not up to standard when I took office, for the reasons I have mentioned. There have been some unfortunate occurrences involving the police department. Some of these occurrences have been unduly magnified by the newspapers, and the nature of the publicity has caused citizens to form hasty judgment, without full knowledge of the fact. The superior officers in the police department and I have had many difficulties to contend with, but I believe the situation is constantly improving, and I know that we are taking all steps possible to give the public the protection to which it is entitled.

"I shall be very glad at any time to meet a committee of the Woman's council or any other organization, to discuss the situation in the police department."

FIRST STATEMENT BY COX ON ELECTION

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6.—Governor Cox, Democratic candidate for the presidency, in his first statement since the election, last night said that in spirit he was "as proud as when the fight started," and that he "would not retrace a step nor yield a single jot in principle."

Governor Cox's statement follows:

"For the first time in ten years, the Republican party is in complete control of the legislative and executive branches of the national government. Therefore, policy as to statute and administration is with it. Its task is no longer that of the critic but the constructor. It is my hope and firm belief that the democracy of the nation will not attempt political sabotage. The country has seen quite enough of that.

"In spirit I am as proud as when the fight started. I would not retrace a step nor yield a single jot in principle. It was a privilege to make the contest for the right in the face of overwhelming odds. There is a distinct difference between defeat and surrender. The flag of democracy still flies as the symbol of things more enduring than the passions and resentment that come with the aftermath of war."

FRANCE, BRITAIN AND ITALY IN AGREEMENT

Paris, Nov. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—France, Great Britain and Italy have signed a tripartite agreement in which they agree to support each other in maintaining their "spheres of influence" in Turkey. The limits of the area in which the respective special interests of France and Italy are recognized are defined by the same document.

This agreement was signed at Severes Aug. 10, the day the public ceremonial of the signing of the peace treaty with Turkey took place. Although the agreement, it is explained, is not considered a secret one, it nevertheless has never been made public until now, after a lapse of nearly three months since the signing. Under its terms the document was to come into force and be published at the time the Turkish peace treaty should go into effect. This date is still an uncertainty.

UPSETS FOR NONPARTY

Townley Men Again in Hopeless Minority in Minnesota House.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 6.—Additional returns from legislative districts show that the Nonpartisan league once more will be in a hopeless minority in the Minnesota house, showing little, if any, increase in membership compared with the last house, when the league had twenty-seven of the 131 members.

Reports from Nonpartisan league territory show some surprising upsets. Victor Holmquist, who sat in the last house as a leaguer, is re-elected, but comes back as a Townley opponent. He refused the league indorsement this year after it had been voted, made a campaign against the league and was elected over the league's second choice by nearly 500 margin.

Louis Enstrom (Socialist), a league member from Roseau county, is defeated for re-election by David Lofgren, who got 2,258 votes on complete returns to 1,715 for Enstrom.

Another league member defeated for re-election is Henry Hodapp of Blue Earth county. In that district two anti-league men, John G. Gerlich and Thomas B. Taylor, are elected. F. A. Scherf, leaguer from Red Wing, also went down to defeat.

Christianson Re-Elected.

Anti-Townley members re-elected include Theodore Christianson, Lac qui Parle county, house floor leader; Daniel De Lury, Cass county; F. C. McGivern, Todd county; L. C. Pedersen, Pine county; Elias Nordgren, Chisago county; F. J. McPartlin, Koochiching county; A. E. Rako, Beltrami county; C. T. Murphy, R. W. Hitchock, W. L. Bernard and M. B. Cullum, St. Louis county, and C. M. Bendixen, Redwood county.

League members re-elected, according to new reports today, include: A. C. Welch, McLeod county; Louis Spelbrink, Brown; Carl M. Iverson, Grant, and Henry Arens, Scott county.

Two league gains were reported yesterday. W. J. Darby seems to have been defeated for re-election in Carlton county by Frank Yetka, a leaguer. In Polk county the league has elected B. M. Benson, one of its two candidates. The other member from Polk is John T. Perry, anti-leaguer.

Wilkin county defeated the league, Charles Gran winning over Ralph Davis, league candidate, by about 400. In Pope county, Carl N. Nelson, anti-league member, is succeeded by J. O. Grove, another opponent of the league. He defeated G. M. Gaurud, a leaguer, by several hundred.

Theodore Christianson, who was thought to be in some danger, scored a big win over Magnus Johnson, his league opponent, in Lac qui Parle county.

TWO ANTI-LA FOLLETTE CANDIDATES ELECTED

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. H. Werden, who was elected state senator Tuesday for the Twelfth senatorial district, Ashland, Bayfield, Sawyer, Price and Rusk counties, is a retired lumberman formerly having operated the mill of the White River Lumber company at Mason until it closed down. He is president of the Ashland chamber of commerce and of the Ashland Y. M. C. A. and is active in all civic matters. Mr. Werden was a strong supporter of Senator Lenroot.

A. L. Biglow, who was elected assemblyman for Ashland county, is also a regular Republican, having defeated the La Follette candidate, J. A. Cobb, at the primaries. Mr. Biglow was for several years manager of the Home Telephone company here.

MAN IN KENTUCKY JAIL ELECTED JUDGE

Whitesburg, Ky., Nov. 6.—Probably the most unusual outcome of Tuesday's election in Kentucky was the victory of Fess Whitaker, jailer of Whitesburg, over Stephen Combs, Jr., in the race for county judge, Whitaker having been sentenced to his own jail for a term of six months by Judge Combs on the charge of attacking county officers, including the sheriff.

After being placed in the jail of which he was the legal keeper, Whitaker escaped, was recaptured and again sentenced for jail-breaking. Following one of the most exciting campaigns known to the mountains of Kentucky, Whitaker, though in jail won over Judge Combs by more than 1,000 majority. Governor Morrow has three times refused to pardon Whitaker.

Equal Vote for President.

Macalester, Okla., Nov. 6.—One of the oddities arising out of the general election came to light in Pittsburg when the complete and official count of ballots showed that Senator Harding and Governor Cox had both polled the equal number of 5,100 votes each.

PRESIDENT WILL AID U. OF VA. ENDOWMENT

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 6.—President Woodrow Wilson has accepted membership on the honorary national committee of the centennial endowment fund of the University of Virginia, it was announced today by Dr Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia.

In his letter to Dr. Alderman, the president says: "I shall be glad to be associated with the effort."

Woodrow Wilson was a law student, though not a graduate of the University of Virginia and was a member of the class of 1881. Early in his college career, he won honors as an orator and debater, and at the time of his departure, because of illness, was easily the "biggest" man in college.

RHEUMATISM---RELIEF

From Its Dreadful Pains and Aches, Stiffness, Soreness—

Is properly to be sought in a good blood medicine, because authorities say rheumatism is a blood disease; acid has entered the blood, settling in the muscles and joints. That's what makes the sharp, sudden, shot-like pains, causing you to jump and cringe in agony.

Hood's Sarsaparilla comprises remedies that every physician prescribes for rheumatism, combined with other blood-purifying, tonic and strength-building ingredients in a formula vastly superior in make-up and in curative power. It does give positive relief. Thousands say so. So will you. For a fine laxative take Hood's Pills.—Advertisement.

SAYS COUNTY JAIL UNFIT

Mrs. Blanche Krawaczyk Attacks Conditions; Sheriff in Reply.

Trusties kiss the girl prisoners, jail[illegible] at them on the back, food and san[illegible] conditions are deplorable at the [illegible] Louis county jail, according to a [illegible] made by Mrs. Blanche Krawaczyk, who spent two nights at the [illegible] while held on a false charge after [illegible] arrested on a warrant sworn [illegible] R. E. Hayes, a stableman. Hayes [illegible] her with having had com[illegible] a murder in Knoxville, Tenn., [illegible] 8, 1919. She was released [illegible] being the person wanted after [illegible] from Knoxville had arrived and [illegible] identification.

[illegible] F. L. Magie's charges, according to the morning paper, that "Mrs. [illegible]aczyk is untruthful, disreputable [illegible] one of the toughest characters [illegible] has been in the county jail for [illegible] time" brought resentment from [illegible] Krawaczyk this morning.

Calls Charges Libelous.

[illegible] sheriff's statement about me is [illegible]," she said. "I'll make him pay [illegible] for that. I can prove as good [illegible]acter as any woman, and further I'm no liar. The charges I [illegible] made are absolutely true. The [illegible]tions at the county jail are most [illegible]table. I saw this trusty, Ford, [illegible] two different women, first put[illegible] his arms around them, and furth[illegible] nearly every woman in the [illegible] department saw the same [illegible]. I may have sworn when I was [illegible] in the jail and I may have sworn [illegible] I was there, but that does not [illegible] one a hardened character. I be[illegible] the provocations were sufficient." [illegible] Magie denies the statement [illegible]buted to him.

Mrs. Krawaczyk said that what hit [illegible] hardest was the food and the [illegible] it was served. The food consisted [illegible] beans, prunes, rice, tea and weak [illegible], and the food served in tin [illegible] without knife, fork or spoon, [illegible] said.

"The women had to dig into the food [illegible] their fingers," she said. "Of [illegible] fingers were made before forks, [illegible] I was not used to it. We had to [illegible] it into our mouths like monkeys. [illegible]fee and tea was served without [illegible] or sugar. I never saw either while [illegible] at the jail.

"The trustee, Ford, took many liber[illegible] with the girls. He would come into [illegible] room and hug and kiss them. [illegible] him kiss and hug two different [illegible]. I don't know their names but I [illegible] know them if I saw them. The [illegible], Joe, I think is his name, would [illegible] girls on the back but that was [illegible] as he went. No, they did not at[illegible] to take any liberties with me. [illegible] had I would have broken a [illegible] over their heads.

"The first night I was there Mrs. [illegible], the sheriff's wife, came up to [illegible] cell room and asked one of the [illegible] where I could sleep. There were [illegible] enough beds to go around. One [illegible] said that I could bunk in with [illegible] and this I did for the whole time [illegible] at the jail. This girl had been [illegible] to the industrial home, so she [illegible] me, and then had run away. When [illegible] recaptured she was sent to [illegible] jail. She said the reason she ran [illegible] from the home was because she had been told publicly that she was in[illegible]ected with a social disease and that [illegible] blood test was three plus. She said [illegible] could not stand the disgrace of having the other girls know that she was in that condition. At any rate I had to sleep with her.

"The bed[illegible] are in cells and have bed [illegible] filled with straw for mattresses. There are sheets though, and I suppose [illegible] that these beds are as good as can be [illegible]cted in a jail. These cells are [illegible] visible from the hallway, and [illegible] result is that the girls have to [illegible] and dress in full view of any[illegible]. The doors were never closed. The toilets are not only public but [illegible] and are most insanitary. There [illegible] bath tub or even basin. They do [illegible] a bucket though. Towels are not [illegible] and the girls told me that [illegible] they wanted to take a bath they [illegible] splash the water on themselves [illegible] they could and then dry with [illegible]. They have a poor shower, but [illegible] girls never used it.

Girls Smoke Cigarettes.

"The girls smoke cigarettes and use [illegible] language freely. I suppose that [illegible] cannot be helped, but it seems to [illegible] that if these women are going to [illegible] rid of the social diseases with [illegible] they are troubled, they will not [illegible]prove much in a place like that. [illegible] swept out in the morning, as any [illegible] would, but there were no or[illegible] given about cleaning the place.

"I cannot say too much for the way [illegible] Fiskett and others on the po[illegible] force treated me. If it had not [illegible] for the food they sent me I would [illegible] been starved to death, for I could [illegible] have eaten the stuff they gave me [illegible] the jail. They have a wonderfully [illegible] police force in this city.

"There must be an adequate ration [illegible]owance for the jail. I am an army [illegible] and I know what can be done in [illegible] way of feeding a crowd on 40 or 50 [illegible] a day. The food we got could [illegible] been furnished for almost noth[illegible]. They spend money for a school [illegible]her who comes during the day and [illegible]ches the men, and yet they cannot [illegible] knives and forks for the women [illegible] eat with.

"There is another thing which made [illegible] feel badly and that was the way [illegible] treated the poor little negro girl, [illegible]ts,' on the day she was leaving for [illegible] reform school. She had no hat or [illegible] and it was raining pitchforks and [illegible] cold. At first she was told she [illegible] have to go as she was, but final[illegible] they got a coat for her. She went [illegible] a hat."

Will Remain in City.

Mrs. Krawazyk said she was willing [illegible] tell her experience to any body of [illegible] who were interested in the [illegible] and that she had promised that [illegible] would assist the girls at the jail [illegible] doing anything in her power to re[illegible] present conditions. She said she [illegible] to remain in the city for [illegible] time yet. She intends to leave as [illegible] as her husband, Lieut. Stanley Krawazyk, has been permanently lo[illegible] in some army camp. At present [illegible] is taking examinations and it may [illegible] sometime before it is known to [illegible] camp he will be assigned.

Sheriff Frank L. Magie denies the [illegible] interview attributed to him [illegible] the morning paper concerning [illegible] made by Mrs. Blanche Kraw[illegible]. In a statement furnished The Herald this morning Mr. Magie said:

Interview Is Garbled.

"Referring to the interview pub[illegible] in the morning paper in regard [illegible] the charges made by Mrs. Kraw[illegible] as to the conditions at the county [illegible], I will say that this interview [illegible] place over the telephone about 10 o'clock last night. The reporter has [illegible] a statement in that interview [illegible] made by me. I refer to the state[illegible] wherein it is made to appear that I said Mrs. Krawezyk is untruth[illegible] and disreputable and one of the toughest characters that has been in [illegible] jail for some time. This state[illegible] is not embraced in quotation marks, but it is placed between sen[illegible] which are quoted and attrib[illegible] to me. I did not make this state[illegible] and do not wish to be quoted as [illegible] done so and am so informing the morning paper.

"I have been busy all morning in[illegible]tigating the charges made by this [illegible] and cannot find the slightest [illegible] for them. The criticism in regard to the food, whether well founded or not, has been remedied by the employment of a new cook. All other matters referred to by her are now undergoing a thorough investigation. The public shall have the facts as soon as I obtain them."

REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDE FAILS TO ENGULF JUDGE

BEN B. LINDSEY.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 6.—The only Democratic candidate in Denver county to withstand the Republican landslide was Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who was reelected juvenile judge over his Republican opponent, Charles V. Varnum. Lindsey's lead over Varnum was 21,000 votes. Lindsey is the only Democrat in the state who was chosen for an office of any importance.

WATER WORKS MEN IN SESSION HERE

About seventy-five managers and heads of water works plants throughout the state convened at the Duluth Commercial club this morning in the first convention of this sort held in Duluth. The meeting today is the eighth annual meeting of the American Water Works association, Minnesota division. The national convention was held last June.

The session this morning was enlivened with some interesting discussions including one on water rates in small cities by John Wilson, consulting engineer of Duluth, and one by C. J. Sullivan superintendent of the water works filtration plant at Chisholm on the production and sale of pure water. The morning session was followed by a luncheon at the Commercial club.

This afternoon the visitors will make a trip to the aerial bridge and over the Boulevard. Dinner will be served at the Commercial club. The evening session will be of much interest to Duluth, as the quality of Duluth's water supply will be taken up and discussed under the direction of H. A. Whittaker, director of the division of sanitation of the state board of health. Members of the medical profession and citizens who are interested in this question are urged to attend. The session will open at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock, as was announced in the programs.

D. A. Reed, manager of the Duluth water and light department, will preside at the meeting tonight.

LITTLE ATTENTION TO THE GERMAN PRESIDENT

Berlin, Oct. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The change which has taken place in the attitude of Germans toward official personages was illustrated the other day at Templehof field where the German emperor formerly twice a year reviewed the troops of the Berlin garrison. President Ebert visited the field a few days ago to watch the filming of a motion picture, but instead of the adulation which used to be accorded to the emperor, the crowd of 4,000 costumed performers failed to recognize the president, jostled him and gave him scant show at the sandwich counter.

The German president wandered about unaccompanied and stood for a while beside the camera man while a scene was photographed. Later he made his way against the edge of a crowd witnessing a "riot scene." When the crowd was ordered out of camera range, Herr Ebert received no consideration from the jostling spectators.

One of the crowds, who recognized him, called attention to his presence but few gave him any notice.

MARCH KING RULES DULUTH

Sousa and His Famous Band Welcomed by Thousands Here.

Lieut. John Phillip Sousa, the March King, who is recognized as the world's greatest band leader, is guest of Duluth today and is being given a rousing welcome by former friends and admirers.

Lieut. Sousa was guest of honor at a luncheon this noon given by members of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs at the Spalding hotel. Many prominent Duluthians were present. Among the interesting features of the program was music by the Morgan Park boys' band, led by Louis H. Christie, who played in Sousa's band for nine years. The boys played an excellent program and a special honor was paid the march king by a quartet of boys who rendered "Let the Rest of the World Go By," arranged by Mr. Christie for this occasion.

Conducted to Armory.

After the luncheon Mr. Christie and his band conducted Sousa and his band to the New Armory, where thousands of children had gathered to see and hear the greatest American band leader. Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, who is sponsoring the Sousa engagement, had arranged one of the finest spectacles that even Sousa had ever seen. Fixing the price of tickets at a nominal cost, she arranged for the school children of Duluth, Superior, Two Harbors, Virginia, Ely and other towns to attend. Fully 1,000 extra seats had been placed in the Armory for the children and cheers and wild enthusiasm reigned among the youngsters when they saw the March King and his band of seventy-five artists. To hear Sousa and his band had been in their dreams for weeks. Supt. R. A. Kent of the Duluth public schools, J. R. Batchelor, city recreational director; Mrs. Jones and others were on hand to care for the children and under the capable direction of Mr. Batchelor, the children sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." These songs were sung as a tribute to Sousa and his 100 per cent Americanism.

One of the features arranged for the afternoon was the presentation of a huge birthday cake to Sousa by children of the St. James orphanage and the Children's Home. The cake, which is considered to be the largest ever made, was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Huot. Sousa is today celebrating his sixty-sixth birthday and the twentieth anniversary of the organization of his band.

Prof. Custance Honored.

This evening Duluth will be honored by the March King, for he has selected "Taps," a composition of Prof. A. F. M. Custance, as a feature of the program. This selection will be sung by Mrs. Baker and played during the afternoon and evening. This is the greatest honor ever paid to a Duluth composer, and it has been the most cherished wish of Mr. Custance to have Sousa render his composition. "Taps" is known as one of the most beautiful compositions before the public today. Mr. Custance is the leader of St. Paul's Episcopal choir, the Imperial Shrine Girls and the Ionic Glee club.

The Normanna male chorus, directed by Jens Flaaten, will celebrate its twenty-ninth anniversary by attending in a body at the evening concert.

Another feature of civic pride to Duluth will be the attendance of the Marshall-Wells Singing society under the leadership of Miss Myrtle Hobbs. The singers will attend in a body dressed in Marshall-Wells colors.

Other musical societies to attend will be the Duluth Choral society, the Imperial Shrine Girls, the St. Paul's choir, and the Ionic chorus, the Normal School Glee club, the Superior Normal School Glee club under Miss Curtis.

Harry Askins, who has been manager for Sousa and his band for many years, is in Duluth, and is lending his assistance in making the concerts a success. Despite the high rates of transportation, Mr. Askins has arranged for a concert at Hibbing as a special favor to range people although the entertainment may have to be given at a loss.

WOULD RECOVER DAMAGES FOR UNDELIVERED TICKETS

August Pahkala of Gilbert brought suit against Carl H. Salminen today in district court to recover $1,200 alleged actual and $1,000 punitive damages because the defendant, it is claimed, failed to deliver certain prepaid steamship and railroad tickets to members of the plaintiff's family.

Pahkala paid Salminen $438 last winter for three tickets for his wife and two sons. Salminen, it is claimed, kept the money for several months and, whereas Pahkala expected his family to arrive in February, they did not get the tickets until the middle of the summer and did not arrive in Gilbert until Aug. 11, 1920.

NEGRO BOOTLEGGER WOUNDS SHERIFF

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Lee Fessinger, a negro, who shot and probably fatally wounded Sheriff R. S. Hunter of Hopkins county, who attempted to arrest him last night on a charge of whisky "bootlegging," was still at large today. Leaders of a posse of farmers, however, said they had him "cornered" in a woods near here. Talk of lynching the negro is rife among members of the posse.

Sheriff Hunter was still alive today although attending physicians said he could not recover.

SUSPECTS IN BIG HOLD-UP ARRESTED

With the arrest early this morning of Daniel Morris, aged 27, alias Sullivan, in a Duluth hotel, and Tony Albrich, aged 19, alias "Pollock Kid" alias "Terko," the Superior police believe they have the two men who held up and robbed thirty-five men in a room back of the Abrahams pool hall, Broadway and Tower avenue, Thursday night, getting about $2,500 in cash and several thousand dollars worth of jewelry. Both men were found sleeping in their clothes when the officers burst into their rooms.

Morris was arrested by Detectives Boland and Englert in a room at 208 West Superior street. At first he refused to go to Superior, but when told that he ultimately would have to go, he consented to accompany Sheriff McKinnon. Albrich was located in the Schwartz hotel in Superior. Both men had revolvers when the police nabbed them.

The police are holding Harry Marcle, aged 25, a Superior taxi-driver, who is believed to have been an accomplice. He acknowledged to have driven these men from Eighth and Tower to Ogden and Broadway, a block away from the pool hall, but denies that he drove them to Duluth after the robbery.

Morris was arraigned in police court in Superior this morning and demanded an examination. He asked that he be held at the county jail instead of at the city jail while awaiting trial. His bail was fixed at $1,000. Albreck will be arraigned in police court Monday morning. Morris is said to live in St. Paul, while Albreck claims the Twin Cities and Superior as his home.

WOMAN'S COUNCIL DID NOT TALK POLITICS

The Woman's Council held no official discussion of the political situation at the city hall when it met yesterday morning and did not mention the name of W. F. Murnian, commissioner of public safety, according to Mrs. Alfred Jaques, president of the Woman's Council. The political situation was discussed unofficially by some members of the council following the meeting.

"There was no political discussion held by the council," said Mrs. Jaques. "We discussed the moral conditions and the resolution was unanimously adopted but was not aimed particularly at Commissioner Murnian. The council did not bring up any question of recall or subjects which might lead up to such a subject."

It is intimated that a number of women of Duluth organizations will attend the meeting of the city council Monday afternoon, when the subject of relief from present alleged vice conditions may be taken by the city commissioners.

The resolution indorsed by members of the Woman's Council yesterday stated that the council regarded with concern the lax law enforcement and stated that it was time for the women to ask relief of the city commissioners when burglary and bootlegging were common and even the vault of the police department was robbed under the eyes of the safety commissioner.

THOUSANDS VIRTUALLY HOMELESS IN VIENNA

Vienna, Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—A survey of housing just completed shows that 23,000 families comprising about 70,000 persons are virtually homeless in Vienna, so great is the shortage of living premises in spite of the requisitioning process that has been going on for a year.

These people are herded into passage ways, where often fifteen to twenty persons sleep in places used for other purposes in the daytime, or in pleasant weather they sleep in parks. It is now proposed to permit them to erect shacks on available land throughout the city.

OSHKOSH, WIS., MAN IS SHOT AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6.—David Pollock, an overall manufacturer of Oshkosh, Wis., was shot and wounded here last night. Robbery was the motive for the shooting, police said. Pollock was taken to a hospital where his condition was said to be serious.

Pollock is said to have come to Kansas City on business and was leaving for home, according to the police. He left his hotel shortly after midnight and walked to a taxicab stand where he hired a car and told the driver to take him to the depot. The taxicab was overtaken by another car containing three men, who, according to the police, shot Pollock in an attempted robbery.

The taxicab driver is being held by the police who said he was driving to the station by a roundabout route which took them through a sparsely settled district.

Child Kicked by Horse.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—With both eyelids lacerated so that it was necessary for stitches to be taken to close the wound, Marion Rutz, 3½-year-old daughter of Joseph Rutz, was found in a semi-conscious condition near a horse which is believed to have kicked her. It is believed she will survive and will not lose the sight of either eye.

Crushes Foot Under Train.

Emil Petrik of the Esmond hotel is at St. Mary's hospital with a crushed foot as the result of an accident in the Northern Pacific railroad yards last evening. That he did not lose his life is due to the quick action of another switchman, Thomas H. McNabb, 321 Eighth avenue west. Petrik was in the act of uncoupling cars when he lost his footing and fell. Only quick action on the part of McNabb, who grabbed him and held him until the train stopped, prevented the fatality.

Help That Aching Back!

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

IS your back giving out? Are you tortured with a dull, nagging backache and sudden, stabbing pains? Does the least exertion leave you tired, miserable, "all played out"? Do you feel you just can't keep going? You owe it to yourself, then, to find out what is wrong and lose no time in correcting it. Likely it's your kidneys. Overwork, colds, chills, insufficient rest and the hurry and worry of present-day living, tends to weaken and slow up the kidneys. Backache, with that tired, "all worn out" feeling, is the first warning. Headaches and dizziness may come, too, and perhaps some annoying kidney irregularity. Get back your health before the trouble becomes serious! Help the overworked kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills and assist the medicine by careful living. Doan's have brought health to thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

These Are Duluth Cases:

North Fifty-Fourth Ave. West

Harry Filks, barber, 319 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, says: "Some years ago I had a very bad spell of backache and it interfered with my work. Every move I made would send sharp pains in my back and I often had to go and sit down and rest, leaving my customers sitting in a chair. The kidney secretions didn't pass regularly, and when they did they pained me. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and I got two boxes. They fixed me up in good shape. I have many times recommended Doan's to my friends when I have heard them complain of backache."

East Fifth Street

Mrs. B. Olson, 312 East Fifth St., says: "I was generally run down with kidney trouble. I had awfully sharp pains in my back and I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. Sudden dizzy spells would come over me and I would be afraid to walk across the floor for fear of falling. My kidneys were too free in action and annoyed, me, too. One of my relatives advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after using a box the trouble disappeared entirely." (Statement given October 11, 1917.)

On September 22, 1919, Mrs. Olson added: "I always have a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills ever since they cured me of kidney trouble."

East Eleventh Street

George Clement, 612 East Eleventh St., city fireman, Fire Hall No. 7, says: "My kidneys gave me considerable trouble some months ago. My back ached by spells and it bothered me at night, keeping me from getting my proper rest. The next morning I arose feeling more tired than when I went to bed. I felt drowsy all the time and my kidneys didn't act regularly. I read accounts of those who had been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills and was led to try them. I used four boxes altogether, and they cured me up in good shape. I am glad to say I have never had a return of the trouble and I gladly indorse Doan's."

West Third Street

Mrs. J. P. Berg, 2632 West Third St., says: "I used to be troubled with my bladder and kidneys. The action of my kidneys was irregular and distressed me. I was often laid up for two or three days at a time and my back pained so I couldn't stoop or straighten up. Mornings I would feel awfully dizzy. I always use Doan's Kidney Pills when I feel any of these symptoms coming on and they soon have me feeling all right." (Statement given October 8, 1917.)

On September 20, 1919, Mrs. Berg said: "I think more highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today than when I rerecommend them in 1917. The cure they made for me has remained permanent."

East Fourth Street

Fred Nygren, 905 East Fourth street, says: "When I find my kidneys need help, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. I have always had quick relief, when I have suffered with backaches, or have been bothered with my kidneys acting irregularly. When these attacks have come on, I have found it hard to get up or down and that has interfered with my work a great deal. My kidneys have acted too freely. Doan's Kidney Pills have always relieved the trouble in a short time and I am glad to recommend them."

Election Clears Way for Theaters

Now that the election is over, the field is clear for the theaters again. The campaign this year has cost the theaters of the country more than any in history, due, no doubt, to the fact that women have had the franchise for the first time in a national election.

Business at Duluth theaters has not been bad, but it is expected to take a jump next week. Politics, however, has been more diverting to women than a style show, and instead of attending the theaters in the evening, they have discussed politics, attended campaign meetings or studied the principles of democracy.

If the theaters wish to hold the interest of women, they should arrange for pictures and other instructive features on politics and government. Women have been the best theater-goers, and it is beginning to look as if they would become the most enthusiastic students of politics. Managers and producers should take their cue.

Morrissey Back in Theatrical Field

James L. Morrissey, who managed the Lyceum theater here for several years, has come back in another theatrical venture, which his friends hope will prove successful. Mr. Morrissey has organized and incorporated a company across the bay and will present dramatic stock at the Plaza. A company of players, which, it is said, will include several who have proved popular in this city and Superior, is being formed, and the first stock offering will be presented some time this month. The Plaza was taken over recently by the Clinton-Meyers company for road attractions and several traveling companies will play there between stock engagements. It is planned to play stock until the Lyceum is opened here and road shows can be booked for both houses. Date for the Lyceum opening has not been set as yet.

More Vaudeville Theaters Planned

The plans of Martin Beck and Marcus Loew are being expanded greatly as Mr. Beck continues to extend the Junior Orpheum circuit and Mr. Loew completes arrangements for two-a-day houses on his circuit. Both have immense capital behind them, and prospects are that the number of vaudeville houses for both popular and major circuit attractions will be increased enormously. This will not only provide better and more numerous attractions for the public, but will do much to better booking conditions for vaudeville players. In fact, good vaudeville acts should be able to get coast-to-coast bookings and much shorter jumps.

Martin Beck and Mort Singer of the Orpheum circuit and Marcus Loew are now on the West coast making arrangements for extending their circuits in that territory. Junior Orpheums are being planned for San Francisco and Portland. An Orpheum for Oakland is also mentioned.

Mr. Loew has announced that the Union Square theater of San Francisco will play two-a-day attractions. Coustruction on that playhouse is to begin within three weeks. More theaters for the Northwest are needed on the Loew circuit, and Mr. Loew will return East with plans for expansion in several of the Northwest cities. Many of the Loew houses will undoubtedly adopt the two-a-day policy, as Sam Harris and Irving Ackerman, Loew's partners in the West, are of the opinion that the Loew theaters should extend their major circuit houses as long as Martin Beck continues to extend his junior circuit.

COMPANY OF SWEET SINGERS AT ORPHEUM

FRANK DOBSON AND HIS THIRTEEN SIRENS.

This big musical comedy revue will headline the Orpheum bill, which will open a week's engagement here Sunday afternoon.

LEE BEGGS

In "Old Folks at Home."

NEW LYRIC.

Critics seem to be pretty universally agreed that Tom Mix has never done anything with a stronger appeal or more interest than "3 Gold Coins," in which this dare-devil of the screen comes to the New Lyric today. The story, by H. H. Van Loan, could not have been better suited to a player than it is to Tom Mix, and without question it is one of the finest stories which has ever been provided him. Many critics declare that never again will Mix find conditions so favorable to making a production which is perfect from every viewpoint of an audience.

The star is supplied with innumerable stunts, which are absolutely new, and he is called upon to play a devil-may-care sort of hero, who has his ups and downs, but who profits by his rich sense of humor and good nature. Eventually fortune smiles upon him. Mix is seen in the saddle, lassoing an automobile, and doing many other unusual extraordinary stunts.

Romance is not a minor factor in "3 Gold Coins," as is often the case when a star "stunts" through a picture. To the contrary it serves as a balancing element for the heavier portions of the story. The photography and scenic effects are notable. The star is "supported" in several scenes by his horse, an animal quite as intelligent as Bill Hart's Pinto. Margaret Loomis, leading lady, is appealing, and the other members of the cast are up to requirements.

The added attractions on the program include an Outing-Chester, "Balling the Jack," a comedy and the Lyric News Events. The New Lyric Concert orchestra has a special program.

STRAND.

"Humoresque," the photoplay taken from the novel of Fanny Hurst, which has had a sensationally successful run at the Strand here during this week, will be held over for another week so that all who wish to see this picture may do so. It has been acclaimed as the greatest photoplay of the year and its success has been phenomenal. Edmond Browne, violinist, has been providing feature solos during the exhibition of this picture.

"Humoresque" is already famous and has taken its place with the undying masterpieces of the screen art. Not more than three pictures in history have won the critical enthusiasm that was accorded to this wonderplay when first shown in New York. It is destined to be one of the most popular and really big epics of the year. A story that plays all the melodies of life on the strings of the heart, a story that resolves into harmony all the discords of existence, "Humoresque" has been into the soul—and stays there. It has all the heart appeal of "The Music Master," and the comedy of "Potash and Perlmutter." A picture you will never forget. Edmond Browne, violin soloist, who has received most of his training under Gaylord Yost, the distinguished violinist and composer, has been engaged as an added attraction during the showing of this feature, and is sure to attract the attention of Duluth music lovers.

NEW ASTOR.

A great event in motion picture producing circles, as well as of utmost interest to theatergoers and those who have made a study of dramatic art and photoplya mechanics, is the making of a great serial photoplay, such as "The Son of Tarzan." This latest and greatest work of Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of the Tarzan stories, opened at the New Astor, where it will be shown Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week. The first episode, "The Call of the Jungle," was shown this week, and the second comes next Tuesday with "The Glorious Lady," starring Olive Thomas. Today the bill is featured by Mary Miles Minter in "Anne of Green Gables," while tomorrow the feature is Wallace Reid in "Excuse My Dust."

Some idea as to the stupendousness of "The Son of Tarzan" may be gained from the following production notes, taken at random from the "history sheet" at the studios of the National Film Corporation of America.

Over a hundred wild animals were used throughout the entire production, three of which were actually killed by the actors, following the story by Edgar Rice Burroughs to the most minute detail.

At times five motion picture cameras recorded the action, especially during the swift-moving and furious jungle combats between men and beasts.

Ten special animal trainers, one for each group of beasts, were at all times at the call of Director Harry J. Revier.

The entire cast of principals was "hand-picked" with due regard to their abilities to "take chances" with death.

The author, Edgar Rice Burroughs, was present practically at all times during the production of "The Son of Tarzan."

Special steel screens, with loop holes for the lens, were built to protect cameras and operators from the rushes of the jungle animals.

Elephants were goaded into fury and allowed to uproot trees and almost permitted to escape in order to secure desired effects.

Julia Arthur to Return.

Julia Arthur, noted dramatic actress, will return to the stage this season. Her husband, Benjamin F. Cheney, once a millionaire, has lost his fortune, and the furnishings of their Bar Harbor home have been sold at auction in Boston. Hence it is inferred that Miss Arthur's return to the stage is for the purpose of recouping the family fortune.

Mr. Cheney inherited a fortune of $10,000,000 from his father. He married Julia Arthur in 1898. Miss Arthur made her professional debut in 1883 at the age of 14.

The Show Calendar

ORPHEUM.

The press agent of the big headliners for the Orpheum during the week beginning tomorrow, says that musical tabloids should have and do have just enough plot to hold them together, for the singing, dancing and comedy are the things. In this he said a mouthful, and that is the condition in "The Sirens," the musical tabloid which will be the big card on the coming bill. "The Sirens" is a suggestive name, but in this case instead of said sirens luring men to their destruction they lure their audiences into contentment and pleasure. Starring with "The Sirens" is Frank Dobson, a light comedian who is funny without being forced, in addition to which he sings and dances excellently. This musical tabloid is full of good things in the way of singing to say nothing of pretty girls and delightful costumes.

One of the features of the coming bill will be Herbert Clifton, whose impersonations have been the talk of vaudeville for several seasons. He was one of the immense hits of the Ziegfeld Follies of 1914, coming from England as an unknown, and then vaudeville thought him too good to hide in New York and grabbed him to spread his radiance all over the road. His specialty is character impersonations, at which he is said to be a master.

Another feature of the bill will be "The Love Game," presented by Harry Hayden and company. It is an entertaining and charming little comedy, which has been going great this season. Mr. Hayden, who is a juvenile, is best known to the legitimate stage, his most recent engagement being with Belasco's "The Boomerang." The company is said to be an excellent one and is pleasing Orpheum patrons everywhere.

Two funsters, Barnes and Freeman, have a new line of songs and quips with which they regale the audiences in their skit, called "A Pressing Engagement." It is the admission of the press over the circuit that these two are exceptionally clever in putting over conversational comedy and song amusement, and their act is regarded as a success.

Roy La Pearl, son of J. H. La Pearl, the first circus promoter to offer combined circus and menagerie shows, has the circus spirit, and is in vaudeville now bearing the title "The World's Greatest Aerialist." He is said to have a surprise offering which is very much of a hit in his particular line.

Another athletic act is that of Walter Ward and Ethel Dooley, both good-looking and graceful, who are presenting a versatile combination of singing, dancing, bicycle riding and lariat throwing under the title of "What We Can Do." Aside from their cleverness this twain are winning on their good looks.

Arco Brothers, a team of sturdy Poles, are on the bill for a sensational hand-balancing act and posing, which is said to be superb. One of the brothers is a noted wrestler and holder of many records in lifting.

Topics of the Day get better each week, kinograms are winning by their improving scenes and the orchestra's musical programs are becoming more and more a feature of each performance.

NEW GRAND.

A trained wild animal act that is exceptional even in this day of wonders, and a playlet which is a gem of wit, humor and pathos in about equal proportions share the headline honors of the show which comes to the New Grand tomorrow with promise of providing entertainment that is exceptional.

Lee Beggs, the eminent character artist, will be seen with an excellent supporting company in "The Old Folks at Home," a playlet dealing with rural domesticity which has won the title of "The 'Old Homestead' of Vaudeville." Quaint and lovable, filled with the sort of material that keeps one wavering between a smile and a tear, the offering provides Mr. Beggs with some of the best opportunities of character-portrayal he has ever had, and he lets none of them pass.

Mlle. Olga Celeste has come to be known as the foremost female trainer of wild animals now on the vaudeville stage. She brings with her five leopards, splendid specimens of their kind, who obey her every command, performing many and varied tricks in the big steel-barred arena provided for the act. Like all leopards they are treacherous, and often show their cruel teeh and claws, but never yet have they frightened this intrepid woman, who takes her life in her hands at every performance.

The Makarenki duo, with many attractive changes of costumes, will offer a singing and talking act billed as "A Superb Vocal Classic." They are character entertainers of the better sort, and are said to have exceptionally good voices.

"The Gentlemen Jesters" aptly describes the act of Bryant and Stewart. Both are eccentric comedians with a variety of comedy, mingled with songs and dances which proves them "A Couple of Daffydills," such as they claim to be.

Mooney and Capmai will present their comedy originality, "Us Two," singing tuneful melodies in a joyous style and dancing in a nifty way which has been getting them the applause in unstinted manner. "Man Against Man," which is No. 12 of "The Third Eye" stories, is one of the photoplay features. "Mamma's Boy," a Rolin comedy, the Grand News Weekly and other subjects will complete the bill with special music by the New Grand Concert orchestra as an added attraction.

NEW GARRICK.

Charles Ray comes to the New Garrick tomorrow in his very latest production, "Peaceful Valley," a picture version of Sol Smith Russell's famous stage success. This feature brings back "the wonder boy of the screen" in a role which critics unanimously declare "he has made a perfect thing of its kind." The country youth will be with us again—as human, as natural, as humorous as he can be made. To see Charles Ray as the rustic lad who does the chores, makes love awkwardly, and good naturedly teases his mother and sister, will bring an hour of complete enjoyment.

As Hosiah Howe, Charles Ray resides in Peaceful Valley, where contentment is supreme. To ease the declining years of his mother and earn enough to send his sister to school—that is his sole aim in life. The picture is punctuated with bright and charming flashes of country life, of how these simple rustic folk make the best of things and pass their days, accepting what comes with a happy philosophy. There are melodramatic moments when the boy and his mother are in the depths of sorrow, but the atmosphere clears and happiness rules again. The feature is wonderfully staged and acted.

Ann May plays the part of Virginia Rand, Hosiah's sweetheart, in a winning way. Lydia Knott brings much to the part of the mother, and the little sister, Martha, is as sweet as Charlotte Pierce presents her.

Another of the interesting scenic snapshots, Bill Rogers' Illiterate Digest and the Garrick World Events are among the other attractions on the program.

The ninth symphony concert, including some of the greatest of the world's composers, will be given as an added feature with the photoplay program Sunday afternoon from 2 to 3 o'clock.

Tonight's showings of "Madame X" with Pauline Frederick, and "High and Dizzy" with Harold Lloyd, will be the last of the current program.

ZELDA.

Alice Joyce in "The Vice of Fools" opens today at the Zelda. Human beings are largely the result of a series of follies. The average person chases madly after a mess of pottage and lives to repent his foolishness. In "The Vice of Fools" Alice Joyce is seen as a young woman who allows folly to get the better of wisdom and the result is a series of complications that have unusual dramatic value. There are many light spots and much subtle humor in the action which tends to emphasize the emotional scenes and gives Miss Joyce a scope seldom witnessed in stories of this nature. The chief virtue of "The Vice of Fools" is its delineation of life as it exists. The story of Marion and Cameron is that of hundreds of other headstrong young persons who allow infatuation to get the better of common sense and draw those around them into a network of circumstances from which it becomes difficult to become extricated. It is different from the average film and the ending cannot be anticipated at the start. One is constantly speculating as to how it all will end. The climax comes as a surprise and is not what one expects.

Election Clears Way for Theaters

Now that the election is over, the field is clear for the theaters again. The campaign this year has cost the theaters of the country more than any in history, due, no doubt, to the fact that women have had the franchise for the first time in a national election.

Business at Duluth theaters has not been bad, but it is expected to take a jump next week. Politics, however, has been more diverting to women than a style show, and instead of attending the theaters in the evening, they have discussed politics, attended campaign meetings or studied the principles of democracy.

If the theaters wish to hold the interest of women, they should arrange for pictures and other instructive features on politics and government. Women have been the best theater goers, and it is beginning to look as if they would become the most enthusiastic students of politics. Managers and producers should take their cue.

Morrissey Back in Theatrical Field

James L. Morrissey, who managed the Lyceum theater here for several years, has come back in another theatrical venture, which his friends hope will prove successful. Mr. Morrissey has organized and incorporated a company across the bay and will present dramatic stock at the Plaza. A company of players, which, it is said, will include several who have proved popular in this city and Superior, is being formed, and the first stock offering will be presented some time this month. The Plaza was taken over recently by the Clinton Meyers company for road attractions and several traveling companies will play there between stock engagements. It is planned to play stock until the Lyceum is opened here and road shows can be booked for both houses. Date for the Lyceum opening has not been set as yet.

More Vaudeville Theaters Planned

The plans of Martin Beck and Marcus Loew are being expanded greatly as Mr. Beck continues to extend the Junior Orpheum circuit and Mr. Loew completes arrangements for two-a-day houses on his circuit. Both have immense capital behind them, and prospects are that the number of vaudeville houses for both popular and major circuit attractions will be increased enormously. This will not only provide better and more numerous attractions for the public, but will do much to better booking conditions for vaudeville players. In fact, good vaudeville acts should be able to get coast to coast bookings and much shorter jumps.

Martin Beck and Mort Singer of the Orpheum circuit and Marcus Loew are now on the West coast making arrangements for extending their circuits in that territory. Junior Orpheums are being planned for San Francisco and Portland. An Orpheum for Oakland is also mentioned.

Mr. Loew has announced that the Union Square theater of San Francisco will play two-a-day attractions. Construction on that playhouse is to begin within three weeks. More theaters for the Northwest are needed on the Loew circuit, and Mr. Loew will return East with plans for expansion in several of the Northwest cities. [illegible] the Loew houses will undoubtedly adopt the two-a-day policy, as Sam Harris and Irving Ackerman, Loew's partners in the West, are of the opinion that the Loew theaters should extend their major circuit houses as long as Martin Beck continues to extend his junior circuit.

NOTES OF LOCAL THEATERS

Sirens are sweet singers and in Greek mythology they were known as water nymphs with a perilous gift of song, which they used to lure mariners on the rocks. Today we speak of a siren as a woman of seductive charm who lures man to destruction. There are thirteen sirens in Frank Dobson's revue at the Orpheum. Just how dangerous they are will be seen next week.

Grieg is again given a place of prominence on the New Garrick Symphony orchestra's concert program, the numbers to be played tomorrow afternoon in connection with the first showings of Charles Ray in "Peaceful Valley" including two of his selections. They are sketches titled "Repose of the Forest" and "March of the Dwarfs." Dvorak's largo from "The New World Symphony" is also accorded a prominent place. The other composers contributing to the program are Rossini, Tierney and Verdi.

One of the biggest and most pretentious vaudeville acts ever brought to Duluth is scheduled for an early appearance at the New Grand theater. It is "The Overseas Revue," a big production produced for and played for members of the American expeditionary forces during the war. It has a cast of fifteen people, including among the principals Blanche Latell, well known in legitimate musical comedy and other productions in the United States, and Billy C. Welp, a popular Broadway comedian.

* * *

Clara Kimball Young and her "world's most beautiful eyes," not seen on a Duluth screen since the showing of "The Forbidden Woman" at the New Garrick some months ago, are coming back. This time they will be in "The Soul of Rafael," a picturization of Marah Ellis Ryan's love story of Old California in the days when might was right. The story has been translated into eight different languages and has been a big seller in each.

* * *

A story of the stage by Rita Weiman, "Madame Peacock," in which Nazimova is shortly to be seen in Duluth, in many respects resembles the star's own life. She takes the role both of a young girl with a promising future and of a great actress who has attained the heights at which the other aimed. George Probert is Nazimova's new leading man for this picture, the second from a stage story by the same author to be seen here this fall. The other was "Curtain," starring Katherine MacDonald.

It speaks well for Duluth that such a worthy photoplay as "Humoresque" can draw for two weeks. The picture has been so popular this week that it will be shown all next week.

MADGE KENNEDY RETURNS TO THE SPEAKING STAGE

Miss Madge Kennedy, one of the most beloved and beautiful of young screen stars, will return to the speaking stage this season, and will be presented on Broadway before the holidays, under the management of Henry W. Savage, as the star of the comedy-drama "Cornered."

It is three years since Miss Kennedy, at the height of her Broadway success, left the theater for the films. Her last personal appearance was as heroine of "Fair and Warmer," in which she won great popularity as an ingenue comedienne of a type she herself originated in her first play, "Little Miss Brown," and developed with much charm and subtlety in "Twin Beds."

In "Cornered" Miss Kennedy will have her first opportunity, in a spoken play, to thrill her audiences as well as win their smiles. She has already begun rehearsals, surrounded by a company of unusual distinction, which includes such well-known players as Leslie Austen, juvenile last season with Ethel Barrymore; Anne Sutherland, Amelia Gardner, Charles Brown, Morgan Coman, Tom Walsh, Robert Forsythe and Natalie.

Pat Rooney and Marian Bent are to appear in musical comedy this season. The title of their vehicle is "Oh, Pat!"

FISKE O'HARA
In "Springtime in Mayo."

Plaza—Superior.

There ought to be the heartiest kind of a welcome for Fiske O'Hara, America's foremost actor-singer, who will appear in an engagement of two nights at the Plaza theater, Superior, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 10 and 11, in "Springtime in Mayo," a fascinating comedy of Irish wit, love and melody, under the direction of Augustus Pitou, Inc.

"Springtime in Mayo" was written by Anna Nichols Duffy and is described as a refreshing and novel departure from the paths usually followed by playwrights. The author has gone far afield from the conventional and evolved a healthful, wholesome and amusing play, with swiftly moving action, fresh and sparkling lines, new wit and skillfully drawn characters. The delighted throngs that are everywhere crowding the theater embrace people from all walks of life and the breaking of matinee records indicates how powerfully "Springtime in Mayo" appeals to womankind.

That Mr. O'Hara will be welcomed by all who recall his many memorable characterizations goes without saying. In "Springtime in Mayo" he has the role of Terence McWarren, a young, Americanized Irishman who returns to his native land after an absence of five years. He is still heart free, of love he is entirely ignorant; the word has never existed in his dictionary. All at once he meets with a most delightful bit of Irish femininity and then things begin to happen, and just what takes place, the ruse whereby Terence outwits a rival, and the manner of his wooing are all set forth in inimitable manner by the author.

It is only necessary therefore to state that the supporting company will be fully up to the usual high Pitou standing. In the company are such well-known players as Patricia Clary, Frederick Pymm, Nan Bernard, Mary Louise Malloy, George Sharp, J. P. Sullivan, J. E. Miller, W. T. Sheehan.

W. C. CREATH, DOCTOR OF DENTAL SURGERY

EIGHTEEN YEARS' ACTIVE PRACTICE

Not How Much But How Good

Dr. Creath, Dependable Dentist, does not claim to have the largest dental organization. He does not think he would care for this "distinction." It involves too much, makes "quantity production" a necessity in order to pay expenses.

The work done by Dr. Creath is the best and most lasting that modern science and skill makes possible. Not how MUCH work he can "turn out," but how GOOD and satisfactory every job can be made—that is his aim and ambition first, last and all the time.

And that policy is earning him a reputation that he is proud of. And it PAYS—because it makes every patient a friend and enthusiastic booster. (If you know a Dr. Creath patient, then you know this for yourself.)

Take plates, for example—sets of teeth. He can make but a certain number of plates per day—but every plate is PERFECT in size, shape, fit, "bite," materials and finish. To please his patients no care is spared, hence his reputation for dental work of an unusually high order of excellence—at reasonable prices.

WILL CONSULT LEADING MINDS

Harding to Begin Groundwork for New Association of Nations.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 6.—President-elect Harding already has begun fulfillment of his campaign promise to consult the nation's leading minds with regard to a new association of nations, and he hopes that by the time of his inauguration next March, he will have laid the groundwork of a plan behind which the sentiment of the nation can unite.

A list of those to be consulted first has been drawn up, and invitations are going forward to several to come to Marion at the conclusion of the month's vacation trip. Both Republicans and Democrats are to present the views in individual and personal talks with Mr. Harding but he does not contemplate for the present any general assemblage for round table discussion.

Announcement was from the president-elect's office last night that "men and women who have been eminent in the discussion of our foreign relations," made up the list. The choice of a cabinet, it was added, will not be considered at present.

The announcement followed a long conference between Senator Harding and Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman. Neither revealed what subjects they had discussed, but it was understood the chairman's visit here was made at Mr. Harding's request, and had to do both with the campaign just closed and with the policies to be shaped for the coming administration.

It is taken for granted there will be some discussion of policies and administrative programs during the senator's vacation trip.

Declines Offer of Battleship.

Mr. Harding declined an offer of President Wilson to provide him with a battleship for the voyage to the Panama canal zone which is to follow a twelve-day stay at Point Isabel. In response to a telegram from Secretary Daniels, conveying the president's proposal, the president-elect wired that he was thankful but already had closed an agreement to make the trip on a passenger steamer.

Under the present plan the departure by boat will be made from New Orleans, to which point the senator and Mrs. Harding and their guests will go from Point Isabel by rail. The sailing date has not been announced.

Senator Harding announced that conferences on the proposed association of nations will take place upon his return to Marion in December, and will be individual and personal, with the main purpose of learning what policy may enlist united support.

Wants United Nation.

Officials close to the president-elect called attention that in his campaign speeches he promised repeatedly that the "meeting of minds" would begin as soon as possible after his election, and that he also frequently declared that the purpose of his consultations would be, not to suggest any plan of his own, but to ascertain how divergent views might be so brought into harmony as to put a united nation behind him in his negotiations with other powers.

He also has indicated in campaign speeches that irreconcilable opponents of the league of Versailles, as well as its ardent supporters, would be numbered among those to whose advice he would listen. To the senate he promised to give a share of attention proportionate to its powers in perfecting treaties.

Although the president-elect has never named publicly any of those he will include in his consultations, speculation of a wholly unauthoritative character has resolved persistently about a number of conspicuous figures who might answer to the description Mr. Harding has laid down.

So far as the senate itself is concerned, this undercurrent of gossip has carried frequently the names of such Republican senators as Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the foreign relations committee; Knox of Pennsylvania, a former secretary of state, and a treaty irreconcilable; Johnson of California, another irreconcilable leader, and Lenroot of Wisconsin, a leader of the reservationists. On the Democratic side there has been mention, among others, of Senators Underwood of Alabama, the party leader; Hitchcock of Nebraska, who led the fight for unreserved ratifications; Simmons of North Carolina, and Robinson of Arkansas.

Taft, Hoover and Root Mentioned.

Among those outside the senate, frequent speculative mention has been made of Former President Taft, a leader for international peace and a supporter of the Versailles league; Herbert Hoover, another league advocate; Elihu Root, former secretary of state and a participant in the recent international court negotiations; Charles Evans Hughes, Republican presidential nominee four years ago; Henry White, a Republican member of President Wilson's peace commission; Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France; Henry P. Davison, head of the American Red Cross; Former Senator George Sutherland of Utah and many other Republicans.

There is a much smaller list of Democrats outside the senate whose names gossip has associated with the "meeting of minds." Among them is Robert Lansing, former secretary of state and a member of the peace commission, often quoted by Mr. Harding in the campaign as disagreeing with Mr. Wilson on some features of the Versailles Covenant; Frank L. Polk, the state department's former under-secretary; Chief Justice White and George Harvey, New York editor.

There has been even less of speculation with regard to what women would be asked for advice in the making of the new plan for an international association. It is expected, however, the senator will choose those who have been closely associated with public activities throughout the treaty fight so as to be familiar with the sentiments of their sisters regarding American membership in the league or any substitute for it.

GOVERNOR OF SAMOA COMMITS SUICIDE

Washington, Nov. 6.—Commander J. Terhune, naval governor of Samoa, shot and killed himself at noon Nov. 3, said a dispatch received at the navy department.

Commander Terhune recently was ordered relieved from duty at Samoa, and Capt. Waldo B. Evans appointed to succeed him.

No details regarding the suicide were given in the message, but naval officials here assumed that the officer took his life during a period of depression induced by ill health. He had been suffering from heart trouble.

A naval court of inquiry is now en route to Samoa to inquire into the administration of the island by Commander Terhune. The court was appointed by Secretary Daniels as a result of charges made by Lieut.-Com. C. P. Boucher against Commander Terhune's administration. Lieut.-Com. Boucher was later relieved from duty as Commander Terhune's assistant at Samoa. The court is due at Samoa Friday.

Commander Terhune was stationed at Dunwoody institute, Minneapolis, during the war, where naval recruits from the Northwest and other sections received special training.

TELLS HOW TO TEACH CHILD

Rev. H. C. Swearingen and Rev. W. A. Brown Address S. S. Convention.

"Unless the child is taught in the terms of its experience, religion appears to be an artificiality," Rev. H. C. Swearingen of St. Paul declared in his address last night to the Minnesota State Sunday School association in session here at the First Methodist church. "The two great aims of public schools of today are to bring the student to know himself and to make him capable of adjusting himself to conditions as he finds them, and it is necessary that the Sunday school accept these aims as its own if it is to accomplish anything, if it is to be efficient. The teacher of the public schools cannot, without embarrassment, teach the great truths of religion except in an indirect way. But the Sunday school teacher is free to direct the minds of his charges towards the great truths concerning God."

Public School Great Agency.

In continuing his plea for the coordination of Sunday school and public school work, the speaker said: "The great dominant agency in life today is the public school. The Sunday school teacher to be a success today must know what the child is learning in the public school and how it is learning it, and must teach this child in the terms of its experiences gained in the public school and use the methods in conducting his class that are used in the public school. If this is not done, the Sunday school will not be efficient and religion will appear to the child as an artificiality."

"The rising generation is unlike any other. Human nature is essentially the same everywhere but the problems confronting the coming generation are very different to those any other generation has ever faced. Those problems are mental, moral and spiritual problems. In my boyhood certain principles were fixed, accepted as matter-of-fact, and it never occurred to the people of that time to question these principles. And these principles constituted the substance of moral life. Today all these principles are open to question. By open to question, I mean they are subjects for debate. Family relationship, marriage, the Ten Commandments as a rule of life and even God are open questions in the mind of every college student today."

Co-ordination Urged.

Mr. Swearingen blamed the failure to co-ordinate the Sunday school work with that of the public school for this condition of affairs. He declared that this lack of co-ordination made religion appear a mere adjunct to life and not the most vital thing in life, which it is. "Do you suppose," the speaker asked, "with the fact that these principles are open questions in the minds of the rising generation, that the religious education of twenty-five years ago will answer the needs of today?"

"Together We Build a Righteous State," was the subject of Rev. W. A. Brown of Chicago, the second and last speaker on the program last night. Mr. Brown drew a picture of the organization of the community and the church and declared that the Sunday school association is the tie that will bind the two together.

"When I was a boy," the speaker said, "I was told of how nice it would be if all the people were united in one great big church. How better off the world would be. It was said that this and that could not work together because they are different. Let me say that we should work together, just because we are different. There is nothing to be gained by two men just alike to be working together. To obliterate all differences to function in the community would only to have that many return. The Sunday schools all have the same interests and must use the same terms. It is the one thing common to all churches and the tie which will bind them together in building a righteous state."

Time for Evangelistic Work.

"January, February and March are to be given over to evangelistic effort in our Sunday schools. Teachers are to be required to know their pupils personally, to pray definitely for the unconverted members of the Sunday school and visit all members of the Sunday school not members of the church. The number of people who have been attending our Sunday schools and who have never been invited into the church is stupendous. Today in the United States there are 30,000,000 people who at one time or another were members of our Sunday schools but who are not identified with any church because they were never asked to join."

"This personal evangelistic work of Sunday school teachers in Chicago alone is expected to win 50,000 people to Christ." In concluding, Mr. Brown said: "The Sunday school is the tie that unites the church with community and through it we together will build a righteous state. This will be accomplished without obliterating anything and through this agency only together will we bring the nation to righteousness."

A thousand people attended the meeting of the association last night. Two hundred and fifty of this number were delegates representing Methodist congregations in the state. This is the sixty-second annual convention of the association and promises to be the most successful. The purpose of the convention is to outline the work for the coming year and permit an exchange of ideas, thereby increasing the efficiency of the association. C. E. Woodward, president of the association, is in charge of the convention and outlined the work to be undertaken by the convention and touched upon the subjects to be discussed before introducing the speakers last night.

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE SUFFERS REVERSES

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 6.—The Nonpartisan league suffered a severe reverse in Idaho in Tuesday's election. The league's candidate for governor, S. D. Fairchild, carried only two counties and his majorities in these were not so large as those obtained in many other counties by the Republican candidate, Governor D. W. Davis, who sought re-election. Figures from 647 precincts showed the following relations between the three candidates in the race:

Davis, 65,761; T. A. Walters, 33,177; Fairchild, 19,990. All other Nonpartisan state candidates were defeated. Returns on the legislature so far show only one man who had league backing elected.

Beaten in Colorado.

Denver, Nov. 6.—The Nonpartisan league in Colorado elected only four of its candidates for membership in the Colorado legislature. For the senate only one Nonpartisan league candidate was successful, while eight were defeated. For the house of representatives three Nonpartisan league candidates were elected and thirty defeated.

WORK BEGUN ON COMMITTEES.

Commercial Club Directors Begin Organizing for Year's Work.

The board of directors of the Duluth Commercial club met yesterday to take up the formation of the twenty-six different committees of the club's activities for the coming year. Only one committee was completed at the meeting, that being the traffic committee. By virtue of Charles F. Macdonald being elected one of the directors of the club, he was made the director-chairman of that division and George R. Reed the vice chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee are C. D. Brewer, F. O. Davidson, H. B. Hunter, E. Hanson, F. R. Lenins, Garfield Meyer, C. F. Rowe and J. H. Webb.

A referendum was called for from the membership as to the desires of the different members to serve on the different committees. Their preferences as noted on the return cards will influence the appointment of the different committees by the board of directors.

"Y" BOYS' HALLOWEEN PARTY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

The annual Halloween party given by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was the most successful ever held by the department. A large crowd attended and all kinds of stunts and games were featured, making the occasion one long to be remembered.

Sunday the Knights of Sir Galahad will meet at 3 o'clock and Rev. T. D. Whittles will tell the boys something about the late Rev. Frank Higgins, who was known as the sky pilot. Mr. Higgins was a virile lumberman and the story of his life should be especially attractive to boys. The Sunday club will meet at 4 o'clock. Mr. Whittles will be the speaker and the music committee will present a musical program.

Carl Nelson holds the boys' department record being for the most successful membership hustler. He doubled the record last year, getting twenty-seven members. He was awarded the 22 rifle presented by Seth Marshall and will also be the commissioner at the membership banquet to be held at the Y. M. C. A. for the hustlers in the city-wide campaign.

HELLO, MARY!

This is Jane. Just called you up to ask you if you knew how close to Christmas time it is.

Yes, I counted 'em up and do you know there are only forty-one shopping days left. Me for buying my Christmas gifts early this year, no more disappointments on account of "last minute shopping" for yours truly again. You ought to profit by your last year's experience and get busy on your Christmas shopping early, too.

I think everybody should plan on doing their Christmas shopping in advance of the Christmas rush, don't you? Well, I'll call you again tomorrow, maybe—G'bye.

FOUR BATTLES IN CONFERENCE

Illinois and Ohio Still Undefeated; Others Have Chance for Tie.

Chicago Nov. 6.—The Western football conference today drew interest toward the outcome of the three games which determine the final contestants for the 1920 championship—the Michigan-Ohio State game at Columbus; the Chicago-Illinois game at Chicago, and the Minnesota-Wisconsin game at Minneapolis.

Illinois, 1919 conference champions, and Ohio State, last year's runner-up, offered undefeated teams for today's play while Wisconsin, Michigan and Chicago, each though defeated in one conference game, may go into a tie for first place unless the two unbeaten elevens can keep their slates clean for the rest of the season.

Although Michigan lost by one point to Illinois last Saturday, the Wolverines are confident they have an even chance with Ohio State, and realize it is their only chance to remain in the run for the conference title.

Illinois, on the other hand, faces a much easier prospect in the much crippled Chicago team. The loss of Quarterback Bobby Cole for the rest of the season, and Crisler, sterling backfield man, also out, with Honisch in doubtful condition leaves Coach Stagg's squad seriously handicapped. All three were injured in the hard fought defeat by Ohio State last Saturday. Coach Zuppke feels that his team has been materially improved since his victory over Minnesota last week, the weak spots developed by Minnesota superiority in the first two periods having been strengthened.

Badgers Are Favorites.

Wisconsin also was a strong favorite over Minnesota in their clash at Minneapolis today, although the Gophers have shown increasing improvement with each game this season and pushed Illinois to the limit last Saturday though Coach Williams had to start the season with almost an entire team of new men. Wisconsin, only one game down, like Michigan and Chicago, is naturally being pointed for the important struggle with Illinois next Saturday, in which their chances of a tie for the championship depend. Despite Minnesota's early season's weakness, one of the hardest fought contests of today's schedule was predicted because of the particular rivalry between the Gophers and the Badgers.

The game between Northwestern and Iowa presents almost evenly matched teams, unless the Devine brothers have some surprises in store for the Purple.

Purdue faces the powerful Notre Dame eleven at Notre Dame, while Indiana, the other Western conference team, has no game for today. Centre college crosses the Mason and Dixon line to battle with Depauw at Indianapolis.

MINORS HURRY TO ATTACK PLAN

Baseball Men See Merit in the Lasker Appeal.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Minor league magnates have been unduly hasty in condemning the Lasker plan of re-organization, say baseball men who understand the real motive of the idea. Those who have already denounced the plan are believed to have given the suggestion little consideration or to have been influenced by certain parties to defeat the scheme for political reasons. This, however, is not to deter the formers of the Lasker plan from going to Kansas City next week, with the determined purpose in mind to effect a change the game needs more now than ever before in its history.

What is the idea of the Lasker plan? has been frequently asked. Minor league men declare they were ignored absolutely in the plan and that they were not to get any better treatment than before. That was the occasion for the stand against it by a few. These few did not know thoroughly that the minor leagues were to have received and are to get their just dues. They are not to be held in submission, but are to be privileged to have a voice in drawing up the rules for the controlling body of baseball and also are to be given equal representation on the board of control, although this was not specifically stated in the Lasker plan.

Majors Value Minors as Aids.

Major league men appreciate the fact that minor leagues are a necessity and that they are to be given all the support possible for the good of baseball. They are not to be trampled on as they have been in the past and it was not, and is not, the intention of the proponents of the Lasker plan to treat them with any disrespect. For that reason baseball men say the magnates and presidents of the smaller fry are displaying undue haste in denouncing the recommendation made by the National league and three American league club owners last month in their meeting at the Congress hotel.

It is up to the minors to do what they can for the best interests of the national game. Most of them for years have admitted that the governing body of baseball should have a chairman who in no way was interested financially in the game.

Many of them favored Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who seems to be the logical man for the position. Many of them declared they were ready to support him because he was a man of national reputation, a keen follower of the sport and one who had the courage to step out and do things for the best interests of the game. If they are still of the same mind, it is thought they will have something to say about his being chosen to head the new board of control that has been proposed.

Concessions to Be Made.

Minor league magnates now have a chance to get almost anything they want, because the majors, judging from the action of the American league board of directors, are willing to grant them concessions. They can do themselves a tremendous favor by handling the present situation wisely, discussing the reorganization of the game judicially and insisting that Landis be the man to head the new board of control. He is a practical baseball man, which was proved in the Federal league case, is extremely fond of the sport and would do anything in his power to rebuild the sport and place it on a plane where it belongs.

HUGH DUFFY NEW RED SOX MANAGER

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Hugh Duffy, former Boston National outfield star, was announced yesterday as the new manager of the Red Sox, succeeding Ed Barrows, who resigned to become business manager of the New York Americans. GAMES IN EAST PROMISE FIGHT

Harvard-Princeton Battle First of Season's "Big Three" Classics.

New York, Nov. 6.—The 1920 football season on Eastern collegiate gridirons entered on the last lap today with a number of contests of prime importance.

The Harvard-Princeton clash at Cambridge, the first of the "Big Three" classics, was the headliner. Both teams have been undefeated this season and both have demonstrated high scoring potentialities. The Crimson, because of its more consistent defensive strength, was favored to stop the speedy Tigers.

Yale had the undefeated Brown eleven as its opponent at New Haven. The Blue, while admitting the strength of the Providence collegians, planned to reserve its full power for Princeton next week.

Dartmouth was a slight favorite over Cornell at the Polo Grounds in this city. The Ithacans have not been defeated, but their schedule has been lighter than the Green, which has bowed before Syracuse and Penn State.

University of Nebraska's husky eleven, which rolled over Rutgers in impressive style here on election day, faced real test against the powerful Penn State team, with the odds favoring the Keystone state athletes.

University of Pittsburgh, which has yet to meet defeat, tackled its ancient rival, University of Pennsylvania. The Panthers entered the game a strong favorite.

Of the service elevens the Navy faced a tough proposition in Georgetown, while the Army looked for an easy victory over Lebanon Valley.

A battle royal was promised between Syracuse and Washington and Jefferson, both teams apparently being fairly evenly matched.

PRINCETON AT HARVARD STADIUM

Past Records Make Crimson Favorite Over Orange and Black.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—The Princeton Tigers came to the stadium for the annual gridiron contest with Harvard today, confident of breaking the string of Crimson victories that extends back to 1912 with the exception of a 10-to-10 tie game last year. Neither team has been defeated this season.

Princeton was outweighed an average of about five pounds to the man, but the Jersey men were credited with a greater average speed than their opponents. The Crimson was without the services of Sedgewick, first string tackle, but, like Princeton, was well off for substitutes should the need for them arise.

GOPHERS SHOW NEWBACKFIELD

Lineup Changed for Annual Clash With Wisconsin Eleven.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—A revamped backfield appeared in the Gopher lineup when the University of Minnesota and the University of Wisconsin met in their annual football contest at Northrop field here this afternoon.

It was understood Capt. Arntson of Minnesota probably would not appear in today's game, owing to the death of his sister yesterday at her home in Red Wing, Minn. Pete Regnier is expected to take his place at quarter. Arnold Oss, injured in the Northwestern game several weeks ago, will play at left halfback.

A special train of Wisconsin rooters arrived this morning. Indications pointed to a large crowd. All reserved seats for the battle were sold out last Tuesday.

The probable lineup:

Minnesota—	Position.	Wisconsin—
McClintock	le	Weston
Teberg	lt	Scott
Nolan	lg	Broder
Tierney	rg	Morgoles

HAMLINE BEATEN BY SOUTH DAKOTA STATE

Brookings, S. D., Nov. 6.—South Dakota state college football team defeated Hamline university of St. Paul here yesterday afternoon, 14 to 0.

The game was hard fought throughout, although state college outplayed Hamline in all periods but the fourth.

The first touchdown was made in the second quarter on straight football and the second came in the last period, when only two minutes were left to play. Two forward passes, Johnson to Carey, put the ball over.

MAJOR MOGULS MEET MONDAY

Lasker Plan Adherents Expect Compromise Following Last Proposition.

New York, Nov. 6.—The first of November came and went without any of the five American league clubs led by Ban Johnson knuckling under and accepting the recent ultimatum issued by the eight National league and three American league clubs.

Technically, war is on. But in reality, like Huck Finn's apple core, there ain't going to be any.

The proposal of the Johnson adherents last week for a reorganization of baseball by "experienced men" is taken by the adherents of the Lasker plan to mean that Johnson and his followers are willing to talk things over now, and they are ready to meet the men who "ran out" at Chicago a fortnight ago and strive for an agreement.

"Mr. Johnson and the five clubs supporting him, all of whom refused to meet us in Chicago recently, have been invited to a joint meeting in Chicago next Monday," said John A. Heydler, president of the National league, yesterday afternoon. "As was intimated upon our return from Chicago, the eleven clubs that made a solemn covenant for a proper reorganization of baseball government is tolerant rather than antagonistic to those who refused to discuss the issue. It is hoped the five will be on hand in Chicago next Monday.

Desire to Get Together.

"We have interpreted the announced counter proposition as a desire to get together with us and to thresh out the subject to a fitting close. However, we are prepared for eventualities. We have put the broadest construction on their announced remedy for reform. But if they do not care to follow up these first advances; if they refuse to meet in common council next week no one can tell how wide the breach may soon become.

"Our eleven clubs are not looking for trouble. They wish to effect the best possible solution of baseball's present difficulties. They desire cooperation with the others and will weigh carefully any suggestion that may be presented. But they are still earnest and determined that the best interests of the game must be preserved, and if necessary will go to the extent of war to assure a thorough housecleaning of those in the administration who have been at fault."

Plans for the Minors.

Mr. Heydler said that the stress put by the Johnson clubs in their statement on the rights of the minor leagues and their provision for representation of the minors on the board controlling baseball, had all been thought of by the Lasker plan adherents and that the minors would get their rights.

Close followers of baseball politics for the last few years were smiling yesterday at Johnson's sudden solicitude for the minors. Last February, after the "peace meeting" which clipped Johnson's wings and rendered his power of assessing fines over $100 subject to review, there was an effort by these minor leaguers to meet with the majors and come to an agreement. Johnson and his followers stayed away and Heydler, with some of the National league men, had to stay and do the talking for the majors. Of course, nothing came of that conference, though an agreement with the minors and a chairman of the national commission could have been put through if Johnson had been willing.

When Johnson didn't need the minors he left them to their fate. Now that he needs them in his business he is suddenly solicitous in a way that creates suspicion. It looks as though he is using them to help him hold his $30,000-a-year job as president of the American league, now that he is in a tight place, with his foes closing in.

But there will be a compromise at Chicago next Monday. The Lasker plan, with modifications, may go through, for it is not believed the eleven clubs favoring that scheme will agree to the unwieldly "commission of nine" idea proposed by Johnson. That would be too open for more of the politics that has discredited the game already.

Time—Friday evening, Nov. 12. Place—New Armory, corner Thirteenth avenue east and London road. Referee—Jimmy Potts of Minneapolis.

By SANDY MACDONALD.

It is probable that no boxing contest that has ever been staged in Duluth has aroused the keen interest and brought out the abundance of feeling that is being shown in the coming quarrel between Kid Alberts and Neil Allison, which will headline the next card of the Duluth Athletic club, to be staged next Friday evening at the New Armory arena. For more than a year this bout has been in the making, the fans all along looking upon the prospective encounter as one to be really desired. But there was always some little thing in the arrangements that kept the boxers from signing until just recently when they placed their names to contracts.

Alberts and Allison are scheduled to fight ten rounds with six-ounce gloves. Straight rules will govern the contest. Under these rules the boys can hit as long as they have one arm free and neither boy is holding. Under these rules the contestants will be able to fight in the clinches and in the breaks, making a much livelier argument. Allison is to make 138 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the day of the contest. It is probable that Alberts will tip the beam around 135 pounds, although he can weigh up to 138 if he desires. But his best battling poundage is around 135, so that is the probable weight he will come in at.

Allison Is Favored.

Allison is favored in the betting to defeat Alberts inside the limit, the odds being slight. Alberts is favored to win on points if the bout goes the full ten rounds. There is plenty of money being wagered by the backers of both boys, in fact, more than has ever been placed on the boxing contest in this city.

Morgan Park, where Allison makes his home, is solidly back of Allison, while most of the uptown followers of fistiana are favoring Alberts. Allison packs a wonderful haymaker in his right paw and should he land a square blow to Alberts' chin or stomach the contest will be sure to end right there or shortly afterwards. Alberts knows that Allison can hit and that he must guard against that right paw if he is in there when the final bell ding dongs.

Both Boys Out to Win.

Both Alberts and Allison are out to win. Each is bitter against the other. This feeling is certain to result in a terrific row which will start with the first gong and continue as long as the quarrel is on. It is easy to predict that the fight will be fast and furious.

When the promoters signed Alberts and Allison they did not have to go any further, for they could have packed any local arena with those two boys. But for good measure they have signed up eight other boys. Kid Billings of Superior, welterweight champion of Wisconsin, and before the war one of the leading contenders for the crown in his division, is coming back into the game and will make his new start on the coming bill when he will take on Battling Hugo of Minneapolis, a slashing, slugging boy who has defeated Gus Bloomberg, and who has walloped on even terms with Gunner Joe [illegible] and several other sterling welters.

The Billings-Hugo row is really a main bout attraction which will furnish the fans with much that will prove attractive in the way of speed, scientific hitting, and classy footwork.

Franti Said to Be Bear.

Ed Franti, the Bovey engineer, who has electrified the North country with his wonderful speed and hitting power, will meet Harry Boyle, the veteran Philadelphia lightweight in a six-round semi-windup mill. Bovey, Coleraine, Marble, Calumet and Grand Rapids fans are coming in a body to see Franti work, for he is a great favorite with them. They have contended all along that Franti can whip any lightweight in Duluth.

A contest that will pack a lot of interest for all of the fans will be the six-round bout between Bob Johnson, Duluth's own heavyweight miller, and Kid Clancy of Butte, a United States army boxer who fought his way up to the A. E. F. finals over in France. Both these boys are willing performers and each packs a healthy kick. It will be a good battle.

Al Freske and Kid Porter, middleweights will open the show with a six-round bout. We have never seen either of these boys step and do not know what they have to offer. But their friends say they are good.

Advance sale of seats so far indicates that the house will be sold out by Wednesday of next week. The new Armory capacity is 3,500 chairs and over half that number have already been reserved. The crowd will be the largest that ever attended a boxing show in this city and that is saying something.

SIGN CONTRACT FOR BIG FIGHT

Purse Will Total $500,000; Place and Date of Battle Undecided.

New York, Nov. 6.—Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier signed a contract here yesterday to fight for the world's championship for a half million dollar purse. The date and place of the contest is not specifically stated in the agreement, but in other respects the contract is complete and definite.

Dempsey is to receive $300,000 for defending the title. Carpentier, who holds the European heavyweight championship, will receive $200,000 as his share of the purse. Each fighter in addition is to hold 25 per cent of the moving picture corporation stock, while the other 50 per cent goes to the three joint promoters, Tex Rickard, Charles Cochran and William A. Brady. The $500,000 purse is to be deposited with a bank or trust company, located near the scene of the battle, at least twenty-four hours previous to the contest and will be divided between the principals immediately after the termination of the fight.

Each pugilist, through his manager, must post a $50,000 forfeit on or before Nov. 20, to be divided equally between his prospective opponent and the promoters if he fails to keep his part of the contract. The promoters also agreed to deposit $100,000 on or before the same date to be divided equally between the pugilists should the promoters fail to carry out their part of the contract.

Possible Referee.

The promoters agree to notify the principals not later than Jan. 1 in case the fight is to be held during the month of March, 1921. If it is decided to stage the bout between May 29 and July 4, the fighters are to be notified not later than March 1. The contract also calls for a contest ranging from ten to fifteen rounds to be held at a place to be selected later, either in the United States, Canada, Mexico or Cuba.

The parties to the contract submitted a list of five names from which it is proposed to select the referee and judges with a proviso that in case the bout is held in a place where boxing is controlled by a state commission, the selection must be satisfactory to said commission. The names offered for the positions are Robert Edgren, William Brown and James J. Corbett of New York, James J. Jeffries of Los Angeles, Otto Floto of Kansas City and James F. Daugherty of Philadelphia.

Edgren is also made sole arbiter of any disputes which may arise between any of the contracting parties, with final authority to decide and award any distribution of the forfeit money as provided in the contract. It is further stipulated that the ring shall be from 18 to 24 feet square. A provision also is inserted giving the promoters a thirty-day extension from the date finally selected for the bout, in case the contest cannot take place at the site and time so selected, due to causes beyond the control of the promoters.

May Fight Near New York.

There was little formality or ostentation in the signing of the contract, the terms of which have been generally known and agreed upon for some days. All the contracting parties gathered at an uptown hotel and, in the presence of a large number of newspaper men, quickly signed the contract with which all were apparently thoroughly familiar.

While there is an apparent air of mystery and uncertainty surrounding the time and place of the battle, it is generally accepted that unless there is stern opposition from the New York state boxing commission, the bout will be held in a special open air arena to be erected within or very close to the city limits of New York.

ALL SUPERIOR COMING OVER

Badger Football Eleven Is Loaded to Defeat Duluth on Sunday.

The Superior City football eleven, reinforced by star players from Eau Claire, Wis., and Virginia, is coming over to this side of the bay tomorrow afternoon to defeat the Duluth team in the first of a series of three games for the Head of the Lakes professional championship. With the Superior team is coming close to 1,500 fans. This is no exaggeration, for they are football wild on the otherside of the pond and have been saving up for weeks to see their great eleven tackle the clan of Von.

Special street cars have been chartered by the Superior fans, while all of the taxis, trucks and private automobiles over in Badgertown have been called into service to carry the roaring bellowing boys who have always delighted in ripping it into Duluth. The invading fans will occupy the left side of the gridiron at Athletic park while the Duluth rooters will take up their stand on the right. Special parking spaces have been laid out for automobiles. It really looks like a wild afternoon.

Superior is coming here to win. To assure victory, Manager Art Olson of the Badger eleven has imported Bill and Joe Rooney and Bill Underwood, the three stars of the Virginia City team; Jack Kilboten of Eau Claire, former star tackle of Notre Dame university, and two other players from somewhere else that are being kept under cover.

Manager Olson announced this morning that he will probably play Monahan, Quinn and Barker in the end positions, with Hart, Olson, Kilboten and Hankey at tackles and McAndrews, Lyons, Grant and Isham at guards. Anderson will play center, Eddie Cole will be in at quarter and in the backfield will be the Rooney brothers, Underwood, Hank Daugherty and Drew. The team will average a little under 180 pounds.

Just how well this hurriedly gotten together collection of stars will show against the Duluth eleven is a problem. Superior certainly has enough first class material, but whether they will suffer through lack of teamwork is a question that is affording hope to the backers of Duluth.

The local eleven will line up with Strand at center, Kielley and Juntilla at guards, Caldwell and Harney at tackles, Ryan and Woodward at ends. Von and Bratt will fill the role of quarter, while Method, O'Donnell and Kozlak will be in the backfield. It is probable that Von may use two new out-of-town men in tomorrow's game, but there was nothing certain about this this morning.

The big game will be started at 3 o'clock sharp.

BILLY KELLY IS WINNING AGAIN

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—Commander J. K. L. Ross won the three serial weight-for-age events at the Pimlico track last fall with Billy Kelly, which captured the first event, and Sir Barton the second and third, and may repeat that turf achievement this fall. He started the ball rolling in that direction here Monday when Billy Kelly captured serial handicap No. 1 at the opening day meeting. With Kummer in the saddle, Billy Kelly won by a length from his stablemate Motor Cop, which just nosed out Audacious with Ensor up for the place honors.

Commander Ross decided to start Billy Kelly for serial No. 1 at the last minute. He had Motor Cop in the race, and inasmuch as Motor Cop has been beating his opponents over the short courses by ten or twelve lengths, he was regarded as being practically invincible.

But Billy Kelly has been doing so well of late that his owner and Bedwell, his trainer, decided to strengthen their hand by starting the famous gelding. It was just as well that they did. Billy Kelly won easily, whereas Motor Cop was lucky to earn second money. Motor Cop showed his usual brilliant speed by racing the first quarter in 22 2-5, and the half mile in 46 2-5, equivalent to 44 2-5 at Saratoga Springs.

Billy Kelly is now at the top of his form and there are few, if any, horses in training that can beat him over the six-furlong course. He ran the distance in 1.12, which was three-fifths of a second behind the 1.11 2-5 hung up by Ophelia with 108 pounds last year, but inasmuch as Billy Kelly carried 130 pounds this afternoon his performance ranks equal with that of the filly.

The sixth race, a dash of six furlongs for maiden 2-year-olds, attracted a great deal of interest because several youngsters of great promise were making their first public appearance of the season. The juveniles, Princess Pandora and Bon Homme, had been highly tried as yearlings and again in the spring, but the vicissitudes of training, plus sickness, kept them in retirement until this late day.

Princess Pandora, a handsome chestnut daughter of Peter Pan-Queen of Hearts, had recently worked well, but the fates in the shape and form of Jim Milton, the starter, and Coltiletti, who rode her, decided against Princess Pandora and in favor of Bon Homme. The Whitney filly was left at the post. Coltiletti foolishly sent her after her field and she made up at least fifteen lengths and was only beaten by six lengths when she finished fourth to Bon Homme, Baywood and Sun Turret. With an equal start Princess Pandora would have won in hand.

AMATEURS WILL GET SCRUBBING

A. A. U. Athletics to Be Purged at Annual Meeting This Month.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6.—This seems to be the year for a thorough housecleaning in athletics. Baseball is not the only sport that is to be purged. Amateur athletics are to come in for their share of renovating, as it was declared today by Charles A. Dean, amateur athletic union official, that the fur will probably fly Nov. 14, 15 and 16, at the annual meeting of the National A. A. U. at New Orleans, La. He added that there is to be a house cleaning and that the national championship committee of the organization is to suffer a decided change.

For many years amateur athletics have virtually been in the control of New York men, under whose regime conditions have not been entirely satisfactory. The time is at hand for a change and it is to be made at the coming annual meeting. What took place in the handling of the Olympic game arrangements is said to have brought the controversy to a head and caused many officials of the A. A. U. to decide that many of the men who have acted on the championship committee must go. The opposition is so bitter against the clique that is said to exist that there is no doubt there will be a great upheaval in the ranks.

Says Old Guard Must Go.

"Most of the old guard will be shoved out," said Dean today. "It is impossible to tolerate what has been going on for several years. The men running the National A. A. U. affairs are not actively engaged in the sport and are not doing it any good. There has been general dissatisfaction over the method with which the national championship committee has operated. This band of men, many of whom are O. K., has appointed men for championship events who were in bad repute in their own districts. In many cases the rules of the organization have been disobeyed because a clique has been in operation that has been conducting affairs to suit itself.

"It is the determination of many members of the A. A. U. to go down to New Orleans to break up the national championship committee. It is an arrogant body that has been operating regardless of what has been done in the different associations affiliated with the national body. The trouble has been in New York, where officials have assumed too much and have given other sections too little consideration. This has been resented by men in that section and is shown by the fact that Bartow Weeks of the Metropolitan A. A. U. was not elected as a delegate to attend the gathering down South."

"New Yorkers Assume Too Much."

The chief difficulty appears to be in the fact that New York men have attempted to run the affairs of the National A. A. U. to suit themselves. They have not taken officials of the different associations into their confidence. This has caused the move to take the control of the national body out of the hands of Gotham men and place it with A. A. U. throughout the country who will treat athletes and associations with fairness.

Dean laughs at the idea that action is to be taken against Norman Ross, world's champion swimmer, for objecting to the treatment given the American athletes on their way to the Olympic games. Dean declares there is nothing in the rules that says Ross can be punished for protesting against conditions given athletes. If action is taken against him the same will have to be done to 200 other men who appointed him their spokesman on the boat. These men were justified, according to Dean, in denouncing the terrible conditions under which they had to travel and to live while across the pond.

HEAVIES WILL CLAIM STAGE

Dempsey and Carpentier Sure to Meet in New York.

New York, Nov. 6.—Now that the votes have been counted, the heavies will begin to heave hereabouts. Lil' Johnny Dempsey and Gorgeous Georges Carpentier have had to sit idle while the little fellows have been hitting around and over $50,000 gates, so far as New York is concerned.

It is certain that Carpentier and Dempsey would have been matched for a championship bout to take place in this city months ago. Of course, there was the Cuban chuckle, but after all nobody has swallowed that tib hook, line and sinker. The little man of mystery is supposed to arrive from Cuba right after election, but he'll never come. With the election out of the way the barriers will be down, and don't be surprised to hear that the triple alliance have suddenly changed from Cuba to the Polo grounds, Ebbets field or some other public park right on the tight little isle.

It's too great an undertaking to turn over to the uncertainties of a Cuban outpouring.

Politics do be a funny ole bird, but the Carpentier-Dempsey thing was the funniest of all.

Dundee Registers Dispute.

Johnny Dundee is one man who intends to dispute Willie Jackson's right to have the first fifteen-round crack at Benny Leonard, wherein a decision might mean a championship. Jackson and Dundee have met half a dozen times. Jackson's first venture against the "Eye-talion-American product," as Joe Humphreys is wont to call Dundee, was a glorious achievement. He knocked out Dundee for the first and only time that Johnny has suffered such humiliation.

Since then they have had it out, first one gaining the upper hand and then the other. They fight furiously each time, and so closely that the house always goes away divided as to opinions. From now on the verdict will be at least "official."

Dundee is ready to post $10,000 as appearance forfeit to bind a match with Jackson. If the latter wishes to accept this forfeit as a side wager, providing the Law Horrible is not rubbed the wrong way, it will go as such. If Willie does not care to meet Dundee, then Leonard is the man who can cast a weather eye toward the ten thou'. Unquestionably, with Fitzsimmons out of the way, thanks to Jackson's hard fists, there remains but a trio—Jackson, Tendler and Dundee. Pitted against the champion, either man would draw well over the $100,000 mark in this city. It would be the bout of the year—years, indeed.

Weight Problem Again.

It is possible that the present boxing board will have a lot to say about "forced" weight making. Fitzsimmons, after making "official" weight at 2 o'clock on the day of the Jackson bout, was compelled, because of a private understanding, to keep himself "down to weight" until a few minutes before the bout was to start.

This is unfair both to fighter and fan. If the fighter is made to do it, then it is bad management and the blame must fall on Dan Morgan in this particular case. Fitz is capable of better fighting than he displayed last Friday night. He is stronger than his work that night indicated. Jack Britton admitted that the little fellow did not eat properly for a week before the bout for fear of losing his $2,500 forfeit. What was the result? He saved that puny amount and lost thousands in "futures." Besides that, Morgan and Britton bet $5,000 between them that Fitz would win. It would have been smarter managing if they had forfeited that weight money, a private agreement, mind you, and gone into the ring at something like himself.

Nobody can blame Doc Bagley, Jackson's manager. He was pinning a dangerous man down to the real weight. If Fitz can't make it and be strong, then he doesn't belong in the class. If Benny Leonard can't make it, he doesn't belong in it, either. Jackson made 132 pounds without turning a hair. Dundee can hit under 130. Tendler is ever around Dundee's weight. Morgan, as a matter of fact, overestimated Fitz's ability and underestimated Jackson's. Any man who thinks Jackson can't fight has got another think coming. That goes for Leonard, and it behooves the champion to watch this fellow and if he ever meets him, go into the ring in the best possible condition. He's dangerous, tricky and a hitter that no man can pooh pooh.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS
In the Chicago News.

ARRANGING THE BATTLE.

(A Drama of Love, Business, Money and the Square Ring. By arrangement with the League to Preserve Peace.)

Scene: The diamond room at the Ritz.

Characters: Mr. Jack Dempsey, Mons. Georges Carpentier, their managers (Mr. Jack Kearns and Mons. Deschamps), Col. Tex Rickard, Mr. James A. Brady, Esq., and W. A. Cochran.

Dempsey is sitting back in a large velour chair looking over a catalogue of fall and winter styles in limousines. Two butlers are in attendance and an East Indian slave girl is burning incense at his feet.

Carpentier is reclining on a Louis XVIII chaise longue reading Moody's "Analysis of Investment Stocks." A French maid is feeding him French pastry and orange blanc.

A painting of "Croesus Defying the Income Tax Board" and a white marble statue depicting the "World War Debt Calling to Its Mate" are conspicuous decorations.

Deschamps, Kearns, Rickard, Brady and Cochran are seated around a center table looking very grave. From time to time employes of the mint come in and deposit large bags of gold at their feet.

Rickard (yawning)—Well, fellow financiers, let us get down to business. This meeting is called with the sanction of the treasury department, for the purpose of devising ways and means by which Mr. Dempsey and Mons. Carpentier may be induced to sign these papers.

Mr. Cochran—Are the two gentlemen here?

Mr. Rickard—Yes, this is Mr. Dempsey.

Dempsey, abstractedly, and pointing to catalogue—The one with the wire wheels is the best—done in Alice blue.

Mr. Rickard—And this is Mr. Carpentier.

Carpentier, rolling over on his side—Lemme see, $200,000 invested at 8 per cent for five years would yield me—

Mr. Rickard, with some feeling—Will you two boys kindly get your minds on your work?

Dempsey, sprinting from his chair—Work! Where have I heard that word before?

Mr. Rickard—By arrangement with the American Banking syndicate we are in a position to offer you, Mr. Dempsey, the sum of $300,000 and you, Mons. Carpentier, $200,000.

Mons. Carpentier, not batting an eye at the figure, has strolled over to the baby grand and started to play.

Dempsey—What is that you are playing, my dear Georges?

Mr. Rickard, angrily—I say we can offer you, Mr. Dempsey, $300,000, and you, Mons. Carpentier, $200,000. What is you answer?

Dempsey, abstractedly to Carpentier—I know, my dear Georges, but the blonde one I had from the Winter Garden was a beauty. * * *

Carpentier—I knew a girl in Paris who * * *

Mr. Brady, interrupting—I call your attention to the fact that the two principals are not only ignoring us, but that their managers have fallen asleep and are snoring.

Mr. Rickard—Come, come, gentlemen; we are entitled to common courtesy.

Kearns, yawning—I beg pardon * * * but this all bores me terribly * * * Jack (to Dempsey) what do you say to $300,000?

Dempsey—You will please excuse me. * * * Georges and I are in no mood to talk of money matters such a wonderful day as this.

Carpentier—Zees countrai eet ees so material, eh Jack?

Maid (rushing into room)—Oh, gentlemen, there's an awful scene in the hall! * * * Two waiters have been fighting for an hour.

Kearns—Fighters?

Dempsey—What are they fighting for?

Maid—Nothing!

Dempsey, Carpentier, Rickard, Cochran, Deschamps, Kearns and Brady in chorus—The —— fools!

Curtain as all hands adjourn to the dining room for an eighteen course dinner.

TWO HARBORS BOYS BACKBONE OF TEAM

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The wonderful record of the Macalester college foot-ball team is being watched with keen interest this year by local followers of the game because five members of the team are Two Harbors boys. The following clipping from a Twin City paper gives some idea of their standing. "If every city in Minnesota sent such a stellar group of gridiron players to Macalester college as Two Harbors Coach McCallum's team would run away with the bunting in short order. Five of the Macalester first string men hail from Two Harbors and are as follows: Capt. Allen Rock, the husky left tackle; William Claffy, quarterback; Bill Stein, center; Frank Scott, substitute quarter, and Carl Lower, halfback."

All the above have been very prominent in athletics in this city during the last two or three years. Stein, Lower and Scott were members of the American Legion basket ball team here last winter when the team won the American Legion championship of the Northwest, defeating every team they played except one. With the assistance of these men, Macalester should have one of the best basket ball teams ever turned out.

OHIO MUST WIN TO REMAIN IN RACE

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6.—With two veterans—Fullback Williman and Tackle Spiers—out of the game because of injuries, Ohio State meets Michigan here today in a game which will be watched with utmost interest in Western conference football circles. Ohio must win over Michigan to face Illinois two weeks hence with a clean slate in what is expected to be the battle for the conference championship.

Michigan, although beaten by Illinois earlier in the season, has apparently developed considerable strength and the hardiest kind of a battle is anticipated. Ohio, as has been the case in most other games this season, is outweighed considerably, both in the line and backfield.

Is Again Ashland Sheriff.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only one change will take place in Ashland county officials as the result of Tuesday's election, Charles L. Kleinsteiber succeeding O. H. Eckle as sheriff. Mr. Kleinsteiber has been sheriff twice before. The county officers-elect are: Edwin H. Quistorff county clerk; Henry D. Klein, treasurer; C. L. Kleinsteiber, sheriff; Louis Sollie, coroner; Tom Upthegrove, clerk of court; George F. Merrill, district attorney; W. G. Knowles, register of deeds, and Jered W. Day, county surveyor.

Find Skeleton Near Hastings.

Hastings, Minn., Nov. 6.—Mystery surrounds the finding late Friday of the skeleton of a man on a small island in the Vermilion slough, a tributary of the Mississippi. From an entry in a checkbook, the only means of identification available because of the decomposed condition of the letters and papers found, it is believed the body has been in the secluded spot since the spring of 1919.

Sandstone Wedding Anniversary.

Sandstone, Minn., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pearson gathered at the I. O. G. T. hall Saturday evening to assist them in celebrating their silver wedding anniversary. The hall was tastefully decorated. A program consisting of speeches, a ghost drill by the degree staff of Golden Rod camp, No. 1873, R. N. A., and a mock wedding was given. At midnight luncheon was given and the couple were presented with an electric percolator. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bodell and two daughters of Stanchfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilcox of Pine City.

SHE GIVES NEW MEANING TO WORD "RECREATION;" TEACHES ADULTS TO PLAY

MISS EDNA GIESTER.

To the average person who has probably not given any very serious thought to what recreation really is, the word "recreation" and the countless references made to recreational work, in stories of the daily press, in pamphlets, magazines and the like, simply implies amusement, or refreshment of the strength and spirits after toil.

But those who have come to know Miss Edna Giester, recreational director for the national board of the Y. W. C. A., who during the past few days has conducted a special course in recreational work at the local "Y," recreation has come to have a new meaning. It has come to represent leisure turned into assets rather than liabilities; to mean developing social resourcefulness within one's resourcefulness, together with thinking of physical welfare, and in its fullest meaning it stands out as the sure way of producing spontaneous, whole-souled laughter, and this, Miss Geister declares, is the chief source of recreation because it relaxes tension.

Further benefits to be derived from recreation, one decides after watching Miss Geister with her group of 100 girls or more, are the faculty of interpreting life joyfully, of developing patience—that quality declared by one of the great philosophers to be the real test by which true worth is measured—the growth of individuality, co-operation in team work and originality in ideas.

By now you may have set Miss Geister down as a very cut-and-dried sort of person, very full of rules and methods like the pedagogue of days gone by, but if such is your mental hallucination it is entirely wrong.

She is a tan blond type of girl, slim of figure and as vivacious and wholly fascinating as she is ingenious and resourceful. You'll agree that the two latter qualities are developed in no small degree when upon examination of her program you find that for the last few years she has done nothing else but travel from one corner of the country to the other and plays continually.

You marvel at her wonderful career and the wealth of imagination nature must have endowed her with to enable her to climb to such success in her art. But the girl who "just plays" always very modestly contends that it's just a continuation of the life in which she took so great enjoyment when with nine brothers and sisters she romped and played at "Geisterville," the family home at Elgin, Ill. "But now I play in grown-up fashion and have cultivated it to, as it were, a science," she added.

In this interesting young woman who knows how to play and how to make all others play in true play fashion, you discover, however, that the fates not only endowed her with the art of expressing spirit in action but also that she is equally adept in giving her message with the pen. She is the author of "Icebreakers," a volume which deals with recreational work and which is very generally conceded to be the most comprehensive book of its kind at the present time.

Wondering if Miss Geister never grows tired of just playing all the time, she was asked if the work ever grew mechanical, not daring to suggest monotony to one so wholly wrapped up in the game of making people play.

"In a sense it may be mechanical," the animated girl answered, "but it never ceases to be a medium through which I can get enthusiasm across to my groups of playmates."

After Jan. 1, upon retirement from her office on the national board of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Geister will devote her entire time to literary work.

"MAKE EVERY CLUB A TRAINING CAMP" —MRS. PENNYBACKER

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, past president of the General Federation, and now chairman of the Department of American citizenship, in her first official messages just issued urges every club in America to undertake a four-fold program, which if undertaken, "will make every club a training camp for citizenship."

She says:

"1. Work in every possible way to induce women to register, if registration be required for voting.

"2. Study in wise, nonpartisan fashion, state and local issues.

"3. Study in the same manner our national platforms, being careful to have both sides of every mooted question presented adequately.

"4. Demonstrate clearly why it is the duty of every club woman to go to the polls and vote. This is the hour in which the womanhood of America is on trial.

"Since we learn to do by doing, there is no better way in which clubs might accomplish the points above named than by having a meeting devoted to elections. Ask some well known publicist to explain the method of voting and then give over the rest of the program to a mock election. Have ballots drawn up in the accepted form, stage voting booths, and let the actual voting take place, observing all regulations that must be carried out at the polls. When the result has been announced, the successful candidates may be presented and a speech demanded.

"Invite guests in order that as many women as possible be brought within the radius of the club's influence.

"As soon as plans are definitely matured, you will hear in detail the work planned by the entire department of citizenship. We hope to have our motto, 'Every club a training camp for citizenship.'"

Plans of Club Women Here and Elsewhere

Making Poppies in Memory of Dead in France

"As when last year we supplied thousands of poppies for those among us who in memory of the boys who made the supreme sacrifice on the battlefields of France, and now rest in that sleep that knows no awakening in Flanders fields, we will again this year supply poppies to all who wish to publicly announce that they are yet mindful of the fact and keeping faith with the boys over there," say women of the several women's societies and organizations of the city.

In order that they may have sufficient of the gay colored blossoms, symbolic of that sea of bloom over the American graves in France, and which has been adopted as the American [illegible], hundreds of women with rolls of scarlet crepe paper, spools of wire and wire nippers, have been busily engaged in the last several days making poppies, not alone for Duluthians, but also for several sister cities in the adjoining states from which orders have come.

Sale of the poppies will be conducted in the downtown shops and other places easily accessible to the public in general. Proceeds of the sales will go to swelling funds in the several churches of the city and to other worthy benefits.

Musical Program Draws Unusual Attendance

Mrs. Stocker's program before 150 members of the Twentieth Century club at the home of Mrs. A. W. Hartman was a delightful affair. Mrs. Hartman's rendition of "Tosca" on the electrical organ and the "Bach Chorale" sung by Mrs. Stocker's pupils, created, at the very beginning, the proper atmosphere for musical appreciation that was the intent of the afternoon's program.

Miss Winifred Hicks carried the general plan of demonstration by her rendition on the pipe organ of the "Pilgrim Chorus" and "Great the Depth," from Mendelssohn-St. Paul.

Miss Frances Ober played three delightful numbers on the piano with her usual brilliant freedom and fine interpretation.

A short talk concerning the Girl Scouts was given by Miss Helen Sea[illegible].

The next meeting of the society will be at a luncheon at the Northland Country club Monday, Nov. 15, when Mrs. J. O. Baer, first vice president of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs, will address the meeting on "The New Renaissance."

Arrangements in Order for Grainger Program

On Monday evening at Miss Josephine Carey's studio Miss Carlotta Simonds will analyze and discuss the Grainger program. All members of the Matinee Musicale who are interested are invited to attend.

On Wednesday, beginning at 10 o'clock the Matinee Musicale will hold a ticket sale at the Glass Block store to enable those who wish to become members before the Grainger recital to procure their membership tickets. The membership is already a large one and it will help those in charge of the arrangements for the recital Friday evening if as many as possible have their tickets before coming to the church. Tickets will also be on sale for the Grainger concert to men and nonresident women.

Fellowship Program at "Y" Sunday

For the coming three Sundays the committee in charge of the Sunday afternoon social hours at the Y. W. C. A. has planned World Fellowship programs, Nov. 14 being World Fellowship day.

The first of these programs will be given Nov. 7 and Mrs. Howard Hare, chairman of the World Fellowship committee, will have charge of the program and will give a short talk. Miss Evelyn Elstad will be dressed to represent a Chinese girl, and will show something of the customs among Chinese girls. A group of songs will be sung by Mrs. Charles Carr.

Members of the dressmaking class of the Y. W. C. A. will be the hostesses and will serve the refreshments following the program.

Smith and James Graham; talks on the benefit of a community club house to a community, Rev. Charles Ramshaw of Morgan Park. There will also be a prize contest which will be an interesting feature of the evening. It is urged that all members be present. The committee in charge of the evening are: Mrs. Walter B. Butchart, Mrs. S. R. Catherall, Mrs. F. A. Greffin, Simon Forgette and Austin Davenport.

Bush will be the assisting hostess. Mrs. Alice Warren will speak on "The President of the United States, His Cabinet, the Powers and Duties of Each Member." "Minnesota Legislation" will be discussed by Mrs. Thorwald Hanson. Roll call will be responded to by a current event of interest.

Club to Hold Board Meet Thursday

The regular monthly board meeting of the Twentieth Century club will be held at the library clubrooms, at 10:30 o'clock, Thursday morning. A report from the drama class will be read.

THESE GIRLS EXERCISE DYNAMIC INFLUENCE AT CENTRAL HIGH

MISS MARY WAHL.

MISS MARIE McGREEVY.

MISS RUTH FORGY.

Three popular members of the younger set who are taking a prominent part in the social life at Central high school are Misses Marie McGreevy, Mary Wahl and Ruth Forgy, and it is quite generally conceded that whenever either of these attractive girls are "back of an affair" there is assurance of success. As the girls' cheer leader, Miss McGreevy occupies a place distinctively her own in school circles. She is ably supported by Miss Forgy, assistant cheer leader for the girls. Miss Wahl, as society editor of the Zenith, has grown in popularity quite aside from that which has always been claimed for her by her colleagues.

Trace Brainerd Cigarette Theft.

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 6.—Authorities have arrested James Debels on a charge of being implicated with Martin Sorenson, now being sought, in the robbery of about $2,500 worth of cigarettes Oct. 18 from a local wholesale store. Several cases of the stolen smokes have been recovered. A woman gave the tip to the police in the belief the pair were bootleggers.

ST. GERMAIN BROS. WILL EXPAND; FIRM INCORPORATES

The firm of St. Germain Bros., dealers in art and plate glass, paints and oils, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000. A new departure made by the company is the setting aside of a block of stock to be distributed among its employes. In taking that step, the management of the house is sanguine that it is dealing with its labor problem in a manner likely to produce the most satisfactory results.

In expectations of considerable expansion in general building operations in Duluth and over the Northwest next season, the company has arranged for the installing of considerable new machinery and a plant for the manufacture of paints and the handling of plate and other glass at its premises at 12 West First street, where two floors of a large building are occupied.

It is regarded as interesting to note that the present business was established by St. Germain Bros. in 1891 with a capital of only $14. Their operations have steadily broadened until now a wide territory covering Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and North Dakota is covered in the manufacture and distribution of art glass and memorial windows for churches and other public buildings. The company is Northwest representative for Ad-el-ite paints and varnish products.

DENTISTS WILL EXAMINE TEETH AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Dentists of Duluth will visit the schools of Duluth to make examinations of the pupils' teeth and recommend needed care. A regular schedule will be arranged, it was decided at a meeting of the Duluth Dental Study club which met at the Duluth Commercial club last night.

Dr. I. H. Northfield, who is in charge of the dental clinic at the Central high school, is supervising the making of the necessary charts which will be a part of the plan and placed in every school.

Dr. W. E. Mentzer and Dr. F. L. Tuohy addressed the club on the benefit of unifying and harmonizing the points of view of the medical and dental professions. Plans were worked out to promote closer co-operation between these two professions.

Side Talks

By Ruth Cameron.

WILL IT BE LIKE THIS?

"There is something intensely annoying to me," said the Authorman the other day, "about the idea that sometime, whether I give my consent or not, I've got to die."

"It seems highly probably you will have to," I admitted.

"I don't think I'd mind the idea," he went on, ignoring my response, "if there were some choice about it. If, when one came to the point where one were weary of life, one could, of one's own free will, decide to throw down the hand and see if the re-deal were any more satisfactory, there would be something sporting about doing that. Or if one were called upon to give one's life for some great cause, one could make that gesture with a sense of doing something sublimely worth while. But this idea that sooner or later one is going to be pushed off the precipice without a by-your-leave, as I before remarked, is exceedingly annoying to me."

"Perhaps as you grow older it will seem different to you," I suggested.

Just as One Is More Willing to Sit Down With a Book.

"Just as sitting down with a book or sitting down and talking seem like better amusements than they did in the days when the 'thrice royal game of hide and seek' was my idea of an ideal way to spend a Saturday holiday," he took me up. "Perhaps. One's feelings about so many things do change. But I wish you'd just ask your reader-friends if any of them ever felt that way. I'd like to know if I'm unique."

As if anyone ever were unique—except Adam and Eve!

However, it will do no harm to ask. Perhaps the Authorman may thus find an affinity.

Perhaps I Tread on Dangerous Ground.

I find my readers did not flinch too much from my remarks on more cheerful funerals (in fact, I had quite a chorus of "amens" from them), so perhaps they will let me approach even a bit nearer to that subject which some people seem to think is almost as indelicate to speak openly about as birth or love or religion—the other three great facts of life.

For my own part I have found that the older I grow the more the word "peace" has come to mean to me. I can remember when it first occurred to me that love might be a sense of contentment and satisfaction in the presence of the beloved rather than a sense of stimulation and excitement.

Just as the Leaf Gets Ready to Fall.

Likewise, as I grow older the whole connotation of death has come to be linked more closely with the idea of peace, and the thought of it has come to be a less unwelcome thought—especially when I'm tired.

I fancy that as we grow old and weak it will be like growing so much more tired that peace and rest will come to seem the most beautiful and welcome things in the world, and that when the time comes we shall be able to say with Stevenson—

"Here I am where I longed to be,
And I laid me down with a will;
Home is the sailor, home from the sea,
And the huntsman home from the hill."

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

A MEAT PIE THAT TASTES BETTER COLD THAN HOT.

THE housekeeper whose husband is a business man or who does some work that keeps him away from home every day except Sunday (and perhaps part of Saturday) will, I am sure, see at once the advantages in serving a meat pie such as the following, which tastes better cold than hot. "I cannot only give my husband a delicious and substantial Sunday night supper by serving this dish," she will say to herself, "but I can prepare it on Saturday and have more time to sit and chat with him on the one day he is home!"

Cold Pork Pie.
Apple Salad.
Coffee. Chocolate Cake.

Cold Pork Pie—Cut 2 pounds of pork into cubes. Put into a saucepan ¾ of a cup of lard; add ½ cup of cold water and bring to the boiling point. Now sift into a bowl 4 cups of flour and 1 teaspoon of salt; pour the boiling lard and water into this and mix to a smooth paste with a wooden spoon. Turn this pastry out onto a floured board and, after it has cooled a few minutes, knead it well with the hands. Cut off ¼ of this paste and put it aside. Take the rest, roll it out, line a deep, well-greased, round tin with it, then turn the cubed pork into the tin upon the paste-lining. Season with salt and pepper, sprinkle a very little water upon the pork with the finger tips, and cover the filled tin with the portion of paste which was put aside, rolling it out as nearly the size of the tin-top as possible. Press together the lower and upper crust of the pie and trim off any overhanging portions. Make a hole in the top crust, at the center, for the escape of the steam and brush the top crust with beaten egg. Place in a moderate oven to bake for about two hours. When done, pour 1 cup of gravy through the hole in the crust. Serve cold, preferably the following day when the pie has become more solid.

Mrs. S. M.—Answer—Preserved Watermelon Rind—Cut 1 pound of watermelon rind into inch-square pieces. Remove the peel and all of the pink part. Soak it overnight in weak limewater (1 ounce of limewater to 2 quarts of cold water). Next morning drain, let stand in fresh cold water for 2 hours, then drain again and boil rapidly for 15 minutes in a strong ginger tea made by combining 1 ounce of ginger with 1 quart of water. At the end of this time make a syrup in the following way: Combine 1 pint of strained ginger tea, 1 quart of water and 1¼ pounds of granulated sugar; let this mixture boil rapidly for 5 minutes, then turn the drained watermelon rind into it and let cook until tender and transparent (this will be about 2 hours). After ½ hour of this boiling, add ½ a lemon cut into thin slices. Pack into hot, sterilized glasses.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkham in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

A SIGHT FROM THE RIVER BANK.

THE leaves were falling from the Forest Trees but the wonderful Magic Cornstalk was growing as much as ever. Tinker Bob thought the Forest was the most wonderful place in the world. And he thought right, for the biggest things that grow live in the Great forest. They don't talk very much—that is, they don't speak very loud, but their silence speaks louder than the words of a great many creatures. Who did you say they are? If you said that the biggest thing that lives is a tree, you told the truth.

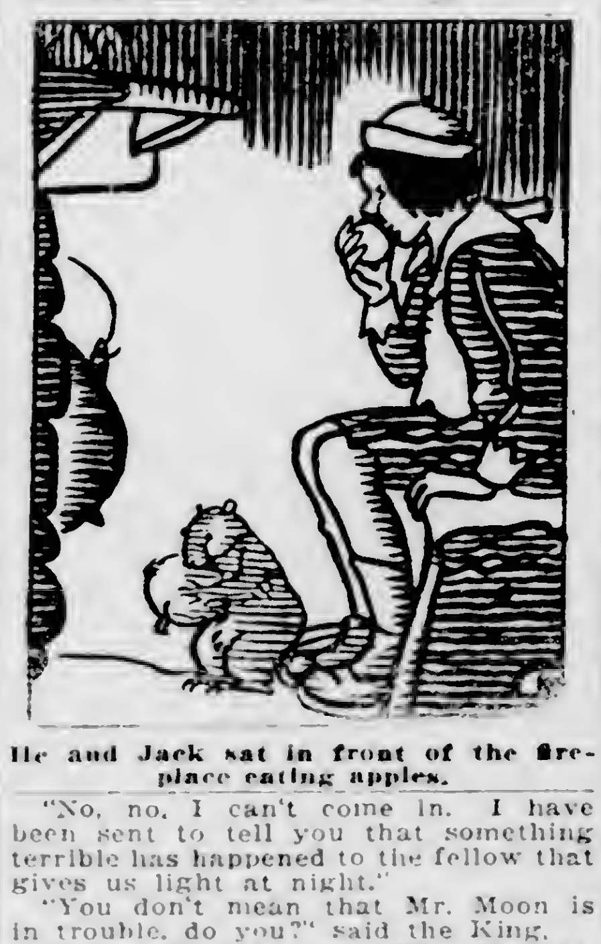
Tinker Bob was resting in front of his palace after visiting the wonderful creatures of the Forest, when it suddenly began to grow dark. In the Fall of the year it gets dark very quickly in the Forest. He had really forgotten the time of day. Anyway he could only tell the time of day by the Sun and Moon. And now night was coming on.

"Chirp, chirp"—this was always the first sound that told of the coming night, the voice of Mr. Cricket. Then there came to the ears of the King the distant call of the Night Hawk as she went about patrolling the Forest from one end to the other. Now and then there was a chirp from some one of the feathered family as they said "Good night" to their neighbors before putting their heads under their wings. Tinker Bob enjoyed all of this, for he loved the Forest creatures.

The Hunter had given Tinker Bob some fine big apples from his orchard and the thought of eating them was on the King's mind. So into the Palace he went to find the big red apples. But you can bet that the King was not first to find them—Jack the Wood Rat had been filling himself before the King came in. But there was enough left for Tinker Bob and he was not at all selfish, so he and Jack sat in front of the fireplace eating apples.

But as usual his fun was interrupted by a knock on the door.

"Now, I wonder who has come to tell a story of the Great Forest," said Tinker as he arose and walked to the door. When he opened it who should he find but Mr. Muskrat. He had just come from the river, for his fur was as wet as could be. "Come in," said the King.



He and Jack sat in front of the fireplace eating apples.

"No, no, I can't come in. I have been sent to tell you that something terrible has happened to the fellow that gives us light at night."

"You don't mean that Mr. Moon is in trouble, do you?" said the King.

"I cannot say," said Mr. Muskrat, "but I see something that looks very strange. Will you come to the river bank and see for yourself?"

"Yes," said the King, "I will go with you," and he put on his coat and went to the river bank with Mr. Muskrat. There he saw Mr. O. Possum hanging by the tail to the swing that hung down from Mr. Moon.

BRADBURY
SCHOOL of MUSIC

Those who teach music so that students will love their work and are eager and happy to learn—these are matters of the greatest importance and should be given careful consideration in the selection of a music teacher—matters about which you should give thought.

The Bradbury School has the right principles for teaching music; for interesting the student; for bringing out the talent and skill that is within—and this really is the whole secret of true education.

There are over 500 students enrolled at the Bradbury School. This growth has been the result of no sudden influx of prosperity, but the outcome of long-established and ever-increasing public confidence in the school's worth.

All around our school is the atmosphere of music—the environment and presence of music. And our standards are high.

The success of our students could not be understood if this were not true. Their general excellence in performance, their poise and readiness—the masterfulness of themselves—as demonstrated in our many fine students' concerts reflects the fundamental Bradbury idea. The reputation gained through twenty years of this sort of idealism and achieving "in the name of Music" has made known the Bradbury name to every music-lover in the Northwest.

Pupils may enter at any time.

IT'S VERY FAR FROM DEAD, SENATOR.

"The Versailles League is now deceased," said Mr. Harding to his neighbors, gathered to celebrate the victory.

Isn't Mr. Harding assuming a good deal, not only for himself but for his party and his country?

It is charitable, perhaps, to set this remark down as a verbal indiscretion due to the exaltation of victory.

For the Versailles League is very far from dead. Forty-odd nations now belong to it, including all the principal countries except those defeated in the war; and yesterday it was announced that Germany, Austria and Bulgaria are about to apply for membership. Not only are all the nations of the world members or about to become members—for the defeated nations will be admitted when they show that they are making good on the peace terms in good faith—except Turkey, Russia, Mexico and the United States, but the League is actually working. It is spending money, has elaborate headquarters, and is doing far more good and important things for the welfare of the world than many people suspect.

No, the Versailles League—not now the "Wilson League" but the "Versailles League"—is not "deceased." Very far from it. Nor is there any likelihood that it will be discarded and a new one made; nor would a new one be much good if the nations were gathered together again to make one.

All that is true in what Mr. Harding said is that America is not yet a member. The only question is whether it is going to become a member. Doubtless, if Mr. Harding and the Republican party will let it become a member, it can get in on terms easier than any other nation has asked. But it can't expect the world to get up a new one, and it should not try.

The responsible element in the Republican party has consistently held forth to the people the promise that if Mr. Harding were elected America would enter "the" League. Though Mr. Harding was cryptic in his utterances on the subject, he himself did say things that could be construed to mean the same thing. The country will look to his responsible supporters to make good on the pledge they gave it.

Mr. Harding and his party will feel obligated, in view of all that is past, to do some tinkering with the Covenant. Let's hope they will not feel obligated to do enough tinkering to spoil it. And let's hope that they won't continue to hug the delusion that a country or an individual can join a solemn undertaking for the protection of mankind without incurring obligations. Going in, while discarding obligation essential to the success of the plan, would be a mockery, and rejection would be decenter.

"PROHIBITION" IN SCOTLAND.

You may have observed that "prohibition" was being agitated in Scotland, that hot debate about it was in progress with America's "Pussyfoot" Johnson participating, and that there has been voting about it.

But though prohibitionists have supported the fight heartily, the "prohibition" that was up in Scotland is very little like prohibition as we conceive it in this country.

More accurately speaking, what Scotland is debating is "local option," a term very familiar in this country as the first step in the long process that led to a legally dry America; but even Scottish local option is not like ours. Our local option was local prohibition—complete so far as law could make it. It meant that if a community wished to it could vote not to license saloons, and that meant no drinking places at all. First the community, then the county, then the state, then the nation—that was the story of the coming of prohibition in America, and it was aimed at total prohibition from the beginning, in the small unit first and then from larger to largest.

But local option in Scotland, where a relatively small number of communities have voted to be as dry as the Scottish local option plan provides, is a very different thing. There it means only voting out the "public house," which is strikingly similar to voting out the American saloon and stopping there. For as the American saloon was a vicious institution, at once the sinister father of a brood of ugly evils and the father of prohibition as well, so in Scotland the public house has come to be a cancer eating at the heart of many communities.

> He bids fair to be wise who has discovered he is not so.
> —Publius Syrus (42 B. C.).

You would never think it from the sober behavior of our Scottish-born neighbors at Hunter's Park and elsewhere, but intemperance is a sad blight on Scottish life; and the public house is its headquarters.

There was a time when the Scots were a wine-drinking people. In those days their inns, celebrated in Scottish romance, were picturesque and decent places, as decent as any grocery store, as unlike the modern grog shop as a mild wine is unlike forty-rod whisky. But when, with the industrial revolution that transformed many other aspects of Scottish life, whisky came in, it began a sinister change which has turned the inn into a public house, and so, by familiar laws of reaction, led to the agitation of local option.

Extremists in America wouldn't think that what is getting the support of prohibitionists in Scotland was much of any prohibition at all, though it is being urged and opposed there as hotly as any thorough-going prohibition measure ever was in this country. A community which goes dry there merely determines to cease licensing public houses. That is a great gain, when it is understood that the good old Scottish inn has become, as a public house, a blot, a scandal and a disgrace.

But the community that has voted dry in Scotland does not go thirsty. It leaves the clubs, whether rich or humble, free to serve drinks to their members, and it does not affect the hotel or the home. Its aim is not compulsory abstinence, but the promotion of temperance by removing the chief promoter of intemperance. That being so, the only wonder is that the first victories for this tentative step in temperance have not been more numerous than they seem to have been.

CONSTITUTION AND COVENANT.

Senator Knute Nelson, in a senate speech quoted on this page recently, compared the debate on the League of Nations with that on the adoption of the Constitution of the United States. The similarity is far closer than most people realize; closer, indeed, than it is possible for anybody to realize fully today, when opinion on the Constitution is virtually unanimous.

The Constitution was ratified only by main strength and good strategy. Doubtless a majority of the people were against it, and if it had been submitted to a referendum it would hardly have carried a single one of the thirteen colonies.

In Pennsylvania the friends of the Constitution had to kidnap and tie in their seats enough of the opposition to keep a quorum until the act of ratification could be passed.

The Massachusetts convention ratified, after a long debate, by a majority of only nineteen—187 to 168.

In Virginia, where the greatest debate of the series took place, with Patrick Henry leading the opposition, ratification was in doubt to the last moment, and took place only by a vote of 89 to 79—a majority of only ten.

And, with the alarms about what the League of Nations is going to do to our liberties, read what some of the opponents of the Constitution thought about it:

Nathaniel Barrell—"I see it pregnant with the fate of our posterity. I see it entails wretchedness on my posterity, slavery on my children."

Thomas B. Wait—"I deplore the darkness, duplicity and ambiguity running through the whole Constitution. * * * The vast continent of America cannot long be subjected to a democracy if consolidated into one government. You might as well attempt to rule hell by prayer."

Abraham White, replying to the Constitutionalist argument that the people's representatives in congress would be true to their constituents, said: "I would not trust a flock of Moseses."

Dr. John Taylor—"The senators, once chosen, are chosen forever." Fortunately that melancholy forecast turned out not to be true.

Samuel Nason—"O Liberty! thou greatest good! thou fairest property! With thee I wish to live—with thee I wish to die! Pardon me if I drop a tear on this peril to which she is exposed."

John Holmes—"The Constitution gives congress power to institute judicatories like that diabolical institution, the Inquisition."

Major Thomas Lusk, because the Constitution provided no religious test, "shuddered at the idea that Roman Catholics, Papists and Pagans might be introduced into office, and that popery and the Inquisition may be established in America."

Patrick Henry—"I look on that paper as the most fatal plan that could possibly be contrived to enslave a free people. A standing army will execute the execrable demands of tyranny."

William Widgery—"I cannot see why we need, for the sake of a little meat, swallow a great bone, which if it should happen to stick in our throats, can never be got out."

George Mason—"It means individual taxation by two different and distinct powers which cannot exist long together; the one will destroy the other. One national government is not fitted for an extensive country. Popular governments can exist only in small territories. A consolidated government is one of the worst curses that can possibly befall a nation."

And so forth and so on, to the extent of volumes if need be.

It has been as bad as that in the discussion of the League of Nations; yet here is no question of government, but only a simple question of co-operation between nations for peace.

Are the names of these violent and embittered opponents of the Constitution, aside from that of Patrick Henry, familiar to you? Do you know William Widgery, Nathaniel Barrell and the rest?

Yet they were doubtless as sincere, as right, and as far-seeing as those who in this more enlightened age see similarly terrifying ghosts in the plan to organize the world for peace with America co-operating.

THE DEAD RICH MAN'S MONEY.

The New York Sun and Herald, though a very conservative and very Republican newspaper, speaks right out in meeting about the will of the late William K. Vanderbilt, and disapproves the policy of keeping such fortunes as his intact from generation to generation.

The Vanderbilt will left the bulk of a fortune estimated at a hundred and forty millions to two men, Willie K. and Harold Vanderbilt, other members of the family getting relatively minor bequests. Says the Sun and Herald: "It has been the habit of the Vanderbilts to follow the entailed system, as has been the habit with the Astors."

The Sun and Herald thinks that there should be a greater distribution of such fortunes for the benefit of society. It approves the wills of Mr. Frick, the late steel magnate, and Mr. Altman, a New York merchant, who left a large proportion of their wealth for charitable and other public purposes. It strongly disapproves of those rich men who leave the greater part of their accumulated fortunes in bulk to one or two members of their families.

This is wholesome criticism, but so long as it only aims at rebuking those dead rich men who fail to leave money for public purposes it will get nowhere.

There is always a way at hand to handle such cases as that of the Vanderbilt fortune, with the machinery for it already in operation.

That is to make inheritance tax laws that will take the bulk of all great fortunes for the public benefit at the death of those who built them up.

Then men may gather as vast accumulations as the law will let them in their lifetimes, but society will be secured against the evil of congested and virtually entailed wealth by the automatic absorption of the greater part of these fortunes when those who built them up pass on to the bourne to which no man can carry material wealth.

The reasons for such a course are commonplaces. If the man who builds up a fortune by real service to society has earned it and is entitled to the enjoyment of it, his sons and daughters have not earned it and therefore are not entitled to enjoy it. Moreover, in nine cases out of ten they would be better off without this unearned wealth, because the lack of it would compel them to exert the possibilities of useful endeavor that usually lie inert within them when inherited wealth provides for their needs. By drastic inheritance tax laws society would protect itself against the menace of congested and unearned wealth, would protect the children of the rich against the paralysis of initiative and energy that is all too likely to come with uninherited wealth, and would thus give itself the benefit of the services of these possible inheritors which it would lose if they acquired so much unearned wealth that they need not work.

Criticism of those who neglect the public in disposing of their fortunes is idle and useless when there is a remedy at hand which needs only to be used to solve the problem completely.

But if all were like those who make this provision for the public welfare in their wills, there would be no case for a drastic inheritance tax law.

Home Industries

Columbia, S. C., State: The other day a lady of our acquaintance found that a shrub in her yard had intruded over a path, so as to be in the way. After deliberating, she decided that it would probably not survive transplanting, and she suggested to her cook, an able-bodied, brown woman, that it had better be cut down. The cook agreed, but opined that the said cutting-down was a man's work, not within the scope of herself nor the children. When reminded that men who had been called in for sundry gardening jobs, had given the place a glance and uttered the phrase, "Three dollars"—sometimes more, but never less—the sable aristocrat had raised her eyebrows and observed grandly, "Well, now'days, $3 is a mighty little bit o' money fer doin' anything."

It was at that moment that the worm, in the person of her mistress, turned. Three dollars were far from growing on every bush for her. She took the ax in her unaccustomed hands and cut down that shrub herself. She experienced no ill effects, and then and there she decided that the various $3 which she paid out for labor would be the totally unavoidable ones. When possible she would do what the cook called "laborin' work," herself.

That is the little lesson which war introduced to us, and peace is rubbing in. Many women are like the barmaids of Liverpool, who, having taken a man's job during the war, have now no intention of giving it up again, no matter how much injured the former incumbents may consider themselves. Many a "neighborhood man" who earned an easy honorarium by gently propelling a mower over small lawns once or twice a week, found, when he wanted extra pay for removing the shaven grass, that his job went glimmering, and the athletic daughter of the house assumed it, finding it not more laborious and just as healthy as basketball or tennis. Many a home-maker discovered that polishing floors and scrubbing woodwork were well within her powers, and that even a bit of house painting or carpentry were rather fun than otherwise.

Where the Good Fishing Is

Farm and Home: "Any good fishing around here?" asked the visitor of the little village lad.

"Yes, sir," answered the boy. "You goes down that private road until you comes to a sign in a field wot says, 'Trespassers will be prosecuted.' Well, you go across the middle of that field, and then you comes to a pond, with a notice-board wot says, 'No Fishing Allowed.'"

"Yes?"

"Well—that's it."

Impertinent Reflections

By Savoyard.

Washington, Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The innumerable battles fought in Europe during all the centuries between Hastings and Waterloo tended to a common end—to shatter the political distance between the peer and the peasant. And all the countless wars of Europe from the time of William the Conqueror to Napoleon the Great were but the forward march of democracy. When William the Norman "conquered the crown but not the realm" of England there was nowhere in all Europe a legislature with a perceptible degree of vitality. After Waterloo republicanism made giant strides, and when the World war began every state in Europe, except Turkey, had a legislature, though in Germany, Russia and Austria-Hungary parliamentary government was more seeming than real. And today every state in Europe, with the exception of Russia and Turkey, has established parliamentary government, real and virile, and Russia will have a real parliament as soon as Russia ceases to be a lunatic.

I have no fear of Germany. On the contrary, much is to be hoped of Germany. Desperate as was the battle she made for autocracy for more than fifty months of the World war, fierce, terrible, ruthless as that battle was, Germany is no longer in love with war, and there is not the slightest danger that she will commit a breach of the peace for a long time to come. No people of Europe has more to gain from peace than Germany, and what is a blessing, Germany knows that peace is indispensable to her salvation. If France and Germany could only be brought to be friends the advance of civilization would be triumphant and the future of the world insured.

* * *

Just as the fruit of the wars that deluged Europe in blood from before the first Crusade to the last shot of the Napoleonic wars was a triumphant democracy that shortened the distance between the peer and the peasant, in a political way, so the fruit of the World war of 1914-18 will be a like blessing—the decrease of the distance between the millionaire and the pauper in every land under the sun.

This does not mean an abolition of what the real and parlor Bolsheviks call "capitalism;" but it means that men will awaken everywhere to a realization of the truth, "I am my brother's keeper." With our lights we look back with horror on the hellish parts played in earlier ages by such Persian kings as Cambysses and Darius and such Roman emperors as Caligula and Nero, so will remote posterity look back on our age when men, masters of hundreds of millions, view with serenity thousands of their fellow beings in want for the necessaries of life—food, raiment and shelter. We know that such Persian kings and Roman emperors were lunatics, and the future civilization will so hold present day plutocrats who revel in more than all the wealth of either Ind while their neighbors endure the tortures of biting poverty and wasted energies.

The idea I have in mind is vividly expressed in the lines of Burns:

See yonder poor, o'erlabor'd wight,
So abject, mean and vile,
Who begs a brother of the earth
To give him leave to toil;
And see his lordly fellow-worm
The poor petition spurn,
Undmindful, tho' a weeping wife
And helpless offspring mourn.

I do not say that there is no charity, practical charity, in the world. There is a great deal of it—immensely more of it than we know of; but I do sympathize with the tremendous thought of Victor Hugo when he exclaimed: "It is a disgrace to heaven's azure that there is one unfortunate man in the world!" If men held to the truth, "I am my brother's keeper" and universally practiced it, the tribe unfortunate would become extinct.

Nobody fully practices that gospel in our barbarian age, though more men and women than we dream of partially practice it, and as a fruit of the misery, limitless and unspeakable, occasioned by the terrible World war, countless thousands more good men and good women will heed it and practice it in the immediate and remote future.

* * *

It is impossible for the world to return to the conditions that existed before August, 1914. A new leaf was turned, a blank page opened, on which the story of civilization is to be continued. It depends on the wise and virtuous of the human family whether that story shall be cheerful or doleful. We know that reaction will be fatal. We know that false prophets will arise. We know that lunatics will gain authority, here and there, as now in Russia. We know that there will be flow and ebb of tide.

And we ought to know that unless the wise and the good of human statecraft shall seize and direct the irresistible march of progress much suffering will overtake our beloved country as well as the rest of the world.

An Artless Question

New York Evening Sun: After much advertising in the household, one lone applicant called relative to the position of general houseworker. There was a lengthy interview—most of the questioning being done by Mandy, a dusky daughter of the Sunny South. Finally negotiations were completed and Mandy agreed to start work at 9 o'clock the following morning. The family was jubilant, but at 9 no Mandy arrived. Ten o'clock came, but still no Mandy. At 11 the door bell rang, and there stood the new incumbent, with her boxes and bags. She beamed on her new mistress and explained: "Ah do hope you folks will all 'scuse mah lateness, but jes as Ah wuz a-coming out mah teacher called to give me mah music lessons. Ah done forgot to ask las night if you-all was fond of the clarinet."

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON.

After Election

All finished now the long campaign; the voters made their meaning plain, we know just where we're at; but little comfort do I see, for Johnson made a bet with me, and stuck me for a hat. The weary conflict now is done; a statesman lost, a statesman won, and may the loser smile; but all my soul is sick and sore—that Johnson jay who lives next door has touched me for a tile. And I must wheel him through the town upon a barrow upside down, while all the loafers jeer; oh, other men may shout and jest, but there is sorrow in my breast, and on my cheek a tear. And others march in gay parade, and drink denatured lemonade, and make the welkin thrill; but tragedy is in my soul, for with a toothpick I must roll a peanut up the hill. I see glad faces in the street, and happy citizens I meet, without a care or fret; I sadly view the merry throng, for I must wear my whiskers long, to pay a foolish bet. The noisy band is playing tunes to entertain the gay gossoons, but music makes me sad; this evening I must backward walk, my eyes blindfolded, round a block, to pay a wager bad. They say our bulwarks are secure, and there'll be justice for the poor, and wrongs will be redressed; but I am full of grief and dole, and all my hopes are in the hole, so wretchedly I guessed.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Honest Sweat

An adult, clothed, excretes from one to three quarts of sweat daily. He need not be ashamed of it. It is done in our best families.

The sweat is very thin (specific gravity about 1004) and is normally alkaline. The composition of the sweat is insignificant—it is practically nothing else than water. Traces of many different organic constituents have been found in sweat, such as urea, uric acid, indican and other ethereal sulphate of phenol and skatol, creatinin, oxyaminopropionic acid and a lot of ugly little things like that, but never mind—a glass of very good milk contains about nineteen million eight hundred thousand bacteria.

Arnstein—not Nicky, but another man altogether—is an authority on sweat and sweating. He asserts that special nerves control the sweat glands, and impulses acting on the glands through such nerves would account for sweating from emotion, various medicines and nausea. The ordinary cause of profuse sweating is high external temperature or muscular exercise.

The purpose of sweating is body cooling, not the elimination of poisonous matter.

The amount of organic matter or possibly poisonous waste matter present in the sweat is too minute to merit serious consideration. Such ill effects as have been produced by painting the animal or human body with impervious substances are due to interference with cooling, not to the retention of any constituent of the sweat. There is no harm to be feared from stopping the sweating of a local area, such as the feet or the armpits.

The sweat has much to do with the condition of the skin. An active state of the sweat glands insures a pliability and softness of the skin; if sweating is insufficient the skin is likely to be dry and harsh, as in the condition known as ichthyosis (fish-skin disease) and in milder cases of the same trouble frequently seen about the elbows and arms of young women who are fond of soap but hate exercise.

A thousand and one remedies are employed for excessive sweating. For the armpits nothing is better than a mopping each day for three or four successive days with this solution:

Aluminum chloride .... ½ oz.
Distilled water .... 3 ozs.

This should be allowed to dry on the skin before dressing. It may be repeated when required. Aluminum chloride is a standard chemical which any druggist can supply if he cares to accommodate a customer.

For overcoming excessive sweating of the feet, perhaps the best agent is:

Solution of Formaldehyde (U. S. P.)..1 oz.
Water ....½ pt.
(Formaldehyde is an irritant poison.)

The feet should be bathed with cold water only, and as rarely as possible. Apply the formadehyde solution to the soles and between the toes, and allow to dry. Repeat this daily for several days. In some cases the amount of formaldehyde solution in the formula may be doubled, if it does not produce too much irritation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Peanut Butter.

I am very fond of peanut butter and eat it daily. Please tell me the good and bad qualities of this food. (E. K.)

Answer: It is very nutritious, wholesome and digestible. I know no bad qualities.

Saginaw Kid.

You said you wanted kids to write, so here I am, a Saginaw kid. The lady across the way doesn't let her kids drink coffee but ma told her that she thought one cup of coffee with cream wouldn't hurt us. But she said cream in coffee was like leather. Is it? (over) Does cutting the eyelashes make them grow? Well I am much obliged to you for agreeing that it's all right for kids to go swimming. And say, if you can't have girl's wheels is it all right to ride your brother's, without people calling you a tomboy. Yours truly, (S. I. C.)

Answer: The lady across the way was right. Boys and girls under 16 years of age certainly should not drink tea or coffee. Milk is the stuff that makes boys and girls healthy. Cutting the eyelashes doesn't make them grow. You're welcome to my advice that it is all right for kids to go swimming. Don't cheer, girls, but let us pity the poor old-fashioned souls who imagine it is "tomboy" to ride brother's bike.

Aladdin's Lamp.

I have been told that by massaging a bunion ten or fifteen minutes a day it will entirely disappear. (M. E. H.)

Answer: Somebody was spoofing you. Operation is the only cure for established bunion.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinins, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

"Why do we grow so little in grace? It is because we do not use our intellect to meditate upon the forces of the unseen world amidst which we live, or our will to draw upon them. We know that we are weak, and sin and Satan are strong, and we know the truth. But there is a third power stronger than either our weakness or the forces of evil, which we commonly forget, and which will never disclose itself except in our using of it. We must stir up the gift within us. Within us we have the Spirit of power, the Spirit of Jesus, the life of Jesus. It remains to us to appeal to it; in constant acts of faith to draw upon it and to use it. Thus it will become to each of us as much a truth of experience as it was to St. Paul, and no longer merely I that live, but Christ that liveth in me."—Charles Gore.

The Smile Went Full Circle

My papa smiled this morning when
He came downstairs, you see,
At mama, and when he smiled, then
She turned and smiled at me;
And when she smiled at me I went
And smiled at Mary Ann
Out in the kitchen, and she lent
It to the hired man;

So then he smiled at some one whom
He saw when going by,
Who also smiled and ere he knew
Had twinkles in his eye;
So he went to his office then
And smiled right at his clerk,
Who put some more ink on the pen
And smiled back from his work.

So when his clerk went home, he smiled
Right at his wife, and she Smiled over at their little child
As happy as could be;
And then their little child she took
The smile to school, and when
She smiled at teacher from her book
Teacher smiled back again.

And then the teacher passed on one
To little James McBride,
Who couldn't get his lesson done
No matter how he tried;
And James took it home and told
How teacher smiled at him,
When he was tired and didn't scold
But said, "Don't worry, Jim."

And when I happened to be there
That very night at play,
His mother had a smile to spare
Which came across my way;
And then I took it after a while Back home and mamma said:—
"Here is that very self-same smile
Come back with us to bed."

Should Like Marry Like?

From Answers, London.

Without pausing to consider, the obvious reply to the question at the head of this article would be in the affirmative.

Two young people whom I knew very well recently married. They had each taken a distinctive degree at a university, and, to all outward appearance, were admirably suited to each other.

Some time after, when I went to visit them in their new home, I failed to see the suitability.

I do not know for certain that they bored each other—I hope not, since they are joined up—but, oh, how they bored me!

The atmosphere was laden with knowledge; the eatables on the table seemed spread on a geometrical plan. Nay, the very jam looked scholastic.

They meant to be very charming, I do not doubt, and their conversation was edifying, but there was an absence of jokes—poor or otherwise—and lightness or gaiety was nil.

When I got outside I longed to see the wind lift the hat off the head of a stout man, and watch him chase it in vain, or something—to me—equally funny and undignified, so that I could laugh away the oppression caused by my visit. There was a bit too much "like" in that wedding, I thought.

She was a real sweet girl, but I felt as if she ought to have married some good fellow with more love than knowledge in his composition, who would have greeted her with a good hug that would have disturbed her smoothly brushed hair, instead of the cold "peck" she received.

He ought to have had a woman who would fearlessly have poked fun at him, as well as having spirit enough to tell him of his selfishness in taking the most comfortable chair in the room, and appropriating the whole of the fire. True, there might have been an occasional flash-in-the-pan, but at least it would have been living and not collegiate stagnation.

In the days when I used to think I knew something, I remember being surprised at the choice of a wife made by a professional friend of mine. It seemed to me as though he, with all his atainments, had simply thrown himself away on a demure, domestic mouse.

"What a companion for him," I said to myself. "Why, she doesn't seem to have two intellectual ideas in her head!"

That marriage proved a perfect success, and I learned why, for I visited them frequently.

She just adored her clever husband, and he, coming home in the evening, often fagged in body and brain, was glad to find thoughtful consideration and restfulness. Later, when the children came, he said, too, that they were brought up and cared for as only a true mother knows how to do it.

Once I mentioned something like the subject of this article to him. His words in reply are, I think, worth repeating.

"If I had married a brilliant or a very intellectual woman I fear me my club would have had more of my company. As it is, I turn my steps most willingly each evening towards my haven of rest. You see, after a day in the business arena, a man wants a change, not a new battle—to lay down his tools, so to speak."

I once asked a lady how she had managed to keep her husband still her sweetheart after so many years of marriage.

She replied, with a merry laugh, and her eyes shone quizzically: "John is such a big, good, serious fellow, quite my opposite. So I expect it is just the 'spice o' the devil' in me that has a charm for him."

From my little gleanings and experiences I have been brought to the conclusion that the chances of happiness are greater where contrasts of temperament exist than when like marries like.

The Lie Direct

Villager: It seems that in the commercial travelers' profession there is an understanding, as firmly established as an unwritten law and certainly more so than a written one, that a salesman never tells a competitor the name of the next town he is to "make." If one asks another where he goes from here, the other names a town where he is pretty likely not to be going. Two good friends of "the road" met up in a town along the Ohio. "Where are you going?" asked one.

"Oh, to Indianapolis," grinned the other.

"You liar," returned the first, "you know damned well you're going to Indianapolis."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of This Date, 1900

The weather generally throughout the United States today is fine, and a large vote is expected to be polled in the presidential and state elections. There was a light snow fall early in St. Paul and Minneapolis, but the weather soon cleared. Senator James K. Jones of the Democratic national committee predicts a landslide for Bryan and Stevenson, while the Republican leaders see a sweeping victory for McKinley and Roosevelt.

William R. Merriam, director of the census, anticipates that thirty members will be added to the house of representatives by the reapportionment bill which will be passed at the next session of congress, based upon the increase in population. The additional members, however, will not take their seats until 1903.

The text of the answer of Russia to the Anglo-German agreement note in regard to China is published at St. Petersburg. The tenor of the agreement is approved, and open ports on rivers of the Chinese littoral and the integrity of the Celestial empire are favored.

Gilbert Daoust, a respected resident of the West end, was crushed to death between two freight cars at the Garfield avenue shops of the Northern Pacific road this morning. He was between the cars making some repairs when a switch engine bumped up against one of the cars, pinning him between the bumpers. He was 60 years of age and had lived in Duluth about seven years. He is survived by a widow, four daughters and one son.

A farewell surprise party was given last evening at the home of Mrs. A. Renfrey in West Duluth, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. Messiah, who will leave tonight for Tacoma, Wash., their new home. Mr. Messiah and his son, Frank Messiah, expect to go into business there. Frank Messiah has been connected for several months with the Spicer-Fanning store in West Superior, and was married yesterday to Miss Irene Warness, employed in the same store. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. A. Luce at the Methodist parsonage in Superior.

Isaac Hegge and D. Stringer of Two Harbors are here on a business trip.

The marriage of Miss Agnes Maginnis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maginnis of 1024 East Second street, and William Bennett took place last evening at the cathedral residence, Rev. Father Corbett officiating. Miss Anna Farrell was maid of honor, and William Majo was best man. Ruth and Winnie Maginnis were flower girls. Mr. Bennett is chief clerk to R. A. Eva, general agent of the Northern Pacific railroad.

There will be a meeting of the state board of directors of normal schools on Nov. 15 in Duluth, when the normal school building that is in process of construction will be inspected. One purpose of the meeting is to interest the leading citizens of Duluth in the school, and there probably will be a reception at the Spalding in the evening. It is expected the school will be opened about Sept. 1 of next year.

CITY-WIDE ADULT BIBLE CLASS CAMPAIGN CREATES INTENSE INTEREST; NECK AND NECK

The fourth week of the city-wide adult Bible class campaign has brought conditions which mean a real struggle for leading positions. The delegates at the big convention are interested in this city-wide campaign and plans are being made to duplicate the contest in many sections of the state. The plans are so adaptable that similar campaigns can be successfully carried on in city or town, or in rural sections. It is very likely that during the winter such campaigns will be conducted throughout all Minnesota. Where towns do not have a sufficient number of adult classes to warrant a campaign, it is planned that county-wide campaigns will be held, or districts within counties will enter into friendly rivalry, thus stimulating Bible study and aggressive Christian community work through Minnesota.

The American Small Town.

In writing this novel, manifestly Mr. Lewis planned to do a good turn for the average American small town by holding up a mirror before it in which it may see its dullness, its drabness, its monotony, its unloveliness. Well, he has done that, most thoroughly and most vividly. Whether it will accomplish any more than to irritate the dwellers in small towns, any one of 10,000 of which can easily imagine that "Gopher Prairie" is a pseudonym for its own name, we do not know. Certainly that's all that came of the heroine's efforts to uplift Gopher Prairie, the Minnesota town that is made the scene of the novel.

Carol Kennicott had worked in a public library in St. Paul, where she met the breezy, though commonplace, Dr. Will Kennicott of Gopher Prairie and married him. She went with him to the home town of which he was so proud and of which he bragged so much—as its other dwellers did. Through her the author voices his protest against the needless ugliness and monotony of the American small town; for Carol was dismayed by what she found, fought against it vigorously, was defeated, fell back for "self-expression" upon a stupid love affair with a handsome clothing dummy who worked in a tailor's shop and yearned feebly, and finally realized that she would have to make the best of her humdrum doctor-husband and his town.

But we most confess the belief that Carol must have been rather trying, if not morbidly objectionable and irritatingly pernickety; and one is strongly inclined to agree with her husband's diagnosis that she was "neurotic." And our sympathy certainly went out to her long-suffering husband, if not to Gopher Prairie, and with it our praise because of the restraint that prevented his taking her over his knee and applying a slipper where it would do the most good.

We by no means intend to suggest lack of originality—for there is none—when we say that the story has a dash of Turgenev and a trace of Zona Gale, with the mixture made a little less palatable than it should have been by a tincture of Greenwich Village.

The conditions and people treated are very lifelike, though a much fairer proportion might have been allowed to the honest and precious human values that are in them.

A Symbolic Cobbler.

A WORLD TO MEND. By Margaret Sherwood. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $2.

A man of wealth, education and a philosophic mind rebels, when something over fifty years of age, at a further continuance of the cloistered ease in which circumstances and training had kept him, and goes forth to place himself in useful contact with real life in an entirely new environment. He selects a little New England village and opens a cobbler's shop. There, as a stranger in the character of his calling, he struggles with the trade and discusses in a diary his customers and the problems of America and the world.

Although lacking something of the sunniness of David Grayson and his "Friendly Road," this diary is pleasantly reminiscent of that delightful masterpiece. The character of the cobbler is a notable achievement; he grows and expands under the stress of the tragedy of war and the problems of peace and through his keen eyes the reader sees the residents of the little town and shares his increasing absorption in the history of Jack Sands, American youth, and the family of "Billions" Brown—Katherine, her father and her irresistible grandmother. In the book there is romance, realism, a frequent play of humor and a steadily developing philosophy of the higher meaning of democracy. Very quietly but searchingly is discussed the social problems confronting us; especially the apparently hopeless one of how to keep alive in America in days of peace the spirit of self-sacrifice manifest in war.

Miss Sherwood has written a book that distinctly deserves of popularity.

Breeders of Jingoism.

THE AFFABLE STRANGER. By Peter McArthur. Boston: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.50.

Is there a growing distrust between Canadians and the British generally and the United States? If so, what is responsible for it? It was to find out that Mr. McArthur, a prominent Canadian writer, made a trip through the Eastern states and then proceeded to tell us what he did find that he wrote this candid and thought-provoking little book.

He found three general sources of irritation, and it will surprise many Americans to know that some of them were far from being accidental or unintentional. In his opinion, they are the press, the movies and the rate of exchange. Regarding the press, he quotes an American who, he writes, "controls or influences a great amount of publicity." This man said: "To tell you the truth we are making the most of the irritation for party reasons. * * * I know it is rotten and even dangerous, but we are forced to do it if we want to get the floating vote."

Then he interviewed in New York the head of one of the greatest film-producing concerns in the world regarding jingo movies. The picture man is reported as saying in effect: "Movie plays are a purely business proposition. It made him sick to have people talk about ideals and art in connection with them. If the people felt like hating anyone or anything, give them plenty of hate stuff and play it up as long as it fills the houses. It is not their business to educate. They are practical business men, out after money."

These are but two of a number of things Mr. McArthur found, most of them stamped with plausibility enough to arrest the attention of any American who is interested in his country and its relations with the English-speaking world. Mr. McArthur discusses in a philosophic vein a number of problems that are troubling the world and presents his conclusions with flashes of humor that make his book most entertaining and readable.

Melodramatic Fiction.

THE TURNSTILE OF NIGHT. By William Allison, author of "The Secret of the Sea." Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.90 net.

The story begins in a Calcutta opium den, where three Englishmen and a Chinaman plan the theft of rich jewels in a temple in the forbidden heart of Thibet. Out of this plan grows a thrilling plot, most of the scenes of which are laid in England, with subtle villainy in plenty to give trouble to hero and heroine and interest to the reader. Though rather on the old-fashioned Family Story Paper style, the story is well done and will interest those who seek mere diversion.

Bolsheviki and Emeralds.

THE DRUMS OF JEOPARDY. By Harold MacGrath. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday Page & Co. $1.90 net.

The fortunes of the "Drums of Jeopardy," the famous emeralds which bring in their wake a long history of crime and sorrow, with a murderous and fanatical Bolshevik pursuing their owner for personal as well as political reasons, is the somewhat unusual theme of Mr. MacGrath's new story. John Hawksley, a Russian with an English education and accent, is the owner and carries the jewels in a chamois bag around his neck. Pursued by the relentless Bolshevik and his agents he climbs through a window into the apartments of Kitty Conover, a newspaper woman and involves her and her friend, "Cutty," a famous international correspondent and government agent, in a thrilling romance. Good entertainment in MacGrath's best style.

A Sugar-Coated Lesson in Thrift.

BOSTWICK'S BUDGET. By Henry Payson Dowst. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"How the dickens can I save money when I owe everyone?" This was the question harassed Sam Bostwick asked a wealthy friend to whom he had gone to make another of a long series of loans that were never repaid. Sam was a good fellow with a fair salary, splendid health and fine friends, but both he and his wife were obsessed with the prevailing idea that the most important thing in life was to impress the neighbors that they were doing well, even though it kept them on the verge of bankruptcy. How the friend pointed out the fallacy of this position and helped Sam and his wife find their way to solvency and self-respect is told in a most entertaining way. The book is small and the cover so arranged that it may be mailed without further wrapping.

MUCH SOFT WOOD MADE INTO PULP

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several million feet of soft wood, excluding white and Norway pine, is being sent to the paper mills of Southern Wisconsin, which ordinarily would have been sawn into lumber. A drop in the price of lumber and the shortage of pulpwood, together with the fact that huge paper and pulp mills are being erected at Fort William and other Canadian cities in preparation for the day when Canada will forbid the exportation of pulpwood, are some of the causes. Spruce, balsam, poplar and even tamarack are being shipped to the paper mills. It is reported that about 4,000,000 feet of this kind of timber, which the John Schroeder Lumber company is cutting near Tula, Mich., is being put directly onto the cars and shipped to the Southern Wisconsin paper concerns, leaving nothing but the hard wood to ship to the Ashland mill, excepting of course the Norway and white pine. spruce, once the exclusive sourse of pulp for paper, is growing scarce and other woods have to be mixed with it.

It is presumed that when the Ashland mill of the Schroeder Lumber company starts on its winter run, shipments to the paper mills will cease with the present shipments.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SNOW CLEARING IS HIGHWAY PROBLEM

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—Snow clearing on important highways of the state is a problem of immediate attack and constant activity. Francis A. Cannon, secretary of the Good Roads Association of Wisconsin, said today in commenting on efforts of several counties of the state toward solution of the snow situation of the coming winter.

Milwaukee county attempted to keep its highways clear last winter, but because of the abnormal conditions of snowfall, efforts had to be given up after the middle of January. Nearly $25,000 was spent by the county during the time it maintained the clearing work.

Following the lead of Milwaukee, Sheboygan county got busy early and is going before the county board with proposal for a road clearing system. Beloit county citizens have been active in consideration of the problem, as have interested parties in Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh, Mr. Cannon said.

Must Begin With First Snow.

Unless the counties which are considering the proposition get busy after the first snow, he said, and maintain their efforts throughout the winter, little progress can be made, according to the secretary. It is largely a matter of keeping drifts cleared away, he said.

Connecticut and Pennsylvania are the only states that have attempted to clear their highways of snow. Their activity resulted largely from war conditions when it was essential to keep traffic of army trucks moving to shipping ports and to training camps.

In the long run a definite program must be laid out if the situation is to be handled efficiently, Mr. Cannon said. Snow fences and hedges are the only feasible method of keeping drifts from piling up, he declared, and in making the required outlay of money necessary to finance any program those most interested should pay the greater part of the expense if progress is to be made.

Present Wisconsin laws place the duty of keeping roads open on cities, towns and villages, according to Mr. Cannon. If they fail in their efforts a petition of fifty citizens may order their opening. He said that only an active interest on the part of affected parties would solve the problem.

GOOD ROADS AMENDMENT IS DECISIVELY CARRIED

Babcock Bill Adopted by 150,000 More Votes Than Were Needed.

Duluth and St. Louis County 10 to 1 for Amendment.

The entire state of Minnesota and St. Louis county especially, has reason to be jubilant over the results of the election. Setting aside all political differences there was one issue on which all parties united and carried by a large majority. That is the Babcock good roads amendment. According to the latest report from the headquarters of the Minnesota State Highway Improvement association, the amendment was carried by 421,662, or about 150,000 more than was required, basing the entire vote of the state on an estimate of 750,000, which is believed to be approximately correct.

St. Louis county was probably more interested in the carrying of the amendment than any other county in the state. It had already voted to issue bonds to the extent of $7,500,000 for hard surfacing state highways in anticipation of the adoption of the amendment and had already started the paving of the Miller Trunk road. Had the amendment been defeated it would have meant that the county would have had to pay these bonds through taxation. As it is now the state takes over the burden and with Federal aid will finance the cost of the 250 miles of paved roads which is contemplated building in the county, the automobiles driven to pay the cost through special tax.

St. Louis Leads Majority.

While reports are incomplete it is believed from the returns so far in, that St. Louis county gave the amendment the largest majority of any county in point of number of votes cast. With some precincts missing the vote in favor of the amendment ran 10 to 1. In the city it ran still higher.

What effect the carrying of the amendment will have on the local wheelage tax would not be commented upon by the members of the Duluth Automobile club. Still it was the understanding that in the event the amendment did carry, steps would be taken to urge the voters to repeal the local ordinance. The fact that St. Paul adopted a wheelage tax Tuesday by a safe majority, according to reports from there, may have some effect on the local situation. Claims of misrepresentation in the campaign from there are freely made, it is said, many of those who voted for the wheelage tax understanding that it would be void in the event of the good roads amendment carrying. The provision in the Babcock bill that the tax is to be "in lieu of all other taxes, except wheelage tax" was not explained, it is claimed.

Some Results Soon.

How soon the state will reap the result of the vote for good roads cannot be guessed at, although it is expected that some results will be attained inside of the next two years. The first step is for the legislature to determine the tax provisions of the bill which it is not believed will be reached until late in the coming session. What this tax will amount to has been estimated at an average of $18 a car. This will be determined by the legislature, however. In the meantime the state licenses will be carried over until this amount is determined. In other words the present state automobile licenses will be good until the state legislature passes on the bill and fixes the amount to be paid under the Babcock bill and gets the new machinery working.

One of the first pieces of road work that the state will undertake, according to the announcement of C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, last spring, will be State Highway No. 1. This starts at Albert Lea and runs north through the Twin Cities to Duluth and on to the Canadian boundary at Pigeon river. This will be of great benefit to Duluth which under this arrangement will be one of the first cities in the state to reap the benefit of the bill.

Another question that now faces the advocate of good roads is how soon and in what manner can Federal aid be obtained for these state highways.

The Federal aid act requires that road projects for Federal aid be initiated by the states. As a first step a statement is forwarded to the district engineer of the bureau of public roads, announcing in effect that the state proposes to build a piece of road of a certain type and length in a certain location.

This notice, known as a "project statement," is accompanied by an estimate of cost. The project statement is examined by the district engineer to determine whether the project complies with the Federal aid road act. If his decision is favorable, he forwards the statement to the Washington office with his recommendation. There it is examined by the chief engineer and his assistants, and if the latter concurs in the recommendation of the district engineer, the project is placed before the secretary of agriculture for his approval. Until the secretary has acted, no further action is taken by the state.

Averages Five Days.

Over half of the projects handled are passed by district officers in an average of five days—an illustration of the manner in which work can be expedited even where a large organization and complex procedure are involved.

Up to June 30, 1920, 2,985 projects involving a total of 29,319 miles of road, had been approved by the secretary of agriculture.

The preliminary estimate of the cost of these projects is approximately $384,900,000, of which approximately $163,841,000 will be approved as Federal aid. On the same date 2,160 projects, representing approximately 15,944 miles, had either been completed or were under construction.

Cost Is Large.

The estimated total cost of these projects in various stages of construction and completed is $200,000,000. The total cost of Federal aid work approved by the secretary in the nineteen months subsequent to the signing of the armistice, and prior to July 1, 1920, which is approximately $330,000,000, exceeded by $63,000,000 the cost of all road and bridge work done by states and counties in this country in 1915.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE AS INTERPRETED IN CHERRY BLOSSOM LAND

The special correspondent of the "Portager" in Japan sends us the latest "rules of the road," said to have been issued by the Japanese for the guidance of English-speaking motorists:

"At the rise of the hand of Honorable Policeman, stop with rapidness greatly. Do not pass him by or otherwise disrespect him."

"When a passenger of the foot hove in sight, tootle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still obstacles your passage, tootle him with large vigor and express by word of the mouth a warning, 'Hi! Hi!'"

"Beware of the wandering cow that he shall not take fright as you pass him. Do not explode the exhaust noise box at him. Go smoothly by."

"Give space to the festive dog that makes play-sport in the roadway. Avoid entanglement of dog with your wheel spokes."

"Go smoothingly on the grease mud, as there lurks the skiddy demon. Press the brake of the foot smoothly as you roll around the corners and save collapse and tip-up."

"Thank you honorably!"

NEW NASH SHIPPED TO DISTRIBUTORS

Sample cars of the new four-cylinder model are being shipped to Nash distributors throughout the country this week. In outlining the method of distribution to be followed, C. B. Voorhis, vice president and general sales manager, stated: "It will be our policy after each distributor has had his sample car to send sample cars to each one of the 1,800 Nash dealers in the country and we will not give any dealer or distributor a second four-cylinder Nash car until all Nash dealers have received their first sample car. The price of the Nash Four is extremely low for a car of its quality," said Mr. Voorhis, "which demonstrates again the ability of this organization to produce a fine product at a moderate cost."

While years were spent in the designing, testing and perfecting of the new Nash Four itself, the fact that the Nash four-cylinder car factory at Milwaukee is now entering regular production is looked upon as a distinct achievement. Just a few weeks more than a year ago the site occupied by the Milwaukee plant was a large farm. With the disappearance of the farmhouse and barns, construction of the first of the series of saw-tooth steel and concrete buildings was begun. Throughout the cold and snow of last winter work on the Nash Four plant progressed. Switch tracks were laid, long concrete receiving and loading platforms were built and by spring machinery of all descriptions began to arrive. Following the installation of the machinery, materials for the building of the Nash Four began to come in, and today, while a number of new buildings are still to be constructed, the Nash Four plant is in regular production.

WEATHER FINE FOR FALL TOURING TO SOUTHLAND

In spite of the unusual weather which has marked October through the Northern states, many motorists have been preparing for a trek to the Southland, not caring to risk the rigors of winter and the uncertainty of a coal supply. Some are preparing to camp by the wayside and have the fun and the exhilaration of roughing it, while others intend to head straight for their favorite resorts.

Elmer Terry of Pittsburgh is one of the migratory sort, and this year he is all set for a genuine outing. Accompanied by Mrs. Terry he recently drove to Michigan to have a look at the state where most automobiles are built, then headed for Texas. The Terrys have a complete equipment. In their touring car they carry a tent, stove, refrigerator, supply of food and clothing, and they do not intend to pay high hotel bills on the way.

GOOD RULES FOR TRUCK DRIVERS

Here is a set of rules for truck drivers on the care of solid and pneumatic truck tires, formulated by the technical department of the United States Tire company for the benefit of truck owners:

1. All truck tires have a load limit. Constant slight or occasional heavy overloads shorten tire life.
2. Distribute the load in the truck body so each tire will bear its proportionate share of the weight carried.
3. Overspeeding a tire has the same harmful effect as overloading. Keep truck speed within prescribed limits.
4. Know—don't guess—your inflation pressures. Proper inflation pressure is as important as proper loads and speeds.
5. Tires are limited in shock absorbing power. Careful, slow driving on rough or rutty roads will reduce tire costs.
6. Check your wheel alignment. Tires cannot give full service if subjected to the diagonal grind resulting from improper mounting or from misaligned wheels.
7. Chains and other anti-skid devices injure tires. Use chains only as long as the traction wheels are likely to slip, and apply them loosely.
8. Tires, especially pneumatics, are cut or scraped occasionally by bent fenders or improperly built bodies, when the loaded truck travels over rough places. Carefully watch the clearance of your tires.
9. Neglected cuts lower tire mileage. Trim off loose slivers fro mthe solid tires. Mend the small and repair the large cuts in pneumatics without delay.
10. Turn corners slowly to prevent tire strains. Apply power and brakes gradually to avoid useless spinning or locking of the wheels. Equalize the brake adjustment. These are common and avoidable tire abuses.
11. Running in car tracks causes tires to break down early. Avoid car tracks.
12. Learn the correct method of applying and dismounting pneumatic truck tires. Flap and tube should fit properly in casing, and casing fit properly on a dented, rusty or dirty rim.
13. To avoid unnecessary strain on pneumatic or flat spots on solids, lift the truck weight from the tires when the truck is to be idle any considerable length of time.

COLLAR BOX GOOD THING TO CARRY SPARE TUBE IN

Remember those pliable leather collar boxes, with the fancy pull-cord in the top you used to get in varied assortments for Christmas?

Well, here's a new use for them, suggested by the Gates Rubber company of Denver.

Use them to carry spare tubes in. Most of these fancy collar boxes are just about the right size and shape to carry the spare tube and will protect it from danger of breaking through coming in contact with some sharp tool.

The spare tube is carried by many motorists in the tool box where it quickly deteriorates. The constant pounding by sharp tools will punch holes in the tube. Oil and grease will cause it to decay.

COLD WEATHER SUGGESTIONS

Some Timely Hints for Care of Car This Winter.

In starting your car on a cold morning, when using only plain water in the radiator, assuming the engine is the same temperature as the outside atmosphere and that you use hot water to start the engine, be careful and do not use water that is too hot. Boiling water poured onto a cold engine block is liable to crack the block. It is better to temper the water a little before pouring it into the radiator. Even though warm water is poured into the radiator when the car is taken out on a cold day, drop the radiator cover so it will cover the entire front of the radiator, until you have gone about a mile or so, then, if the day is very cold, raise only the top half of the cover and you can proceed all day in this manner without danger of freezing the radiator or engine, if only short stops are made.

Use of Alcohol.

Denatured alcohol, from our experience, seems to be one of the most advisable of all anti-freeze agents. Following, you will find a table showing the percentage of alcohol you must mix with water to eliminate freezing of a water-alcohol mixture. For instance, in this table you will note that water freezes at 32 deg. above zero. With 5 per cent of denatured alcohol mixed with the water, the freezing temperature is reduced to 2 deg. When you have a mixture of 25 per cent alcohol in the radiator water, the mixture freezes at 5 deg. above zero. If you have a solution of half alcohol and half water, the mixture will stand a temperature of 35 deg. below zero before it will freeze enough to damage the radiator or engine.

Another good idea for starting a car in cold weather is to leave the hand lever down when you go away from the car at night. When you want to start the car in the morning pull up the hand lever and this separates the clutch discs (disconnecting the engine from the rear end).

In the event that you have not left your hand lever down, jack up one rear wheel and let the hand lever down in high gear (whether you start it with the crank or with the electric starter).

Radiator Repairs Expensive.

Radiator repairs are expensive and undesirable. A repaired radiator is never again quite as good as new.

If you happen to be driving along on a cold winter day and notice the steam rapidly accumulating around the front of your car, it is a sign that your radiator is freezing and that circulation is strangled or entirely cut off. Stop your car and engine at once and cover the radiator with a heavy blanket. Let the engine stand idle for some minutes, and you will notice, nine times out of ten, that the radiator will gradually thaw out, and you can start again. This advice holds good, with reference to damage to the radiator, and if you stop immediately, on seeing steam arise from the radiator. Most always damage is done to the radiator when it is permitted to get in such a condition that it steams.

An important reason why a hood and radiator cover should be put on and used carefully is that it keeps the engine at a proper temperature, vaporizing more of the gasoline and keeping it from running down the cylinders into the oil in the crank case. Aside from the gasoline you save, you will save oil, because the gasoline which is not vaporized in the cylinder soon spoils the oil, and you should have new oil or risk damaging the engine.

Chains Important.

Look after your chains. Be sure they are in good repair. Have them ready and in your car and at the first sign of snow or icy streets put on the chains. You can't afford to even have a near accident. Any real trouble on account of lack of chains surely offsets their price many times.

Even though your garage is cold, if you will take proper precautions, you can run your car the entire winter.

GRADE CROSSING WAR IS STARTED

During the past year 1,777 drivers and occupants of automobiles were killed at railroad crossings and 4,356 injured. The alarming frequency of such accidents has prompted manufacturers to wage a national "Watch out for the railroad crossings" campaign through dealer organizations, directing the attention of every driver to the danger of "taking chances" at grade crossings, and pointing out certain rules which, if adhered to, would reduce crossing accidents to a minimum.

The following rules should be observed:

Do not allow children to drive your car, or for that matter anyone who is not able to keep the car under perfect control at all times.

Examine your brakes, brake linings, and steering connections frequently, and keep them in good condition.

When approaching a grade crossing Slow down to ten miles per hour whether you see a train approaching or not—then you will be on the safe side.

If the approach to a crossing is up a grade, shift into low gear, which will prevent the possibility of your stalling your engine while on the tracks.

Look carefully in both directions before attempting to cross, and if your view is cut off in either direction by obstructions of any kind, by a string of freight cars on a siding, or what not, get out from your machine, if necessary, in order to make sure that the crossing is clear.

Above all, don't rely upon the supposed speed and power of your machine and attempt to "beat" an approaching train by racing across the tracks in front of it. Too many have tried this and failed.

You owe it to yourself, your family, and the occupants of your car to be careful at grade crossings.

LET'S WORRY ABOUT THE GAS SHORTAGE

The natives of Hawaii are experiencing no pangs due to a possible shortage of gasoline, according to an article in Scientific American. From the lowly and sticky molasses is being produced "motor alcohol"—a substitute for gasoline. Discovered by J. F. Foster, chemist of one of the big sugar plantations on the island of Maui, Hawaii, production within the next three months will be sufficient to furnish fuel for all cars on the islands should a gasoline shortage occur. According to the first reports of the new fuel brought to San Francisco, "motor alcohol" gives more power, greater mileage, easier starting and more freedom from carbon than gasoline. It can be used without an adjustment of the carburetor.

The new fuel is performing in automobile, marine, stationary, truck and tractor engines. In a thirty-six-hour test made with a seventy-five-horse power tractor the consumption of "motor alcohol" was four gallons an hour, compared with four and a half gallons of gasoline in the same engine on the same work. Examination of the cylinders showed most of the old carbon deposit removed and the remainder so soft it could be removed with the fingers.

Sugar plantations have been letting their molasses run to waste or burning it for the potash recovery. Nitrogen and phosphoric acid are also valuable by-products of molasses. Now, however, production of the new fuel is found to be more profitable than obtaining other by-products.

At present there is enough molasses available to produce 9,000,000 gallons of "motor alcohol"—enough to supply all automobiles in Hawaii. Development of this industry will release shipping space formerly used for transporting gasoline from the United States.

TIRES, LIKE EGGS, ALL LOOK ALIKE AT FIRST

Buying automobile tires is like buying eggs. All look very much alike—the bad ones look as good as the good ones, and the "no-name" tires as well as the product of which any manufacturer may well be proud.

The "gyp" tire may have all the beauty and symmetry of the nationally known tire and yet be made out of shoddy. It's not reasonable to believe that a motorist can get a tire "just as good" as a standard make for half the price.

The car owner who buys bargain tires is like the woman who bought a dozen eggs from a "friend" at 10 cents below the price her groceryman quoted. When she broke the shells, four of them were bad, so the eight good eggs cost her more than the groceryman's price for twelve good eggs.

In tire mileage, it's not first costs that count but costs per mile. Adding the cost of repairs to the purchase price and dividing by the mileage, will quickly convince even the most confirmed bargain hunter.

YEAR BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR ONE SEASON'S TOURING

Reports from all sections of the country indicate that 1920 will be the greatest touring year since the automobile was made a practical road vehicle.

People have found there is quite as much to be seen in domestic as in foreign travel, and are learning their own country through the automobile.

As a result of this desire to travel, and to camp by the roadside on occasion, automobile makers have found it necessary to build cars to carry baggage safely and at the same time not crowd the passengers.

ASSISTANT COUNTY ATTORNEY RESIGNS

Edward L. Boyle, Virginia, second assistant county attorney for the last eight years, announced his resignation today, effective at once. Mr. Boyle has been in charge of the range work of the office and is leaving to engage in private practice.

County Attorney Warren E. Greene said today that he had not yet selected a successor. "I regret very much that Mr. Boyle has resigned," Mr. Greene said. "In his work upon the range his high professional ability and personal integrity have permitted him to render a service to the people far more valuable than they probably realize. The distance is so great that I cannot give the range work my personal supervision and I therefore, have had to depend upon him. Over a period of eight years, this dependence has never been misplaced. The loss of his services will be a real loss to the range. He has shown himself an honest, able and fearless prosecuting officer. As I say, I deeply regret his going, but in view of the fact, that he will unquestionably be bettering himself financially, I have no right to object."

INDIAN SCHOOL IS NOT TO BE REOPENED

Tower, Minn., Nov. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hope of the Lake Vermilion Indian school near here reopening this fall went glimmering a few days ago when George W. Cross, superintendent of the Red Lake Indian reservation, came here and sold the livestock retained at the place since the school closed over a year ago. O. A. Wiseman bid in all the stock, eleven cows, forty-eight sheep and some young animals.

Members of nearby tribes of Indians, parents of children who attended the school and residents of this section generally asked the department to reopen the school and Congressman Carss did everything he could to induce the department to reopen the school, but decision not to do so appears irrevocable. The young Indians formerly attending the school are being sent to Indian schools elsewhere.

Fremling was formerly leader of the Buhl band and the Duluth Concert band and also played with the famous Duluth Third regiment band.

After the rendition of the selection yesterday Director Sousa personally congratulated Prof. Fremling and stated he hoped to play more of the marches in the future.

OCTOBER BUSY MONTH IN VIRGINIA LIBRARY

There were forty-six new books bought during October, forty for adults and five for the children. While 138 were withdrawn from circulation, seventy from the adults' department and sixty-eight from the children's.

On Oct. 1, the total number of books in the library was 22,085, and on Nov. 1, there were 21,994. Two hundred twenty-three new borrowers were registered during the month, the twenty-six days that the library was open.

The cause of the fire is unknown. It was first noticed early in the morning by residents who believed that the house was unoccupied.

C. W. Ramshaw, of Duluth, speaker of the day. The One Hundred and Twenty-fifth was largely recruited from the towns of the range and there are many veterans living in this section.

Great interest is being taken in the fact that former officers will do K. P. duty at the barbecue to be held either on the vacant lots near the Elks' building or at the curling rink.

BACK HURT ALL THE TIME

Mrs. Hill Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Removed The Cause.

Knoxville, Tenn.—"My back hurt me all the time, I was all run down, could not eat and my head bothered me, all caused by female trouble. I was three years with these troubles and doctors did me no good. Your medicine helped my sister so she advised me to take it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and now I am well, can eat heartily and work. I give you my thanks for your great medicines. You may publish my letter and I will tell everyone what your medicines did for me."—Mrs. PEARL HILL, 418 Jacksboro St., Knoxville, Tennessee.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

UNSETTLED; TEMPERATURE UNCHANGED

The weather man can take long chances during the greater part of the year and know that when fall comes he will be forgiven. The delightful weather he is handing out would cause one to forgive almost anything. Duluth's summers are delightful, but the falls are more so. Today is another of the regular brand. This morning the sun rose at 6:58 o'clock and will set at 4:45 o'clock tonight, giving nine hours and forty-seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Rains fell during Friday or last night over Wisconsin, Southern Minnesota, Iowa, Eastern Nebraska and Kansas, and rain or snow over Western Wyoming, Southern Idaho, Northern Nevada and Northern Utah, mainly in connection with a moderate low pressure condition centered over Southwestern Utah. Areas of high barometer overlie most of Canada and Eastern states. Temperatures have risen over the Mississippi valley and Southwestern states. A turn to colder has taken place over Alberta and British Columbia."

FRIENDS TELL HER HOW MUCH BETTER SHE NOW LOOKS

This Michigan Woman Suffered From Thin Blood But Found the Remedy She Needed.

"I was nervous, irritable and felt very miserable all the time," said Mrs. Elizabeth Bouck of No. 122 Maltby street, Jackson, Mich., who suffered for many months from general debility which so often results when the blood becomes thin. "My heart bothered me a great deal," she continued, "and it beat very fast. I had smothering sensations and suffered from shortness of breath. I did not sleep well and had nervous spells and severe headaches. I lost weight and had very little appetite.

"One day I happened to read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and I began to take the remedy. I gained some strength after taking the first box and I began to eat more. Then my color became better and there was so much change in my appearance that my friends told me how much better I was looking. My nerves became strong and I was able to sleep soundly. I have been well ever since I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I cannot speak too highly of them, for they have helped me so much."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood-builder and nerve tonic. The rich, red blood that they make not only carries color to the cheeks and lips and gives vigor to the muscles, but also revitalizes exhausted nerves and quiets the pains of neuralgia and sciatica.

Sufferers from nervous disorders who have been taking treatment without benefit should investigate the tonic method. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.

FRESH DROPS IN ALL GRAINS

New Low Levels in Wheat on Heavy Selling; Flaxseed Slumps.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 6.—The slump in wheat was even more precipitate in today's market as a result of renewed selling and absence of export or Eastern miller's inquiry. A further sharp break in sterling exchange placed a bar against operations on the part of exporters and the weakness was intensified by the catching of stop-loss orders on the way down. Closing prices were at the bottom of the session, and no rallying power was shown at any stage. December spring wheat closed 7⅝c off at $1.83, March 7¼c off at $1.86; December winter, 7⅝c off at $1.82 nominally; December durum, 7¾c off at $1.88¼, and May 8¼c off at $1.87¼ bid.

Rye was also under pressure. Spot rye closed 4¼c off at $1.60½; December, 4¼c off at $1.52½, and May, 6½c off at $1.50½ asked.

A new low price was set in oats at 48⅝c for spot, a drop of 1⅛c. Barley closed unchanged at 78-98c for spot.

There were on track for the day 245 cars of all grains, including: Spring wheat, 16; durum, 96; winter, 1; oats, 7; rye, 56; barley, 17; flax, 13, and bonded spring, 39. A further slowing up in the movement of grain from the country is feared on account of the recent sharp breaks in prices.

Flax Still Drops.

Flaxseed dropped to new low levels, with the market persistently sagging as a result of lack of demand from crushers, with a limited call reported for linseed oil. Stocks of seed being carried in the elevators are growing more burdensome.

November flax closed 5c off at $2.54 bid, December 6c off at $2.55 bid and May 6c off at $2.68½.

At Winnipeg, November flax closed 5¼c off at $2.59 and December 7c off at $2.57½. December oats closed on that market 1c off at 51¼c.

Logan & Bryan wired from Chicago: "Inasmuch as the weakness in stocks and cotton late yesterday was largely a reflection of acute monetary conditions, it is more than likely that the same situation will exert quite an influence on grain values. The outlook is becoming more in favor of lower prices."

Russell's News, New York, says: "Officials of the Australian Union workers declare trade unions will not handle the harvest unless they receive 60 per cent increase in wages. Farmers will probably endeavor to harvest their own crops."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Wheat prices broke sharply today because of general selling of all grains in small lots by commission houses. The weakness in exchange, with sterling quoted under $3.40, a new low on the movement, combined with the bearish construction placed on Julius H. Barnes' speech before the American Farm Bureau federation yesterday, were the main depressing influences. After starting 1c to 2¾c under yesterday's finish, with December $1.95½ to $1.96 and March $1.91½ to $1.92, a further weakness set in and carried prices lower.

The market continued bearish and closed near the low point of the day at a net loss of 5¾c to 8¼c from yesterday's finish, with December $1.90 to $1.90¼ and March $1.87 to $1.87¼.

Corn followed wheat, but buying against bids became a factor in checking the break, most of the support being around the May delivery. After starting ¼c to ⅝c lower, with December 82¾c to 82⅞c, the market rallied slightly.

Later a reaction took hold of the corn market under general selling and the close was about the inside figures of the day and week with prices on the deferred deliveries about the lowest on the crop. At the finish prices showed a net loss of 1⅝c to 2½c with December 81⅛c to 81¼c.

Oats were in sympathy with other grains, opening prices being ⅛c to ⅜c lower, with December 52½@52⅝c to 52¾c.

Provisions were dull and easier.

COPPER STOCKS ABOUT STEADY

Apart from weakness in Utah, the market in mining stocks was steady at New York today. Utah was under pressure and its market broke 87 cents to $58.62, but it later rallied to $59.12. Anaconda sold around the close 25 cents up at $51; Great Northern Ore, unchanged at $34; Inspiration, 50 cents up at $42.62, and Kennecott, fractionally off at $22.62.

* * *

Commenting upon the current situation in the mining stocks market, Skillings' Mining Review of today says: "The market has displayed better tone since the election and, it is believed by some of the best authorities, there would at this time be a big advance were it not for the money situation and the complex conditions which are bequeathed by the old administration to the new.

"There has been no particular change in the copper metal situation. There is some readjustment of prices in manufactured copper and brass and renewed buying of the metal may be expected when this is completed. The copper metal surplus is estimated to be well above 550,000,000 pounds. If the producers can manage to not add materially to it, this surplus will quickly fade with any demand which represents in fair degree the real needs of the world for the metal."

Stevens & Co. advises that the demand for all classes of good securities continues, with the better known industrials and public utilities in particular favor. They note a growing appreciation on the part of the investor of the real bargains now available. A distinct trend downward in the interest yield is reflected in the offering prices of recent issues. Stevens & Co. participated in the new issue of Arkansas Valley Railway Light & Power company first and refunding mortgage 7½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds due November, 1931, and offered at 96 and interest to yield over 8 per cent.

New Anti-Freeze Solution.

Dealers in accessories are turning to winter supplies for the car and among the numerous articles that are making their first appearance on the market are many different anti-freeze solutions. The latest for which great claims are made is Alco-lene, which is claimed not to freeze above 42 degrees below zero. It is also claimed it is non-inflammable and will not boil off and leave water deposits in the radiator. A number of local tests will be made of this new solution as soon as cold weather sets in.

Improve Cass Lake Road.

Camps are being built along the highway between Cass Lake and Bena by the contractors who have the contract for constructing this stretch of the Roosevelt International highway. Steam shovels will be used this fall and much of the work completed before cold weather sets in. This stretch of highway is through the national forest reserve and will be one of the beauty spots in this section of the state. Another road will be cut through from the Blackduck-Bena road to connect with the new highway.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Impairment of Values Due to Renewed Short Selling.

New York, Nov. 6.—Shorts renewed their selling of speculative stocks at the outset of today's short session, effecting further impairment of prices in the shipping, motor, oil, equipment, copper and food groups. Recessions running from fractions to 2 points accompanied the early offerings of Marine preferred, Atlantic Gulf, Pierce Arrow, Bosch Magneto, Willys Overland preferred, Harvester, New York Airbrake, Utah Copper and Corn Products. Pacific rails made moderate opening gains, but these were soon cancelled. Preliminary foreign exchange rates indicated further weakness in British, French and Italian remittances.

PREACHED FROM WHEELED CHURCH

The first church-on-wheels was inaugurated by the minister of a Methodist church in Kansas City, Mo. The venture was so successful—in that it trebled church attendance—that it resulted in a series of motor car sermons in different parts of the city.

During the summer months so many members of the congregation became delinquent and the number of motor cars passing the door of the church increased in such large numbers that the minister decided that he could not wait for the people to come to church, but would take the church to them.

Surrounded by a score of cars, he propounded his theme, "Spiritual Gas." He drew a line between the power of the mechanical motor and the church. Every church must have four speeds ahead, but no reverse, and in the past the membership had been running in low gear, he said.—Motor Life.

STORAGE BATTERIES OVERHEAT IF THEY ARE OVERCHARGED

The overcharged storage battery overheats, a condition which is anything but good for it. The active material in the plates loosens and falls to the bottom of the cells, causing the battery to operate at reduced efficiency. Although practically every car's electrical system is fitted with an automatic cutout to prevent such overheating, nevertheless it is often the case that this device does not stand guard over the battery as it should.

The safe way is to burn the lights, at least part of the time, when on a long drive. This helps to take the load off the battery and to prevent overheating. In view of this, perhaps when we see a motorist going along in the daytime with his lights burning we can consider that he is a wise driver instead of a careless individual who has forgotten to turn off the illumination of the night before.

DEFENSE WILL OPEN ITS SIDE

Liquor Conspiracy Cases Go on After Motions Are Denied.

Outlining the defense for the eleven alleged whisky runners, Attorney Victor L. Power in United States court today demanded that proof of a positive agreement to commit an unlawful act must be established by the prosecution in order to warrant any convictions by the jury.

"The indictment charges conspiracy," Mr. Power asserted. "It will not be enough if you should merely find it true that Longfield and any one of these defendants had some dealings in regard to liquor somewhere. You must find proof of a meeting of the minds, of a criminal partnership. Otherwise, it will be your duty to declare these men not guilty."

Mr. Power did not reveal the nature of the testimony to be given by the forty-three witnesses who will be called by the defense. He stressed the good character of the men on trial, however, and compared them with Longfield, the government's chief witness. Mr. Power made a casual reference, too, to contradictions in testimony given by the government's witnesses, and to discrepancies between the evidence and the allegations contained in the indictment.

Five Motions Denied.

Mr. Power's opening statement followed denials by Judge Page Morris of five motions made by the defense asking dismissal of the case. George H. Spear, who is representing John B. Clark, made four of the motions on behalf of all the defendants. Walter F. Dacey, attorney for John McKay, made a separate motion for dismissal of the case against his client.

Mr. Spear's contentions were as follows:

First—That the evidence presented was not sufficient to make out a prima facie case of conspiracy.

Second—That there was a variance between the testimony and the charges in the indictment.

Third—That, though the indictment charged conspiracy, the evidence showed only offenses already completed.

Fourth—That the indictment charged two separate conspiracies, one for carrying liquor from Eveleth to Duluth and the other for carrying smuggled liquor from Eveleth to Duluth.

The court gave his reasons briefly for the denial of each motion. United States Attorney Alfred Jaques was first permitted to present his objections to some of the contentions.

Must Go to Jury.

Mr. Dacey, speaking in behalf of McKay, contended that there was nothing in the evidence to connect his client up with the conspiracy. The court decided that the evidence was sufficient to go to the jury. In denying the motion, however, the court declared it true that the evidence was very meager in the cases against Earl Eckard and John Clayton.

Benjamin P. Myers of Minneapolis, husband of Mabel Myers, with whom Longfield admits having had intimate relations, was the first witness called by the defense. He testified to an affidavit Longfield had given him in order that Myers might obtain custody of a child of the marriage. Myers had been divorced from his wife ten years before. The witness stated that he had paid Longfield nothing for the statement, but had on two or three occasions lent him money, totalling about $50 or $60. Longfield had never returned the money.

MOTORIZED ORDNANCE HAILS COMING ERA OF HORSELESS ARMIES

Three remarkable pieces of motorized ordnance, practically the advance guard of the coming era of horseless armies, have now been produced by American military engineers. One of them is a three-ton tractor with the agility and speed of a galloping horse; another is a self-propelling three-inch gun mount of amphibious power, that fords a stream until its top is awash, and the third is a motor mount for a six-inch gun, using both kinds of treads and weighing complete only twenty-two tons.

The three-ton tractor, of the endless tread type, is peculiar for the spring suspension of its idler wheels. In each tread chain four rollers bear against the ground side, and four against the top, all hung on the ends of cantilever springs pivoted to the frame. The tread snakes its way over almost incredible obstructions, while the upper rollers take up the shifting slack caused by contour changes below.

Special waterproofing is the feature of the three-inch gun mount, and is later to be added to all the other motorized equipment. The eight-cylinder engine exhausts under water while fording, and the electrical fittings, including spark plugs, distributor and ignition, apparatus, are buried in waterproofing compound. The air intake is a vertical pipe running up to the top of the machine, and while its end is out of water, the engine will run.

Four large wheels on each side distinguish the larger gun mount, and they make the endless tread highly effective in climbing over obstacles. Thus equipped, the machine is steered by pulling a lever that releases a clutch on one side, and throws on a brake, each side having its own lever. For road use, however, the endless tread is removed, the two inner wheels of each side are drawn up by hand cranks, and the machine is steered with a wheel.—Paul H. Woodruff in Popular Mechanics.

Keep the Car Clean.

It is a sound method of procedure never to allow dust and dirt to collect in the top, in the interior, on the floor, in the upholstery, or upon any part of the skeleton of the car, says American Motorist. If the owner will remember that each spot of dust or dirt injures the car and shortens its career; if he will understand that one loose bolt, made so by grit and dirt, caused the collapse of the Quebec bridge, better personal attention will be given by him to the near godliness of cleanliness.

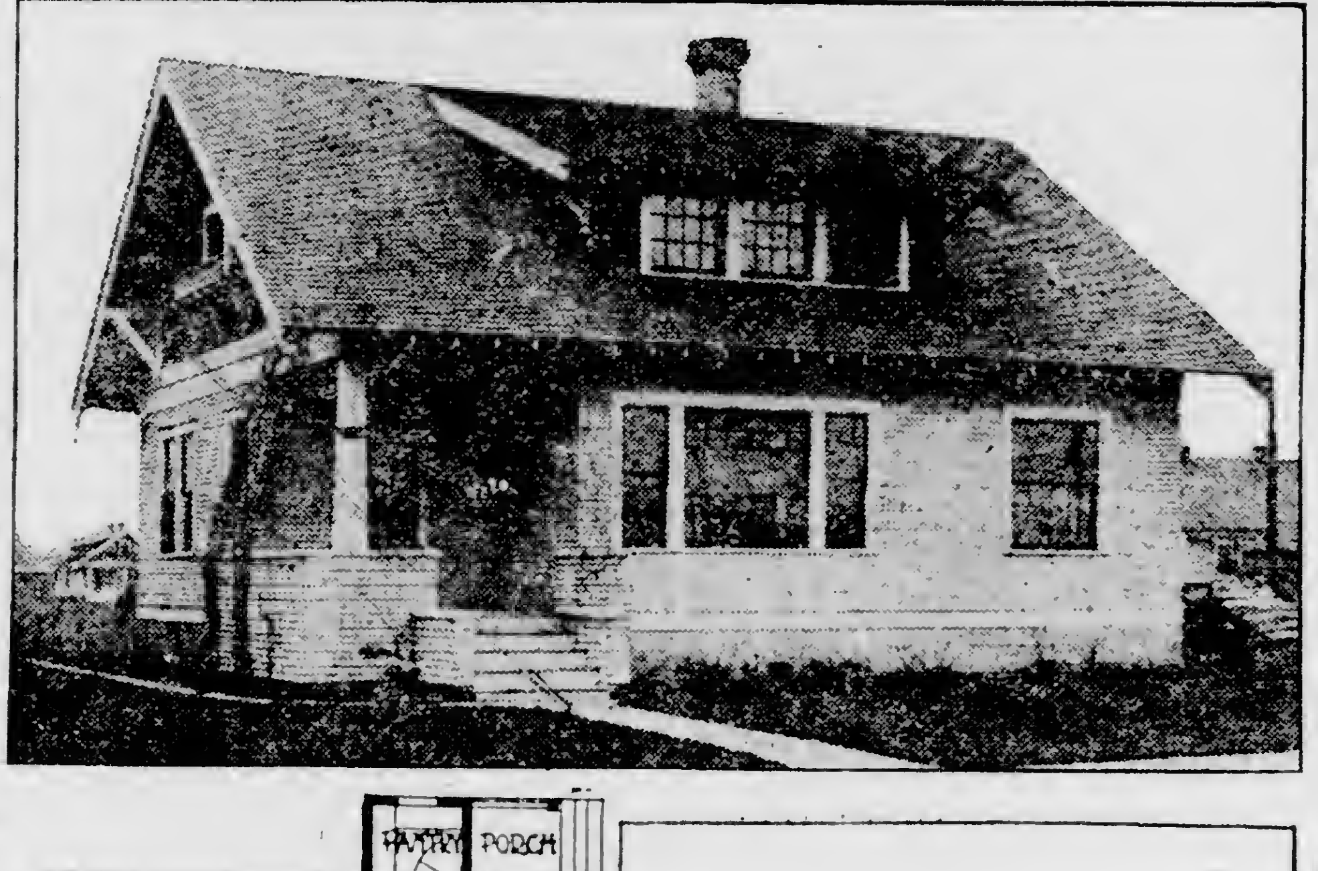
A SEMI-BUNGALOW TYPE

For Corner Lot



Here is a very attractive design for a six-room house. The kitchen, dining room, living room, bath and one bedroom occupy the first floor. A glance at the plans will show how every conceivable inch of space has been utilized to the best advantage. The dining room is convenient to the kitchen. The open stairway to the second floor lends beauty to the dining room. The large living room with vestibule opens onto a fairly large porch that could be glassed in very easily. If that was done it would add to the attractiveness of the house and at the same time tend to make it warmer.

The upstairs is divided into two large bedrooms, taking light from two sides. Ample closet space is given each room. An added feature that will appeal to the women is the cozy little sewing room at the head of the stairs. This little room is well lighted, as sewing rooms should be.

This house is so designed that it could be heated by the popular pipeless furnace with ease. The approximate cost of this house is $6,000, which, of course, would vary according to materials used.

LARGE SUMS FOR SCHOOLS

Plans Listed With Exchange; Morgan Park Houses to Be Rushed.

Permits issued at the building inspector's office during the last week included four for new houses, and ten for repairs and improvements to homes.

Architects asserted that they had considerable work on the boards and they are hopeful that the great bulk of the projects will go out for figures early in the new year. The proposals in the initial stage include several schools and other public buildings to be erected in the city and in towns over the district. Announcements of a number of proposals for schools to go up at Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin points were received at the Duluth Builders' exchange during the week. The list includes a high school at Aitkin, Minn., estimated to cost $175,000, a high school at Webster, Wis., to cost $175,000; a high school at Long Prairie, Wis., to cost $175,000, and a high school at Eagle River, Wis., to cost $150,000.

Building trade and commercial interests in the city were interested in the intimation that construction work at the Minnesota Steel company's plant is to be pushed during the winter months with a view to bringing the wire nail and sheet mills to completion by the early spring. It is understood that the force of men employed by the contractors will be greatly increased within the next few weeks. George H. Lounsberry, the contractor for the unit of houses now under erection at Morgan Park, has been instructed to rush the work through in order that additional housing accommodation at the plant may be available early next summer.

Duluth builders were gratified over the announcement by the sales department of a lumber company of a reduction of $2@4 a thousand feet from its list prices of white pine lumber. Reductions in prices of paints have been made recently and it is expected that substantial cuts will be announced shortly in quotations in steel products used in the building trade.

REAL ESTATE TRADE QUIET

Activity Checked by Election; More Inquiry for Farm Lands.

Real estate operations were curtailed during the last week as a result of the overshadowing influence of the presidential elections. A substantial list of transfers were, however, recorded, and realty men are generally optimistic regarding the outlook from now on through the winter months.

Operators specializing in farming lands have been in receipt of increased inquiry lately, and they are counting upon an influx of experienced farmers from other states up this way next spring. The possibility of obtaining improved and semi-improved farms with soils that are capable of producing heavy crops is asserted to be attracting more attention. Several sales of lands in St. Louis, Carlton and Lake counties were reported to be under negotiation and one operator asserted that he hoped to close up a deal shortly for a large tract of cutover land to be utilized at the outset for sheep raising.

Among the transactions closed during the week was the taking of a long-term lease by the Clinton Investment company of the fifty-foot frontage at 2107 West Superior street, now occupied by John Moir as a grocery store. It is the intention of the lessee to remodel the premises for use as a motion picture house, making another of the chain of amusement houses in Duluth and Superior operated by it. The Hoopes-Kohagen company represented the owners of the property in putting the transaction through.

* * *

The Field-Frey company reported the receipt of earnest money on the sale of a $13,000 residence in the East end.

* * *

Richardson, Day & Cheadle commented upon the active inquiry being received for building lots in the outlying districts. Several sales of acre-tracts were also put through during the week. The Craig-Gilbert company sold four building lots over the Duluth Heights and earnest money was received on the sale of a centrally located residence property.

LEGION ADJUTANTS TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—A conference of the adjutants of the forty-nine departments of the American Legion in this country will be held in this city Nov. 8 and 9. Among the things they will consider is the offer of the Knights of Columbus of $5,000,000 to the legion for the erection of a memorial building in Washington.

A plan will be worked out whereby the 20,000 veterans still in hospitals will be aided. Action probably will be taken on various Americanization ideas. The conference will be addressed by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the legion.

Why Street Cars Are Not Heated

The deferred heating of street cars this fall has not been due solely to the high price of coal and the necessity of economy with a 5-cent fare, as some of our patrons have assumed and seemed to think quite proper, but it has been made absolutely necessary by inability to procure a sufficient quantity of coal at any price.

If we should begin now to use the inadequate supply of coal we have so far been able to secure, it would be exhausted before the end of February.

Unless we are able to secure more coal immediately, it is the present plan to begin the heating of cars about December 1st, and with the coal now on hand and promised it could be continued until about March 18th.

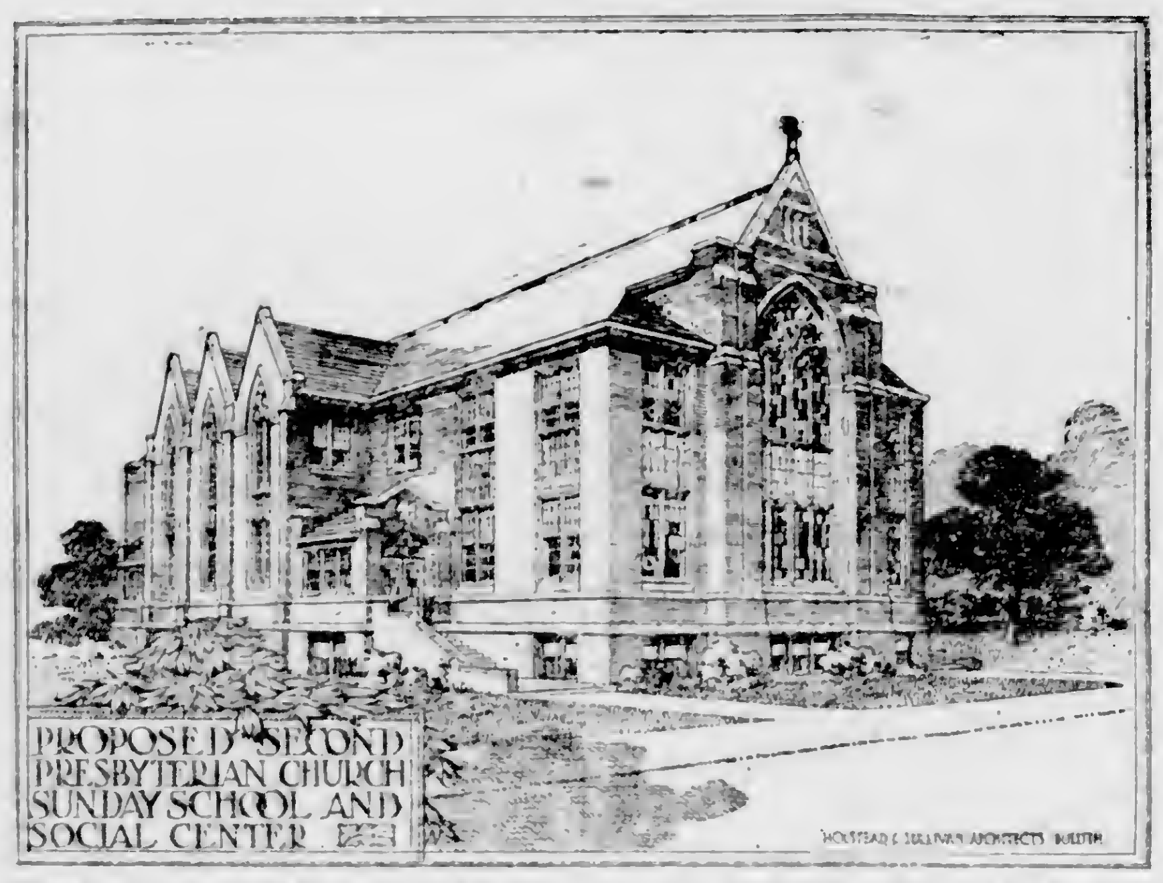
PLANS BEING DRAWN FOR PROPOSED WEST END CHURCH



PROPOSED SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL AND SOCIAL CENTER
HOLSTEAD & SULLIVAN ARCHITECTS DULUTH

Plans are expected to go out for figures next week for the new church to be erected for the Second Presbyterian church congregation on Second street, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues west.

The building will be of brick and is designed to be most modern in its various appointments. It will be 75 by 135 feet in size, and is estimated to cost $125,000. Holstead & Sullivan are the architects.

It is the aim of the building committee to make the church a community center. Located in the basement will be a gymnasium and reception rooms and Sunday school class rooms to afford accommodation for 1,300 pupils. The main body of the church will seat 750 persons.

CHURCH REPAIRED SO AS TO PERMIT SUNDAY SERVICES

It was definitely known today that the repairs on the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will be far enough advanced as to permit services to be held there tomorrow. This church was damaged by fire a week ago.

Services tomorrow will be at 10:45 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. The women's foreign missionary society will meet Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Setterberg, 320 Twenty-first avenue west. Services Tuesday night will be conducted in Masonic hall, Forty-fifth avenue east and Robinson street, Lakeside. The midweek prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Anna Dorland, 935 Garfield avenue, at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Complimented for Efficiency.

Frank H. Anderson of the Anderson Battery Service station, 2215 West First street, has received official commendation from a large battery manufacturer for the high efficiency which he got from their batteries while in charge of a large battery station at Newark, N. J., during the war. The letter states that it was only due to Mr. Anderson's care that these batteries achieved such a remarkable record. These batteries were subjected to the most severe tests and would have become useless in a short time had it not been for the care which they received.

ENORMOUS PICTURE PAINTED AT VATICAN

Rome, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Although the popes of today cannot afford to spend enormous sums on artists, sculptors and decorators as did the pontiffs of the Renaissance, Benedict XV is a patron of the arts, and has allowed two artists to have studios and work on the grounds of the Vatican. They are Quadroni, the sculptor, who at the pope's expense is modeling a more than life-size statue of the Cardinal Rampolla for his monument in the Church of Santa Caelia, and the artist Antonelli who is painting a huge picture of the promulgation of the codex of canon law.

The picture of Benedict XV seated on a throne, receiving from his co-worker, Cardinal Gasparri, the volumes containing the new codified canon law, representing fifty-two figures, all portraits of the ecclesiastic and lay court of the pontiff. There are to be seen ten cardinals, the pope's majordomo, Monsignor Tacci; his master of the chamber, Monsignor de Samper; the grand marshals, who have charge of great Vatican ceremonies and wear the picturesque Renaissance dress of ruff and doublet; the commanders of the noble guard, the Swiss guard, and many others, so the picture will have considerable historic interest in the future.

Round the enormous frame there are portraits of past popes who have specially interested themselves in the codification of the canon law, Pius X, Boniface VIII, Innocent III, Alexander II, Gregory IX and Benedict XIV.

The block of Carrara marble for Quadroni's statue of Cardinal Rampolla weighs nineteen tons, and the statue will be over six feet and nine inches high, with an angel in high relief behind it. The monument will eventually be placed in the Basilica of Santa Cecilia in Trastevere, which was Cardinal Rampolla's titular church, the lower part of which he restored gorgeously in 1901.

Benedict XV frequently visits the studios of both these artists, advising with them as to the work which they are carrying out for him.

PREACHER-NEWSPAPERMAN SAYS CHURCH PUBLICITY IS POOR; NEWSPAPERS WILLING TO HELP

The oft repeated allegation that "newspapers don't care anything about church news" will be given a threshing at the sixty-second annual convention of the Minnesota State Sunday School association at the First Methodist church tonight by Rev. J. Richard Olson of Minneapolis. Mr. Olson, who is church editor of the Minneapolis Journal, will give an address on "The Press in the Service of the Church."

"News is the newspapers' stock in trade," said Mr. Olson to The Herald today, "and while there does exist a varying degree of interest in the church among some papers, the fact is that a hundredfold more church news could be set before the public through the press, if the church but did its part to get it there. But no direct effort has been made by the church, in the various courses presented at denominational schools, even those preparatory for church leadership, to give training to its workers in developing a news sense, or a sense of news value. Even publicity bureaus of various denominations reveal that fact.

"The press can, and as a rule is willing, to help insure the church against the hazard of a misinformed, or uninformed public. Harsh judgments are often pronounced upon the church, because its judges are not informed. They may not come to the church, so the church must make an effort to reach them through the medium of daily and weekly newspapers. The news, therefore, that the church disseminates should be to inform its own members, and the public at large, to create interest for its cause, and inspire men to enlist in its service. No man was ever converted to a cause without first being impressed with something about that cause."

REV. J. RICHARD OLSON.

Mr. Olson has been in the pastoral work for several years, and served a term as chaplain in the Pacific fleet. Upon completion of postgraduate courses at the University of Minnesota two and a half years ago, he was asked to become church editor, and in that capacity devotes all his time to the church work of all denominations. He attends state and national conferences in the Northwest and Middle West states, and was in Duluth at the Northern Minnesota Methodist conference two years ago, and also the State Lutheran Young People's convention of Augustana synod in June.

FARM LANDS

It Will Pay You to Get Our List

CHEAP LANDS

We have some especially fine tracts of low priced lands. These lands are scattered, but are choice listings that we have picked up during the summer. Much of this land is well timbered, other tracts from 40 acres up are very suitable for farming purposes. If you wait to buy for speculation and with a view to farming it at the same time you had better consult us before you buy.

IMPROVED FARMS

Our improved farm list contains some of the best money-making farms in Minnesota. Several of these farms are the equal of any in the state. We have a selected list that we can recommend as big bargains—in some cases the selling price is hardly equal to the value of buildings alone. If you want a money-making farm, one that pays a big yearly income, select one of our underpriced improved farms. Tell us what you want and we will submit a few bargains.

TIMBER LANDS

We have sorted out some especially fine timbered tracts that will pay well to log this winter. The better tracts will go quick, so we would urge those planning on timbered lands to act now.

FUTURE DEPENDS UPON FOREIGN TRADE REVIVAL

American Business More Acutely Dependent Than Is Supposed.

Sale of Grain and Cotton Surplus Practically Impossible.

Depression to End When Europe Is Enabled to Buy Here.

By THEODORE H. PRICE,
Editor, Commerce and Finance.
(Copyright, Theodore H. Price Publishing Corp.)

New York, Nov. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The election has been held. Every right-minded American citizen will accept the result cheerfully and loyally whether he agrees with it or not. It is impossible to believe that the millions who voted for Harding meant thereby to favor a policy that would withdraw the United States from all participation in the world's affairs, or that a nation which has spent billions to relieve the world's suffering has over night decided that its helpful aid will hereafter be withdrawn from Europe.

Even if the referendum just held were to be interpreted in this way it would be impossible to give effect to its findings, for we live in a world where complete isolation has become impossible and our duty to our international neighbors is enforced by our dependence upon them. Those who are optimistic—and optimism is a public duty at present—therefore, continue to believe that a way will soon be found to resolve the political confusion in which our international relationships are involved into comparative order, so that our dwindling trade with continental Europe may be revived and the markets that we hitherto enjoyed there may be preserved to us. Upon the promptitude with which this is done the immediate future of American business is more acutely dependent than is generally appreciated, for until it is done the sale of our surplus grain and cotton production is practically impossible and the purchasing power of those who own this surplus will be held in suspense.

Decline in Currency Values.

It is now two years since, under the provisions of the armistice, the war was ended. It had been hoped that in the interval reconstruction would have made some progress, and it has. But as indicated by the value of their currencies, the economic condition of every European country, as well as of Argentina and Brazil, is less promising now than it was a year ago, when the money of continental Europe and the two greatest nations of South America was in every case worth in gold substantially more than it will bring today.

This statement is true of the neutrals, who are supposed to have profited by the war, as well as the belligerents. A year ago the Spanish peseta was worth more than 19 cents, as against 13½ cents today; the Dutch florin, 38 cents, as compared with about 30 now; the Swedish krone has declined from 22.65 to 19.05 and the Norwegian krone has suffered more severely, being quoted at only 13.38, as compared with 22.65 in November, 1919. Within the same period the British "pound" has declined from 4.16 to 3.41, the French franc from 11.13 to 6.10, the Italian lire from 9 to 3.56 and the German mark from 2.95 to 1.27.

Austrian crowns, which were worth about a cent each twelve months ago, will now bring only one-third of a cent. The paper money of the Argentine, which was at par a year ago, is now worth only 82 per cent of its face value, and the discount on Brazilian currency is 47 per cent, against about 20 per cent in November, 1919.

It is the world-wideness of this decline in the value of paper money that

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—The Wisconsin railroad commission, in decisions handed down today, grants permission to telephone, electric light and gas companies and street car companies to increase their charges. In each instance it was stated that present income was not sufficient to make the investment profitable.

The La Crosse Telephone company, which applied on Aug. 16 for authority to increase its rates, was granted a scale of $4.25 per month for business phones, $2.75 for residence phones and $6 per quarter for rural phones.

The Wisconsin Telephone company, operating at Lima Center, Corliss, Algoma, Mayville, Shawano, Juneau and Kewaunee, was given permission to increase its rates to $3 per month for business phones, $2 for residence phones and $2 for rural phones. The company's request for a $9-per-year switching rate was not authorized. A rate of $7.50 was granted. These same rates were authorized for the Wisconsin Telephone company at Evansville, Jefferson, New London, Port Washington, Waupun and Hartland.

The Portage Telephone company was granted increases on its application of July 26. The commission, in its decision, commented on the high standard of service given by the company and said that the rates were justified. Business phones will cost $48 per year, residence phones $27 per year and rural phones $30.

TOWNSFOLK EXPECTANT

Neighbors Are Confident Harding Will "Make Good" as President.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—President-elect Harding left on his vacation trip with a feeling that the big problems that will face him in his administration will be better tackled after a thorough rest and complete detachment from the atmosphere of politics in which he has for so many months been enveloped.

The president-elect leaves behind as expectant a body of townsfolk as ever sent a man to the White House. Those who have known Harding for years know his every fault and his every strong point are united in their expressions of confidence that he will "make good." They base it entirely on his happy faculty of making friends and keeping them. He has a splendid amount of tact and good taste. He makes people like him.

Nobody in Marion except, of course, the extreme hero worshippers believes Warren Harding to be a genius. He is looked upon, however, as capable of surrounding himself with good men and getting help from them.

All summer long he has had advisers galore and, while it is unjust to say he has been influenced altogether by outside minds, for on many occasions he has made decisions contrary to everybody else's advice, it is a fact that he has availed himself of such advice as he has thought good and rejected what he thought unwise.

"First Name" Administration.

Another thing: The next administration will be a "first name" administration. What does that mean? Simply that there will be scores of folks who will be able to call the new president "Warren," and there will be even more folks who will be called Harry or Dick, or Tom as the case may be by the president. For Warren Harding is one of those human persons who isn't expected to change when he gets into the White House. He will not change as so many presidents have on reaching the White House, if Mrs. Warren Harding has much to say about things—and everybody seems to be agreed that she will have a great deal to say. She has the happy way of

ACCUSE EACH OTHER OF KILLING RUNNER

Camden, N. J., Nov. 8.—Camden county police authorities will claim jurisdiction in the murder of David S. Paul, the Camden bank runner who, according to the police, was killed by Frank J. James and Raymond W. Schuck of this city.

Both James and Schuck, it was announced by the police, have confessed their implication in the killing of Paul. They are in jail at Mount Holly, Burlington county, in which jurisdiction the body of Paul was found. According to the alleged confession, the bank runner was killed in Camden county.

In the alleged confessions, James and Schuck accuse each other of killing Paul. Paul, who was on his way to a Philadelphia bank with $95,000 in cash and checks, had been invited to ride to the ferry in James' automobile. He was struck on the head and rendered unconscious and when he later regained consciousness he was dealt a death blow.

Body Buried Later.

The body, according to the alleged confessions, was hidden in a creek in the Jersey pines in Burlington county and nine days later the two men returned and dug a grave and buried it. Shuck's confession said he and James hurried their work and did not dig the grave deep enough, leaving a mound where the body was covered over. It was this that a party of farmers out hunting saw and, thinking someone had buried a deer, dug it open and revealed the murder.

Shuck, the police say, told where the money was buried, and most of the $65,000 in cash was found hidden in Evergreen cemetery here.

ALL OFFICIAL MATTERS TO BE PLACED ASIDE

Harding Determined to Give Himself Over to Complete Rest.

Will Not Have Conference With Mexicans as Has Been Intimated.

On Board Harding's Special Train, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Coming to Texas for a vacation after the trying requirements of his campaign, President-elect Harding declared today that he was determined to put the thoughts of his coming responsibilities out of his mind and to give himself over for the next two weeks to rest and recreation.

From the time of his arrival at Point Isabel, a remote village on the Southern Texas coast, he was ready to plunge unreservedly into the swing of a real vacation. A morning's fishing expedition and an afternoon on the golf links were to constitute his routine virtually every day of his visit.

The fact that Point Isabel lies only six miles from the Mexican border has given rise to many whisperings of possible conferences between the new president-elect and representatives of the new regime in Mexico, but those closest to Mr. Harding were inclined to throw cold water on such reports. Mr. Harding himself said today no such conferences were "in prospect" and he had heard them expressed only in newspaper speculation.

The same attitude was taken by the president-elect toward published suggestions that he might begin, before his inauguration, informal conversations with European governments regarding the formulation of an association of nations.

Wants Vacation Undisturbed.

Not only does he want his vacation undisturbed, but he has said in public utterances that he desired to have no negotiations with foreign agents until he actually had come into authority.

The delicacy of Mr. Harding's position in that regard has been pointed out more than once by those closely associated with him. Elected to the presidency by an overwhelming majority after promising many changes in the nation's foreign policy, he naturally is looked to by foreign governments to take the proper steps to put these changes into effect. Yet, by a proviso of American law, unique among the greater powers of the world, he remains a private citizen for four months, forbidden by a diplomatic propriety to take any hand in the direction of executive affairs.

At a time when important international problems are pending not only with the powers of the old world, but with Mexico, Japan, China and other nations, this situation takes on additional interest. It is understood that several men representing themselves either truly or falsely, as the spokesmen of foreign statesmen, attempted to gain interviews with Mr. Harding even before his election, but his headquarters officials say all of them were turned away.

Will Sail Nov. 18.

President-elect Harding will sail from New Orleans Nov. 18 for the canal zone on board a United Fruit company steamer, it was learned today. Returning, he will be landed at Norfolk Dec. 4.

Arrangements have been made whereby the ship he is to take from New Orleans will remain over one day from her scheduled sailing date to accommodate Senator Harding and his party, now placed at thirty-five persons. The stop at Norfolk also will be by special arrangement.

WOMAN KILLED BY OFFICER'S BULLET

New York, Nov. 8.—The funeral today of young and pretty Mrs. Dolarato Difulco was one of the handsomest that the East side has seen in a long time. And next to Frank Difulco, her war hero husband, perhaps the most disconsolate of the mourners who followed the flower-banked hearse, with its six snowy horses, was Patrolman Jim Kenny, by whose hand she had been accidentally killed.

Dolarato—herself a Red Cross worker during the war—left her new baby Saturday to go on a short errand. As she crossed the street, a bullet fired by Patrolman Kenny at a thief who had stolen a carton of cigarettes, struck her down.

Aghast, the patrolman had the dying woman rushed to a hospital, but she never regained consciousness. Then, to soften the blow as much as he could for Frank—and to ease his own breast—Kenny started a subscription to provide for the funeral and leave a nest egg for the motherless baby.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—At the request of the government, the conspiracy case against 125 soft coal miners and operators of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania was continued when called in United States district court of Judge A. B. Anderson this morning.

Judge Anderson then immediately started upon his investigation of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer's connection in the case, at one time declaring "I'm going to find out whether the attorney general can hamstring a case in this court." Dan W. Simms of Lafayette, Ind., who recently resigned as special assistant district attorney in the case, was the first witness called in the investigation.

ASK INDICTMENTS FOR MEN IN WHISKY RING

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The Federal grand jury investigating alleged whisky rings in Chicago and other cities today considered the evidence it has obtained. It was estimated that between seventy-five and 100 indictments might be returned. Meantime Federal officials asked warrants be prepared for all the men against whom indictments were expected.

It was understood today that Federal authorities had wired to Washington asking that no passports be issued the men expected to be indicted, information having been obtained that several of the men were planning to leave for Cuba.

BUYS WHOLE VILLAGE TO HELP HOUSING SITUATION

FRANK A. VANDERLIP.

Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker, has purchased the entire village, it became known yesterday, and in order to relieve the housing situation in this section, he announced plans for the erection of twenty modern tenement houses and several other new buildings. Some of the old dwellings will be torn down and others renovated.

APPEAL FOR RED CROSS

President Wilson Urges All to Join the Membership.

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Wilson today urged his "fellow countrymen" to join the Red Cross "in impressive numbers" during the fourth annual roll call to be held during the fortnight beginning Armistice day.

"The American Red Cross," said the president, "deserves a hearty response to its fourth invitation to annual membership, which will be issued during the fortnight beginning Nov. 11, Armistice day.

"Under the stimulus of war and through the co-operation of our people, this organization grew into immense size, enlarged its range of activity, served not only our fighting forces but also civilians involved in the hardships of war in our own nation and in the nations associated with us in a great common enterprise, and gave to the world an example of effective mercy through co-ordinated effort.

"Since the cessation of hostilities the organization has faced a dual duty. First, to fulfill obligations created by the war, and secondly, to adapt its experience and machinery to the needs of peace.

Still at Work.

"It is, today, still assisting governmental agencies in the care and cheer of our disabled soldiers and sailors, in replacing those able to work in civilian occupations, and in counseling and aiding the families of former combatants; and it is still assisting, with diminished resources, the process of rehabilitation in some of the more prostrated countries of our former associates.

"While continuing these manifest obligations, the Red Cross has been accommodating methods and applying lessons learned in war to the normal needs of our own people in times of peace, especially in regions where provisions for public health and welfare were imperfectly developed. It has placed public health and nurses in many localities, and has endeavored

MEXICAN STEVEDORES REJECT AGREEMENT

Vera Cruz, Nov. 8.—Striking stevedores and dock workers here have refused to accept the agreement reached at Mexico City on Friday by representatives of the chambers of commerce and industry and the Shipowners' association with Provisional President De La Huerta. They have issued a call for a special strike to begin today and it is said the move will be supported by a sympathetic strike by railroad men.

Orders for a general strike have been received from Mexico City. This movement was begun months ago and preparations were made for a general walkout which would be nation-wide in effect. It was to begin Nov. 18, but the strike of dock workers here hastened final action.

The agreement reached at Mexico City called for an armistice of sixty days, during which time new contracts would be presented the working men.

PRESIDENT WORKING ON ANNUAL MESSAGE

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Wilson has begun work on his annual message to congress which will be transmitted either on the opening day of the next session on Dec. 6 or on the day following.

The White House officials said today they had no information as to what recommendations the president plans to make to congress, but administration officers expect that among other things he will again urge enactment of a number of reconstruction measures which he recommended at the first special session of the present congress early last year.

This week the president will receive three Latin-American diplomats who have arrived in Washington within the last few weeks. They are Emilio Joubert, minister from San Domingo; Dr. Julio Bianchi, minister from Guatemala, and Dr. Octavio Beeche, minister from Costa Rica.

Constitutionalists Successful.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Municipal elections at Milan, Naples, Bari, Palermo, Pisa, Genoa and Florence were held yesterday and Constitutionalist candidates were successful at all these cities.

DEFENDANTS DENY EVER SEEING LONGFIELD BEFORE

Trudell and Mitchell on Stand in Liquor Conspiracy Case.

Taxi Driver Accused Them of Delivering Whisky to Him.

Defendants in the liquor conspiracy case, on trial in United States court called to the witness stand today, termed Fred Longfield's testimony an utter fabrication.

Joseph Trudell and H. L. Mitchell, brakeman on the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific, from whom Longfield claimed to have purchased whisky smuggled from Port Arthur, flatly denied ever having seen the government's chief witness previous to the opening of the trial.

Further, they disclaimed acquaintanceship with any of the other eleven defendants except John Clayton, conductor of their train. They denied having known William Cahill, proprietor of the Park hotel at Eveleth, and alleged go-between in dealings involving importation of the whisky from Canada and its sale in Duluth and Northern Wisconsin.

Where Mitchell Comes In.

Longfield's testimony included three incidents in which both Mitchell and Trudell were mentioned. On one occasion, Longfield testified, the two defendants drove to Eveleth in Mitchell's automobile and then took Longfield to a place in the woods near West Virginia where nineteen cases of liquor were secreted. This was on May 6. Within the next three days Longfield claimed that he made two trips to Mitchell's home and obtained more liquor.

In reply, the defendants used train records introduced by the government to show that on May 6 neither of them were near Virginia. Their work on that day took them around Fort Frances and Rainier. Mitchell admitted, however, that from May 7 to May 11 he was sick at home.

W. J. Archer of Virginia, attorney for both defendants, in examining the witnesses, brought out the fact that the construction of D., W. & P. tracks would make it impossible for anyone to walk alongside the moving train and obtain liquor handed down by someone in the box cars. The tracks are built on a grade so that cases could be delivered only by dropping them down a steep embankment of about twenty feet while the train was moving. Near West Virginia, Trudell said, the train goes along at the rate of only about three miles an hour for a short distance because of the steepness of the grade.

Was on Train.

Mitchell admitted being one of the

MINISTER'S CASE IS BEFORE INQUEST

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 8.—Whether Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, minister and prohibition enforcement leader, must stand trial for the slaying of Beverly Trumble following a raid on the latter's inn Saturday may be known tonight. The inquest into Trumble's death, begun Saturday night and adjourned early Sunday morning, was continued here today. Adjournment was taken to permit officers to search for a man named "Ed Smith" who is said to have seen the shooting and who is expected to testify whether Trumble was armed when he was killed.

Rev. Mr. Spracklin was in Chatham, Ont., today. He was spirited from the jail here early yesterday morning when officers heard rumors that an attempt at violence was being planned by certain friends of Trumble.

Feeling ran high in the border towns Sunday. Much was made of statements by Spracklin at the inquest that he and his men entered the hotel through a window when they learned a fight had taken place inside the building. Previous to the inquest Spracklin had been quoted as saying he and his men entered the place through the front door.

FRENCH PREMIER ON FOREIGN POLICIES

Paris, Nov. 8.—France has shown the same ardor in her work of reconstruction as she did in the war, and has successfully crossed the passage from war to peace, which is always difficult for victors, says Premier Leygues in an interview in the Petit Parisien. Discussing his foreign policy, the premier declares the government will seek to maintain and strengthen its alliances, and will examine in utmost sincerity of spirit all questions arising between France and Germany.

He expressed belief that the League of Nations must become a great force and a strong barrier against return of imperialism and militarism. He declares the government's program is so to enforce execution of the Versailles treaty that national reconstitution and the organization of work and production may be advanced.

PRIEST SAYS STORY PURE FABRICATION

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—The story sent Nov. 6, quoting Rev. Thomas R. Carley of St. John's, Mich., as proposing a plan to forestall another attempt to abolish private and parochial schools by legislative enactment, was characterized by Father Carley as a pure fabrication.

Father Carey, who is spiritual director of the Detroit diocesan union of the Holy Name society, said he had made no such statement and that he had no authority to make any statement of policy such as the one in question.

A proposed amendment to the state constitution that would abolish parochial and private schools was defeated in last Tuesday's election.

ARMENIA IS IN SOVIET HANDS

Troops Either Surrendering to Bolsheviki or Fleeing to Georgia.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Armenia is passing under Bolshevik control, it is said in reports from Tiflis. Turks and Bolshevik Tartars have effected a junction at Alexandropol, and it is probable the city of Erivan has been occupied by Turkish troops commanded by Kazio Kaarabekir Pasha.

Armenian troops are reported to be surrendering or seeking refuge in Georgia.

The Russian Bolsheviki, Sebastopol reports say, are sending units from three armies in the Crimean region to Baku and Trans-Caucasia for the purpose, it is declared, to give the troops a period of rest, and to arrange for a redistribution of forces in the Asiatic campaign.

Fighting Resumed.

Warsaw, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fighting has been resumed between Lithuanian troops and the Polish "volunteer" army commanded by Gen. Zellgouski. An official statement from Gen. Zellgouski's headquarters declares the Lithuanians, without replying to a proposal for negotiations, attacked the Poles near Giedrojcie, north of Vilna, forcing Gen. Zellgouski's forces to retreat. They later launched a counter-attack, capturing eighty prisoners, who included one German and one Chinese.

Polish newspapers estimate more than 50,000 Germans, some in uniform, have passed through East Prussia to Lithuania the last few weeks. German newspapers have reported fully equipped German contingents marching to Lithuania with their light artillery, sending heavy artillery thither by rail.

Wrangel Holds Isthmus.

Constantinople, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Russian anti-Bolshevik forces under command of Gen. Baron Wrangel still safely hold Perekop and Salkovo, keys to the isthmus leading from Crimea to the mainland of Russia. Military observers declare Gen. Wrangel has many long-range 10 and 12-inch guns and other heavy pieces planted to protect his lines from the Bolsheviki, who are concentrating their artillery forces. Along the seven-mile trench system across the isthmus Gen. Wrangel has established elaborate barbed wire entanglements.

It is believed probable the campaign during the next few weeks will be restricted to artillery battles, unless Gen. Wrangel decides to attack the Bolsheviki.

It is recognized Gen. Wrangel's withdrawal to Crimea from Taurida has created bad moral and political effects. Moscow is spreading news of his defeat throughout Islam and the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor talk of awaiting the results of the coming winter before treating with the Allies. Events in India are being watched with particular intentness by the Nationalists.

The impending winter is dreaded in Crimea, where 2,000,000 people, with only limited food, little clothing and virtually no money, have gathered. A dollar is worth 50,000 rubles at present in Sebastopol.

HUNGER STRIKERS ON NINETIETH DAY

Cork, Nov. 8.—Reports from the Cork jail today described the condition of the nine remaining Irish hunger strikers there as precarious. Although this was the ninetieth day of their strike, the emaciated prisoners were declared to be still determined to refuse food.

There were originally eleven of the Cork hunger strikers, but one of them, Michael Fitzgerald, died Oct. 17, and another, Joseph Murphy, on Oct. 25, within a few hours of the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork in Brixton prison on the seventy-third day of his hunger strike.

Kills Wife and Self.

Harrisburg, Ill., Nov. 8.—Clyde Miner, 24, a prominent farmer, yesterday shot and killed his wife, wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Fields, who is expected to die, and then killed himself. No cause for the act is known.

COURT MAKES RULING ON THE VOLSTEAD ACT

Booze Lawfully Acquired for Personal Use Subject of Ruling.

Declares Congress Did Not Intend to Prevent Lawful Storage.

Release of "Nicky" Arnstein Ordered in Reversing Lower Court.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Liquor lawfully acquired by a person for his personal use may be stored in a place other than his home, under a ruling today by the supreme court.

The court's decision was on an appeal brought by William G. Street of New York city from lower court decrees refusing an injunction prohibiting Federal prohibition officers from seizing liquor which he had stored in a room leased from a safe deposit company. The court declared congress did not intend to prohibit such storage when the liquor was lawfully acquired for a lawful purpose.

The decision was made by Associate Justice Clarke. The lower court in upholding the portion of the enforcement act interpreted by prohibition enforcement officials as prohibiting storage except in the home, held that congress under the police power delegated by the prohibition amendment had authority to prohibit any transportation of liquors and that in order to reduce the necessity for transportation to a minimum, it had the power to legislate as to the places where liquor might lawfully be possessed.

Justice Clarke also held that the transportation of lawfully acquired liquor from a warehouse to the home of the owner did not constitute "transportation" within the meaning of the enforcement act.

Arnstein Ordered Released.

Reversing the Federal district court the supreme court today ordered the release of Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein, who has been imprisoned in New York since Aug. 10, on charges of contempt following his refusal to answer questions put to him in a bankruptcy hearing. Arnstein's name was connected with operations of an alleged "ring" of bond thieves in New York.

Injunctions restraining the iron moulders' union, local No. 78, from interfering with the business of the Niles tool works company, Hamilton, Ohio, were refused today by the supreme court.

RIGHTS OF WIDOW OF DEAD KING AT STAKE

Athens, Nov. 8.—The question of legal rights of Mme. Manos, morganatic wife of the late King Alexander, seems likely to create some difficulty, according to leading jurists.

Her attorney asked the court to remove the seals from the apartments of the dead king, asserting Mme. Manos, through her marriage and also because of her approaching motherhood, would legally inherit Alexander's property.

An attorney for Former King Constantine asked the court to suspend action until he had time to institute action in opposition. He declared Constantine intended to contend the marriage of Mme. Manos and the late monarch was invalid and that Alexander's property should pass to his father and brothers.

Should Constantine take legal action the jurists point out, it would constitute an admission that he is no longer king of Greece, as the chief of state, being the dispenser of justice cannot appeal to the courts. There is some speculation here as to the status in the dynasty of the child to be born by Mme. Manos if her marriage should be declared valid.

Delegates Arrive.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Italian and Jugo-Slav delegates who will seek a settlement of problems arising from the future disposition of territories on the eastern shore of the Adriatic have arrived at Santa Margherita near Genoa and conversations will begin today.

CONSPIRATORS IN COAL LOSE

Court Holds Section Nine of Lever Act to Be Valid.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 8.—Defendants in the coal conspiracy criminal cases in the United States court at Indianapolis today lost their case in the Federal court here in which they sought to enjoin officers of the government from removing and prosecuting them at Indianapolis on the ground that section 9 of the Lever act was unconstitutional.

Judge Louis Fitzhenry today filed his opinion in the case of the Hillsboro Coal company, where Rice Miller and Herman C. Perry, two of the Indianapolis defendants, are affected, holding that section 9 of the act is constitutional and valid and that the attorney general and district attorneys are acting within their powers. He also holds that this statute is aimed at all conspiracies to enhance the price of coal within or without the coal industry.

The cases were argued in Springfield a few weeks ago.

The decision affects twelve cases in Chicago, about the same number in St. Louis and several other cases pending in other parts of the central competitive bituminous coal field. Attorneys on both sides had entered into a stipulation that the case which was decided today shall control in the other cases.

FUTURE DEPENDS UPON FOREIGN TRADE REVIVAL

American Business More Acutely Dependent Than Is Supposed.

Sale of Grain and Cotton Surplus Practically Impossible.

Depression to End When Europe Is Enabled to Buy Here.

By THEODORE H. PRICE,
Editor, Commerce and Finance.
(Copyright, Theodore H. Price Publishing Corp.)

New York, Nov. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The election has been held. Every right-minded American citizen will accept the result cheerfully and loyally whether he agrees with it or not. It is impossible to believe that the millions who voted for Harding meant thereby to favor a policy that would withdraw the United States from all participation in the world's affairs, or that a nation which has loaned billions to relieve the world's suffering has ever night decided that its helpful aid will hereafter be withdrawn from Europe.

When if the referendum just held were to be interpreted in this way it will be impossible to give effect to its findings, for we live in a world where complete isolation has become impossible and our duty to our international neighbors is enforced by our dependence upon them. Those who are optimistic—and optimism is a public duty at present—therefore, continue to believe that a way will soon be found to resolve the political confusion in which our international relationships are involved into comparative order, so that our dwindling trade with continental Europe may be revived and the markets that we hitherto enjoyed there may be preserved to us. Upon the promptitude with which this is done the immediate future of American business is more acutely dependent than is generally appreciated, for until it is done the sale of our surplus grain and cotton production is practically impossible and the purchasing power of those who own this surplus will be held in suspense.

Decline in Currency Values.

It is now two years since, under the provisions of the armistice, the war was ended. It had been hoped that in the interval reconstruction would have made some progress, and it has, but as indicated by the value of their currencies the economic condition of every European country, as well as of Argentina and Brazil, is less promising now than it was a year ago, when the money of continental Europe and the two greatest nations of South America was in every case worth in gold substantially more than it will bring today.

This statement is true of the neutrals, who are supposed to have profited by the war, as well as the belligerents. A year ago the Spanish peseta was worth more than 19 cents, as against 13½ cents today; the Dutch gulden 36 cents, as compared with about 30 now; the Swedish krone has declined from 23.65 to 19.05 and the Norwegian krone has suffered more severely, being quoted at only 13.38, as compared with 22.65 in November, 1919. Within the same period the British "pound" has declined from 4.16 to 3.41, the French franc from 11.13 to 6.16, the Italian lire from 9 to 3.56 and the German mark from 2.95 to 1.27.

Austrian crowns, which were worth about a cent each twelve months ago, will now bring only one-third of a cent. The paper money of the Argentine, which was at par a year ago, is now worth only 82 per cent of its face value, and the discount on Brazilian currency is 47 per cent, against about 25 per cent in November, 1919.

It is the world-wideness of this decline in the value of paper money that

HIGHER RATES ARE GRANTED

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—The Wisconsin railroad commission, in decisions handed down today, grants permission to telephone, electric light and gas companies and street car companies to increase their charges. In each instance it was stated that present income was not sufficient to make the investment profitable.

The La Crosse Telephone company, which applied on Aug. 16 for authority to increase its rates, was granted a scale of $1.25 per month for business phones, $2.75 for residence phones and $1 per quarter for rural phones.

The Wisconsin Telephone company, operating at Lima Center, Corliss, Algoma, Mayville, Shawano, Juneau and Kewaunee, was given permission to increase its rates to $3 per month for business phones, $2 for residence phones and $2 for rural phones. The company's request for a $9-per-year switching rate was not authorized. A rate of $7.50 was granted. These same rates were authorized for the Wisconsin Telephone company at Evansville, Jefferson, New London, Port Washington, Waupun and Hartland.

The Portage Telephone company was granted increases on its application of July 26. The commission, in its decision, commented on the high standard of service given by the company and said that the rates were justified. Business phones will cost $48 per year, residence phones $27 per year and rural phones $30.

TOWNSFOLK EXPECTANT

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—President-elect Harding left on his vacation trip with a feeling that the big problems that will face him in his administration will be better tackled after a thorough rest and complete detachment from the atmosphere of politics in which he has for so many months been enveloped.

ACCUSE EACH OTHER OF KILLING RUNNER

Camden, N. J., Nov. 8.—Camden county police authorities will claim jurisdiction in the murder of David S. Paul, the Camden bank runner who, according to the police, was killed by Frank J. James and Raymond W. Schuck of this city.

Both James and Schuck, it was announced by the police, have confessed their implication in the killing of Paul. They are in jail at Mount Holly, Burlington county, in which jurisdiction the body of Paul was found. According to the alleged confession, the bank runner was killed in Camden county.

In the alleged confessions, James and Schuck accuse each other of killing Paul. Paul, who was on his way to a Philadelphia bank with $95,000 in cash and checks, had been invited to ride to the ferry in James' automobile. He was struck on the head and rendered unconscious and when he later regained consciousness he was dealt a death blow.

Body Buried Later.

The body, according to the alleged confessions, was hidden in a creek in the Jersey pines in Burlington county and nine days later the two men returned and dug a grave and buried it. Shuck's confession said he and James hurried their work and did not dig the grave deep enough, leaving a mound where the body was covered over. It was this that a party of farmers out hunting saw and, thinking someone had buried a deer, dug it open and revealed the murder.

Shuck, the police say, told where the money was buried, and most of the $65,000 in cash was found hidden in Evergreen cemetery here.

ALL OFFICIAL MATTERS TO BE PLACED ASIDE

Harding Determined to Give Himself Over to Complete Rest.

Will Not Have Conference With Mexicans as Has Been Intimated.

On Board Harding's Special Train, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Coming to Texas for a vacation after the trying requirements of his campaign, President-elect Harding declared today that he was determined to put the thoughts of his coming responsibilities out of his mind and to give himself over for the next two weeks to rest and recreation.

From the time of his arrival at Point Isabel, a remote village on the Southern Texas coast, he was ready to plunge unreservedly into the swing of a real vacation. A morning's fishing expedition and an afternoon on the golf links were to constitute his routine virtually every day of his visit.

The fact that Point Isabel lies only six miles from the Mexican border has given rise to many whisperings of possible conferences between the new president-elect and representatives of the new regime in Mexico, but those closest to Mr. Harding were inclined to throw cold water on such reports. Mr. Harding himself said today no such conferences were "in prospect" and he had heard them expressed only in newspaper speculation.

The same attitude was taken by the president-elect toward published suggestions that he might begin, before his inauguration, informal conversations with European governments regarding the formulation of an association of nations.

Wants Vacation Undisturbed.

Not only does he want his vacation undisturbed, but he has said in public utterances that he desired to have no negotiations with foreign agents until he actually had come into authority.

The delicacy of Mr. Harding's position in that regard has been pointed out more than once by those closely associated with him. Elected to the presidency by an overwhelming majority after promising many changes in the nation's foreign policy, he naturally is looked to by foreign governments to take the proper steps to put these changes into effect. Yet, by a proviso of American law, unique among the greater powers of the world, he remains a private citizen for four months, forbidden by a diplomatic propriety to take any hand in the direction of executive affairs.

At a time when important international problems are pending not only with the powers of the old world, but with Mexico, Japan, China and other nations, this situation takes on additional interest. It is understood that several men representing themselves either truly or falsely, as the spokesmen of foreign statesmen, attempted to gain interviews with Mr. Harding even before his election, but his headquarters officials say all of them were turned away.

Will Sail Nov. 18.

President-elect Harding will sail from New Orleans Nov. 18 for the canal zone on board a United Fruit company steamer, it was learned today. Returning, he will be landed at Norfolk Dec. 4.

Arrangements have been made whereby the ship he is to take from New Orleans will remain over one day from her scheduled sailing date to accommodate Senator Harding and his party, now placed at thirty-five persons. The stop at Norfolk also will be by special arrangement.

WOMAN KILLED BY OFFICER'S BULLET

New York, Nov. 8.—The funeral today of young and pretty Mrs. Dolarato Difulco was one of the handsomest that the East side has seen in a long time. And next to Frank Difulco, her war hero husband, perhaps the most disconsolate of the mourners who followed the flower-banked hearse, with its six snowy horses, was Patrolman Jim Kenny, by whose hand she had been accidentally killed.

Dolarato—herself a Red Cross worker during the war—left her new baby Saturday to go on a short errand. As she crossed the street, a bullet fired by Patrolman Kenny at a thief who had stolen a carton of cigarettes, struck her down.

Aghast, the patrolman had the dying woman rushed to a hospital, but she never regained consciousness. Then, to soften the blow as much as he could for Frank and to ease his own breast—Kenny started a subscription to provide for the funeral and leave a nest egg for the motherless baby.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—At the request of the government, the conspiracy case against 125 soft coal miners and operators of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania was continued when called in United States district court of Judge A. B. Anderson this morning.

Judge Anderson then immediately started upon his investigation of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer's connection in the case, at one time declaring "I'm going to find out whether the attorney general can hamstring a case in this court." Dan W. Simms of Lafayette, Ind., who recently resigned as special assistant district attorney in the case, was the first witness called in the investigation.

ASK INDICTMENTS FOR MEN IN WHISKY RING

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The Federal grand jury investigating alleged whisky rings in Chicago and other cities today considered the evidence it has obtained. It was estimated that between seventy-five and 100 indictments might be returned. Meantime Federal officials asked warrants be prepared for all the men against whom indictments were expected.

It was understood today that Federal authorities had wired to Washington asking that no passports be issued the men expected to be indicted, information having been obtained that several of the men were planning to leave for Cuba.

BUYS WHOLE VILLAGE TO HELP HOUSING SITUATION

FRANK A. VANDERLIP.

Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker, has purchased the entire village, it became known yesterday, and in order to relieve the housing situation in this section, he announced plans for the erection of twenty modern tenement houses and several other new buildings. Some of the old dwellings will be torn down and others renovated.

APPEAL FOR RED CROSS

President Wilson Urges All to Join the Membership.

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Wilson today urged his "fellow countrymen" to join the Red Cross "in impressive numbers" during the fourth annual roll call to be held during the fortnight beginning Armistice day.

"The American Red Cross," said the president, "deserves a hearty response to its fourth invitation to annual membership, which will be issued during the fortnight beginning Nov. 11, Armistice day.

"Under the stimulus of war and through the co-operation of our people, this organization grew into immense size, enlarged its range of activity, served not only our fighting forces but also civilians involved in the hardships of war in our own nation and in the nations associated with us in a great common enterprise, and gave to the world an example of effective mercy through co-ordinated effort.

"Since the cessation of hostilities the organization has faced a dual duty. First, to fulfill obligations created by the war, and secondly, to adapt its experience and machinery to the needs of peace.

Still at Work.

"It is, today, still assisting governmental agencies in the care and cheer of our disabled soldiers and sailors, in replacing those able to work in civilian occupations, and in counseling and aiding the families of former combatants; and it is still assisting, with diminished resources, the process of rehabilitation in some of the more prostrated countries of our former associates.

"While continuing these manifest obligations, the Red Cross has been accommodating methods and applying lessons learned in war to the normal needs of our own people in times of peace, especially in regions where provisions for public health and welfare were imperfectly developed. It has placed public health and nurses in many localities, and has endeavored

Vera Cruz, Nov. 8.—Striking stevedores and dock workers here have refused to accept the agreement reached at Mexico City on Friday by representatives of the chambers of commerce and industry and the Shipowners' association with Provisional President De La Huerta. They have issued a call for a special strike to begin today and it is said the move will be supported by a sympathetic strike by railroad men.

Orders for a general strike have been received from Mexico City. This movement was begun months ago and preparations were made for a general walkout which would be nation-wide in effect. It was to begin Nov. 18, but the strike of dock workers here hastened final action.

The agreement reached at Mexico City called for an armistice of sixty days, during which time new contracts would be presented the working men.

PRESIDENT WORKING ON ANNUAL MESSAGE

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Wilson has begun work on his annual message to congress which will be transmitted either on the opening day of the next session on Dec. 6 or on the day following.

The White House officials said today they had no information as to what recommendations the president plans to make to congress, but administration officers expect that among other things he will again urge enactment of a number of reconstruction measures which he recommended at the first special session of the present congress early last year.

This week the president will receive three Latin-American diplomats who have arrived in Washington within the last few weeks. They are Emilio Joubert, minister from San Domingo; Dr. Julio Bianchi, minister from Guatemala, and Dr. Octavio Beeche, minister from Costa Rica.

Constitutionalists Successful.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Municipal elections at Milan, Naples, Bari, Palermo, Pisa, Genoa and Florence were held yesterday and Constitutionalist candidates were successful at all these cities.

DEFENDANTS DENY EVER SEEING LONGFIELD BEFORE

Trudell and Mitchell on Stand in Liquor Conspiracy Case.

Taxi Driver Accused Them of Delivering Whisky to Him.

Defendants in the liquor conspiracy case, on trial in United States court called to the witness stand today, termed Fred Longfield's testimony an utter fabrication.

Joseph Trudell and H. L. Mitchell, brakeman on the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific, from whom Longfield claimed to have purchased whisky smuggled from Port Arthur, flatly denied ever having seen the government's chief witness previous to the opening of the trial.

Further, they disclaimed acquaintanceship with any of the other eleven defendants except John Clayton, conductor of their train. They denied having known William Cahill, proprietor of the Park hotel at Eveleth, and alleged go-between in dealings involving importation of the whisky from Canada and its sale in Duluth and Northern Wisconsin.

Where Mitchell Comes In.

Longfield's testimony included three incidents in which both Mitchell and Trudell were mentioned. On one occasion, Longfield testified, the two defendants drove to Eveleth in Mitchell's automobile and then took Longfield to a place in the woods near West Virginia where nineteen cases of liquor were secreted. This was on May 6. Within the next three days Longfield claimed that he made two trips to Mitchell's home and obtained more liquor.

In reply, the defendants used train records introduced by the government to show that on May 6 neither of them were near Virginia. Their work on that day took them around Fort Frances and Rainier. Mitchell admitted, however, that from May 7 to May 11 he was sick at home.

W. J. Archer of Virginia, attorney for both defendants, in examining the witnesses, brought out the fact that the construction of D., W. & P. tracks would make it impossible for anyone to walk alongside the moving train and obtain liquor handed down by someone in the box cars. The tracks are built on a grade so that cases could be delivered only by dropping them down a steep embankment of about twenty feet while the train was moving. Near West Virginia, Trudell said, the train goes along at the rate of only about three miles an hour for a short distance because of the steepness of the grade.

Was on Train.

Mitchell admitted being one of the

MINISTER'S CASE IS BEFORE INQUEST

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 8.—Whether Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, minister and prohibition enforcement leader, must stand trial for the slaying of Beverly Trumble following a raid on the latter's inn Saturday may be known tonight. The inquest into Trumble's death, begun Saturday night and adjourned early Sunday morning, was continued here today. Adjournment was taken to permit officers to search for a man named "Ed Smith" who is said to have seen the shooting and who is expected to testify whether Trumble was armed when he was killed.

Rev. Mr. Spracklin was in Chatham, Ont., today. He was spirited from the jail here early yesterday morning when officers heard rumors that an attempt at violence was being planned by certain friends of Trumble.

Feeling ran high in the border towns Sunday. Much was made of statements by Spracklin at the inquest that he and his men entered the hotel through a window when they learned a fight had taken place inside the building. Previous to the inquest Spracklin had been quoted as saying he and his men entered the place through the front door.

FRENCH PREMIER ON FOREIGN POLICIES

Paris, Nov. 8.—France has shown the same ardor in her work of reconstruction as she did in the war, and has successfully crossed the passage from war to peace, which is always difficult for victors, says Premier Leygues in an interview in the Petit Parisien. Discussing his foreign policy, the premier declares the government will seek to maintain and strengthen its alliances, and will examine in utmost sincerity of spirit all questions arising between France and Germany.

He expressed belief that the League of Nations must become a great force and a strong barrier against return of imperialism and militarism. He declares the government's program is so to enforce execution of the Versailles treaty that national reconstitution and the organization of work and production may be advanced.

PRIEST SAYS STORY PURE FABRICATION

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—The story sent Nov. 6, quoting Rev. Thomas R. Carley of St. John's, Mich., as proposing a plan to forestall another attempt to abolish private and parochial schools by legislative enactment, was characterized by Father Carley as a pure fabrication.

Father Carey, who is spiritual director of the Detroit diocesan union of the Holy Name society, said he had made no such statement and that he had no authority to make any statement of policy such as the one in question.

A proposed amendment to the state constitution that would abolish parochial and private schools was defeated in last Tuesday's election.

ARMENIA IS IN SOVIET HANDS

Troops Either Surrendering to Bolsheviki or Fleeing to Georgia.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Armenia is passing under Bolshevik control, it is said in reports from Tiflis. Turks and Bolshevik Tartars have effected a junction at Alexandropol, and it is probable the city of Erivan has been occupied by Turkish troops commanded by Kazio Kaarabekir Pasha.

Armenian troops are reported to be surrendering or seeking refuge in Georgia.

The Russian Bolsheviki, Sebastopol reports say, are sending units from three armies in the Crimean region to Baku and Trans-Caucasia for the purpose, it is declared, to give the troops a period of rest, and to arrange for a redistribution of forces in the Asiatic campaign.

Fighting Resumed.

Warsaw, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fighting has been resumed between Lithuanian troops and the Polish "volunteer" army commanded by Gen. Zeilgouski. An official statement from Gen. Zeligouski's headquarters declares the Lithuanians, without replying to a proposal for negotiations, attacked the Poles near Giedrojcie, north of Vilna, forcing Gen. Zeligouski's forces to retreat. They later launched a counter-attack, capturing eighty prisoners, who included one German and one Chinese.

Polish newspapers estimate more than 50,000 Germans, some in uniform, have passed through East Prussia to Lithuania the last few weeks. German newspapers have reported fully equipped German contingents marching to Lithuania with their light artillery, sending heavy artillery thither by rail.

Wrangel Holds Isthmus.

Constantinople, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Russian anti-Bolshevik forces under command of Gen. Baron Wrangel still safely hold Perekop and Salkovo, keys to the isthmus leading from Crimea to the mainland of Russia. Military observers declare Gen. Wrangel has many long-range 10 and 12-inch guns and other heavy pieces planted to protect his lines from the Bolsheviki, who are concentrating their artillery forces. Along the seven-mile trench system across the isthmus Gen. Wrangel has established elaborate barbed wire entanglements.

It is believed probable the campaign during the next few weeks will be restricted to artillery battles, unless Gen. Wrangel decides to attack the Bolsheviki.

It is recognized Gen. Wrangel's withdrawal to Crimea from Taurida has created bad moral and political effects. Moscow is spreading news of his defeat throughout Islam and the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor talk of awaiting the results of the coming winter before treating with the Allies. Events in India are being watched with particular intentness by the Nationalists.

The impending winter is dreaded in Crimea, where 2,000,000 people, with only limited food, little clothing and virtually no money, have gathered. A dollar is worth 50,000 rubles at present in Sebastopol.

HUNGER STRIKERS ON NINETIETH DAY

Cork, Nov. 8.—Reports from the Cork jail today described the condition of the nine remaining Irish hunger strikers there as precarious. Although this was the ninetieth day of their strike, the emaciated prisoners were declared to be still determined to refuse food.

There were originally eleven of the Cork hunger strikers, but one of them, Michael Fitzgerald, died Oct. 17, and another, Joseph Murphy, on Oct. 25, within a few hours of the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork in Brixton prison on the seventy-third day of his hunger strike.

Harrisburg, Ill., Nov. 8.—Clyde Miner, 24, a prominent farmer, yesterday shot and killed his wife, wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Fields, who is expected to die, and then killed himself. No cause for the act is known.

COURT MAKES RULING ON THE VOLSTEAD ACT

Booze Lawfully Acquired for Personal Use Subject of Ruling.

Declares Congress Did Not Intend to Prevent Lawful Storage.

Release of "Nicky" Arnstein Ordered in Reversing Lower Court.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Liquor lawfully acquired by a person for his personal use may be stored in a place other than his home, under a ruling today by the supreme court.

The court's decision was on an appeal brought by William G. Street of New York city from lower court decrees refusing an injunction prohibiting Federal prohibition officers from seizing liquor which he had stored in a room leased from a safe deposit company. The court declared congress did not intend to prohibit such storage when the liquor was lawfully acquired for a lawful purpose.

The decision was made by Associate Justice Clarke. The lower court, in upholding the portion of the enforcement act interpreted by prohibition enforcement officials as prohibiting storage except in the home, held that congress under the police power delegated by the prohibition amendment had authority to prohibit any transportation of liquors and that in order to reduce the necessity for transportation to a minimum, it had the power to limit storage as to the places where liquor might lawfully be possessed.

Justice Clarke also held that the transportation of lawfully acquired liquor from a warehouse to the home of the owner did not constitute "transportation" within the meaning of the enforcement act.

Arnstein Ordered Released.

Reversing the Federal district court the supreme court today ordered the release of Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein, who has been imprisoned in New York since Aug. 10, on charges of contempt following his refusal to answer questions put to him in a bankruptcy hearing. Arnstein's name was connected with operations of an alleged "ring" of bond thieves in New York.

Injunctions restraining the iron moulders' union, local No. 78, from interfering with the business of the Niles tool works company, Hamilton, Ohio, were refused today by the supreme court.

RIGHTS OF WIDOW OF DEAD KING AT STAKE

Athens, Nov. 8.—The question of legal rights of Mme. Manos, morganatic wife of the late King Alexander, seems likely to create some difficulty, according to leading jurists.

Her attorney asked the court to remove the seals from the apartments of the dead king, asserting Mme. Manos, through her marriage and also because of her approaching motherhood, would legally inherit Alexander's property.

An attorney for Former King Constantine asked the court to suspend action until he had time to institute action in opposition. He declared Constantine intended to contend the marriage of Mme. Manos and the late monarch was invalid and that Alexander's property should pass to his father and brothers.

Should Constantine take legal action the jurists point out, it would constitute an admission that he is no longer king of Greece, as the chief of state, being the dispenser of justice cannot appeal to the courts. There is some speculation here as to the status in the dynasty of the child to be born by Mme Manos if her marriage should be declared valid.

Delegates Arrive.

Rome, Nov. 8.—Italian and Jugo-Slav delegates who will seek a settlement of problems arising from the future disposition of territories on the eastern shore of the Adriatic have arrived at Santa Margherita near Genoa and conversations will begin today.

CONSPIRATORS IN COAL LOSE

Court Holds Section Nine of Lever Act to Be Valid.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 8.—Defendants in the coal conspiracy criminal cases in the United States court at Indianapolis today lost their case in the Federal court here in which they sought to enjoin officers of the government from removing and prosecuting them at Indianapolis on the ground that section 9 of the Lever act was unconstitutional.

Judge Louis Fitzhenry today filed his opinion in the case of the Hillsboro Coal company, where Rice Miller and Herman C. Perry, two of the Indianapolis defendants, are affected, holding that section 9 of the act is constitutional and valid and that the attorney general and district attorneys are acting within their powers. He also holds that this statute is aimed at all conspiracies to enhance the price of coal within or without the coal industry.

The cases were argued in Springfield a few weeks ago.

The decision affects twelve cases in Chicago, about the same number in St. Louis and several other cases pending in other parts of the central competitive bituminous coal field. Attorneys on both sides had entered into a stipulation that the case which was decided today shall control in the other cases.

CONVENTION OF S. S. ENDS

Resolutions Give Thanks to Duluth; Most Successful Gathering.

The Minnesota State Sunday School association at its closing session here last night at the First Methodist church, Third avenue west and Third street, adopted resolutions thanking the people of Duluth for their cordial hospitality and expressing appreciation of the work of its leaders in having given them the opportunity of getting information so important to successful Sunday school work. The feeling among the delegates on every hand was that they were going back to their communities much better qualified to carry on Sunday school work than when they arrived here Thursday night. General satisfaction was expressed at the conclusion of one of the most successful conventions of the association.

The work of the convention was handled through conferences and mass meetings. On each day a conference of each division was held. There were the children's, adults' and parents' divisions. The delegates took up the questions regarding the teaching of each of these classes. Papers were read and its points discussed. Then each evening a big mass meeting of all the divisions at the church was addressed by several of the nationally recognized leaders in Sunday school work who spoke of the national program and indicated the direction in which the teacher should bend his efforts.

Sunday's Meetings.

Outside of worship services held during the day, numerous other sessions marked the closing day of the assembly. Chief among them was the school administration session held at the Y. W. C. A. in the afternoon and presided over by L. W. Diederich. The speakers were Rev. William Bell of Mountain Iron; Myron T. Settle of Kansas City and Richard W. Bowden of St. Paul. At the Y. W. C. A. auditorium, young people's classes were conducted and addresses given by Prof. Cecil D. Smith, St. Paul, and Mrs. A. G. Shogren. The children's division met at the First Methodist church, and was presided over by Mrs. Jean E. Hobart. Classes at this session were led by Mrs. C. M. Parmalee of Minneapolis, Mrs. C. F. Apitz of St. Paul and Mrs. C. T. Fox, St. Paul.

The closing services were led by Dr. C. N. Pace, pastor of the First Methodist church, and George W. Campbell of Omaha. John A. Earle of Des Moines preached on "The Question of Questions," and Rev. C. E. Tuke of St. Paul took "To the Task" as the subject of his sermon. He urged that the delegates immediately upon their arrival home put into practice what they had learned at the convention and summarized the work that had been gone over.

The Duluth executive committee that aided in making its sixty-second session one of the best in the history of the association, consisted of: W. B. Patton, chairman; W. I. Smithies, executive secretary; W. T. Wilke, entertainment; W. W. McMillan, registration; Rev. James Mills, reception; L. V. Swartzendrover, commissary; Leslie C. High, meetings; A. O. Anderson, music; Arthur Hanford, finance; Dr. J. C. Annand, ushers; J. R. Batchelor; recreation; Rev. S. T. Willis, publicity; R. J. Wilson, exhibits.

WATER WORKS MEN HOLD MEETING HERE

The evening session Saturday of the Minnesota section of the American Waterworks association was featured by a discussion of Duluth's water supply and its quality. An interesting paper was read by E W. Kelly, consulting engineer of Duluth, and by William C. Lounsberry, general manager of the Superior Water, Light & Power company, Superior, Wis.

The thawing of frozen water pipes was discussed by the meeting and much valuable information in the thawing of pipes was brought out by the experience of Duluth two years ago, when 1,200 services were frozen.

The use of chlorine for the sterilization of water supplies and its effect upon their potability was discussed by L. I. Birdsall, superintendent of filtration, bureau of water, Minneapolis. This brought out a discussion which was taken up by H. A. Whittaker, director division of sanitation, state board of health and others. The medical profession was represented by Dr. A. T. Laird, superintendent of the Nopeming sanatorium, who asked many questions and related his own experiences in connection with some experiments he had made in the treatment of sewage for the elimination of malignant bacteria at the Nopeming institute.

The meeting was declared by the members as one of the most successful in the history of the Minnesota section and resolutions were passed thanking the Commercial club and others for the hospitality furnished. A resolution was adopted petitioning the next session of the legislature and the governor for passage of a larger appropriation for the division of sanitation of the state board of health. It was incidentally brought out during the discussions that the appropriations made by the state at its last session for the elimination of hog cholera was larger than the total appropriation for the bureau of sanitation which has to combat all forms of diseases.

The meetings are held twice a year and its next session will be in Minneapolis during the month of April.

PLAN PARCEL POST BUILDING.

Structure at 531 West First Street to Be Remodeled.

Contractors have been asked to submit bids for remodeling a two-story brick building at 531 West First street into a parcel post building.

The new structure is being planned only to give temporary relief to the congested condition in the main postoffice, Thomas E. Considine, postmaster, said today. It will not delay the erection of a new postoffice building.

The work of preparing the proposed parcel post building will take at least two months, it is expected. It will therefore be necessary for the main postoffice again to bear the brunt of the Christmas rush.

Tenants at the Sixth avenue building have been asked to vacate by Dec. 1. The first thing to be done will be to build a path on the east side of the building so that mail trucks can deposit their contents near the rear entrance.

The postoffice department itself proposed to use only the first floor. It is probable that the railway mail service, which is now located in the Christie building, will move its offices to the second floor.

DESERTED ON WEDDING DAY; GRANTED DIVORCE

"He deserted me on our wedding day," Ida K. Chase testified before Judge Fesler in her divorce case against Delos H. Chase of Virginia. The court granted Mrs. Chase a decree Saturday.

They were married at St. Paul on Dec. 20, 1909, and he abandoned her the same day, she testified. One child born to them has been adopted by other people.

The court granted Mrs. Chase permission to resume her maiden name, Ida K. Walker.

Vera Loney, aged 24, began suit for divorce in district court today against John J. Loney, aged 26, on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. She alleges that her husband is of a jealous and domineering disposition and that he gets drunk and abuses her. She asks the right to take her maiden name, Vera Michaels, again.

Mrs. Loney states that they were married on Nov. 16, 1916, and that he deserted her in Septmber of 1917.

ARMY UNIT FOR DULUTH

Headquarters for New Artillery Regiment May Be in This City.

Duluth has the opportunity of having the regimental headquarters of the new artillery regiment that has been authorized, with the commanding officer of the regiment, stationed here. It will also mean, if military men of Duluth so choose, the headquarters company and a battalion of light horse artillery, consisting of two batteries of 75-millimeter field artillery. This is the offer made to Duluth through Maj. Fred W. Beecher by Adjt.-Gen. W. F. Rhinow. A National Guard field artillery regiment is to be organized in Minnesota, and Duluth has been given the opportunity of getting it if it so desires. Whether it will be accepted or not will be decided at the Armory tonight.

It was at first proposed to form a unit of infantry and arrangements had been made to have this unit federalized and mustered in at the Armory tonight, but in view of the new offer, this has been postponed pending a decision of the men interested. A meeting of all men who have enlisted in the Greysolon battalion and members of the American Legion have been invited to meet at the Armory at 8 o'clock tonight to decide whether or not to accept the proposition and transfer.

Many Artillerymen Here.

Maj. Beecher, in commenting on the offer, said: "Duluth is particularly favored in the organizing of such a regiment, as there are many artillery men here who have seen service in the artillery, the transfer of the Third regiment to the artillery early in the war having given training in this department to a large number of men living in Duluth. It should be little trouble to obtain sufficient enlistments to fill the regiment. There will be a meeting at the Armory tonight and I would like to see every ex-service man and all others who are interested, including every member of the American Legion, present and use his influence in getting this regiment for Duluth. The formation of the Greysolon battalion has been held up until a decision has been made about transferring. This decision must be made at once, if Duluth is to take advantage of the offer."

TWO ESTATES FILED.

Walter Luzaich, who died Oct. 18 last, aged 46, left property worth $5,410, consisting principally of a homestead at Gary, according to a petition for letters of administration filed today in probate court by Milan Labratovien, guardian for the eldest of the children, who are heirs. Three sons and one daughter, all minors, will share the estate.

Marie Bansen of Eveleth will inherit the estate of John C. Bansen, who died Sept. 25, 1920, aged 60, leaving property valued at $2,074.52, according to papers filed this morning in probate court.

Price Revision at the Columbia

Prices are going down all right. Everybody is glad of it though it entails most serious losses on those who have stocks purchased at the peak wholesale prices of 1920. As it is, the losses taken now by progressive retailors and wholesalers enable you in many cases to buy cheaper than you could buy materials, pay labor and other costs of making plus the cost of distribution.

The revision of Columbia prices and the liquidation of present stocks will now be carried out in constant special sales. The first of the series will be on deck this week. Be on deck yourself. Savings greater than ever.

Suits at $28.00

This week a lot of suits up to $50.00 goes at $28. These are small lots, none of them containing a full run of sizes but every size is in the whole lot. The fast selling of the last few weeks has caused this condition, so out they go at $28.00.

Overcoats at $28.00

OVERCOATS, today $28.00 for coats that were marked up to $50.00. All sizes in the lot but not all sizes in any particular style. Many lots have been entirely exhausted during our sale, and all single coats or lots in which we have only two or three, will be cleaned up quickly, so they go today at $28.00.

Work Pants at $4.80

Men's extra heavy working pants. About 50 pairs. These just arrived at a new price. On sale today at $4.80. Such pants have been selling around $8.00.

Boys' $25.00 Suits at $19.50

In the boys' department, those beautiful all virgin wool suits with two pairs of lined trousers, which we have been advertising before the sale at $25.00, today $19.50. These suits even at present prices are worth the $25.00 but we have a large stock of them and they must move.

Boys' Mackinaws at $7.90

Boys' good woolen mackinaws, today at $7.90 for the small sizes, and $9.90 for the large sizes.

SOUSA HAS BIG DAY IN DULUTH

The visit of Lieut. John Philip Sousa to Duluth last Saturday will long be remembered by the March King. Not only was he royally received at his afternoon and evening concerts at the Armory but many other courtesies were bestowed upon him. The proceedings of the whole day were of much gratification to Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, who arranged the program of welcome and sponsored the two concerts.

The greeting given by various men's clubs during the day and the work of the Morgan Park band were interesting features and the thousands of children who attended the afternoon concert gave a splendid testimonial to the band leader.

The celebration of Sousa's sixty-sixth birthday was the occasion for a great testimonial in the evening when a great anchor of yellow chrysanthemums, emblematic of Sousa's service in the navy, was presented to him on behalf of the members of the band. Charles S. Mitchell made the presentation speech with many nicely turned compliments. Mayor T. W. Hugo made a short speech of introduction.

Virtually all the singing and musical societies of Duluth and others from out of town attended the concert in the evening. The program, which included many of the famous Sousa numbers, follows:

Rhapsody, "The American Indian" (new) .... Orem
(On themes recorded and suggested by Mr. Thurlow Lieurance.)
Cornet solo, "The Carnival of Venice" .... Arban
John Dolan.
Suite, "Camera Studies" (new)...Sousa
(a) "The Teasing Eyes of Audalusia."
(b) "Drifting to Loveland."
(c) "The Children's Ball."
Vocal solo, "The Crystal Lute"..Sousa
Miss Mary Baker.
Andante Cantabile from String Quartet, Op. 11 ....Tschaikowsky
"A Study in Rhythms" (new)...Sousa
(Being a manipulation of a group of classics.)
(a) Xylophone solo, "The March Wind" .... Carey
George J. Carey.
(b) March, "Comrades of the Legion" (new) .... Sousa
Violin solo, "First Movement from F Minor Concerto" .... Vieuxtemps
Miss Florence Hardeman.
(a) Dale Dances of Yorkshire..Wood
(Traditional and newly arranged.)
(b) "Taps" .. Arthur F. M. Custance
Miss Mary Baker.

Two of Men Released.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—Two of the three men under arrest here in connection with the holding up and shooting of David Pollock, an overall manufacturer of Oshkosh, Wis., here Saturday were released by the police today. The third man, chauffeur of the taxicab in which Pollock was riding to the depot, still was being held. Pollock is rapidly recovering from his wounds, it was said at the hospital today.

Makes Curls or "Ear Muffs" Stay In Place

You will be glad to learn that you can keep your hair beautifully wavy and curly by using a perfectly harmless liquid known to druggists as "silmerine." You need only apply a little with a clean tooth brush just before doing up the hair, and in three hours or so you will be most agreeably surprised with the effect. And this effect lasts for quite a considerable time, so a small bottle goes a long way and is quite economical to use. Pure silmerine is really beneficial to the hair and there is no greasiness, stickiness nor anything unpleasant about it. It is a good idea to divide the hair into strands and moisten these one at a time, drawing the brush down the full length.

With the aid of liquid silmerine it is easy to shape the prettiest "ear muffs" and easy to keep them as placed all day. Just try it!—Advertisement.

DEMAND FOR GRAIN TONNAGE IS LIGHT

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Buying in the East is very light and the grain market is out of line for shipping and the demand for tonnage is light. There was some inquiry for prompt loading capacity at the head of Lake Superior yesterday at 5½ cents to Buffalo, which is a cut of a half a cent, but no charters were reported in the local market although Duluth and Fort William reported some business was done at that figure. Tonnage for late loading is offered freely and boats are on the market for the last trip and storage at 6½ cents. A large number of boats including some big carriers were placed ahead and it is figured that tonnage to take about 10,000,000 bushels of grain is under charter for late November and December loading. Some of the steamers that load late this month will hold cargoes at this end of the route.

Some wild ore is being offered, but the demand for tonnage is light compared with a few months ago and little chartering will be done the rest of the season.

EVERETT KNOWS NO DEFINITE OFFER

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 8.—Referring to charges made by Mr. McOuat of Grand Rapids, Democratic candidate for attorney general, that the Nonpartisan league offered to contribute $50,000 to the Democratic national committee's fund, on condition that he retire from the race, Howard Everett, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said on Saturday that he never knew of any definite offer being made by the Nonpartisan league.

"That $50,000 proposition," he said, "was talk I heard soon after the primaries, just after getting back from the San Francisco convention. There was talk then of pulling the Democratic state ticket off and getting support of the Nonpartisan league for the national ticket, but no proposition was made to me and it would not have been considered.

"There was hardly a day that we did not have Democrats who leaned to one side or the other come in and try to interest us in a deal to pull off our candidates in favor of the Nonpartisans, or in favor of the Republicans. At the time I sent for McOuat some Democrats were urging that we pull out in favor of the Nonpartisans. I thought Mr. McOuat ought to know about it, and asked him to come down. We had no proposition direct from the Nonpartisans, however, and Mr. McOuat is mistaken, I am sure, in saying that the $50,000 matter was talked of at that time."

staying genuine and breathing spontaneity. There isn't a neighbor in Marion who has yet seen anything upstage about Mrs. Harding. She was just the same to the home folks after the Chicago convention as before, and she is just the same after election as she was in the campaign, and it's a safe guess that she will be the same at the White House. There are some things delightful about the personality of the president-elect which impresses newcomers. He makes a much better impression in his private talks with newspapermen than his public speeches. Somehow he feels the restraint of public speaking much more than most men do. Among the most interesting incidents of the past week have been the talks between the president-elect and the newspapermen in the little shack which has been press headquarters throughout the campaign.

A Typical American.

Warren Harding smokes a cigarette and likes to chew tobacco. That's a relic really of early days in the print shop, where the idea grew up that chewing helped to keep the dust down. Warren Harding is a typical American. He doesn't affect the statesmanlike poses which one sees so often in the attitude of public men. He says "mebbe" when others might say "maybe." He talks with the drawl of a country man rather than the precision of the drawing room conversationalist. He tells a good story and enjoys hearing one. He knows life in its every aspect, and will probably get along better with the members of the senate and house than any president in recent years because he knows how to handle congressmen. He was just a bit disturbed by the overwhelming size of the Republican majorities in both houses. He wondered if they wouldn't be too unwieldy. But, on the other hand, it was suggested promptly by others who have been gossiping with him about it that a large majority in the house will furnish exactly the challenge to leadership which is necessary. Everybody will admit who knows what happened in the last two years of the Republican congress that the leadership was amateurish and clumsy, and that with full responsibility for all branches of the government in the hands of the Republicans, the latter will be compelled to develop leadership. Oscar Underwood showed what could be done when the Democrats had a large majority in the house, and there will arise someone on the Republican side to attempt the same thing, though the legislative problems are infinitely more complex than they ever have been.

A Methodical Worker.

The new president-elect will be a methodical worker. He takes things calmly. He will do one thing at a time and not attempt everything at once. Just as he was leaving his home I asked him the other day if he was happy.

"Happy?" he said—"well, I should rather say just pleased—if one can make that discrimination—it's a big job."

"Yes," I suggested, "but the opportunity to do a service is there."

"True," said the president-elect, "that is what really makes me happy—the chance to serve."

We chatted about the overwhelming majority and the meaning of it. The president-elect is pleased beyond measure that he has behind him at the start such a great body of opinion. He will interpret it in his own way from time to time, but it isn't amiss to state right here that, now that the campaign is over, none would appreciate more than Warren Harding himself a frank and free expression by the newspapers of the country of their ideas on foreign policy. The suggestion has been made again and again, for instance, that the league issue was confused with domestic questions and that Republican newspapers, which refused to be led into the Democratic camp on the league question during the campaign, will speak their views fully now that the campaign is over. The new president-elect would appreciate that more than anything else just now.

HIGHER RATES ARE GRANTED

Telephone company was granted authority to increase its rates to $3.50 per month for business phones, $2 for residence phones and $2 for rural phones.

The city of Columbus which operates its own electric and water utilities asked the commission on Oct. 5 for authority to make a 100 per cent increase. The commission found that while drastic increase was necessary so sudden a rise in price would defeat its own end, and then granted a 50 per cent raise.

Pardeeville electric light plant was granted authority to increase its rates 4 cents per kilowat hour, and was directed to give twenty-four-hour service from the date of the order. The high price of coal was given as the reason for increases granted the Stoughton Light & Fuel company. A sliding scale from $2.25 per month for the first 10,000 cubic feet to $1.50 for all over 50,000 cubic feet was granted with a minimum monthly charge of 75 cents.

Kenosha had the wage scale set for the Wisconsin Gas & Electric company's transportation department confirmed by the commission. The scale retained for motormen and conductors is: For first year 55 cents per hour; second year 58 cents per hour, and for the third year 61 cents per hour. The company had asked a reconsideration of the scale saying that it could hire men at lower wages.

The following street car fares were authorized for the city of Kenosha: Adults 7 cents each, tickets sold on cars 8 for 50 cents, and children 4 cents each.

The Waukesha Gas & Electric company was authorized to increase its rates on a sliding scale from $2.20 per month per 10,000 cubic feet to $1.65 per month for the next 100,000 cubic feet.

FUTURE DEPENDS UPON FOREIGN TRADE REVIVAL

is impressive, but its exact significance is hard to determine unless it presages a confession of bankruptcy by some of the practically bankrupt nations whose money is selling for less than 10 per cent of its par value.

Except as it might be conducted by barter we could not hope to maintain our foreign trade with any of the peoples who were thus deprived of a circulating medium, and this is a contingency that should be kept clearly in view by those who deal in our exportable products.

Extending Credit.

The corporations already formed and now being formed under the Edge law, for extending long-term credit to foreign purchasers, supply the only means in sight for maintaining our export trade until the rest of the world recovers its ability to pay. Support of these corporations by investment in their securities is as essential to solution of our domestic problems as to our foreign. Increase of our trade would halt the course of business around the vicious circle starting from surplus stocks, through industrial curtailment, reduced wages, decreased purchasing power, and back to surplus stocks again. On that vicious circle—reversal of the wartime whirlwind—we seem to be fairly well embarked. It is possible to avoid the full journey only by selling the accumulated goods before further reduction in the purchasing power is caused.

In this country the unwillingness of the retailer to accept his losses continues the chief obstacle to movement of goods. Therefore, it is important in the week's news that from some sections of the country reports of mark down sales are increasing. Buying of cheap goods continues in astonishing volume and sales of the 10 and 25-cent stores for October are estimated at least 20 per cent above their large totals last year. Throughout the Cleveland and Pittsburgh districts the business turnover is holding its level excellently.

Decreased Sales.

Reports of the trade of Chicago mail order houses and New York department stores counterbalance these favorable items. The former during October showed declines of 30 and 40 per cent from last year's business and while figures from the latter are not so recent they indicate slightly decreased sales and heavily increased stocks. Bank clearings reported to Bradstreets show further progress around the circle of deflation, registering a decline of 13 per cent (a holiday week) from last year, and October's failures, according to Dun's, were double in number over last year and six times as great in liabilities.

It is thus evident that business must find consolation in its profits of the past and hope in the knowledge that stocks even now are being consumed faster than they are being added to and that deferred buying seems to be waiting only for stable price levels. Yet, if the stoppage of industrial machinery becomes much greater it appears likely that buying will be abandoned instead of merely postponed. Curtailment in textile mills has never been so drastic, for though price readjustment has improved the goods markets orders are not finding their way back to the factories. Woolen mills have reduced operations; iron and steel production, which reached record totals in October, is on the downturn. Coal and coke prices have slumped sharply, accelerating the decline in steel quotations. Tire prices have been cut. Sugar is weaker, but the bearish possibilities in the grains, cotton and coffee markets seem almost exhausted, and though the deadweight of the continuing credit stringency and business dullness is holding them down, their decline apparently has ended.

Theaters and Hotels Cut.

Leaders of the clothing market are predicting that the next fortnight will be marked by "sensational" retail sales. Visitors may even spend their evenings in New York somewhat more cheaply for one theater manager has cut his scale of prices 50 cents to $1, and hotels are asking less for their meals.

The inevitable wage reductions are reported in the wake of price declines. Though not yet of serious extent, they have been sufficient to bring forth declarations from labor unions that any attempt at reduction will be fought bitterly even at the expense of an unparalleled industrial war. Such declarations align labor with recalcitrant retailers and farmers as obstructors of reconstruction.

The economic landscape, like all others, differs in appearance according to the position from which it is viewed. Organized labor looks at it both as consumer and producer. During inflation it considered itself consumer, demanding and receiving wage increases commensurate with the cost of living. During deflation it can no more resist the reversal of that process than can merchants or farmers, and it will suffer from it less than they will because prices are coming down first.

The securities markets, insensible to the election, have been narrow and irregular under the restrictive influence of high call money, and without feature except that the average of representative rail stocks has risen above that of industrials for the first time in many years. Bankers continue to express the expectation of easier money, believing that the peak of demands has already been passed. The failure of the stock market to rise after the election, even though the outcome was widely expected, was exceptional, and demonstrates the power of the depressing influences in control of business life. What the president-elect has advocated during his campaign as means of relieving depression may be summed up as follows: Readjustment of the tariff; readjustment of taxation (especially the excess profits tax); elimination of unnecessary government enterprise; reorganization of the departments, doing away with "ineffective meddling by government" in American business; a national budget and foreign trade promotion.

With such a platform none can find fault. The problems of our foreign relations are equally pressing. Europe's needs are beyond doubt. The enormity of our own purchasing power is shown by a per capita circulation of money on Nov. 1 of $59.48, another high record. When a means for Europe to buy is devised and she augments our own ability to absorb goods our depression will be over.

to enlist greater numbers of young women in the nursing profession in order that the supply might more nearly equal the steadily increasing demand for community nurses. It has devised a scheme of 'public health centers' for the relief of maladies and for instruction in hygiene, dietetics, and general principles of disease-prevention. With its nurses and nurses' aides it has rendered incalculable service in the serious epidemics of influenza. It has carried instruction in hygiene and first aid into schools, the women's clubs, and the homes of our country. It has taught young and untaught mothers how to care intelligently for their babies, and has done much in many ways to promote child welfare, upon which the welfare of the nation ultimately rests. It has made it a fundamental principle to avoid futile duplications, to co-operate with public agencies when its co-operation was sought, and to supply deficiencies where such agencies had not yet been established.

"It has continued its educational work among the school children through its Junior Red Cross branch, and it has, as one result of its war experience, put preparation for disaster-relief on a scientific foundation, so that it is now equipped to meet disaster emergencies promptly in almost every part of our country.

"By systematic plans and practical performances, it has given a clear answer to the question why the Red Cross should be continued and carried over from war activity into peace-time activity. The answer is in the record.

"Additional to these obvious aspects of the matter, there is another reason why I, as president of the United States and president of the American Red Cross, urge my fellow-countrymen to join the Red Cross in impressive numbers: Reaction follows emotion, and after great effort comes perilous lassitude. Sound patriotism and genuine human service are continuous, not intermittent, not contingent merely upon the excitement of war. If there is in some of us an inward cooling of the fine fervor which animated us in the crisis of the nation's stress and peril, a contraction of the spirit which ennobled us as individuals and as a nation, now, during the 'Red Cross Roll Call,' is a fitting season to take counsel with our inner selves to rekindle the old flame, to reaffirm allegiance to practical patriotism and practical humanitarianism, and to symbolize the regeneration of our better thoughts and handsomer selves by re-enlistment in a great army mobilized for the common good.

brakemen on a train near Ranier on July 20 when government officers removed several cases of whisky from box cars. The other trainmen are not defendants in the case. None of the men knew how the liquor happened to have been placed in the car, Mitchell declared.

Both men testified that they were arrest about 12:40 a. m. on a morning in July. No complaints were left by the officers. The defendants claimed they did not even know what they were accused of until they arrived in Duluth the next day and read about their case in the newspapers.

Night Sessions of Court.

Judge Page Morris today declared that night sessions will probably be held, beginning tonight, unless the case progresses more swiftly than it is now doing. It is the court's desire to complete the case by Wednesday night so that the Fergus Falls term may open Friday.

Other witnesses who testified this morning for the defendants are Gunnard Anderson, a Minneapolis taxi driver, who declared that Longfield's word was valueless; Jeremiah Sullivan, with whom Longfield roomed in Minneapolis, who also declared that Longfield bore a bad reputation for veracity, and Gertrude Longfield, divorced wife of the government's witness, who denied the latter's statement that he had supported their child regularly after the separation. She stated that in two years he had contributed not more than $50 for the support of the child.

Stricken While Testifying.

Charles Harlan, Minneapolis taxidriver who testified Saturday, was stricken with paralysis while on the witness stand. He was immediately removed to a hospital. Dr. S. H. Boyer said the stroke was brought on by a hemorrhage of the brain.

Harlan claimed he knew Longfield well when the latter was also a Minneapolis taxidriver. He asserted he would not believe Longfield under oath, and added that the latter's reputation for veracity was considered bad in Minneapolis.

Fred B. Myers of Duluth, who was foreman of the jury which indicted the eleven defendants, declared that Longfield's testimony as given on the stand varied in several particulars with the evidence he had given to the grand jury. Mr. Myers said Longfield had been before the jury for about three hours, though Longfield insisted last week that he was in the jury room only twenty minutes. Mr. Myers denied that Longfield had told the jury that Murphy and Bradley had jumped on trains near Virginia in order to seize liquor from "the railroad boys" and sell it in Duluth.

Ruby Woodard, Cook county farm hand, who was the chief witness for the government in the previous case against Murphy, Bradley and Frank Schaeffer, testfied that Longfield has since approached him with an invitation to smuggle whisky across the border.

Mrs. Mabel Myers of Minneapolis, with whom Longfield admitted having lived for some time, testified that he had pawned her diamond ring and had then returned another one when she demanded her own and threatened him with arrest.

Mrs. L. R. Stoddart, proprietor of the Stoddart hotel at Marshalltown, Iowa, contradicted Longfield's statement that he registered at her hotel under his own name. The witness stated that the name Longfield did not appear in the register. It is the government's contention that Longfield stayed in a Marshalltown hotel with a woman who was not his wife.

Increased Efficiency Imperative

MR. H. H. HILL, Chemical Engineer of the Bureau of Mines, in discussing the future of gasoline says: "It is up to the refiners to extract more of petroleum's useful factors from the crude."

This he says can be effected through efficient management and by improved methods of cracking and blending.

Mr. Hill thus expresses the opinion which has dominated the policy of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for many years and has enabled this Company to raise its efficiency peak year after year.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a leader in developing processes to increase the yield of gasoline from crude oil.

The best known and most successful of its improvements is the Burton process, originated in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Speaking of the Burton process, Mr. Hill says that

"since it was first installed on a commercial scale it has produced approximately 40 million barrels of gasoline from heavy distillates, and has thus saved approximately 150 million barrels of crude that would have been necessary to produce an equivalent amount of gasoline."

This vast saving has been accomplished without sacrificing quality.

Red Crown, the motor gasoline, made and sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is acknowledged by petroleum chemists and other authorities to be the standard fuel for motor cars. It more than meets Government specifications, which require an initial of not more than 140 degrees F; 20 percent off at 221 degrees; 50 percent off at 284 degrees; 90 percent off at 374 degrees; and a dry point (complete vaporization) at not more than 437 degrees F.

During the semi-annual test conducted in July 1920, the average for Red Crown Gasoline showed an initial of 102 degrees F; 20 percent off at 210; 50 percent off at 281; 90 percent off at 387; and a dry point of 427 degrees F.

This shows an initial 38 degrees better than Government specifications, which means easy starting; 20 percent off at 11 degrees better than Government specifications; 50 percent off at 3 degrees better than Government specifications; and 90 percent off thirteen degrees higher than Government specifications, which is more than made up by the 10 degrees difference in dry point.

This proves that, notwithstanding the greatly increased quantity of gasoline which this Company is able to take from the crude, it has in no way sacrificed quality, and is another indication that the large scale operations of this Company have worked to the distinct advantage of every user of gasoline.

TONNAGE TAX BILL'S TERMS

New Measure as Prepared Provides for 10 Per Cent Tax.

[illegible] Paul, Minn., Nov. 8.—Tonnage tax [illegible]islation for the new Minnesota leg[illegible] already is taking shape. Terms [illegible] bill which will be introduced [illegible] house this winter by former [illegible] of the measure have been [illegible]ublic.

[illegible] of a 5 per cent tax on the [illegible]' of the ore mined each [illegible] provided by the Bendixen bill, [illegible] year by Governor J. A. A. [illegible], the new measure provides [illegible] cent rate. Its details have [illegible] to by C. M. Bendixen of [illegible] and A. C. Welch of Glencoe, [illegible] house members whose rival [illegible] used in the regular session [illegible] kill each other off. The Ben[illegible] was passed at the extra ses[illegible] then vetoed.

[illegible] of St. Paul, secretary of [illegible]sota Tax Reform association, [illegible] working for the tonnage tax [illegible] is authority for the state[illegible] that the agreement has been [illegible]

[illegible] 10 per cent tax is to be pro[illegible] two bills, one taxing royal[illegible] by fee owners of mine [illegible] on the ore mined and the [illegible] "unearned profits" of the [illegible] companies, or "net value" of [illegible]. The two measures, it is [illegible] will mean an addition of [illegible] to $10,000,000 a year to state [illegible]

Up to Legislature.

[illegible] the legislature will stand [illegible] 10 per cent rate remains to be [illegible] state senate, which is the [illegible] as in 1919 passed a 5 per [illegible] then as a tonnage tax on the [illegible] of mining, but defeated a 5 [illegible] royalty tax measure.

[illegible] declared that 100 of the [illegible] of the new house are [illegible] to support of the tonnage [illegible]rnor-elect J. A. O. Preus is [illegible] by his party platform and by [illegible] utterances to a "fair and [illegible]" tonnage tax. The only ques[illegible] what Mr. Preus and a majority [illegible] legislature will consider "fair [illegible]itable."

Royalties Deducted.

[illegible] new tonnage tax bill, it is ex[illegible] has one concession in it to [illegible] operators. It deducts as part [illegible] of mining the royalties they [illegible] fee owners. This, supporters of [illegible] measure say, knocks out the argu[illegible] a double tax on the royalties, [illegible] now pay no taxes at all.

[illegible] of the two bills, Buell esti[illegible] will bring in a revenue equal [illegible] mill tax on all real and per[illegible]property; in other words, it [illegible]able a saving of $5 on each [illegible] assessed valuation to other [illegible] holders. The bills have been [illegible] in consultation with the state [illegible]mission.

[illegible] are explained as follows in a [illegible] by the Minnesota Tax Re[illegible]ciation:

[illegible] bill places a tax of 10 per cent [illegible] royalties. The other a tax of [illegible] cent on the unearned profits of [illegible]erating companies. Neither bill [illegible] any tax whatever on the business [illegible] ore. All labor cost and cap[illegible] devoted in mining are exempt from [illegible]

"The tax is on the net or natural value of the ore after deducting the following items:

"First—All royalties paid for permission to take ore out.

"Second—The cost of labor for separating the ore from the ore deposit and placing it in cars for the shipment from the mine.

"Third—The cost of washing, drying or otherwise beneficiating such ore if the same is washed, dried or beneficiated.

"Fourth—The cost of transporting ore from the mine to the place of sale.

Commission to Decide.

"Fifth—If taken from open pit mines, an amount for each ton mined equal to the cost of removing the overburden, divided by the number of tons of ore uncovered; the amount of ore uncovered to be determined by the Minnesota tax commission.

"Sixth—If taken from underground mines, an amount for each ton of ore mined equal to the cost of sinking and constructing shafts and running drifts to take out the ore, divided by the number of tons that can be advantageously taken out through such shafts and drifts; the number of tons of ore that can be advantageously taken out in each such case to be determined by the Minnesota tax commission.

"With the above exemptions it will be seen that practically all expense of mining is exempt from the tax and only the net or natural value of the ore subjected to the tax.

"If these bills pass in 1921, it will reduce state taxes by $5 on each $1,000 of assessed value.

"The two bills are both necessary to deal equally with the two classes of ore mine owners. Strictly speaking, neither bill is a 'tonnage tax.' Each is a tax on the natural value of the ore. One bill will reach those who collect royalties for letting others use the earth. The other bill will reach those who get the same natural value by operating their own mines."

New Treasury Certificates.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Secretary Houston announced last night a new offering of treasury certificates of indebtedness for "$200,000,000 or thereabouts." The issue, which will bear 5¾ per cent interest, will be dated Nov. 15 and will mature May 16 of next year.

CREAMERIES THRIVING.

St. Paul, Min., Nov. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of the 632 co-operative creameries in Minnesota those of the first-class paid between 62 cents and 85 cents a pound for butterfat for the twelve months ending Oct. 1, 1920.

"Compare these prices," says A. J. McGuire of the agricultural extension division, university farm, "with the prices you received for cream. Montevideo has a co-operative creamery that did a business last year of more than $130,000. It paid its patrons an average price of 66 cents a pound for butterfat. At the same time the average price paid by cream stations was between 58 and 59 cents."

Mr. McGuire says that in the older dairy sections of the state co-operative creamery associations are replacing their old buildings with plants costing from $20,000 to $40,000. Farmers at Montevideo paid the latter sum for their new creamery. Meeker, a representative Minnesota county, has seventeen co-operative creameries and all successful.

BADGER SHORT COURSE BEGINS AT UNIVERSITY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Registration for the thirty-fifth annual short course given by the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture opened today with a heavy enrollment. Already seventy-five communities from forty-eight counties are represented by those who have signed for the first term.

"Agriculture is in need of trained leaders today as never before," Dean H. L. Russell of the college said.

The first short course in agriculture in the country was given at Wisconsin in 1885 under direction of W. A. Henry. Since then practically every state in the Union has been represented by students. Last year 400 were enrolled from sixty Wisconsin counties, fifteen states and three foreign countries.

KILLED GIRL WHO REJECTED ATTENTION

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—Edna Ellis, 18-year-old typist whose body was found with the throat slashed in a vacant lot near her home here on Friday morning, was killed by Albert Ellis, 21, a rejected suitor, because she rejected his attention, according to an alleged signed confession Ellis made, the police say.

According to Ellis' alleged confession, he intended to commit suicide, but the blade of the razor he used broke as he slashed the throat of his victim the third time.

Ellis, an electrician, was arrested on Saturday morning on information furnished by Mrs. Marie Ellis, mother of the slain girl. She said Ellis, who formerly lived at her home, had threatened her daughter for breaking off their engagement after a quarrel.

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE!

Attention of consumers of Duluth and vicinity is called to the importance that the Consumers' League, although not yet one year old, has attained in the city as well as in neighboring towns, and among the farmers.

The League now has over 1,000 members, or families, and its buying power is influential already in helping to control prices of foodstuff, and, in fact, is the only SUCCESSFUL MOVEMENT in the northern part of the state along this line.

Owing to this fact, and the further fact that the League has, many times, since it was incorporated, actually broken the market on such staples as flour, sugar, meats, apples, potatoes, small fruits, etc., it is now taking its place as one of the permanent institutions of the state, and to the end that the Consumers' League may occupy the position in which it may be of the utmost help in MAINTAINING REASONABLE PRICES, it is urgently requested that consumers in Duluth and outside locations, send in their membership fee of $2.50 which entitles them to one year's participation in all benefits, so that the thousand members will shortly be doubled, thereby doubling the buying power and influence in the community.

THIS WILL RESULT IN GREAT SAVINGS FOR YOU.

Money can't buy a greater luxury or surer way to beauty

Palm and Olive oils were discovered in ancient Egypt 3,000 years ago

The easy way to beauty

in a simple cake of soap

HOW do you keep your face clean? Do you give it a hasty daily washing with any old soap? Or do you perhaps depend on cold cream to remove dirt and dust?

Either method is dangerous and invites bad results.

Careless washing makes the skin rough and coarse. Yet complexions get soft and flabby without the tonic of water.

The secret is—make washing your face a real beauty treatment. How—by using Palmolive Soap, the beautifying cleanser.

The Palmolive lather is so mild that it cleanses without irritation, no matter how sensitive is your skin.

Profuse and creamy, it penetrates every tiny pore, removing the dirt, dust and oil secretions, which, when neglected, clog and irritate. Apply Palmolive Cold Cream and apply it liberally. If your skin is dry, use it both before and after washing.

Palmolive is the scientific modern combination of the Palm and Olive oils Cleopatra used. It is the favorite facial soap of millions who have learned that while you pay more you can't buy better.

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY, MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.

PALMOLIVE

Why doesn't it cost more?

Because the Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the demand.
Because the rare Palmolive ingredients are bought in enormous quantities.
Thus the price of Palmolive is kept moderate—no more than for ordinary soap. It can be enjoyed by every woman and procured everywhere.

NO VIOLATION OF PRINCIPLES

Allies Willing to Meet Any Changes in League That Are Not Vital.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador, who went home several months ago on leave and who later was assigned to special duty in connection with the settlement of the Polish question, is to return to Washington on Nov. 24. He is expected to bring with him the latest views of his government regarding the recasting of the League of Nations Covenant and to be prepared to discuss the subject with the officials of the Harding administration as soon as they are in office and ready to proceed.

It has long been known in diplomatic circles in Washington that the principal Allied powers were prepared to go far towards meeting any desire of the American government for changes in the plan of the Covenant, but it has been stated in at least one important quarter that such changes must in no case violate the underlying principles of the convention. Diplomats generally do not believe that such changes could be made by reservations such as were proposed in the so-called Lodge plan.

Amendments Necessary.

In their opinion, amendments would be necessary. They would require the approval of the various signatory powers. Another matter that will engage the attention of Ambassador Jusserand is the status of the commercial relations between the United States and France under existing treaties. France last spring gave notice to all powers with which she had commercial treaties of the termination of these conventions, her purpose being to replace them with a complete set of new treaties shaped to meet the new conditions in trade and commerce resulting from the war. Before the denunciation took effect, however, the French government withdrew the notice so far as it concerned the United States.

To Revise Commercial Treaties.

France, however has not abandoned her plan of revising her commercial treaties and is understood to be deferring the opening of negotiations with the United States until after the change of administrations in Washington on next March 4. Before the negotiations are opened, M. Jusserand is expected to acquaint himself with the plans of the Republican leaders in the matter of tariff revision, which might greatly influence the character of any new commercial convention.

The ambassador is also expected to make a close survey of the situation in Washington and report to his government upon the prospects of success in case it should decide to renew its efforts to secure approval by the senate of the treaty which would guarantee protection for France against external aggression for a period of five years. Failure of the original effort in that direction resulted in the abandonment of a similar Franco-British treaty.

Georgia Republicans to Contest.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—Three Republicans who lost to Democrats in Georgia congressional results will take their fights before congress on charges of irregularities, according to notice made public here. There were only five congressional districts in Georgia in which Democrats had opposition and the three in which contests are promised are the First, Fifth and Ninth districts. Georgia has not sent a Republican to congress since Reconstruction days.

ANNUAL TAX OF FOUR BILLIONS FACES U. S.

Washington, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The nation will face a continuation of the annual tax bill of four billion dollars for a period of at least three years if congress adopts recommendations drafted by treasury officials, and which, it was understood last night, have been laid before Secretary Houston for approval.

Mr. Houston, it was stated, probably will include such recommendations in the form of an analysis of the government's financial condition in his forthcoming annual report to congress. The analysis will show, and accompanying recommendations will suggest, it was said, that a three-year program of tax revision is required, in order to meet maturing government obligations and cover current Federal expenses and that the approximately eight billion dollars in Victory notes, war savings securities and treasury certificates of indebtedness will be due for payment within the next three years, treasury figures show. Retention of the present aggregate level of taxes, or maintenance of the annual revenue of the government at about four billion dollars then is held to be unavoidable on the face of average expenditures estimated for the period.

Recommendations to be made by Mr. Houston, it is understood, will propose abolishment of the excess profit taxes in their entirety and the substitution therefor of a graduated income tax of a substantially deeper cut than under present revenue laws. It was believed the new income taxes would apply only to incomes above $5,000 annually and that provision would be made for a graduated increase even on the additional tax as the amount of income grows larger.

FARMER-LABOR PARTY TO CONTINUE WORK

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—Parley P. Christensen, late candidate for president on the Farmer-Labor ticket, yesterday told an audience at the Labor temple here that his organization was already making plans for the 1924 campaign and that he hoped to be its standard bearer.

As a means toward educating the public and also toward financing the campaign, he said, the party would immediately embark in industrial enterprises, starting its work in Southern California by buying hides, erecting and operating a shoe factory and selling the output through its own stores. The plan contemplated that the party would actually direct these enterprises, he said, although they would be handled under another organization and the net revennes would be used for the advancement of party interests.

The Southern California enterprise, Mr. Christensen said, would be financed by a recent candidate for senator. He named William Kent, former representative from California, as the man he had in mind. Similar enterprises would be started at once in various parts of the country, he said.

Denies Financing Report.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 8.—William Kent, former congressman, and candidate before the August primaries for the Republican senatorial nomination, denied last night that he intended financing any co-operative scheme in Southern California, as suggested by Parley P. Christensen, Farmer-Labor party candidate for president, in an address at Los Angeles.

"I offered my ideas to Mr. Christensen on co-operative work in general," Mr. Kent said.

"I am not interested in the scheme as related to any political party."

BADGERS TO EXHIBIT.

Farmers to Again Display at International Hay and Grain Show.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Wisconsin farmers will send their prize seeds again this year to the international hay and grain show to be held in Chicago, Nov. 29 to Dec. 14, R. A. Moore, secretary of the Wisconsin Experiment association said today. Last year Badger growers won $1,300 of the total of $10,000 in premiums offered.

The association, made up of 2,000 growers, is striving to organize the state for pure bred grain production as it has been organized in the growing of dairy and livestock. Most of its members have attended either the short or long course in agriculture at the university, Mr. Moore said.

With about $1,500,000 worth of pure bred seeds sold by members of the experiment association this year, plans for the season call for an extension of the organization's influence at the shows and state wide meetings, the growers believe. All exhibits that will go to the international show this year will be shipped under "Grown in Wisconsin" tags.

BODY OF AIR PILOT FOUND WITH PLANE

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 8.—The body of John P. Woodward, air mail pilot, was found in the wreckage of his plane at Tie Siding, forty miles west of Cheyenne and fifteen miles southeast of Laramie, Wyo, late yesterday afternoon, according to word brought here by railroad men. Woodward was last reported over Laramie at 2:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Woodward left Salt Lake City at 11:30 a. m. on Saturday and was scheduled to arrive here with mail at [illegible] o'clock Sunday afternoon. A snow storm was in progress throughout the section. MANY BADGER JOBS TO FILL Governor-Elect Has Filling of Over 200 Positions This Year.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—The terms of forty-three appointive state officials expire during 1921, the first year of the incoming governor's term, according to records in the office of the secretary of state. After three consecutive terms of Governor Philipp there is speculation about the capitol as to the probability of an overturn in various departments with the incoming administration.

As far as can be obtained from records of the department of state, the executive has appointing power over 200 state officials, including heads of departments. More than 150 of these officials are serving terms that reach into the second year of the new governor's administration, with approximately 100 officers whose terms last through that of the incoming executive.

Moritz F. Blumenfeld of Watertown, superintendent of public property, will be up for reappointment on the first Monday in January, at which time his term ends. His is the only term which ends during the first month.

The first Monday in February marks the end of a number of appointments. George J. Weigle of Milwaukee, member of the dairy and food commission, will leave probably the most important position to be filled by appointment. At the same time the following terms expire: John S. Allen, Lake Geneva, member of the railroad commission; Miss Maud Neprud, Viroqua, board of control; Dr. Charles Sutherland, Janesville, board of health; John S. Owen, Eau Claire, state highway commission, A. J. Frame, Superior, board of conciliation; James Nevine, Madison, conservation commission; C. W. Harvey, Beaver Dam, A. N. Mihills, Fond du Lac, and H. D. Griswold, West Salem, all of the state advisory board; James E. Harman, Superior, grain and warehouse commission.

Superior Man's Job Ends.

Three members of the state board of public affairs have appointments that end at the same time: George B. Hudnall, Superior; George A. West, Milwaukee, and L. Albert Karel, Kewanee.

Two university and two normal regents end their services unless reappointed. Francis G. Perkins of Fond du Lac, and James F. Trottman of Milwaukee of the university regents and Clough Gates, Superior, and Clara T. Runge, Baraboo, of the normal regents are serving terms that expire Feb. 1.

On the first of April the following officers will be up for reappointment: Arthur O. St. Clair, Ingram; Ole Paulson, Dorchester; Robert J. Patrick, Eau Claire, lumber inspectors; B. N. Rhinelander, oil inspector; B. J. Kremer, Fond du Lac, state board of pharmacy.

During May two other appointments end. They are those of Leonard W. Cleveland, Ripon, of the board of dental examiners, and Nils P. Haugan, Madison.

In June, July and August the following appointments end:

F. C. Haney, Watertown; F. F. Clark, Waupan; Dr. Oscar Lotz, Milwaukee; Dr. Edward C. Murphy, Eau Claire, of the state board of medical examiners; Willis P. Chappell, Eau Claire, president of the board of optometry examiners; J. R. Bentley, Rhinelander, pulpwood scaler superintendent; Robert Law, Neenah, and F. A. Walsh, Milwaukee, of the Wisconsin veterans' home; L. J. Stair, Brodhead, of the university board of visitors; C. W. Wildner, Superior, of the real estate brokers' board; Carl Penner, Milwaukee, state board of accountancy; Lewis A. Kellogg, Ripon, president of the civil service commission; Charles Hill, Rosendale, state board of education; Emil Baensch, Manitowoc, and Andrew L. Kreutser, Wausau, of the free library commission.

George P. Hambrecht, Wisconsin Rapids, chairman of the state industrial commission, reaches the end of his term on June 30.

MANY NEW MEN WILL RUN BADGER AFFAIRS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Wisconsin will have new executive and legislative branches of its government for the first time in six years as a result of last Tuesday's election. On the composition of the senate and assembly, which meet in January, will depend to a large extent the ability of the governor-elect, John J. Blaine, to carry out his platform.

Sixty legislators will be serving their first term. The new president of the senate, Lieut. Governor George F. Comings of Eau Claire, is an entirely new man in the capitol. The political complexity of the legislature as a result of this influx of new material is one of the prominent subjects of discussion among politicians here.

Republicans are overwhelmingly in the majority both in the senate and assembly. A sprinkling of Socialists will be present to break the party line. A possible cleavage within Republican ranks will be the important concern, as it has for the last decade.

The first contest of importance will be that for speaker of the assembly. Riley S. Young of Walworth county, speaker in 1919, is candidate for reelection, with Wallace Ingalls of Racine as his most likely competitor, in the opinion of officials here.

Governor-elect Blaine has stated that he will back up his platform promises vigorously during his term in the governor's chair.

GIVES PERMISSION TO USE NAME

Eugene Palmer, Lawrence, Mass., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me of a cough from which I had been suffering for weeks. You have my full permission to use my name any time you wish in any advertising matter." This fine old family remedy is in great demand right now for colds, croup and bronchial and grip coughs. Foley's Honey and Tar acts almost instantly, cuts the phlegm, soothes the raw and irritated membrane, clears breathing passages.

DISSATISFIED WITH WORK OF POLICE, BANKER RECOVERS HIS MONEY

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Dissatisfied with the work of the police in following up clews in the robbery Friday of $275,000 in cash, checks and bonds from a messenger for the Hyde Park State bank, John A. Carroll, president of the bank, Saturday started an investigation of his own and last night had received all but $3,900 of the loot, had given the police the names of the robbers and had started a chase after them.

From clews furnished by the messenger, Mr. Carroll picked up the trail of the robbers and followed it to an abandoned barn on the outskirts of the city. He had Edward Royls, owner of the barn, arrested and Royls, according to the police, said that his brother, James Royls, James Brennan and George Dorothy, students at the University of Chicago army training school were the men who robbed the messenger. In the barn was found the satchel in which the messenger carried the money and nearly all of the bonds and checks.

The three men accused by Royls were traced to the Chicago-Illinois football game at Stagg field, but were said to have escaped in a stolen automobile when officers approached. Police have spread a net which they believe will result in the capture of the youths.

BACK TO THE FARM MOVE BY BAPTISTS

New York, Nov. 8.—A quiet "back to the farm" religious movement has been inaugurated by the American Baptist Home Mission society, Dr. Rolvix Harlan, head of the department of social service and rural community service, announced today.

The society will call upon wealthy men and women who began life as country boys and girls, urging upon them not to forget "the little brown church back home," and to contribute to endowment funds and sustentation funds to support rural churches whose funds are depleted by losses and removals. A great many present-day financiers and leading business men in our cities were brought up in country churches, according to Dr. Harlan, and he believes that this movement to interest them will meet with response.

The movement will include an attempt to raise the salaries of rural ministers. Seventy-five per cent of all pastors of evangelical churches are outside the large cities, and receive an average of $573 a year. From endowment and sustentation funds the salary of resident pastors in rural communities will be supplemented to give an adequate living.

Only Democrat Elected.

Menominee, Mich., Nov. 8.—To Judge John Stiles belongs the distinction of being the only Democrat elected in Menominee county and Tuesday he enters upon his fifth term as probate judge. He ran 6,000 ahead of his ticket in the face of a Republican landslide.

RECORD CROWD AT CHURCH.

Forty New Members Added to First Presbyterian Body.

The largest congregation that ever attended sacramental services at the First Presbyterian church packed the large auditorium and side rooms yesterday morning. Every seat in the church was taken and it was found necessary to provide extra seats in some of the aisles. A class of forty new members was received. Dr. George Brewer conducted the services.

James G. Garrison, state superintendent of the Minnesota Sunday School association, spoke at the evening service on "Modern Methods in Bible Instruction."

Dr. Brewer announced that in the near future he would begin a special series of morning sermons on the Bible treating his theme in ten sermons from ten varied viewpoints.

The Men's Bible class will begin a special study in the life, letters and life work of St. Paul under the direction of E. W. MacPherran. The class will meet at 10 a. m. every Sunday.

MINNESOTA FARMERS LIKE SEED INSPECTION

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The demand of Minnesota farmers for seed inspection and certification has increased so rapidly in a year, says T. E. Odland, secretary of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, that the inspection force has been kept on the jump for months while trying to keep up. Seed certification work was started two years ago by the association. Only a few inspections were made the first year, while the total increased to about sixty last year. This year about 175 farmers applied for inspection of different crops. Mr. Odland says the total number of bushels inspected this year will be more than three times the total inspected last year. Any farmers living in Minnesota may apply for inspection of any improved and recognized variety of grain seed.

The Grand Canyon Line

Society and Women's Clubs

THE hat is a capricious sort of thing. It changes style more often than the seasons. A woman can never be sure that the hat she bought in early September will be just as smart when the snow flies. Color, line, material—one, or all three are quite likely to have changed their identity to a considerable extent, within a few short weeks. Not long ago we were given to understand that the hat with a brim was the only sort that would be countenanced in smart circles. The approach of winter and the advent of the roomy heavy coat with its enveloping fur collar, demands a change in the line of the hat. Certainly, in this case brimmed hats must give place to close-fitting headgear with the "off-face line," as the black-gowned saleswomen designate them.

Paris is still wearing hatters' plush and American women favor it strongly, too. Many of the models to be found at local shops are made of this material. Velvet, perhaps, comes second, and celiphane is very good. Fur and feather hats are attractive. Many stunning models are shown. Charming effects are obtained in some hats of nutria, which have delicate tracings of silver over the crown. Others, in the tam shape, are equally good to look at.

TETRAZZINI GUEST HERE FOR A WEEK

Famous Diva Will Arrive Tuesday and Reside in Palatial Car.

Tetrazzini, famous colotratura soprano, will spend the next week in Duluth. She will arrive from Chicago tomorrow in her private car and will maintain residence in her car until next Monday night when she will appear at the New Armory in Mrs. George S. Richards' All-Star course.

A domicile on wheels, which contains all the convenience and luxuries of a modern hotel, except the tipping system, is the present home of Mme. Tetrazzini, who is making a concert tour of the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

This domicile is a private car, the pride of the Pullman company, for it is conceded to be the best equipped vehicle in the United States. Certainly it is very comfortable with its splendid drawing room and Turkish cosy corner, inviting dining apartment and enticing kitchen, with a special chef, selected because of his knowledge of the dishes that appeal to the diva's particular palate. But the real feature of the car—the first one ever installed, is the music room—with its miniature piano, which was made especially in London for Mme Tetrazzini for this very purpose. Then there are a graphaphone with innumerable records and a music library, which contains her favorite vocal music and operas. While the train speeds along at top speed, Tetrazzini carols forth her amazing cadences and trills and keeps her voice to the very pitch of perfection by constant practice.

Another delightful apartment in the cantatrice's bedroom, with its white enamel bed, dainty decorations and adjoining the tiled bathroom where the glistering tub and shining silver spigots bespeak cleanliness. Beyond the dining room with its service of silver and flower filled vases is the kitchen presided over by three servants under the direction of Tony Tinelli, the prima donna's own butler whom she brought from her Roman palazzo and who, in her opinion, can prepare spaghetti better than anybody else in the world. There are likewise sleeping apartments for the ten persons in the prima donna's entourage, which includes the members of her company and her two maids and the singers' manager and personal adviser, William H. Leahy, the San Francisco impressario, who first introduced Mme. Tetrazzini to North America and under whose auspices the tour is being made. Mrs. Leahy also accompanies the party, for she is Mme. Tetrazzini's intimate friend and confidante.

WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET; PLANS LAID

Special Sessions Outlined—National Speakers to Attend Convention.

Special sessions on education, legislation and policy and organization will be conducted at the state convention of the Minnesota League of Women Voters, to be held in Minneapolis, Dec. 7 to 9, according to plans made at the first post election board meeting, which took place at the home of Miss Marguerite Wells, president. The convention will be in the Curtis hotel.

A general committee of 100 women is to be appointed to have charge of arrangements for the convention. National speakers to come to the city at the time include Mesdames F. Louis Slade and Charles S. Tiffany of New York and Mrs. James Morrison and Miss Mary McDowell of Chicago. Miss McDowell is the new national chairman of women in industry, succeeding Mrs. Raymond Robins, who resigned.

Mrs. James Paige, director for the Fifth region for the national league, was appointed chairman of the constitution revision committee. The board voted to send Miss Emily Kneubuhl, political education director, to Indianapolis to attend the national convention of the National Municipal league, Nov. 17-19, because so much of her future work will be instruction in city and village government.

AT THE THEATERS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Frank Dobson and His Thirteen Sirens; other acts.
NEW GRAND—Mlle. Celeste and her wonderful leopards; other features.

By JAMES WATTS.

ORPHEUM—Homer tells in "The Odyssey" that when Ulysses, the Grecian warrior, departed from the ruins of Ilium he wandered for ten years before he finally reached home, encountering on his way many adventures. One of the most famous episodes of his voyage was his encounter with the sirens, those water nymphs whose seductive song lured mariners upon the rocky shores of their island home. Ulysses was a wise man, and so he put wax in his ears and steered clear of the sirens' isle. If he were to have such an adventure today he would probably stop and open a restaurant or do as Frank Dobson has done—select thirteen of the sirens and go into vaudeville. Frank certainly qualifies as a wise man up to date, for he has selected thirteen of the vampiest little sirens you ever saw, and a few others who are not sirens at all, making excellent material for a musical fun festival. This act is artistically staged and as smart as a Broadway soubrette after a shopping tour on Fifth avenue—that is, Fifth avenue, New York.

Although the sirens are alluring, there are others on the bill. Take for instance Harry Hayden and company in "The Love Game." Here is a playlet the likes of which you cannot find more than once in a season, as there are no others just like it. Its theme is trivial, but its effects are remarkable—telling just why one fellow can win more women than a Mormon and another fellow can't keep the attentions of a woman who loves him. One is too condescending, while the other fellow knows the meaning of the magic word "flirtation." It would be difficult to say too much for this splendid company. Mr. Hayden is so bashful and obliging that only a faithful dog could appreciate him, and Scott Moore, the flirtatious young husband, is so indiscriminate in his attentions to women that he keeps them all guessing. Virginia Marseillius is an engaging little vamp, petted into a state of mild insanity about her precious charms. Eloise Murray, who is the vivacious and clever wife of the flirtatious husband, does another characterization that is natural and effective. These players all act so naturally that one almost forgets he is in the world of make-believe until the very end, and then there is a surprise and a punch that knocks a fellow over the ropes of fancy in the world of real romance and matrimonial pugilism.

One often sees female impersonators and men in women's clothes on the stage, but seldom does he see a fellow who can travesty the opposite sex to advantage. Such an artist is Herbert Clifton, who registered one of the biggest hits of the bill yesterday. He has a Jekyll-and-Hyde voice, ranging from basso profundo to a falsetto treble, with which he creates mirth and melody. His comedy is very good, but his final number, Tosti's "Goodbye," in which he impersonates a prima donna, is a work of art, rendered with remarkable effectiveness.

Walter Ward and Ethel Dooley in "What We Can Do" demonstrate what a clever young man and a pretty girl can do in odds and ends of vaudeville. Mr. Ward impersonates Will Rogers and Fred Stone with a rope and nimble feet and Miss Dooley has two good reasons for wearing abbreviated tights. She also rides a bicycle and handles sixty feet of rope rather gingerly.

"A Pressing Engagement," which in this case applies to a tailor, is the frivolous and frolicsome vehicle of Barnes and Freeman. Some rather good singing and hokum make up the turn. Roy La Pearl is a clever and daring aerialist, while the Arco Brothers are varied entertainers with good voices.

Kinograms must be popular this week, as the Sunday afternoon audience held its ground until after the last flicker. Topics of the Day provide jokes and wise sayings up to the minute, while Mr. Michaud and his orchestra put spirit and color into the program.

NEW GRAND—Popular amusement at its best makes up the vaudeville and photoplay show at the New Grand, which opened a four-day engagement at that comfortable little playhouse yesterday. Those who were fortunate enough to get in were well entertained and it looks like a big week ahead.

A fellow who passed a restaurant recently saw the sign: "Coffee like mother used to make." Then he went in and ordered a cup of tea. This is suggested by the picture of domestic bliss in "Old Folks at Home," the delightful rural comedy playlet presented by Lee Beggs and company. An old couple is resting in the sunset of life, happy in their prosperity and apparent welfare of their married daughter. Suddenly they are notified that the daughter has had a family jar and is coming home. So the old couple decide to teach the children a lesson by staging an object lesson in the nature of a family quarrel. As the daughter and son-in-law enter, the old folks are smashing crockery, throwing cooking utensils and otherwise having a good fight. The children are led to see the folly of the quarrel game and by the time the cuckoo clock sounds the curfew all are reconciled and happy. If there are any foolish people who are seeking divorce because of imaginary grievances, they had better go to the Grand instead of the courthouse. Lee Beggs is a splendid character actor.

The Makarenko Duo, two singers with good voices and an infinite capacity for making fun, enliven the situation for about fifteen minutes, gathering salvos of applause.

You don't have to be daffy to enjoy daffydils. Bryant and Stewart are a couple of the daffydil species. It would be difficult to repeat what they said but it is diverting nonsense.

Mooney and Capman are two young fellows with song, jest and tomfoolery to spare.

The best animal act seen in a long time is that of Mlle. Olga Celeste and her wonderful leopards. The buxom and bonny lass has five beautiful spotted beasts and she has them so well trained that they perform many clever stunts. The act is so elaborately arranged that it occupies the entire stage, making it a regular circus novelty.

The pictures offer varied entertainment, including another episode of "The Third Eye," cartoons, news, comedies and flickers.

Eat more Cloverland lamb this week. Ask your butcher. Swift & Co. —Advertisement.

NEW GARRICK—Charley Ray in "Peaceful Valley."
STRAND—"Humoresque" with Alma Rubens.
ZELDA—Alice Joyce in "The Vice of Fools."
NEW LYRIC—Tom Mix in "Three Gold Coins."
NEW ASTOR—Wallace Reid in "Excuse My Dust."

NEW GARRICK—It is possible that Charles Ray may have done better things and have starred in better pictures, but if either is the case it is a safe bet that no one will remember the part or the production in which it occurred when viewing "Peaceful Valley," in which he came to the New Garrick yesterday. He is back in the sort of role in which he has won a following that few male stars have been able to boast of—that of a "rube," or to be more exact, a ruralite who knows nothing of city ways. No other actor has been able to give the same realism, the same human touch that he gives such a role, and in "Peaceful Valley" he is able to give his talent full sway. It is made up of a series of human and highly humorous incidents—incidents which will be recognized as lifelike. It is romance, sentiment, mother-love and intimate touches of farm life which make the picture thoroughly appealing. Ray never gave a finer portrayal than that of Hosiah Howe, the part made famous by Sol Smith Russell. The added

Side Talks

By Ruth Cameron.

IS IT FAIR TO THE BEST MOTHERS?

BEAUTIFUL, devoted motherhood is the most beautiful thing in the world. Everyone acknowledges that.

But is any motherhood at all—no matter how far it comes from living up to its opportunities and its obligations, how resentful even of the coming of these opportunities—beautiful!

I know that there is a feeling that one should not so much as hint that motherhood is not always a beautiful and ennobling condition and superior to any other kind of service a woman can do the human race.

But is it fair to the women who make their motherhood a beautiful service to thus class with it all the careless, the indifferent, the unwilling, the self-indulgent, the shirking motherhood?

Is It Fair to the Women?

Is it fair to all the fine women who are denied, for one reason or another, a motherhood they long for and would unquestionably make beautiful, and who try to make up by pouring their hearts into some other kind of service, to maintain that whatever they may accomplish is of less beauty and value than the contribution of the most indifferent mother?

I cannot see the justice in this.

We were speaking of two women the other day. One woman was the mother of an only child. He is a perfectly good child, but in no way extraordinary. He makes his own way in the world and is good to his mother, but he certainly does not add in any great degree to the happiness and welfare of others, so he cannot be regarded as any remarkable achievement.

She Has Reached Countless Lives.

The other woman was for forty years a splendid teacher of small children. She did not do her work in any mechanical way, but put her whole heart into it and reached out through the children of the slums (who were, by her own choice, her charges) into their homes and exerted a great influence for good there. She has touched and reached and inspired countless lives. Hundreds of children, though not her own, still rise up to call her blessed.

In some way a comparison was made between these two women and the claim was made that the first one's life was of greater value because she was a mother. Three women, out of a group of five, upheld this claim.

Is there any justice, any reason, in that?

Here's another case: I used to know a woman who had two children who were both turned over to a nurse as soon as they were born, to be looked after through their babyhood. As babies they both preferred the nurse to their mother. She loved these children in her way, but she did not want them, she did not really enjoy them.

And yet if you should have hinted to this woman that by unwillingly bearing these children and doing what she had to do for them, she did not make herself far more valuable to the community than any woman not a mother, no matter what public service the latter might be rendering, she would have been highly indignant.

Once more I return to my original thesis—a beautiful, devoted, gifted motherhood is the most beautiful thing in the world. But to put all motherhood on a dead level of adulation is sentimentality and not sentiment, and is an insult and not a tribute to the real mothers.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

SERVING AFTERNOON TEA WITHOUT A MAID.

I receive so many letters from readers who ask for suggestions regarding the problem of entertaining without a maid. The majority of these women wish help in serving afternoon tea or light refreshments for an afternoon party in the drawing room. "Tell me how to do the waiting in the least conspicuous way," these letters say almost without an exception.

Since the domestic helper has become an almost extinct species of the genus homo, this problem of playing hostess and waitress at once has become a very real consideration to most of us. And, to my mind, it is solved in only one way—the acquisition of a tea cart and a "curate's assistant."

A hostess may with dignity wheel a dainty tea cart into a room where she could not bear a tray. The three-shelf, tower-like little "curate's assistant" may be carried about laden with sandwiches, small cakes and such other accessories to the light repast, indeed, it received its name originally by being carried about in old England by parish curates at the tea hour, so that each guest could help herself as it paused before her.

On the tea cart may be a tray upon which stands the tea pot (or coffee pot), sugar bowl, creamer, strainer, dish containing slices of lemon, spoons and small napkins. Sandwiches, small cakes and bonbons will be found on the shelves of the "curate's assistant."

If the affair is an afternoon party and the hostess desires to serve a salad in addition to tea or coffee and cake, there is the lower shelf of the tea cart to fall back on; individual portions of salad may be placed upon this lower shelf, a fork on each plate, before the cart is wheeled into the room. The empty plates may go back on this lower shelf, where they will be less conspicuous than if placed on a higher surface.

To be sure, tea cart and curate's assistant cost no trivial sum at the present moment. But if they are considered a substitute for a maid, their price diminishes considerably in the mind's eye!

As I have suggested before, concerning other desirable possessions, the woman who thinks she "can't afford" a thing she would like to have, might ask the various members of her family to pool the money they would spend individually for her at Christmas on something she didn't wish at all, and spend it on the thing she really wants.

Bride-Entertainer: Answer—You are lucky to have a relative who will supply you with chicken for the refreshments at your "harvest birthday party." By all means accept his offer. Serve chicken chop suey, which is delicious and dainty. I think it is a pretty idea to combine your birthday celebration with an observation of the season's bounties. I would suggest a half-pumpkin, hollowed out, with edges scalloped, as a centerpiece for your table; fill it with fruit and nuts.

Chicken Chop Suey—Boil a chicken, remove the breast and cut in thin strips one inch long. Melt 1 tablespoon butter, add the chicken, ¾ cup of celery cut in thin slices crosswise, 6 canned mushroom caps cut likewise and 1 onion peeled and thinly sliced. Cook slowly for 5 minutes, then add 1 cup chicken broth, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ green pepper cut in thin shreds and 1 teaspoon cornstarch mixed with 2 tablespoons cold water. Heat to boiling point and simmer 5 minutes, then serve in a rice border. Marmalade sandwiches are delicious served with this, and the rest of your menu will be the birthday cake and coffee.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

O POSSUM SITS ON THE MOON.

ALL of the forest creatures came out on the bank of the river to see O Possum swinging by his tail on the swing that was let down by the Moon. Jack the Rabbit was there, and so were Billy Mink and Bobby Hoot Owl. Mrs. Night Hawk was there, too, to tell the story of the night before, when she sailed above the clouds and saw O Possum with his arm around Mr. Moon. Major Pole Cat was there and so was Chief Porky.

Tinker Bob sent for Lady Duck so she might see the sight of Old Man O Possum sailing with the Moon. Dr. Coon came along and said that he was glad O Possum had left the forest. Mr. Chuck said he hoped O Possum would never come back again.

Well, while they were each telling the other what he wished, a strange and startling thing happened. The ropes that held the swing seemed to lengthen. Longer and longer they grew, till O Possum came close to the bosom of the river, and there he swung back and forth, hanging only by his tail. Now and then he would touch the surface of the water. Jack the Rabbit was so startled that he stood up on his hind feet and shook with fear. Said he, "That fellow is crazy, or I'm seeing strange things."

"If he falls into the river it will be good-by O Possum," said Mr. Muskrat, "for I know he can't swim any more than Jerry the Jay."

"Well, the sooner he drowns the better it will be for every creature in the forest," said Dr. Coon, as he looked sneeringly at these stunts.

Then the ropes began to shorten and O Possum was pulled up closer and closer to the Moon. When he was within reach of his friend he took Mr. Moon by the nose, which handle he used to pull himself up until he sat on top of his head. And there, from the top of Mr. Moon, O Possum waved farewell to all of the creatures of the forest. So startled were they that none could move for an instant. In silence they watched Mr. Moon and O Possum travel rapidly on toward morning.

In the midst of this silence there came a sound that was terrifying to every forest dweller. It was a howl, and it sounded and resounded through the forest. Red Fox put his tail between his legs and ran for the thicket. Billy Mink climbed into a hollow log and Jack the Rabbit turned so quickly that he nearly jumped out of his skin. Dr. Coon knew what was best for him to do and he climbed a tree nearby, and Bobby Hoot Owl and Mrs. Night Hawk were the only ones that were not afraid, because they had wings. Even Tinker Bob was startled, for it was a terrible sound to hear in the midst of a silent night. Do you know who it was? I'll tell you tomorrow.

He Took Mr. Moon by the Nose.

THIS WOMAN FOUND RELIEF

Men and women suffering from backache, rheumatic pains, stiff and swollen joints, lameness and soreness, will be glad to read how one woman found relief from kidney and bladder trouble. Mrs. G. Hyde, Homestead, Mich., writes: "I have been troubled with weak kidneys; and several times in the last ten years I had that terrible backache and tired-out feeling, scarcely able to do my work. Foley Kidney Pills made me feel like a new person."

ZELDA—Cameron West was much surprised when Diana Spaulding announced her engagement to him, for she not only had refused to consider his offer of marriage favorably, but had shown a marked preference for Granville Wingate. As a matter of fact, the pretty but pettish debutante had acted in anger, not in love, in making her choice. The incident is only one of many, strikingly dramatic, in "The Vice of Fools," now at the Zelda, by Francis James, which has been visualized by Vitagraph, with Alice Joyce as the star. The enthralling picture play deals with a four-cornered love affir in which no two of the persons involved are in love with each other. In the complicated tangle of human emotions, Marion Rogers alone preserves a degree of judgment and regard for the welfare of others than herself. The other three seek the fulfillment of their desires with reckless disregard of consequences.

◆

STRAND—Movie fans are to have another week with the wonderful "Humoresque" at the Strand theater. If Duluthians appreciate one of the most wonderful pictures ever filmed there will not be a vacant seat in Manager J. B. Clinton's playhouse this week. In other cities "Humoresque" has engagement records that run into months.

In no picture has there been a finer or sweeter appeal. It is play of the common people—racial, perhaps—but human emotions disregard race, place, creed and color.

A word to those who have already seen it—you will enjoy it better on a second visit. First viewing concerns you principally with the story; a second screening affords opportunity to study its wonderful direction and to admire the extraordinary "types" employed. Never before, probably, has a play been so perfectly cast. A more superb characterization than the mother of Vera Gordon—her first picture, by the way—would be hard to imagine. Even the unfortunate foolish-minded brother is most beautifully interpreted. Apparently, there is not an error in direction. "Humoresque" will be found well worth the second visit. Better see a good picture twice than two poor ones once.

◆

NEW LYRIC—Capacity audiences have been the rule rather than the exception for the showings of Tom Mix in "3 Gold Coins" at the New Lyric. In this thriller Mix plays a double role, being seen as the hero and as the "bad" man. As the hero he outwits a pair of oil land crooks, who try to fleece the unsuspecting of a Western town, and as the "bad" man he attempts to loot the town, but is captured. A pretty love story is effectively mingled in the thrilling plot. The cast includes Margaret Loomis, Frank Whitson, Bert Hadley and others. Elaine Hammerstein in her latest picture, "The Daughter Pays," is coming to the New Lyric on a bill which also includes Bobby Vernon in his latest Christie comedy special, "Going Through the Rye." Both pictures are said to be among the very best of their type, and the program on which they appear should be an uncommon amusement feature.

◆

NEW ASTOR—A happy combination of "Treasure Island" and the best of the other similar stories is the characterization which critics give to "The Son of Tarzan," the latest work of Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of the "Tarzan" stories, running as a serial feature at the New Astor. The second story, "Out of the Lion's Jaws," comes tomorrow to remain three days on a program which also includes Olive Thomas in "The Glorious Lady." It is the fourth Tarzan story to be filmed. Due to the sensational exploits and the use of so many wild animals in the production about a dozen persons were more or less seriously hurt while it was being made. Ten special animal trainers, one for each group of wild beasts used, were on hand to help in filming it, and the entire cast was picked with due regard for their ability and willingness to "take a chance" with injury or death.

Garrick Symphony Concert.

The excellence and merit of the Garrick symphony concerts is well shown by the weekly attendance at these Sunday afternoon affairs. Not only are the best musicians of the city in attendance but many who simply enjoy the best in music. The general interest in these entertainments is due largely to the careful selection of programs by Conductor Charles Helmer. Numbers from the classics are combined with ballads and popular selections from the latest musical comedies of Broadway.

Yesterday's program was a good example of this careful selection. There were two numbers from Grieg, "The Repose of the Forest" and "The Dance of the Dwarfs," the largo from "The New World Symphony," and lively and varied numbers from "Irene."

The program, however, was not so much of a Grieg affair as the oue of the preceding week, but they were ideally suited to a Sunday afternoon program, and served as a peaceful background for the more sprightly "Barber of Seville" and musical comedy numbers.

The march from "Alda" provided an excellent closing number with its bigness and stirring martial strains.

KITCHENETTE AT THEATER; FREE "EATS" FOR PLAYERS

John Buck, manager of Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street theater, New York, has installed a kitchenette with a cook in charge who will cater to the wants of those playing the bill at the theater, without charge. The kitchenette is in one corner of the green room. It comprises an electric range, an ice box and a complete set of cooking utensils.

The plan is to serve tea and biscuits, or coffee and cake each afternoon after the first show. A light breakfast will be served Monday and Thursday mornings to those acts who come in from out of town on the early trains and who rush to the theater for rehearsal, because of having insufficient time to eat at a restaurant.

MURDER IS JURY'S VERDICT

Charles J. Lehman Found Shot to Death Near Floodwood.

Charles J. Lehman, age 56, a settler living six and a half miles from Floodwood, who was found dead Thursday morning about a half mile from his home, died from a bullet wound fired from a gun in the hands of some unknown person, according to a verdict of a coroner's jury at an inquest held by Coroner C. F. McComb yesterday. When the man was first found it was thought he had dropped dead of heart failure.

Mr. Lehman had come home Wednesday afternoon from work about the farm and signified his intention of going hunting. He left his home between 4:30 and 5 o'clock, according to testimony given. At about 5:30 he appeared at the home of August Ingbert, a neighbor saying he was tired. Mr. Ingbert testified that Lehman rested for about ten minutes. He said he did not notice any gun but that Lehman might have left it outside.

Mr. Lehman's failure to come home for supper did not cause much comment at his home. When he failed to show up by 4:30 o'clock the next morning his two sons, Fred and Gust, went searching for him. The body was found lying near the gate in the fence leading to the Ingbert home. This spot was about thirty rods from the Ingbert home.

The two sons testified that they had heard shots on their way home from work in the woods, but they disagreed as to the spot where they were when the shots were heard. The sons testified to having gone to the Ingbert home after finding the body and telling that their father had been shot.

Ingbert accompanied them to where the body lay and on making a casual examination said he was not shot but had probably died of heart failure. Mr. Lehman had been bothered with this disease. The body was removed to a granary back of the Lehman home until after the arrival of Coroner McComb, who made an examination which revealed the bullet wound. No blood was discovered until the clothes were removed by Dr. McComb. County Attorney Warren E. Greene conducted the examination of witnesses for the state. An investigation will be conducted by the county attorney's office

NOT ONE PARTY, BUT TWO.

"There's one good thing about it: at any rate the entire government has fallen into the hands of one party, which is therefore in a position to evolve and put through a party program."

Superficially, that is true. Actually, it is yet far from true. The government has not fallen into the hands of one party, but two: the party of Penrose and Lodge and Smoot and Brandegee, and the party of La Follette and Johnson and Borah and Norris and Ladd.

What the country will next witness, therefore, after watching the one-sided struggle between the Republican and Democratic parties, is a struggle, carried on in office, between the two Republican parties.

It will not be the functioning of a homogeneous and united party, creating a party program and enacting it into law, but a struggle for supremacy between the two parties that were queerly united, for campaign purposes only, under a single party name.

Unless Mr. Harding commits the disastrous and capastrophic error of striving to ride both these horses in office as he did in the campaign, we should say that the struggle, when it comes, will be short if not sweet. What is termed the "Old Guard," meaning the most conservative element in the Republican party, is thoroughly in the saddle, and no Johnsons or Borahs or La Follettes, whatever they may do and however they may shriek to high heaven, will be able to unhorse it.

If the Republican senate majority had been narrower, it might not have been so. If the Republicans had been fixed there so that they could not put through a party program without the support of the Republican radicals, it would have made a very great difference in the situation. But they are not fixed that way. Their majority in the senate is wide enough to permit them, if they wish, to tell Borah and Johnson and La Follette that, agitate as they please, it will do them no good.

Just as it was necessary for the good of the country to get the deadlocking struggle between Republicans and Democrats out of the way so government could function as it should, so now it is necessary to get the fight between the Republican party fought out and settled so the surviving faction can go ahead and do what it can do.

It's rather a dangerous position for the victorious party. The temptation to overdo reaction will be strong, because the country voted the party into power knowing that reaction was in control, and it will be too easy to say that the country WANTS reaction. And reaction, being always stupid, would stir up discontents that would bring perilous times in the near future, where the sensible conservatism that means going ahead carefully would tide over the period of unrest safely.

For the country's good, it is to be hoped that common sense will prevail in Republican councils and that that peril will be avoided. Also, that the Republicans will get at their family row and have it over at the earliest possible moment.

THE GIRL SCOUTS.

The nation-wide campaign for the Girl Scouts is in progress, and Duluth's intensive drive began today.

Those who are asked to help this movement may do so in full confidence that they are helping a fine cause, and that what they do for it will return large dividends to society in stronger, more useful and more patriotic girlhood, which means great things for the womanhood of tomorrow.

In the country as a whole the plan is to raise a little more than a million dollars to advance the spread of the Girl Scout movement. This money is to be raised by dollar contributions solicited by the Girl Scouts themselves. The Girl Scout who comes to you this week is doing her share, and asking you to do yours, in making this campaign a success.

As the Girl Scouts themselves have explained in many addresses, the spirit of their organization is similar to that of the Boy Scouts. Like the Boy Scouts, their slogan is "Do a good turn daily." Like the Boy Scouts, their aim is the physical, moral and patriotic development of the members. The purposes of what the members do are these: To grow stronger, which involves pleasant and wholesome outdoor work and play; to help those around them, which involves useful lessons in practical helpfulness; and to help their country, which involves learning to be better citizens by obeying their Scout laws.

> Practice yourself, for heaven's sake, in little things; and thence proceed to greater.
>
> —Epictetus.

The Scout movement makes for better, stronger and healthier girlhood, and therefore toward a finer, kinder and more patriotic womanhood. It deserves your support.

◆

SEE THE POTATO SHOW.

Every citizen of Duluth who takes the trouble to see the annual potato show at the Armory today, tomorrow or next day will come forth from the experience with a new idea of the section he is living in, and a new pride in it.

If he comes out of it with the conviction that we can beat the world for potatoes, his exuberance can easily be forgiven.

The second annual convention of the Minnesota Potato Growers' association, which is being held here the first three days of the week, is the occasion, and everybody should take in as many of the sessions of this organization as possible. Above all, everybody should see the potato show, and as nearly everybody as possible should be at the banquet tomorrow night.

Those who see the show will realize something of the progress that this region has made in growing the finest kind of potatoes. Those who take in the convention sessions and the banquet will hear more about that, about the reasons for it, and about the business of growing aristocratic potatoes and lots of them.

It is an event of far more than usual importance and interest, and you will find it interesting and instructive to take part in it.

◆

WIDENED BENEFITS.

Aside from the enjoyment that Sousa's lively music and excellent band always bring, there were features of Saturday's Sousa production under the direction of Mrs. Stephen H. Jones that deserve special commendation. These were the features that promoted a widened benefit from good musical productions in Duluth, and chief among them was the children's matinee, when several thousand young people were enabled to hear the band at prices within the reach of all of them.

It was good, too, to see the several local singing organizations present in a body, not only because it gave the members a chance to hear the production but because it gave the public a new idea of the scope of local musical effort in Duluth. These organizations, which not only enable hundreds of local people to hear good music but train them to provide good music themselves, deserve all possible support. There should be more of them.

But the prettiest spectacle of all was the children's matinee, and Mrs. Jones is entitled to great credit for the pretty thought that made it possible.

MAKING CONGRESS A MOB.

Word comes anew that if, in the congressional reapportionment which is the first duty of the new congress following the census, the basis of representation is not increased, the result will be a house of representatives numbering fifty more than the present house. And the present house is already far too large for comfort, convenience or good service.

The temptation will be to make this increase. If the apportionment basis is increased to keep the house at its present size—it ought to be increased to make it much smaller, but that is too much to hope for—that means that a number of states must lose representatives. States threatened with that loss will fight, and sitting members threatened with loss of their places will carry on that fight. If the size of the house is increased, no state will loose representation, and no congressman will lose his place. That is the easy way, and congress will take it if it is not watched.

But it is the wrong way. It is the wrong way because the house is already so large that it gets in its own way; because the only way a body so large can be handled is by dangerously arbitrary and autocratic methods, which are always subject to the danger of gross misuse; and because, for these reasons, the house ought to be made smaller instead of larger.

Adding more members would of course increase the expense, though that is the smallest factor. The public ought to insist that the house in its new apportionment at least shall hold itself down to its present size.

Modern Adventure

Birmingham Age-Herald: "A big touring car whirled around a corner with two men standing up in the tonneau and firing at another car full of policemen in pursuit."

"Yes, yes."

"As I stood paralyzed in my tracks I thought I heard bullets spattering all around me."

"Go on."

"Just as I leaned against a telephone pole to keep from falling in a faint I heard a voice behind me say, 'Cut it, Bill. We're due back at the studio.'"

"Button doesn't bell. Bump."

A Lawn

Life: What is the patch of hard, bare ground? It is a lawn. What grows there? Anything but grass. Will not grass live there? No; but it will die there. Is there not any way to make a good lawn? Oh, yes. Plant a garden, and all the grass in the neighborhood will grow there.

A Generation of Wonders

Editorial in the New York Mail.

Nations celebrate their centennials and men their birthdays. There remains one anniversary which could best be celebrated right now. It is the end of a generation, and the celebrants would be all men born thirty-three years ago. They have seen more than their share.

Some of the marvels of the generation had their beginnings before, but in effect these things have happened in the last thirty-three years: The cities have passed from horse cars to cable cars, and from cable cars to electric traction and in various instances from surface to underground transportation. The motor car has superseded the horse and has made two miles in less than a minute; the passenger capacity of American motor cars is greater than that of American trains. Airplanes have mounted about 30,000 feet in the air; airplanes and airships have crossed the Atlantic; perhaps 50,000 airplanes were used in the World war; mail, passenger and express air services have been established. Submarine war vessels came near driving surface fighting ships from certain sections of the sea.

By the wireless telegraph and telephone, men can communicate across the sea. By the talking machine they can hear in their own homes the voices of great singers, the music of bands and orchestras. In its motion picture theater every hamlet sees noted men and women enacting the situations of picture drama. Electricity has succeeded gas in the home. The bathtub and open plumbing have succeeded the Saturday night washtub on the kitchen floor. Upon the farm have come the tractor, the telephone, the electric milker.

Science, which dowered the generation with these things, gave it also the infinite curse of poison gas warfare, but did much to square the bill by developing the X-ray, by the discovery and utilization of radium, by identifying the vermin carriers of malaria, typhoid, yellow fever and bubonic plague, and by almost wiping yellow fever from the earth.

Man, as the so-called social animal, has "struck twelve" in this generation, killing or disabling 40,000,000 of his brothers in the World war, and burning up 60 per cent of the accumulated wealth of the ages. Every autocracy has been consumed in the conflagration, about 50,000,000 heretofore submerged Europeans have governments of their own; American women have the vote; 180,000,000 Russians are inmates of a political madhouse with keepers rather than rulers.

A tangled record to appraise, with the scientists showing up rather better than the men anointed to rule. One of the good gifts of the generation to the man of 33 is the fact that he is still a young man, which was not the case of his father at the same age; and presumbaly, therefore, he will be able to profit from his own variegated experience.

The New Woman Her Own Cook

Thrift Magazine: Time was when some mothers were proud of daughters who could fold their lily white hands and say, "I don't know how to cook. Dinah attends to all that."

That was in the days before the recent war.

With domestic science taught in the schools, and our magazines full of helpful, practical suggestions, our girls want to cook. But we cannot expect them to retain enthusiasm created in the schools unless we give some thought to the work ourselves.

The kitchens should be made attractive, modern and sanitary and furnished with the tools necessary to do efficient work. For instance, a vegetable and fruit set, costing 50 cents, will peel without waste, and without soiling the hands, core the apples, leaving only a small round hole through the center, slice in lattice form potatoes for frying, cut apples into ribbons for ornamental fruit salads, etc.

It is easy then to teach the girls the little things that help to make cooking more interesting. They should be taught to use freely old newspapers to clean the stoves and spread over the table to save so much washing, to keep rice, sugar and all the spices in some sort of a container labeled, to save hunting through paper bags to find what they want. That the dish rag should be kept sweet and clean, as well as the dish towels should also be borne in mind.

In fact, we should impress upon the girl's mind the truth that cooking is a profession and in order to be proficient in it they must be serious and practice it with care and patience.

Edison's First Job in New York

Forbes Magazine: Thomas A. Edison was so stranded financially when he first landed in New York in 1869 that he hadn't a cent to buy food, for which he was starving. Seeing a tea-taster at work, Edison begged him for some tea, and this formed his first breakfast in New York.

Three days later Edison was sitting in the offices of the Gold & Stock Telegraph company watching the gold ticker at work—speculation in gold was then at fever pitch. Suddenly scores of boys rushed into the place excitedly explaining that the ticker in their employer's offices had stopped working. Dr. Laws, head of the concern, also arrived breathless. The apparatus had broken down.

Edison calmly told Laws that he thought he could fix it and proceeded to do so.

The grateful and astonished doctor asked the stranger his name and next day, after a searching quizzing-bee, put him in charge of the whole business at a salary of $300 a month. When the hungry, penniless, out-of-work operator heard the amount he was to receive he nearly fainted.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON.

The Losers

On the bosom of Salt River sluggishly their vessel floats, and their dismal dirges quiver on the air, in sobbing notes; we can hear their weary chorus: "Gloomy skies are bending o'er us, and there is no hope before us, for we've lost our William Goats." Ah, there is no joyous ditty, from the passengers or crew, and my eyes are wet with pity, as a lawn is wet with dew; it is sad to see them sailing, it is tough to hear them wailing, as they lean against the railing for a last and longing view. Up Salt River's weeping waters they must sail for years, perhaps, just because some tinhorn rotters voted for the other chaps; they must sail while autumn mellows, they must sail while winter bellows, knowing that the other fellows gather in the public snaps. Oh, it is a ship of sorrow that proceeds upon its way, and the beefing done tomorrow will be louder than today; for each landmark will remind them of the snaps they leave behind them and the scalding tears will blind them till they hit the starboard hay. But the ship will be returning with its passengers and crew, and their bosoms will be burning with ambitions fine and new; and for office they'll be running, and for votes they will be gunning, on a platform simply stunning, and a nice fresh rag to chew.

Needed—Faith

Bruce Barton in Collier's Weekly.

In Washington, in the patent office, they tell a story that I like to repeat. A certain clerk walked in upon the commissioner of patents in 1833 and tendered his resignation. He had fulfilled his duties well and the commissioner, hating to lose him, asked him why he had decided to go. Wasn't the work satisfactory?

It was.

Were his superiors unreasonable?

On the contrary, they had been very appreciative.

More money?

No.

Well, what was the trouble, then?

At that the truth came out. The resignation represented an act of conscience on the part of the clerk. He said he had been in the office for a long time and watched the patents increase each year. He was confident that the limit had been reached. Within a few years the patent office would become but a useless charge upon the revenues of a patient people. Human ingenuity had done its work; there was nothing left to invent.

In 1833! The railroads had not yet crossed the continent. There were no elevators, no street cars, no motor cars. The reaper was still a dream; the airplane an absurdity. Hardly one of the inventions that have made our modern world what it is, had yet blossomed into being. If the clerk had only known it, he was stepping out of the patent office on the threshold of the greatest period of mechanical advance that the world has ever known.

But he did not know it; such men never do. The human animal was a very limited being, according to his conception; the possibilities of the world had been pretty well tried out. Humanity had reached the top of the hill and was starting down the other side; there was nothing left to invent.

In every town and hamlet today you find the descendants of that clerk. They move about dolefully, shaking their heads. Things are in a bad way, they will tell you, and we are due for awful times. Men of our generation will never have the opportunities to get ahead that came to our fathers or grandfathers. We'll be lucky if we hold on to what we have. So they talk, and roll their eyes, and give you a fishy palm. They are like Job's comforters, of whom Job said sarcastically: "No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you." They are wiser than their fellows, and they admit it frankly.

But while they grumble and condole, what are the really wise ones doing? I was away from New York for three weeks this spring, and when I got back someone had torn down the buildings next my office and slipped a new skyscraper in. Fifteen years ago a fantastic book by H. G. Wells appeared which made a wild prediction that scientists would some day discover a process of taking nitrogen from the air. Yesterday I lunched with the man who heads a giant corporation that does take nitrogen from the air and make it into fertilizer and a number of other helpful things. He was starting out for Spain to sell some more of his product. Twelve years ago a man opened a nickelodeon; and people came and laughed and went away. Today he rides in his limousine; he is king in the motion picture business, which has become one of the half dozen leading industries of the nation.

The more the grumblers doubt and grumble the better things are for the really wise. They are going quietly about their business, hitching their wagon to the good old United States. And one year or five years or ten years from now the grumblers, standing on the curbstone and watching them roll by in their motors, will curse and call it luck. But it isn't luck, nor foresight, nor shrewdness; it's merely a sensible faith.

Criticizing the Federal Reserve

Cleveland Plain Dealer: One of the most frequent criticisms of the Federal resrve banking system is that it makes money. The fact that the New York Federal bank had earnings last year in excess of 100 per cent is suggested as a reason for making radical changes in the organization.

Profits are a mere incident in the operations of the Federal banking machinery. It was created to provide an elastic credit and to give direction to and regulate the credit structure of the country. In performing these two essential functions discounts are taken, out of which the total profits of the banks emerge.

Attention is called to the fact that earnings can be reduced in one of two ways. The banks may contract credit, give less accommodation and earn less money, thereby impeding rather than promoting trade and commerce. The second method of keeping down earnings would be to spend more in the administration of the twelve banks and their branches. Yet few will be found to advocate an unbusinesslike conduct of so important a branch of the government.

The stock of the Federal reserve banks is owned by the member banks in their respective districts. They receive on their investment in that stock an annual dividend of 6 per cent, less in most cases than on their investments in other banking operations. Provision is then made for a surplus and thereafter additional earnings go back to the treasury of the United States to help defray the cost of operating the government.

The Federal reserve system has worked so well that few justifiable criticisms can be raised against it. There could be no more futile or more specious arguments against it, however, than that it earns money. Earnings accumulate in spite of the bank officials rather than through their desire to secure them. Most of them are promptly turned over to the government. Private individuals gain through them only indirectly as the system performs the important functions for which it was created.

The League of Nations

We'll gladly ope our eyes to the glory of the dawn
When again across the waters shall the Prince of Peace be born.
The rage of cruel wars shall then forever cease
When the Conference of Nations shall speak the word for peace.

Crowned heads may rest with ease, no assassin's hand need smite
For Courts of Justice shall always sit, to find and defend the right.
America shall sound her voice, she'll speak the forward word
And from their deepest depth of soul, all nations shall be stirred.

Our President and Senate in coming years shall see
That every foreign country a Democracy shall be,
When "FOR the people, OF the people and BY the people," too,
Shall constitute a Government so dear to me and you.
In the procession of the Nations, our own shall lead the van,

Had Work Enough

Houston Post: Old Ebenezer was whitewashing his barn one morning with a brush that contained very few bristles. Colonel Judd happened to pass, and said:

"Why don't you get a brush with more bristles in it, Ebenezer?"

"What for, colonel?" asked the old man.

"What for?" shouted the colonel. "Why, Ebenezer, if you had a brush with more bristles in it you could do twice as much work."

"Mebbe so, colonel, mebbe so," said the old negro placidly. "Only, ye see, I ain't got twice as much work to do."

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

A Mother's Way

A mother contributes today's health talk:

I noticed a query from a little girl who asked you why mothers do not tell their daughters the truth about human reproduction, and I thought perhaps my own experience with my 6-year-old daughter might be of interest.

You must have the confidence of your child and always strive to keep it by answering all questions so that the child will understand, and do not be afraid to say, "I don't know just what that is, but we will look it up," and then proceed without fail to look it up.

I remember as a child I was very curious, and when I went to my mother she appeared much embarrassed and would give me no satisfaction, so my information was gleaned from questionable sources and my heart almost broken. Therefore, I watched my baby girl, and when little questions began to come, about the age of three, I began to tell her a story I made up of "Winkie and the Peach Tree." Winkie ate a peach and wanted more, and his mother told him how in the hard shell of the peach pit was another tiny tree and how Nature (God) had packed a lunch for it and how when it was in the earth the warm sun and rain helped it to grow, etc., and then how the blossoms came and were pollinated and many peaches grew. We had that story over and over again, then new questions were asked and each answered truthfully. When the baby was 4 she asked just how she got here and she was told how all through the fruit and vegetable and animal kingdoms—in fact, everything with life—somewhat the same thing takes place and how much more wonderful it all was than the most wonderful fairy tale, but that this was all true. Also I impressed upon her that there are all kinds of people in the world and that it was not right for her to talk to everyone on this subject, but that she should always come to mother or daddy with her questions and they would be answered truthfully. When she learned how she came to be, how God had given her life into the care of mother and daddy she threw her arms about us and said, "Oh, mother, dear, oh, daddy, I love you so much!"

She knows now how most things come to be. She is not embarrassed when she asks me questions, and she has only the most sacred conceptions of the relationship between man and woman.

In having a child's confidence you safeguard her against so many little indiscretions as she grows older and she understands why she should not do some things.

When I was 12 I visited a girl friend over night, and out of a clear sky I volunteered to enlighten her from the store of questionable information I had picked up. I'll never forget how I respected her for the answer she gave. "I don't care to talk about that, please," she said, "for mother has told me all about it."

Don't thrust information on the child, but answer all questions fearlessly, truthfully and with reverence. MRS. E. M. S.

That Mysterious Neuritis.

What are the symptoms of neuritis? I am very nervous and......(M. W. J.)

Answer: "Nervousness" and neuritis are in no way associated. I regret it is against my principles to tell readers the symptoms of various ailments.

Vamped by Lady Nicotine.

I have noticed in some of your interesting articles that you speak of tobacco or nicotine as—well, you have repeatedly used the phrase "Vamped by Lady Nicotine." Do you mean that in a mere facetious way or is it possible that tobacco, used in excess, may cause a man to become wholly estranged from his wife—a husband of whose faithfulness there can be no question. (Mrs. H. I.)

Answer: Tobacco is notorious for just such an influence. It works havoc in youth by reason of its narcotic influence—putting judgment and honor in abeyance and encouraging the breaking of such wholesome restraints. In after years the toxic effect of prolonged or excessive use manifests itself in actual degeneration or functional and organic impairment. Lady Nic is what I called her.

A Candid Opinion.

I wish some time you would publish in your department your candid opinion of operations such as appendicitis operations, for example. (Mrs. M. E. L.)

Answer: My opinion of appendicitis operations is that they bring wonderful relief, are safer than the treacherous disease without operation, and are not half so unpleasant as some patients had led me to imagine. I've been there, so I can speak from the patient's point of view.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Loving Father, we would thank Thee for the simplicity and the greatness of Thy truth which Thou hast given to us. We thank Thee that the youngest, as well as the oldest, can understand it. We thank Thee that we have mind and conscience to respond to the ideals which Thou holdest before us. Today our hearts lead us to praise and thank Thee for what Thy Fatherhood means to us. Thou art continually giving us many good and perfect gifts. We look out upon the world made beautiful by Thy sunshine and rain. We gather food and flowers which come so abundantly from Thy hand. We rejoice in our home, in kind friends and pleasant surroundings with which Thou hast blessed us. All day long we are conscious of Thy guidance and at night we fall asleep knowing we are safe with Thee. Truly, O Lord, in Thee do we live and move and have our being. And as Thou dost so love us, may we be ever ready and eager by loving and helping others to show our gratitude to Thee. May we make the world brighter and happier by reason of Thy Spirit dwelling within us. In the Name of Jesus Christ our Savior do we pray. Amen.—Rev. George E. Bevans.

Canada's Publicly Owned Merchant Marine

Toronto Star: The Canadian government merchant marine is already one of the largest in the world operating under one house flag. There are thirty-eight vessels now in service and twenty-eight more under construction, so that the fleet will presently number sixty-six vessels. All these ships were built in Canada, of Canadian materials, and are said to compare favorably with the best built anywhere.

In a recent address delivered at Liverpool the European manager of the Canadian government marine service stated that too much of our trade is carried on through United States ports, and the purpose of this fleet is to direct trade through our own ports, and open up new and direct avenues of trade with distant countries. There is now being provided approximately a service every ten days from Canadian ports to London, to Liverpool and to Glasgow, and a monthly service to South Wales. There is one ship a week to the West Indies and one each month to South Africa and to Australia and New Zealand. The service to India and Ceylon, the Straits Settlements and Java commenced in September, while that to Japan and China begins this month. Many of these vessels are carrying the Canadian flag to ports where it was never seen before.

This government-owned merchant marine is a very great enterprise, about which most people throughout the country know very little. If the service can be made to pay, the benefits the country will derive from direct trading will be large.

Out Among the Neighbors

Rambling Comment on Northwest Men, Newspapers and Communities.

Newspapers in all parts of the state have, during the past few weeks, been carrying the bright faces of young soldiers—Minnesota boys full of life and promise who joyously marched away two or more years ago to give their youthful strength to their country in its fight against militarism and autocracy. Now they are coming home—dead—a ghostly army of thousands, to lie near those who loved them. No, the tragedy of war isn't over yet, nor will be until the spirit in which these splendid young Americans so gallantly gave their lives is reflected in something better than the sneers at idealism of their prosperous survivors.

For several years Townley and his misguided apostles of discontent have been working with a zeal worthy of a better cause to stir up bitterness between North Dakota towns and the country. It is time for the towns out there to offset this campaign by renewing friendly relations with their rural neighbors. The sensible people in both city and country out there know this is true and there are signs that the melancholy gospel of hate is giving way to an era of better feeling.

Ireland Worse Than Ever

World's Work: In Ireland itself during this year conditions have become so bad that competent critics think they are worse than at any time for two hundred years, though when one recalls the tithe war, the boycotts, the land league, and the agrarian disorders of the Nineteenth Century, this seems some exaggeration of the facts. None the less, Sir Horace Plunkett told an English audience that in 1920 the situation in Ireland is more gravely alarming than at any time in all the sixty years of his recollection.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of This Date, 1900

The election resulted in a landslide in favor of McKinley and the Republican tickets all along the line. Bryan was overwhelmingly defeated, securing only 160 electoral votes against 287 for McKinley. Bryan carried only Colorado, Montana, Nebraska and Nevada, outside the "Solid South." He made gains in some of the pivotal states, but they were small compared to the enormous majorities that McKinley received in New York, Illinois and other states.

Returns from 310 of the 356 congressional districts show that the Republicans have elected 158, the Democrats 139, the Fusionists 1, the Silverites 1 and the Populists 1. Of the remaining 46 districts 22 are represented by Republicans, 17 by Democrats, 1 by a Silverite, 2 by Populists and 1 by a Fusionist.

Governor John Lind of Minnesota has been defeated for re-election. While President McKinley carried the state by fully 75,000 plurality, Lind ran so far ahead of his ticket that his Republican opponent, Capt. Van Sant, has less than 5,000 plurality. At least six of the present Republican congressmen have been elected—Tawney in the First, McCleary in the Second, Heatwole in the Third, Stevens in the Fourth, Fletcher in the Fifth and Morris in the Sixth. The Seventh is in doubt, with the chances in favor of Eddy. The Republican state ticket has been elected from top to bottom, including the railroad and warehouse commissioners, and the legislature will have a Republican majority, ensuring the re-election of United States Senator Knute Nelson.

Duluth returns show that Governor Lind has carried the city by 378, while President McKinley has 1,466 plurality. Congressman Morris carried the city over Henry Truelsen by 146. The entire Republican legislative ticket in St. Louis county is elected. All the Republican candidates for county offices were elected, except in the Third commissioner district, where Ole Berg won out. R. S. Munger is defeated for register of deeds by about 400 votes. He went out of the city with 1,366 majority, but the outside towns swept Mr. Lofgren in. County division is buried under an overwhelming vote.

Returns from the senatorial and legislative district of Pennsylvania indicate that Matthew S. Quay will have not less than 145 votes on joint ballot for United States senator, seventeen more than the number necessary to elect.

Elbridge T. Gerry of New York, founder of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and for the past twenty years at its head, has resigned as president of the organization. He resigned because of the hard work in the presidency.

A Helena, Mont., dispatch says that the next legislature will be composed of 53 Clark Democrats, 33 Republicans, 8 Daly Democrats and 1 Populist. Thus W. A. Clark and another Democrat will represent Montana in the United States senate.
